Loizeaux, of Putnam avenue, vividly describes the catastrophe, and declares that funds are urgently needed for the relief of the victims. Today $74 was added to the fund being raised by the Daily Press, making the total received to date $557.75.

Edward M. Loizeaux, of 1215 Putnam avenue, the first of the several Plainfielders caught in the flood districts of the West to return to his home, arrived yesterday and brings with him graphic tales of the disaster and suffering caused by the flood and fire. He was stopping at the Beckel Hotel, at Third and Jefferson streets, Dayton, several blocks from one of the burst levees of the Miami river, which furnished one of the main arteries for the terrible rush of water which flooded over sixty large cities and wrought ruin and death in its path.

The Beckel Hotel is a frame building of antiquated construction and was evacuated by the proprietor, J. B. Bennett, and the men staying there after Mr. Loizeaux and others had placed planks leading from the hotel to adjoining buildings, over which they carried panic stricken women to the sixteen-story fireproof First National Bank building then in the course of construction. This structure was converted into an emergency shelter for hundreds of people of the neighborhood. One of the sad incidents told to a Daily Press reporter was the death of Mr. Bennett, the hotel proprietor, who being a sickly person, died from exposure and lack of food.

Mr. Loizeaux said the people came in various ways to the bank building. Some crawled along telephone wires. Many were saved by the efforts of Mr. Loizeaux and other men, who took an elevator cable from the new building and stretched it across the street near the surface of the water and fastened it to a pole. In this way, people waded through the swift running water, with hands clasped about the cable, thus preventing them from being carried to death by the torrent. Many were killed in crossing when pieces of lumber, refuse and even houses came rushing through the street with the current and struck them.

The local man's experience is one, he says, he will never forget. The sight of dead bodies floating down the street; members of families parted by the disaster and by means of the broad view obtained from the upper stories of the bank building, he could see men and women smashing their way through the roofs of their homes, to prevent immediate death at the mercy of the rapidly rising water.

Mr. Loizeaux said many families are leaving Dayton for places they know not where, their only ambition being to get as far away from the scene of disaster as possible. The odors and disease prevalent, he said, prompted many to get away. When the waters receded Wednesday night dead bodies of human beings and animals lay in the streets and the odors were practically unbearable.

When the flood started on Tuesday morning Mr. Loizeaux was just starting to leave the hotel for the East. "I was told by the hotel clerk," he said, "that a flood was descending upon the city when with a deafening roar the Jefferson street levee broke. Water flowed at amazing speed through the street; automobilists abandoned their cars in the middle of the streets and ran for places of safety in the upper stories of buildings; trolley cars were overturned and cast into bits and everything was forgotten, as wives and children clinging to their husbands in fear, ran panic stricken from place to place.

"The fires started Wednesday and then it was that we abandoned the old Beckel Hotel. Several lost their lives in the perilous climb from house to house leading to the bank building a block away. The bravery of the men was the one redeeming feature of the fatality. A pitiful scene was the horses swimming in the water powerless against the fearful current. I noticed one horse in the rear of the hotel which swam from the time the flood broke, Tuesday morning, until Wednesday night, when the waters receded enough for him to land on the ground. The World's Greatest Engineering Feat Described to Audience of Women.

That the improvement of health conditions in Panama in order to make possible the construction of the Panama Canal has established a record for sanitation and that this wonderful good alone fully compensates the United States for the money spent in the erection of the giant water-way, was the opinion of William L. Saunders, expressed yesterday afternoon before a large gathering of members and friends of the Monday Afternoon Club in the Hartridge Auditorium. Dr. Saunders' discourse, the subject of which was "The Panama Canal," proved decidedly entertaining as well as highly instructive. The stereopticon illustrations included 200 views as well as numerous photographs taken under the personal direction of the lecturer.

Dr. Saunders explained the various sanitary measures taken by the United States resulting in the reduction of the death rate in Panama from sixty per cent., which existed when the French were in possession, to 10.89 per cent. per thousand. The average death rate in the States, he said, is 15 per cent. and in New York and Chicago 20 per cent. Continuing, Mr. Saunders said that out of twenty-four nurses sent to Panama from France all but two died of yellow fever. The remarkable improvement in sanitation was effected, he said, through experiments made by the U. S. Sanitary Engineers.

Following the lecture, tea was served by the entertainment committee of the club, comprising Mrs. Frank W. French, chairman, Mrs. Deuse M. VanVliet, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, Mrs. William A. Conner, Miss Josephine Rosan and Mrs. Henry C. White. They were assisted by Mrs. Daniel Runkle, Mrs. Samuel Carter, Jr., Mrs. Maxwell Perkins, Mrs. Archibald Cox, Mrs. Wilbur Rogers, Miss Bertha Whitney, Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, Mrs. Leighton Calkins, Miss Susan DuBois and Mrs. Cornelius B. Tyler.

OLDEST P. E. EDIFICE THREATENED BY FIRE

Elizabeth, April 1.—Fire, which was discovered in the basement of St. John's Episcopal church, this morning, threatened serious damage, to the oldest Episcopal church edifice in New Jersey. The fire, which is believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, was hard to fight because there is only one entrance to the basement. Fire Chief Gerstung was overcome by the dense smoke which filled the basement.

The damage will be chiefly by smoke and water. At first it was feared that the beautiful memorial windows would be damaged, but the firemen did not find it necessary to break them and they all remain intact.

TURKEY ACCEPTS TERMS FOR PEACE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Constantinople, April 1.—The Ottoman government today declared that it unreservedly accepted the terms of peace proposed by the European powers. The foreign office handed the Turkish acceptance to the dean of the diplomatic corps today, accompanied by an expression of thanks to the powers for their mediation.

In spite of the fact that the terms of the powers are not entirely satisfactory it is believed that actual peace negotiations will be resumed either this week or next. The terms of the powers do not provide for any indemnity whereas the Balkan States and Greece are preparing to levy a demand for indemnity ranging from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000. The southern Bulgarian boundary line fixed by the powers is also further westward than Bulgaria desires.

STARTLING REVELATIONS OF BORO EXTRAVAGANCE

Official Investigators' Report Exposes Prodigality of Education Board and Exorbitant Expense of Health and Other Departments of Government—To Abolish High School and to Cut Down Costs in Various Other Branches of Administration.

That the policy being followed by the Borough Council and especially the Board of Education, if continued, will lead to ruinous finance, was the opinion of the special committee appointed to investigate the financial condition of the borough in its report to the Board of Education, last night. That the borough cannot afford to continue this present policy, that of spending more money than it actually receives, was also emphasized in no uncertain terms, both in the report and by individual members of the committee.

As a result the majority of the recommendations of the committee were adopted, one or two, however, not without a spirited debate. The recommendations adopted, provide that arrangements be made with the Plainfield school authorities to send the High School pupils to the city High School, and abolish that department in the borough school; that the borough waive the provisions of the "tenure of office act as applied to the employment of teachers; that no macadamizing or resurfacing of streets be done during the coming year, in view of the fact that the work of putting in sewers is likely to commence within a short time and that a competent young engineer be engaged to supervise all street work.

It was further recommended that instead of adopting the provisions of the law which provides for a "Board of School Estimate," a "Committee on Apportionment," comprising two members of the Board of Education, two members of the Borough Council, the fifth to be chosen by the other four members, whose duty it shall be to make recommendations regarding the school budget; that the services of the special counsel to the Board of Health be abolished and if the law permit, all fees received by the board to be turned over to the borough treasury; that the cost of street lighting be reduced, suggesting that possibly Tungsten lamps, fewer in number, can be used at a saving. The one recommendation not adopted was that the borough police force be made the same in numbers as that of last year, abolishing the office of roundsman, if the law will permit, it being considered unnecessary and expensive, and that the school accounts have the same certification as those of the borough.

Immediately following the reading of the special report by George T. Rogers, as chairman of the committee, C. W. McCutchen moved that it be received and adopted, while J. Brognard Betts moved to amend that the report be received for consideration.

Mr. Betts moved that the recommendations regarding the tenure of office act be stricken out. Referring to the recommendation that High School pupils be transferred to Plainfield, Mr. Betts spoke heartily in favor of the plan. In his opinion there are too many High Schools, which run up the cost of education, and he believed it would be a saving to the borough to send its pupils to Plainfield.

C. W. McCutchen emphasized the fact that North Plainfield must devise some way to reduce its expenses, then the municipality will be doing the honorable thing. He called attention to the fact that the school enrollment had not increased in six years, and yet salaries of teachers have increased from $23,316 to $33,225. This he declared the borough could not afford.

The motion by Mr. Betts to strike out the recommendation regarding the tenure of office act was lost by a decisive vote.

Mr. Lee voted against sending the High School pupils to Plainfield, and in the discussion, Hiram A. Woodruff asserted that the Plainfield school authorities had made no reply to the borough board's inquiry as to whether such an arrangement could be made a few years ago, and he said he thought the city board was using it as a hammer on Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

Mr. Betts paid a high compliment to the Plainfield schools, adding that they were known all over the country as being the best. Plainfield, he said, has something to be proud of in its schools, especially the High School.

Mr. Betts suggested that there are too many High Schools, that it would be better to centralize them, for instance have one at Elizabeth, one at Westfield, another in Plainfield and one at Somerville. In this way the cost of education could be reduced.

The question of reducing the police force resulted in a lively debate. Alexander Milne protested against such action, adding that such a move would be contrary to law and against the recommendations of the Council.

This discussion led to the one of the early closing of saloons in the borough, and Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., who was given the privileges of the floor stated that during January, February and March of last year twenty-five arrests were made in the borough for drunkenness, of which twenty-one were from Plainfield. He said he tried to have former County Judge Clarence Case close the saloons at 11 o'clock, the same as in Plainfield, but he said that "he would think it over."

Dr. Cooley thought that the borough recorder was too easy with violators of the law, imposing nominal fines of $1, $2 and $3 or a suspended sentence.

S. St. John McCutchen made a

HERE AND THERE

Outside of claiming he is a resident of Plainfield, N. J., Joe Lane, P. A. A. (Peerless Advance Agent) has at no time during his life done anything that he should be ashamed of. Joe started advance work during his boyhood days spent in Plainfield where he took immense pleasure in talking in every circus parade that visited his home city, and shouting "Hold your horses,—elephants are coming." Joe convinced the horse owners in this respect whether or not the circus carried elephants, and Joe has been convincing people ever since. Joe's trademark is his convincing manner. Taking up Joe's career with his appearance in advance of George Sidney in Busy Izzy we can truthfully say that friend George saw more of the country, as far as hamlets are concerned, than he would have had if Joe wasn't ahead of him. Joe had a habit of going into a one-night stand for Sidney and convincing local manager to put his name to a contract that signed away everything he owned except the shingles on the roof of the "opery." For this fault, we must say "Joe is some agent." This season Joe spent his vacation with "Rollicking Shannon" and "Tom on King." He's now in Plainfield making out exorbitant hotel bills, sending them to brother agents, who are Joe's biggest shooters. As the result of being unmarried and a constant reader of The Billboard, Joe has a bright future ahead of him.—The Billboard.

A LINEN SHOWER.

Miss Ethel Rink, of West Fifth street, held a linen shower in honor of Miss Minnie Gunzelman at her home last night. Miss Gunzelman received a number of pieces of fine linen. The evening was spent in playing progressive games and those in charge of the affair had prepared a rare treat for the guests in the musical program, both vocal and instrumental, which was rendered. Miss Gunzelman is the prospective bride of Richard Parrett and will be married some time this month.

BUCKNER 90 YEARS OLD.

Munfordville, Ky., April 1.—With a number of relatives and intimate friends as his guests Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner today celebrated his ninetieth birthday anniversary at Glen Lily, his celebrated country home on the Green River, about eight miles from this place. Gen. Buckner has the distinction of being the only remaining corps commander on the Confederate side. He graduated from West Point in 1844 and saw active service in the war with Mexico. In the early part of the Civil War, General Buckner was taken prisoner and sent to Fort Warren. In 1862 he was exchanged and placed in command of a division in Hardee's corps, in Bragg's army. He was made a major general and distinguished himself at Murfreesboro and Chickamauga. In 1887 General Buckner was elected governor of Kentucky and in 1896 he was candidate for vice president of the United States on the ticket headed by General John M. Palmer, of Illinois.

FASTEST TRAIN.

Chicago, Ill., April 1.—In early preparation for the increased travel expected during the Panama Exposition, the Northwestern and Union Pacific Railroads today put into service a new overland limited train between this city and San Francisco. The claim is made that the new train will be the fastest for long distance ever attempted on a regular schedule. It will cover the distance between Chicago and San Francisco in sixty-four hours, which is five hours less than the best time now made between the two points.

RELIABILITY.

"CAN A BUSINESS MAN BE HONEST AND SUCCESSFUL?"

This was the subject of a most interesting sermon by the Rev. C. L. Goodrich Sunday morning. Every business man in Plainfield should have heard his eloquent discourse.

Today a business man MUST be honest to be successful—for what is business, but human service, based on confidence and co-operation—and Mr. Arthur F. Sheldon says "He who serves best, profits most."

A barber who had been convicted of murder in the first degree on being asked if he had any request to make before the sentence of the court should be carried out, replied that before he died he would like to shave the Prosecuting Attorney.

The world will never be civilized until we get rid of the desire to "shave" our supposed enemies.

In trading it was formerly thought that the buyer was an "enemy" and "to shave" him was quite the proper thing. But today the store that "shaves" a customer cuts its own throat of prosperity.

COUNT $1,500,000,000 IN TREASURY DEPT.

If One Man Did Work It Would Take Him Three Hundred Years.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—John Burke, former governor of North Dakota, took the oath of office as Treasurer of the United States today and entered upon the duties of his office, succeeding Carmi A. Thompson, of Ohio, who had succeeded United States Treasurer Lee McClung in December of 1912. As the law requires that the retiring Treasurer's record of the transfer of funds be verified by an actual count of the notes, coin and securities in the Treasury whenever there is a change of Treasurers, the tremendous task of counting the hoard of approximately $1,500,000,000 contained in the valuts of the National Treasury was begun today. This gigantic task which, it is estimated, would take one person about 300 years, will be completed by a small army of trusted employes under the direction and supervision of the committee which Secretary McAdoo has appointed for that purpose, in from two to four months. The work is carried on during office hours only, beginning at 8:30 in the morning and closing at 4:30 in the afternoon.

All of the paper money is counted piece by piece, but the gold and silver coin, usually stored in canvas bags, is counted by weight, unless some error is detected which makes it necessary to open every one of the bags and to count its contents. A test bag, the contents of which have been counted and found correct, is placed upon the scales and balanced against the other bags for verification. Each bag is checked and rechecked before it is returned to the vaults and great precautions are taken to prevent theft. Armed guards stand over the counters and workmen to protect them from interference.

The handling of the heavy coin bags in removing them from the stacks, passing them from hand to hand to the weighing counters, and back again to the vaults to be restacked is strenuous work requiring considerable physical strength. The counting of the paper money and securities, while not so strenuous, requires great skill and accuracy.

In the course of time there have been many counts of the funds in the United States Treasury, but nearly in every case the actual contents of the vaults corresponded exactly with the amounts listed in the books and accounts of the Treasury. In 1885, when the Administration passed into the hands of the Democratic party and a Democratic treasurer succeeded the former Republican incumbent, a deficit of 2 cents was found at the count, but the missing coppers were found behind one of the desks after a few days. A few years ago it was found at one of these counts that one $1 000 bill was missing. The Treasurer made good the amount and was later on reimbursed by Congress.

Upon another occasion, a few years ago, one of the colored men employed at the count to carry coin bags from the vault to the weighing counter and back, stole about 600 silver dollars from the bags, substituting for them lead pieces of the same weight as the silver dollars. He was detected, however, arrested and punished. The detection of the man's dishonesty made it necessary to open every single coin bag in the vaults and to verify their contents by actual count.

The committee entrusted with the task of the count consists of the chief of the public moneys division, the chief of the loans and currency division and personal representatives of the retiring and the incoming Treasurer. The vaults were turned over to the committee today and carefully closed and sealed. The contents of the vaults will not be disturbed during the count excepting for the purpose of counting the funds. Only enough money to keep the wheels of the government revolving has been kept apart for use while the count is in progress. The vaults will be sealed at the close of every workday and will not be removed until the count is completed and the new Treasurer ready to hand his receipt to the predecessor in office. When Carmi Thompson succeeded Lee McClung as Treasurer he received more than $1,400,000,000. He must account for every cent of that amount, plus the millions he has since received, minus expenditures.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Madam Butterfly," which will be presented at the Plainfield Theatre Saturday, April 5, by the Aborn English Grand Opera Company, is considered by many critics to be the crowning achievement of Giacomo Puccini, one of the greatest of living composers, even surpassing in beauty as well as musicianship, his many other masterpieces, such as "La Tosca," "La Boheme" and "The Girl of the Golden West." "Madam Butterfly" was familiarized first in one of John Luther Long's short stories of Japan. The novel had a wonderful sale, and its reception prompted David Belasco to invest the same charming story in a play of the same name, which proved one of his greatest successes. The opera was produced first in English in this country by Henry W. Savage, whose production had the longest run of consecutive performances of a grand opera in one city that the world has ever known—50 performances in New York. The Metropolitan Opera Company then produced it in Italian, and it has been one of the strongest attractions of their repertoire ever since. Messrs. Aborn revived it in English in New York last Winter, when it had its second longest run of 42 performances. Verdis' "Ill Trovatore" will be given Saturday evening.

Robert B. Mantell comes to the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night for a single performance in "Macbeth," which after consulting the wishes of local teachers and lovers of Shakespeare, he has chosen for presentation here from his repertoire of evelen plays, "King Lear," "Hamlet," "Othello," "Julius Caesar," "Macbeth," "Richard III," "The Merchant of Venice," "Romeo and Juliet," "As You Like It," "Richelieu" and "Louis XI." This repertoire is the most difficult, as well as the most extensive, that has been presented by any American actor since the days of Edwin Booth, and Mr. Mantell's success in the interpretation of these great roles has led to his recognition by veteran critics all over the country whose memory extends back to the days of the old tragedians as the foremost actor now on the new world's stage.

JERSEY CITY AWAKE.

In Jersey City, the people have entered upon a campaign for the adoption of the commission government plan with a spirit that speaks well for that community. Some twenty-five speakers have enlisted for the fight which is to be waged vigorously from now until April 15, when the special election will be held. As the initial move, the necessary petition was filed yesterday afternoon and although some 2,357 names were signed, the petition as filed contains but 1,700 as required by law.

Similar campaigns are being conducted with considerable enthusiasm in New Brunswick, where the business men are giving strong support to Mayor Morrison, the leader in the movement, and in Camden, Burlington, Hoboken, Bayonne and many other municipalities in New Jersey. No State in the east has so eagerly seized upon this plan for municipal rule as has New Jersey. The reason why is self-evident—New Jersey is the most progressive State this side of the Mississippi if not in the whole Union.

Some sage advice is given by the Elizabeth Times as to advertising methods. Says the Times: "Doctors of advertising disagree just like doctors of medicine. The salient point for the advertiser to observe is to keep his name before the public constantly, so that it will become a household word. Let the newspaper readers become familiar with the name and business. The second rule of importance is never to mislead the public or ridicule competitors. Misrepresentation will kill any business. A newspaper succeeds because it is enterprising, accurate, fair and impartial. Any other commercial enterprise conducted on the same lines, cannot help but succeed, but the confidence of the purchasing public must be gained by proper advertising."

The recklessness of grand juries is well exemplied in the indictment most unjustly found against Ernest Sharpe, of this city, by a Hudson county body. After a grave wrong had been done him, a little investigation, which should have been made by the grand jury itself before it did a lot of damage, proved conclusively that Sharpe was entirely innocent. The prosecutor moved that the indictment be noll prossed and the motion was granted yesterday by Judge Carey. But the unfortunate part of it all is that the vindication never carries so far as the accusation and the victim has no redress for grand juries are apparently free to do as they will without fear of being called to account.

Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon, $557.00 had been contributed towards the fund being raised by this paper for the relief of the victims of the Ohio flood. Plainfield should naturally be expected to raise $1,000 for this humanitarian cause, particularly as it contributed nearly double that amount for San Francisco when it was destroyed by an earthquake. Contributions will be acknowledged in these columns and promptly wired to the proper authorities in Ohio.

Senator Martine has commended Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, of Elizabeth, for a mission abroad, the Portuguese or some other equally important post. The clergyman is a splendid type of citizen and is a man of unusual learning, having a broad grasp of public affairs and is a genuine patriot. The Senator's action, therefore, we feel sure meets with the hearty approval of the people of Union county and of all who know this rare good man.

Published lists place J. P. Morgan's gifts to museums, libraries, institutions of learning and churches at $75,000,000. If the truth were known, it is probable that his beneficence aggregated double that vast amount for he never paraded his generous deeds.

The first instalment of Oliver B. Leonard's article on "A Century of Liquor Drinking in Plainfield" appears today and will be continued as a serial for the remainder of the week.

The contributing editor for Saturday's issue will be a member of the United States Senate. It is unnecessary to say who this man is, for we all know him well—and love him.

James C. Connelly was sworn in yesterday for the full term of five years as judge of the Union County Courts. May he make an honored name for himself as a jurist.

Mention is made of the fact that the Assembly made a record yesterday afternoon in passing thirty-seven bills in three hours. But how many of them are unconstitutional?

His card now reads: William Howard Taft, LL.D., Kent professor of law, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.."

A magazine editor will succeed a newspaper editor as ambassador to the Court of St. James.

NEW SALE WITH NEW CAKE.

A group of North Plainfield High School girl athletes, who aspired to raise money for certain expenses incurred during the recent basketball season by holding a cake sale last Friday and Saturday, found it necessary to postpone the affair until April 11 and 12. It should be distinctly understood, however, that the same cake which was to have been used for the first sale will not be held over for the postponement. The affair will be held in Saengerbund Hall and Miss Marguerite Woolston will be in charge of the sale.

A Century of Liquor Drinking in PLAINFIELD by Oliver B. Leonard

(First Instalment.)

Various and peculiar were the ceremonies which have been celebrated to the honor of the god of drink. In the mythical days of past ages, among the offerings made to Bacchus, the emperor of the drinking classes, was a goat, slain, because destinctive to the vines. At those bacchanalian festivals there was always a tumultuous crowd of frenzied men and boys and stupefied delirious women carrying on their shoulders the god of wine with his red swollen face and bloated, puffed-up body. No less noisy and demoralized do the drinkers of our day become as the froth and foam of the fumigating fluid transform them into gluttonous goats.

In the old Jewish economy there was provided a scape-goat upon whose head was laid by the priest, all the sins of the people. Then the goat was sent away into the wilderness bearing with him this load of guilt, never to return again.

The modern goats get full of sin and iniquity and spread their wicked influence all around the community instead of going off into the mountains by themselves. The difference is very noticeable. Rather than being a national benefit as the old He-brew goats were, these he-goats brew evil only and that continually.

For fifty years before lager-beer became a popular beverage of the liquor drinking people, the old-fashion country tavern was an institution in this neighborhood. Here ardent spirits could legally be obtained by passing travellers and local town dwellers. These licensed resorts, one of which existed on our main street a hundred years ago, were generally recognized by the swinging gallows-sign on the roadside inviting the traveller in, indicative of ruin and death in more ways than one.

It was at this first tavern in Plainfield built in 1805-1812, 100 years ago, that the United States government established a postoffice. Here was a halting place for the old stage with the mail bag. Thither the anxious villager resorted as the stage driver's horn indicated the approach of the incoming coach with its meagre mail and occasional occupant. Hither also more often than to get the U. S. mail did the male citizens congregate to "take a horn," whose blasting consequences are yet resounding in this fair city of churches and schools and benevolent institutions.

It is a matter of historical interest, not to be forgotten, that about the same time this first tavern was started; nearby on Somerset street, was established a cider-mill and distillery. And opposite the still-house was a flour mill, still standing. On one side of the street grinding the grain in the grist mill for bread to sustain human life and on the other side of the roadway pressing the grain at the gin-mill into poisonous drink containing the seeds of death. So it has been for a century and more, that the distiller and brewer claim the inalienable right to convert the health-giving products of the soil into a life destroying beverage of the barroom.

At that original distillery on Somerset street the early generation obtained its "apple-jack" and "old rye" as now nearby, the present generation satisfy their depraved tastes in Bock-beer and "Jersey lightning." Within one hundred yards of that old still-house there has always been desecrated (for the past hundred years) one or more shrine for Gambrinus and Demon Drink. There are citizens living in 1913 who will recall the stupefying effects of "corn whiskey" upon the bodies of those who were habitual drinkers then in 1813. These older inhabitants can call to memory the undermining of moral principles as well as business habits of scores of industrious townsmen.

It was hoped by most of the good people of Plainfield when the last timbers of that distillery were torn away (after being mostly burned up by a fire) that no more "gin-mills" would ever be constructed and licensed in the town. The prayer of many was that never more would such hurtful institutions be allowed to corrupt the appetites and paralyze the senses and debase the morals and poison the systems and destroy the souls of men and women and children of the quiet village. But the ardent hopes of anxious citizens were never realized. King Alcohol has ever since held sway and decoyed his victims by the score. The "gin-mills" of the Twentieth Century are grinding on just the same only faster than generations ago and the never ending grist of fresh humanity goes into the hopper and out comes the horrid product of broken down constitutions, stupified intellects and ruined lives.

FOR BABY'S SAKE BUY A "BLOCH" PULLMAN CARRIAGE

What wouldn't a mother do for the sake of her baby? And yet there are any number of young mothers who unconsciously do their little ones harm in their efforts to really help them. They want their babies to get the benefit of the fresh air, and they hasten to buy a go-cart or baby-carriage.

They wouldn't for the world give baby anything that would harm it, and still they unknowingly do the little one actual harm by not getting a perfectly comfortable go-cart—one that is constructed on scientific principles.

ALL GO-CARTS ARE NOT ALIKE.

You probably didn't know there was any difference in go-carts. Simply took it for granted that one make of go-cart was as good as another, when such is not the case.

Did you ever stop to think why some babies who are ordinarily good, are fretful and restless when taken out in a go-cart?

Did it ever occur to you that probably the go-cart was at fault?

When baby is fretful and restless you can depend upon it that something isn't altogether right.

It isn't natural that a baby should turn and twist around and get out of sorts any more than we grown-ups, without some reason for it. And the unscientific design of the go-cart is usually the cause of it all.

Before ordering your coal---think on these things

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.

2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?

3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?

4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.

5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.

6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

How I Pay For All My Clothes

For several years I have kept house for my brother and have been dependent upon him for nearly everything. He is very generous to me, but I am such an expense to him in other ways, that I always hated to ask him for money for my clothes. It has been a big problem to me to obtain the clothes I needed, and would be still if I hadn't discovered a very easy way to get them.

A year ago I started to buy my teas, soaps, foodstuffs and other household supplies from Larkin Co. and got for my money not only the same amount of supplies I would get at the store, but a Premium of equal value besides. Of course I chose clothes as my Premium as they were the things I needed most.

The Larkin Premiums pleased me so much, and I liked their Products so well that I got some of my neighbors interested in this plan of buying and formed a Larkin Club-of-Ten. As Secretary of this Club I obtained extra Premiums from the Larkin Co. and in that way have been able to keep myself well clothed without going to any extra expense at all.

Larkin Co. publish a big Catalog which tells all about their Products and Premiums, and their method of dealing. I wish you would write for this Catalog D 24 as I know it will interest you and be of great and lasting value to you. Just send a postal to Larkin Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and they will mail you one.

SERVICES IN ROME FOR J. P. MORGAN

MRS. J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

Rome, Italy, April 1.—Funeral services for J. Pierpont Morgan will be held here tomorrow and the body will be taken to New York, where it is expected that there will be an imposing funeral. His daughter, Mrs. Henry Satterlee, was stricken at the bedside and is seriously ill. Words of condolence have been received from royalty in all countries and from the Pope.

The bulk of his estate, it is expected, is left to his son, J. P. Morgan, Jr., although his wife will receive a large share. What the dead captain of finance has bequeathed to charity and education is a question, but that it will be a vast sum is assured. He died leaving probably one hundred million of dollars.

TWO BARACA CLASSES ENJOYED A BANQUET

A banquet was held by the men's Baraca classes of the Temple Baptist church in the church parlors last night, about thirty members being present. Following the dinner, which was served by a committee of women, a program of after-dinner speaking was enjoyed, Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, being the principal speaker. He dwelt on the "Characteristics of Great Men." Short speeches were made by L. W. Randolph, superintendent of the Sunday-school; Frank Stewart, chairman of the committee, and George Huff, president of the Junior Baraca class.

The women in charge of the affair were Mrs. P. H. Moore, Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mrs. A. C. Conover, Mrs. Berwin and Mrs. H. C. Johnson. The waitresses were the Misses Verna and Eda Stewart, Helen Smith and Helen Meyers. Charles Smith and Frank Stewart composed the committee for the Baraca seniors and Clarence B. LaRue headed the junior organization.

FIGHT OVER FARM.

Freeman Straight, who occupies the William Coddington farm, near Warrenville, under a lease, which he claims still holds good, refused to vacate the premises today at the request of Horace and Joel Coddington, who sold the farm to Rev. Geo. Hauser. The Coddingtons now plan to dispossess Mr. Straight, while the minister, who wants the farm and is unable to get possession proposes to take legal action against the Coddingtons.

YOUTH IS BANISHED.

At the request of his mother, Edward Murphy, 17 years old, of Arlington avenue, when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of assaulting Arthur Jackson, of East Fifth street, was given his freedom on the condition that he leave town. He has a police record and is incorrigible.

BIBLE CLASS TO GIVE ANNUAL PERFORMANCE

The third annual dramatic production by the Probasco Bible class will be given at the Park Club on Thursday evening, April 17. This year's play, rehearsals for which have been in progress for the past month, is a three act drama written especially for the members of the cast by F. K. Anderson, of this city, who has coached the class productions in previous years.

Heretofore only light farce has been attempted by the young men, and the effort to produce something of a more pretentious nature is the direct result of the dramatic development of the individual members of the cast, brought out to best advantage in a play especially adapted to their respective abilities.

The title of the play is "Help Wanted," and running through a series of interesting complications, there is a thoroughly modern and lively story of business life.

Those who will play in the piece include five of the young men who appeared last year in the production of "The Snowball," and two new players who have fitted into the play most satisfactorily. The cast will include Sidney Mackey, Harold Robins, Athol Newman, Herbert Hillman, Carlton Smith, Howard Parry and Frederick Loizeau.

WINSTON CHURCHILL HOME TO BECOME SUMMER CAPITAL OF THE UNITED STATES

HARLAKENDEN HOUSE, ON WINSTON CHURCHILL'S ESTATE AT CORNISH, N.H. WHICH WILL BE THE SUMMER WHITE HOUSE.

President Woodrow Wilson has taken the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill, near Cornish, N. H., and will make it the summer capital, according to Mrs. Churchill, who is in Santa Barbara, Cal. She has directed E. F. Roberts, manager of the Churchill estate of several hundred acres, to prepare the house for the occupancy next summer of the President and his household.

Resemblance to Mount Vernon, the home of President Washington on the Potomac, is a striking feature of the arrangement and general aspect of Harlakenden House, the Churchill residence. Though the latter is distinctly Queen Anne in style and its front lacks the imposing columns and portico of the home of the first President, the two wings in the rear, the box hedges of the garden and the front view overlooking the river are similar to Mount Vernon. The Green Mountains add to the attractiveness of the view.

CARDINAL AT DEDICATION.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Rt. Rev. Mgr. Bonzona, the apostolic delegate, and Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, took part today in the imposing ceremony attending the dedication of St. Matthew's church in Rhode Island avenue. The new church is one of the handsomest in Washington, and this, together with the fact that it represents the lifework of its pastor, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Lee, brought about an unusual gathering of church dignitaries. Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning Cardinal Gibbons performed the dedication services. He led the long procession of bishops, priests, and acolytes about the exterior walls of the building, sprinkling holy water on the walls and blessing them. Then the procession entered the church, where the Cardinal first blessed the altar and then the interior walls. Pontifical high mass was then celebrated, with Rt. Rev. Mgr. Bonzano as the celebrant. The sermon was preached by Archbishop Keane of Dubuque. Other prominent participants in the ceremonies were Bishop Donohue of Wheeling and Bishop O'Connell of Richmond.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Epworth House to make arrangements for the reception to the pastor, Rev. F. J. Hubach, and his wife, that evening.

Our business is negotiating small or large loans for people keeping house.

HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or hut. Some people can make a hall bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent—a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers. their agent because it reaches the kind of people They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CHICKEN COMBINATIONS.

CHICKEN may be prepared with shellfish, rice, mushrooms, potatoes, chestnuts or other viands. These dainty combinations may be served at the Easter table when something novel, yet appetizing, is required.

Larder Dainties.

Baked Chicken and Rice.—Take a nice tender chicken and cut it up as for fricasseeing. Season each piece well with salt and pepper. Butter a baking dish, put in the chicken, add one tablespoonful of finely chopped onion and fill the dish with boiled rice. Pour over this enough rice soup stock to almost fill the the dish. Cover with a rolled paste of flour, salt and water. Bake for two hours in a slow oven. Take off the crust before serving. It is used to keep in the flavor.

Chicken and Mushrooms.—Take a small chicken, boil it till tender. When cold cut the breast in small dice and season with salt and pepper. Now take two tablespoonfuls of fresh butter, one tablespoonful of flour, moisten with one cupful of rich boiling cream and heat over the fire till smooth. To this add chicken, with one quart of fresh mushrooms, cut into dice, and let all simmer twenty minutes. Serve on strips of toast. Garnish with parsley.

Savory Baked Viands.

Spanish Chicken and Rice.—When the chicken is singed and cleaned cut up and cook in a stewpan till it is tender. Steam one-half pound of rice until soft. Fry a clove of garlic in one cupful of olive oil, then remove the garlic and fry in the same oil three medium sized onions chopped fine. Put the chicken into a baking dish, cover with rice mixed with oil, onions and sweet peppers and one can of tomatoes. Salt and pepper to taste and cook until the tomatoes are well done.

An Attractive Dish.

Chicken and Oysters.—Take a mold and fill it solidly with the following mixture. When full put a plate on top of it and lay a weight on it. Take one cupful each of minced chicken, chopped oysters with the liquor, two tablespoonfuls cracker crumbs, one tablespoonful lemon juice, one teaspoonful salt and a little paprika. Put a tablespoonful butter in a frying pan. When hot rub in a tablespoonful of flour. When smooth add the prepared mixture and stir three minutes. Put in two well beaten eggs and stir a minute more. Take from the fire and put into the mold. When cold take off the cover and push the contents out, cut in slices three-quarters inch thick, dip in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs and fry in a little butter till brown.

UNIQUE TESTS ON THE EYELESS FISH

Used to Prove Second Sight Exists.

SIXTH SENSE IS DESCRIBED

Montclair Man Who Wrote Odd Book Argues That Finny Specimens Explain Faculty of Clairvoyance—He Tells of Wonderful Power of Dreams. Says He Lived Twice Before.

Eyeless fish from the Mammoth cave, in Kentucky, were dissected by Harry Trippett, town clerk of Montclair, at a meeting of the Montclair board of health, attended by several doctors. Mr. Trippett arranged the meeting to demonstrate to scoffers his belief in the existence of "second sight," as advanced in his book, "The Door Without a Knob," the publication of which has caused a stir in Montclair. In it Mr. Trippett recorded his belief of his existence on this earth at two periods previous to his present life.

The pituitary gland, Mr. Trippett said recently, is responsible for the existence of a sixth sense in some people, which he believes exists more or less in every human being. In every animal having eyes there is a small gland situated at the point where the nerves from the two eyes cross one another. Some persons, according to Mr. Trippett, have unusually large pituitary glands, and to these individuals, he says, is given the power of "second sight," which is called clairvoyance by some.

Describes Eyeless Fish.

Mr. Trippett says that the eyeless fish of the Mammoth cave have this pituitary gland in a highly developed form. Through the United States government, after much difficulty, he obtained two of these eyeless fish and dissected them to confirm his belief that the large pituitary body of the fish was responsible for their powers of perception under physical handicap. He dissected the brains of the fish and found that, as he expected, the pituitary gland was highly developed.

Apparently, he says, these eyeless fish, through the power of the large pituitary body in their brains, are enabled to see without the usual optical organs.

Among specific instances of second sight that Mr. Trippett attributes to the presence of a highly developed pituitary gland is that which involved the late Judge Wilgerard and his wife of Montclair. Judge Wilgerard received a box of cigars from a young man named William Maxwell. The gift had no marks to indicate where it had come from except the young man's name. Maxwell's family were very eager to find him, as he had been absent from home for several years. Mrs. Wilgerard took the box in her hand and, concentrating her mind on the object, experienced a vision which showed her that Maxwell had married and was living on a plantation in Virginia. Afterward, when Maxwell was communicated with, he said that his environment as described by Mrs. Wilgerard at the moment of her vision was the same in every detail as it actually existed.

Benefit of Dreams.

Mr. Trippett explains in reference to the dream in which his former existences and his hanging for murder were revealed that he believes it is quite as possible today to receive information in dreams and by revelations as it was in olden times, provided people show a willingness to follow the truth when they receive it.

While there are many persons in Montclair who scoff at Mr. Trippett's beliefs and theories regarding occultism, he advances his arguments with much logic. He believes that his forthcoming demonstration before the board of health and the doctors of Montclair of the highly developed pituitary gland of the eyeless fish will be productive of the dissemination of more knowledge about that little known but wonderfully important detail of the human makeup. He believes also that its study by scientists and surgeons and the sympathetic interpretation of the results of these investigations by the human race will bring about a greater spirituality in the world.

Unappreciated Demonstration.

Small Brother—Marie, does your admirer stutter? Marie—No; of course not! What made you think of such a thing? Small Brother—Then why does he write "My dear, dear Marie?"—Fliegende Blatter.

—You may have to read and answer a lot of "help wanted ads" before you find "THE" one—but it's highly worth while!

DUNELLEN BASEBALL CLUB REORGANIZED

Board of Directors and Officials Elected for the Coming League Season.

Dunellen baseball promoters launched their first guns last night at the meeting called for reorganization and to complete details for entering a representative team in the Central New Jersey Baseball League. Enthusiasm reigned high at last night's meeting and from present indications it looks as though the little town of Dunellen would have the greatest diamond season in its history. A large delegation of citizens interested in the welfare of the National pastime turned out to last night's meeting with an idea of booming the project and to get it firmly started and when the gathering was adjourned there was little doubt remaining as to the possibilities offered for league baseball in Dunellen.

As has been the case at all baseball meetings of the past few years, Bob Bogardus, the genial magnate, occupied a conspicuous place in the proceedings. To date Bogardus has done some tall hustling on his own hook but hereafter he will be ably assisted by a board of directors selected as follows last night: E. B. Nathan, Augustus Winters, George Bohl, Frank Bennett, Louis Churchill, J. N. Apgar, E. J. Duseo, George Dink, Henry Garretson, A. N. Randolph, C. T. Voorhees and F. R. Haynes, Jr. From this board the officers of the Dunellen Baseball Club were selected as follows: President, George Bohl; vice president, George Dink; secretary, E. J. Duseo; treasurer, Frank Bennett; assistant treasurer, F. R. Haynes, Jr.; manager, Robert Bogardus, assistant manager, A. Banbrower.

Bogardus has been looking around for suitable playing grounds and has his eye on several different fields, any of which will make fine home playing diamonds for his aggregation. A committee composed of Robert Bogardus, F. R. Haynes, Jr., E. J. Duseo and C. T. Voorhees were authorized to represent the club at the Central New Jersey League meeting, which will be held here tonight.

ROBERT FIZSIMMONS WANTS TO BE CHAMPION ONCE MORE

Robert Fitzsimmons, ex-champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, now making his home at Dunellen, has startled the sporting world by issuing a challenge to aspiring white hopes with the idea of regaining the heavyweight title. He says in the statement made, that he would prefer to meet "Gunboat" Smith or McCarty, two of the most promising men, but will take on Sharkey, Maher, Rubin and fact, all comers.

While Bob has been wintering at his Dunellen farm, he has been keeping in training with frequent bouts and is at present in the pink of condition. While the challenge comes as a surprise to his many friends, a large number are of the opinion that the former champion could "come back" and show the goods.

COAST LEAGUE OPENS.

San Francisco, Cal., April 1.—The Pacific Coast Baseball League opens its fourteenth season today. According to President Allan T. Baum, of the league, the outlook is for a close pennant race as the playing strength of the teams has been recruited to a degree which brings them close together. The games scheduled for today are: Venice (formerly Vernon) at Los Angeles, Oakland at Sacramento and Portland at San Francisco. The season will last thirty weeks, closing October 26.

NEW LEAGUE TO MEET.

Representatives of teams entered in the Central New Jersey Baseball League for the coming season will hold a meeting in the Frost building tonight. At this time the schedule and by-laws will probably be adopted and other important business will be disposed of.

NEW JERSEY HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Plainfield High School's baseball season opens next Saturday afternoon with a game against the Camp Bowser nine. This latter aggregation is composed largely of former P. H. S. players and the undergraduates will have to play some to come out in the lead.

Rain put a damper on High School baseball practice yesterday on both sides of the pond. The respective captains will make up for lost time between now and Saturday, however, by getting in a few extra sessions.

North Plainfield High School opens with New Brunswick on Hyde Oval next Saturday afternoon. Local baseball will therefore be ushered in with a double bill.

A number of the Plainfield High School track men are very anxious to get into that Union County Athletic cross-country run Friday afternoon, but it is not known whether or not representatives of High Schools not affiliated with the organization will be allowed to compete.

Most of the larger New Jersey High Schools have their 1913 football schedules completed but a number of the smaller ones have not as yet elected game bookers.

That St. Benedict's "Prep" School, of Newark, will be represented by a football team next season was decided at a meeting of the Athletic Association held in the school auditorium yesterday. It is six years since the school has placed an eleven on the gridiron, but the interest in the sport is still keen among the students and there appears to be a wealth of good material available from which to develop a fast team. While it is not expected that the Maroon and Gray will be as successful the first year as have the basketball and baseball teams representing the institution, still it is expected that with a few year's experience the football warriors will compare favorably with the representatives of the High street institution in other branches of sport.

At the meeting yesterday at Barringer High School James Cavanaugh was elected captain pro tempore and he will begin immediately to look over the material at hand and get a line on the possible candidates.

Negotiations have been begun for the services of Tom Kane, a famous quarterback of Villanova some years ago to coach Barringer. Kane has been coaching a "prep" school eleven in Manhattan for the past few years and is regarded as one of the best instructors of the sport in the Eastern States.

Harold Slocum, manager of next season's football team for the Montclair High School, has completed his schedule for the eleven. The list, though short, consisting only of seven games, is very attractive, owing to the high-class teams to be met.

A regular monthly meeting of the representatives of the New Jersey Interscholastic League was held at Barringer High School this afternoon. A busy afternoon was before the boys, as several important things had to be decided definitely. Things have been handled rather carelessly of late, and much ground which should have been gone over before was covered today. A basketball banner was awarded to Montclair. Besides this, a field day committee was appointed, and next year's basketball schedule discussed.

THIS IS A RED-LETTER DAY FOR THE REAL FANS

April 1—This is the day! Let the brass bands blare and the mobs roar, for the double-barreled and triple-ringed, six months' circus of baseball is about to be turned loose in the land. The crack of the bat and the ball in the East this afternoon, ushers in the 1913 season of professional baseball games and before the diamonds are abandoned toward the end of October they will number about 25,000 contests.

The first pennant race is started as usual by the Pacific Coast League. The two major leagues will get under way on Thursday of next week, on which day the American Association, the Southern League and the Texas League also will play their first games.

In quick succession after the beginning of the big league races the International, Western, South Atlantic, Northwestern and Virginia Leagues will open, followed by the Central League and the Eastern Association on April 23. The Central Association and the New England and New York State Leagues will begin their schedules on the last day of April. The first ten days in May will see practically all of the remaining minor organizations started on their championship race.

"LIDDY" PLAYS AGAIN.

Eugene Lidgate, of Fanwood, who is now playing with the Baltimore team, of the International League, is playing every game behind the bat for the Orioles in their series with the Philadelphia Nationals. He held the curves of Johnson and Danforth yesterday, when Philadelphia won out in the ninth inning by a count of 9 to 8.

DAVE DRISCOLL'S BASEBALL OPENING HALTED BY SHOWER

A real April shower about game time yesterday afternoon prevented Dave Driscoll's team from defeating the All-Professionals, in the opening game of the season. "There's one bad mistake I make each year," said Manager Driscoll, and that is in picking out a Sunday for the opening game. It invariably means rain."

All of the players were on hand and anxious to get out on the field for the first workout of the season. There were several hundred people on hand.

MORE INTERSTATE GOLF.

While two interstate matches between teams representing New York and New Jersey already have been arranged by the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, negotiations are under way for two more clashes, the probabilities being that Oakland and Baltusrol will be chosen. The contests arranged are scheduled to take place at Montclair on May 13 and at Knollwood a week later, May 20. It is planned to hold the other two matches on May 6 and 27.

WHAT WILL BECOME OF JACK MARTIN?

Much Dickering on the Part of Minor League Managers for Local Player.

Both Jersey City and Rochester clubs, of the International League, are after Jack Martin, of this city, now with the Yankees. According to the New York papers yesterday Martin is to be sent to a minor league club by Manager Chance. President Lillis, of the Jersey City club, has been after Martin for several weeks, and John Ganzel, of Rochester, is also after Jack, who formerly played with Rochester. The club which puts up the most money will be the one to get Martin.

That Rochester is anxious to get Martin is evident by the following article which appeared in the Jersey City Journal:

"When Manager John Ganzel, of the Hustlers, was asked if he had hopes of getting Jack Martin for short and Cozy Dolan for third, he snorted and bolted for the open door of the Rochester club's hotel at Arlington, Ala. Among the players it is believed that Martin will not last with the New York Americans and if Rochester doesn't take him, Jersey City will. That doesn't set well particularly if McMillan is absent. Dolan may be made an outfielder by Philadelphia but it is doubtful if he will last any length of time. Would Ganzel turn him back, if offered? Answer: 'Hard.'"

TRIANGULAR RACE ASSURED.

Word was received at Columbia yesterday that th ePrinceton faculty committee on athletes had approved the proposed Princeton-Columbia-Navy crew race on Lake Carnegie on May 10. Although earlier reports had the race scheduled, the Columbia management would not verify the fact until receiving definite announcement of the favorable action by the Princeton committee. The race on Lake Carnegie will be the only preliminary college contest in which the Columbia crew will take part this year. It is entered, however, in the American Henley regatta on the Schuylkill, where it will meet the Navy 'varsity eight in the race for the senior championship.

OFFICERS' OUSTING IN COURT.

New Brunswick, April 1.—There are five cases in the list of Supreme Court for trial at the April term, which opens today, as a result of the ousting last January of Republican officeholders by the local Democratic Board of Aldermen.

The actions are quo warranto proceedings. Street Commissioner John Curran is sued by Cornelius B. McCrellis; City Engineer Asher Atkinson by Fred. C. Schneider, and the three tax assessors, William Howell, William F. Harkins and Frederick Tappen by Horatio C. Mount, John J. Kinney and Garnet A. Roife.

Justice James. J. Bergen will charge the grand jury, and Judge Frank T. Lloyd will come here April 7 and sit on April 25 to try the thirty-six cases on call.

Charles C. Allom, owner of the fast British fifteen meter cutter Istria, stated recently he had been considering with several friends sending a challenge to the New York Yacht club for the America's cup.

How far his plans have progressed he did not say, except that if the challenge should be decided upon it will be based upon international rules and the challenger will be a twenty-three meter yacht, somewhat smaller than a seventy-five footer.

This announcement revives the interest raised by the previous challenge from Sir Thomas Lipton, which was rejected because of the conditions asked by the Irish baronet.

CONNOLLY TAKES OATH AS THE COUNTY JUDGE

Elizabeth, April 1.— Judge James C. Connolly yesterday was sworn in for a full term of five years as judge of the Union County Court of Common Pleas. The oath was administered by County Clerk James C. Calvert. Judge Connolly has for several weeks been serving out the unexpired term of Judge Edward S. Atwater, who resigned.

The new judge's first official act was to appoint Carl Shaffer as court interpreter for German, Polish and Slavish languages, to succeed Ferdinand Wasserberger, appointed January 1, 1913, by Judge Atwater.

COURT NOLLE PROSSES CASE AGAINST REALTY DEALER

Jersey City, April 1.—A nolle prosse was ordered entered by Judge Carey for Ernest Sharpe, of Plainfield, who was indicted along with the directors of the Port-au-Peck Realty Company several weeks ago. The application for the nolle prosse was made by John Milton, counsel for Sharpe. George W. Young has already been granted a severance and will have a separate trial. The other men who were indicted have pleaded not guilty. They are under bail. Sharpe made affidavit that he had not had anything to do with the company since November, 1910.

"The suffering of the people in the city of Dayton, proper, was not so great as in the outlying districts. Realizing that we would probably be kept prisoners for some time the men carried meat and potatoes from the hotel to our place in the bank building. You can imagine the many perilous trips we had to take back and forth. We served the meat and potatoes twice a day. Our drinking water we caught from the downpour of rain. To add to the horrible experience which we suffered, it rained or snowed the entire time and the cold was intense. But we fared pretty well, that is, as good as could be expected under the circumstances and I am indeed thankful that I am back in Plainfield with my wife and baby."

Mr. Loizeaux has been on his way to Plainfield since Friday. While in the flood district he made the close friendship of a John Wild, of South Carolina. Both worked together in their efforts to relieve the sufferings of the less fortunate.

Cincinnati, April 1.—Secretary of War Garrison left here this morning over the Southern Railway for Washington. The Southern Railway has experienced no interruption on account of the floods in the passenger traffic into and out of Cincinnati and Louisville. It has handled during the last four days between ten and fifteen special trains between the two points and the East, and large parties are leaving for Washington by the way of Knoxville, Tenn.

Washington, April 1.—If the levees hold and there are no heavy rains the flood in the lower Mississippi River should be slightly less than last year's overflow, it was stated at the Weather Bureau today. Within the next week or ten days there will probably be a stage of ten feet above flood in the river below Memphis. The Ohio River is expected to reach the crest of the flood at Cincinnati today.

Cairo, Ill., April 1.—Alarming newspaper reports of conditions in this city are not justified as the chances are that the river will not go higher than last year, when the flood was not disastrous.

New York, April 1.—At Cincinnati this morning the river stage was 69.8 feet and rising, the increase since yesterday having been six feet. The weather is clear, temperature 46. At Louisville the river stage was 44.7 feet and rising, the increase since yesterday is one foot. Weather clear, temperature 48. At Nashville the river stage was 41.8 feet and rising, increase since yesterday, four feet. Weather clear, temperature 48. At Memphis the river stage was 36.8 feet and rising, increase since yesterday was eight feet. Weather clear, temperature 56.

She was walking across the room near a telephone, when she tripped over the telephone cord. Blair, the physician in charge, will give the X-ray treatment today to determine the exact extent of the injury.

FREIGHT CARS UNCOUPLED.

A string of freight cars travelin east through Dunellen on the "local track Sunday, going at the rate o about 35 miles an hour, became uncoupled about one-half mile from the Dunellen station. The line of engine-less freighters stopped at the Washington avenue crossing, preventing any vehicles from crossing. The engine with but half its load went puffing past but nothing was wrong, apparently. The waiting passengers at the station, however, let out cries of exclamations when several freight cars came past with no engine pulling them and gradualy slowing in speed. Several men, realizing the danger of a local train smashing into the freighters, ran to the tracks for about a half mile from the purpose of flagging any approaching train on the same track with the "stalled" freighters. The freight engineer, however, missing his usual quota of cars, investigated and soon came puffing back, coupled up again, and continued on, and a probable serious accident was avoided. Railroad detectives are investigating to see if any person intentionally uncoupled the cars. A gang of boys were recently arrested in this city for this offense and on the witness stand said they often performed their pranks in Dunellen.

BORO EXTRAVAGANCE

strong plea for the Board of School Estimate, as did also Mr. Betts, but the sentiment was in favor of a committee of apportionment.

The following is the official report:

Report of Special Committee on Adjustment of Municipal and Public School Expenditures, North Plainfield.

The committee appointed to consolidate the three sub-committee reports beg to recommend the adoption of the accompany communication to the Council and Board of Education, as embodying the report of the committee as a whole:

To the Honorables the Council and Board of Education of the Borough of North Plainfield:

Gentlemen:—In reporting its conclusions and recommendations relative to the finances of our borough your committee will not attempt to enter into the details of the mass of data obtained and available for your information, but will confine its report to the salient features presented.

Three sub-committees have presented separately their findings, each of necessity somewhat overlapping the subject matters dealt with by the others. The purpose of this report is to correlate the various views expressed and, in so far as such are in substantial accord, to consolidate the same and thus avoid repetition. Where any material divergence of opinion exist exceptions will be noted or supplemental reports made.

The fundamental questions before us are those of adjusting the borough's expenditures to its resources, and of securing an equitable division of legitimate income between its various departments. Our main inquiry has, therefore, been directed to an ascertainment of possible sources of revenue; probable future expenditures gauged by the past; a comparison of such expenditures with those of other municipalities; and possible economics to effect needed adjustments.

The elementary proposition, that the borough's revenue must be commensurate to its disbursements, needs no argument, and having determined the sources available, it follows that future budgets must be in conformity, not as matter of choice or expediency, but of imperative necessity. A clear conception of this guiding principle must be the basis of our entire consideration of the matter under discussion.

Resources.

County and State school taxes are paid over to the county and State as collected and can be eliminated from our present calculations.

Predicated upon the principle reported by the Somerset County Board of Taxation, i. e., that over a period of years the valuation of North Plainfield's ratables should not justly show a greater percentage of increase than Somerset county on the average, and upon the assumption that the receipts from State and county school moneys, from tuition fees and other miscellaneous sources will approximate those of last year your committee deduces the following:

Ratables for the year 1913 estimated at $4,100,000 at $1.25 per $100, being the maximum legal rate exclusive of the rate for State, county and sewerage purposes	$51,250.00
State and county school moneys	22,700.00
Tuition fees from other municipalities	1,350.00
Receipts from licenses, fines, etc.	6,100.00
Estimated total revenue	$81,400.00

The tentative budgets for the coming year of the Borough Council and the Board of Education approximate $40,000 and $55,000, respectively, and in the aggregate exceed the above estimated revenue by over $14,000. It becomes at once evident that some radical adjustments are called for.

It is here in order to point out a grave prevalent fallacy: We refer to the tendency to make both ends meet by unduly increasing the valuation of ratables beyond that which is justifiable instead of curtailing expenses to a point within true resources. From one cause and another our borough has heretofore fallen into this error. Such a course not only inculcates extravagance, but is ruinous finance. To illustrate—expressed in dollars and cents—for every additional $1:25 that is thus raised, for borough use, 86 cents is also presented as a bonus to the county and State without a corresponding benefit. In past years this has constituted a serious over-burden upon our taxpayer, estimated for the year 1912 at equivalent to $7,800. Upon this question the borough taxpayer has spoken in no uncertain manner, and we must seek other solutions to the problem.

Comparison of Expenditures With Those of Other Municipalities and With Those of Previous Years.

Schools.

For the purpose of comparison there has been made a careful analysis of the last available official figures for current school expenditures in twenty-four municipalities in this state, not in any sense selected but including, we believe, all that might reasonably be considered a fair comparison. The result proves conclusively that our school expenditures are relatively higher than those, due consideration being given to resources and number of children educated.

The following forcibly demonstrates that our disbursements under this head are at a point beyond any conceivable just demand upon our finances. The total amount expended for current school expenses in round figures is given as:

North Plainfield, $44,000, against a total days attendance of 176,000;

Somerville, $32,000, against a total days attendance of 184,000;

Dover, $38,000, against a total days attendance of 251,000;

Ridgewood, $43,000, as against a total days attendance of 250,000;

Salem, $31,000, as against a total days attendance of 201,000.

As compared with North Plainfield, others spend less and yet are capable of educating a larger number of children.

Instances of the daily per capita cost for current school expenses are: North Plainfield, 25 cents; Somerville, 17 cents; all Somerset county, 21 cents; East Rutherford, 14 cents; Dover, 15 cents; Salem, 16 cents; all New Jersey, 21 cents.

—In the matter of free education, a rich community with but few children may be justified in spending more for public schools than a poorer municipality with relatively more to educate. In each instance due regard must be had to these factors: For instance, Summit with 169,000 days attendance spends for current school expenses $48,000, but has nearly three times the ratables of North Plainfield; Nutley spends $43,000 with 186,000 days attendance but has ratables 50% greater than North Plainfield; Dover, in comparison with our borough, has the same ratables, 40% more days attendance, but spends 15% less. In the first instances there is ample ability to bear the burden while in the last illustration there has evidently been an appreciation of the pinch of necessity and an effort made to meet it.

The true test as to whether a community is living beyond its means, as far as schools are concerned, is found in the district or special school tax rate for current expenses, and in this North Plainfield is grossly out of line. North Plainfield's special school tax for current school expenses for the year 1911-12 was equivalent to 55 cents per $100; Somerville, 25 cents; Bound Brook, 39 cents; all Somerset county, 26 cents; Summit, 16 cents; Nutley, 18 cents; Plainfield, 22 cents; Westfield, 32 cents; Cranford, 26 cents; Roselle, 29 cents; Roselle Park, 29 cents; all New Jersey, 25 cents.

In other words, there was levied upon the North Plainfield taxpayer approximately 120% more than upon those of Somerville, of all Somerset county, and of the entire State. No municipality that we have discovered approaches North Plainfield in this respect, except East Rutherford which, however, is evidently struggling to meet its difficulty by spending only 14 cents per day's attendance. North Plainfield cannot plead any such effort.

For current expenses—Bernards expends 24c per day and taxes itself 22c per $100, Somerville expends 17c per day and taxes itself 25c per $100, all New Jersey expends 21c per day and taxes itself 25c per $100, all Somerset county expends 21c per day and taxes itself 25c per $100, North Plainfield expends 25c per day and taxes itself 55c per $100.

All of the foregoing school comparisons are for "current expenses" only, which include as provided for by the school law, all salaries, fuel, text books, supplies, insurance and incidentals, but do not include expenditures for buildings, repairing, re-furnishing, purchases of land, retirement of bonds, or interest on bonds. In this connection particular attention is called to the fact that of the above $44,000 spent by North Plainfield for current school expenses, there must be added, in round figures, $10,000 per annum as the cost of all items not included under the term "current school expenses."

In the past six years the annual per capita cost of our school education has increased from $41.36 to $44.72.

Without attempting to cover every cause for the inequality referred to, attention is called to the fact that in six years our teachers' salary account has advanced from $23,316 (for 36 teachers) to $33,225 (for 42 teachers), an increase of $9,808, or over 40%; whereas the enrollment is exactly where it was six years ago. In 1911-12 the per capita cost of teachers' salary in this borough was 19 cents per day as compared with 14½ cents for the average of the entire State.

At this point reference should be made to the "tenure of service" provision of the school law, which prohibits any reduction in the staff of teachers or of their salaries after teachers have held office for three consecutive years. Without attempting to discuss the wisdom of the general principle involved, there can be no question but that it would be little short of criminal to fasten upon our community an aggravation of the already impossible burden in this direction. Teachers when engaged may be taken at lower salaries. This is possible and yet good teachers be had. Such a course may put upon the supervising principal a greater burden of supervision; the less experienced teacher needing more help; the higher priced, more experienced one needing less. Increase in salaries must be carefully considered in view of the present financial stress of the borough.

Your committee has had difficulty in deciphering the local school accounts, and the State School Auditor criticises sharply the manner in which these accounts and records generally have been kept, and calls attention to many instances of unintelligent and inaccurate methods, and improper and incorrect treatment of the school's finances.

It is more than probable that the laxity shown in this respect for years past is reflected in the abnormal growth of school expenditures. The imperative necessity for an intelligent and proper system of accounting is referred to later in our recommendations.

Summed up: Our public schools cost us far more than we can afford. This cost, judged by other municipalities, should be 25% less; our per capita cost exceeds that of any other community, resources and days attendance considered. The increase in the teachers' salary account of 40% above referred to, without any increase in the enrollment, seems unreasonably large.

The High School.

The High School costs the borough relatively much more than other departments of its schools. Estimates of this cost have been made by the County Superintendent, by the local Board of Education, by the Supervising Principal and by the State Department, which estimates vary, running all the way from $15 to $97 per capita per annum. The lower estimates were so manifestly erroneous that we have discarded them entirely, and will base our calculations upon the recent special State School Auditor's report made to the President of the State Board of Education. This last named report shows that the total cost—exclusive of bonds and interest upon bonds—of our High School was, for the year ending June 13, 1912, $11,110.04; deducting from this a proper pro rata amount received from State and county school moneys, the $2,800 appropriated for seven High School teachers, and amount received for tuition fees, the State School Auditor's report indicates a cost to the borough of $5,737.61, but to this sum must be added a proportionate amount of bonds and interest paid, say 7-37ths of $6,885; or, in lieu of a proportionate amount of bonds and interest, there must be a charge for interest upon capital investment in lands, building and equipment ($147,225), and in addition a reasonable amount for depreciation in the last two named items which are valued at $122,225. Upon either method of calculation there must be, therefore added $1,300 or more to the High School most named in the State School Auditor's report. This will make the total High School cost to the borough $7,000.

On the assumption that the 93 borough High School pupils could have been transferred to the City of Plainfield at a cost of $50 per capita, of which amount the borough would have been reimbursed one-half by the State, a net saving of $4,700 would have resulted if our High School pupils had been so transferred. Your committee have reason to believe that upon completion of the addition to the Plainfield High School an arrangement such as we have indicated above could be made.

Special emphasis is drawn to the fact that a transfer of our High School pupils would make available space in our present building which undoubtedly will be needed in the near future and will avoid further outlay for other school buildings.

Streets.

A comparison of this account is almost impossible, as the methods for paying for street improvements differ widely in each municipality. We are inclined to believe that this department would be more economical and efficient if there was employed as street commissioner a young engineer, capable of overseeing the street work and at the same time rendering the many engineering services required.

In view of the fact that it is more than probable that work on the sewers will begin in the near future, we believe that no street should be macadamized or re-surfaced this year, and that repairs be confined to such as are absolutely necessary to keep the streets passable.

Lighting.

Comparisons show that we are spending too much in this department. In the final analysis, the ability to afford any municipal expense finds its true index in the relation that the amount raised by taxation bears to its ratables. The following is a comparison on these lines:

	Ratables.	Tax Levy For Lights	Equivalent Rate
N. Plainfield	$4,071,622	$5,950	15c
Somerville	4,341,426	3,000	7c
Westfield	8,823,890	9,059	13c
Summit	11,158,483	9,000	8c
Nutley	6,158,624	6,000	10c
Glen Ridge	6,950,899	4,984	7c
Milburn	6,618,233	5,438	8c

Police.

There has been some question as to the necessity for the appointment of a roundsman. The appointment of this additional officer has undoubtedly increased the efficiency of the force, but the question is, whether the borough finances warrant the increased expense. We make the following comparisons:

	Ratables.	Tax Levy For Police	Equivalent Rate
N. Plainfield	$4,071,622	$5,300	12c
Somerville	4,341,426	3,500	8c
Westfield	8,823,890	8,500	10c
Summit	11,158,483	10,000	9c
Nutley	6,158,624	6,000	10c
Glen Ridge	6,950,899	5,462	8c
Milburn	6,618,233	4,532	7c

Fire.

The expenditures in this department are somewhat higher than in other municipalities. The tax rate for this purpose is about as follows: North Plainfield about 9 cents per $100 as against Somerville 7 cents Westfield 7 cents, Summit 4 cents, Nutley 8 cents, Glen Ridge 8 cents, and Milburn 3 cents.

Health.

For this department the tax rate in North Plainfield is approximately three times that of Somerville and of Milburn, and 50% more than that of Westfield.

Correlation of the Expenditures of the Council and Board of Education.

The necessity for some plan to harmonize the expenditures authorized by these two boards is obvious and indisputable. The present lack of such harmony leads to extravagance beyond the borough's needs, the natural tendency being for each board to secure a liberal appropriation of the public funds for its own purposes and to hold the other board responsible for any combined excessive expenditures. This defect is remedied in cities by a Board of School Estimate, and which plan could be adopted at a regular election in the borough.

As to the best permanent plan for our purposes there is a sharp divergence of opinion in the committee, which will be more fully discussed in a separate report.

To meet the present emergency your committee are unanimous in urging that there be at once appointed as the voluntary acts of the Council and Board of Education, a "Committee of Apportionment," to consist of two members from each body, with a fifth member to be mutually agreed upon. The duties of such a board would be to adjudicate between the Council and the Board of Education and to decide as to a fair apportionment of the borough's revenue for the year 1913.

We shall all recognize that the borough is unfortunately situated in that it has no railroad and little business ratables, and comparatively few costly improvements, and in this respect is worse off than Somerville, Westfield, Red Bank and many other towns. The amount we are justified in expending must, therefore, be determined by our resources, and the fact that we are not spending more than others is not, in itself, a justification for making our appropriations on a par with theirs.

State and County Taxes.

On these accounts there will be levied this year approximately $15,600 less than in 1912. This saving to the borough is due to a judgment rendered by the Somerset County Board of Taxation in favor of the borough. This difference, however, will not in any sense be a revenue item, nor will it affect the maximum tax rate above stated. It is made up of a refund for the year 1912 and a reduction in the tax levy for the year 1913. It amounts to a duplication that will under ordinary circumstances be cut in half in succeeding years.

The Special Taxation Committee of which Mr. Timothy Harrington is chairman, propose to apply to the County Board of Taxation for an advance of 19 cents per $100 in the maximum tax rate, and to apply the amount so raised towards the retirement of $7,500 of Fire House Bonds, as to which no provision has been made. It is pointed out that this will not only make provision for the bonds in question, but will avoid a sharp raise in the amount of the 1914 tax levy which might give rise to unnecessary complaint from the taxpayers.

We recommend that school expenditures be at once taken in hand and materially reduced.

That until our school expenditures are reduced to a point commensurate with our resources, no principal or teacher be re-engaged or continued so as to come under the "Tenure of Service" provision of the school law.

That the report of the State School Auditor heretofore referred to receive the most earnest study and consideration from the Board of Education; a copy of the report in question having been forwarded to the Board of Education by the State Department.

That the financial statements of the Board of Education receive the certification of the same public accountant as that employed by the Council, and in making such accounting that the school statement be divided into periods of six months, so that two periods will correspond with the borough fiscal year, and two periods with the school fiscal year; and that the school financial statement, from Jan. 1st to Jan. 1st, beginning with this calendar year, be included in the borough's next annual report.

That in view of the fact that a transfer of our High School pupils will go a long way towards making up the deficiency which now confronts us, we recommend that steps be taken to negotiate with the Plainfield Board of Education for this purpose, to become effective as soon as its facilities will permit. If desired, this committee would co-operate with the Borough Board of Education in furthering these negotiations.

That no streets be macadamized or resurfaced this year, and that repairs be limited to such as are absolutely necessary; and that the grading and resurfacing of the street on either side of Stine bridge be limited to such as will make it passable. If the bulk of the filling required at this point is postponed until the sewer work is begun, the cost will be materially reduced.

That the Street Commissioner be a young civil engineer whose duty it shall be to oversee the street work, and to perform all engineering services required other than that connected with the sewers; and that steps at once be taken to secure such an engineer from Stevens Institute or a similar institution.

That the light account be cut down wherever and as far as possible. Possibly the consideration of Tungsten lamps, and of a less number, would help toward this end.

That the Police force be reduced in number to that of last year should the law so permit.

That the services of special counsel to the Board of Health be dispensed with, and that the fees received be deposited with the city treasurer, and that the Board of Health expenses be confined to the appropriation made by the Council for that department.

That a definite agreement be entered into between the Council and the Board of Education under which a "Committee of Apportionment" shall be at once appointed to harmonize this year's budgets of the two boards one with the other and with the borough's available revenue. This committee will be glad to lend its good offices in furthering a selection of a fifth member of this "Committee of Apportionment," and in formulating the terms of such a proposed agreement. We cannot too strongly urge the adoption of some such plan as that suggested.

We endorse as entirely wise and proper the plan of the Special Committee on Taxation to retire, by a specially authorized advance in the tax rate, $7,500 of Fire House Bonds.

(Signed)

CHARLES W. McCUTCHEN,
S. ST. J. McCUTCHEN,
J. BROGNARD BETTS,
Sub-Committee.
GEORGE T. ROGERS,
Ex-officio, Chairman.

I have signed the above report and heartily concur in all its conclusions and recommendations except the paragraph on page 7 relating to the tenure of service of teachers, and the recommendation on page 14 relating to the same subject. I believe that the adoption of this recommendation would seriously decrease the efficiency of the schools, and I believe the result desired, namely, keeping down to the minimum the expense of the schools, can be reached in other ways.

J. BROGNARD BETTS.

Supplemental report relative to the adoption of Section 6 of the School Law providing for the appointment of a Board of School Estimate, as indicated in the general report, there is a divergence of views upon this subject. The proponents urge the following recommendation:

That the borough adopt, by vote, the provisions of Section 6 of the school law, which will place the borough school system in the same class with City School Districts, particularly with reference to the appropriation and raising by Special School Tax of moneys for the maintenances of the schools.

All such appropriations will then be determined, not by the unthinking vote of a few at a public meeting, but by an appointed intermediate board representing both the Board of Education and the Mayor and Council.

This board is called by the law, "The Board of School Estimate;" it will consist of two members of the Board of Education annually appointed by it, two members of the Council annually appointed by it, and always the Mayor, ex-officio. Any proposed budget, or request for funds, for school maintenance, repairs, or for building, will be presented to this board of five; will be considered by it, and the amount or amounts finally, after consideration, fixed by the board, must be included in the tax levy and will be the amount at the disposal of the Board of Education for the then coming school year.

By this means there will be, always, conference and intelligent action between the Board of Education and the Mayor and Council. Each body will know what the other does; their mutual needs can be studied and a fair and harmonious division and appropriation of the annual resources of the borough can be effected.

Such a contemplated change of methods must be submitted to the voters of the borough, and such a vote can be had on the initiative of either the Board of Education or the Mayor and Council.

We recommend that appropriate action be taken to submit such a change of administration to the voters of the borough at the general election to be held in November next.

S. ST. J. McMUTCHEN,
J. BROGNARD BETTS,
Committee.

Dissenting from the foregoing recommendations, the undersigned submit that Section 6 of the State School Laws should not be adopted for the reasons that:

Designed for the use of cities, it is unscientific as applied to boroughs. Its basic principle is that of appointing an unbiased umpire as between the Council and the Board of Education. The City Mayor is not especially identified with either body, whereas in boroughs the Mayor is one of the Council, enters into its deliberations, and has a voice in its decisions. Therefore, he is not in a position to be the unbiased arbitrator required.

Section 6 provides that the members of the Board of Education shall be appointed by the Mayor, and during his term he might appoint a majority of that board, so that, with two members of his own Council and two of his own appointees, he might virtually be the sole judge of all questions relating to the finances of the schools. This would be extreme one-man power.

Adoption of Section 6 by the borough would be diametrically opposed to the general scheme of the borough laws in respect of issuance of bonds. It has always been considered a wise provision that the borough bonded indebtedness should be first passed upon by the voters and in a majority of instances by property owners. This safeguard would be destroyed under Section 6 as far as issuance of bonds for school purposes is concerned, the Board of School Estimate having absolute power to authorize bonds for the purpose without limit except that fixed by the debt limit of the municipality.

Adoption of Section 6 would tend to extravagance rather than economy. There are many expenditures which might be considered either current expenses or be capitalized under an issuance of bonds. The requirements of both bodies would probably be acceded to and any threatened deficiency made up by throwing items on the border line into a bonded indebtedness. In practice, adoption of Section 6 would transfer the responsibility for school expenditures from the board of nine to a committee of five, and there is no reason to assume that the combined judgment of the five would be better than that of the nine.

Pending some revision of the school laws to remedy the defects of Section 6 as applied to boroughs, we think it would be wiser to depend upon the annual appointment of a "Committee of Apportionment" as suggested in the general report. We believe that the Council and the Board of Education will readily acquiesce in such a means of hereafter adjusting borough finances.

C. W. McCUTCHEN,
GEORGE T. ROGERS.

JURY COMMISSIONERS.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In your editorial on Jury Commissions in the issue of 25th inst., you say you do not believe that any appointing power should be given to the judges; also that you do not approve of the course of the judges in appointing elisors; and finally that it is dangerous to place the power to name the commissioners in the hands of the Governor. And yet you recognize that in many counties in the State the condition arising from the present power of the Sheriff to select grand jurors amounts to a crime in that it defeats the ends of justice. It seems to me that these different positions amount to a stale mete, and an admission that while the present system is bad, there is no way out of it. Why should we entertain such a respect for the ancient office of Sheriff? True the Constitution makes him an elective officer, but is there any good reason why he should continue to be so? An examination of the petitions filed for the primary elections under the present law shows that the office is much sought, though its tenure is but for three years, and the holder is not eligible to succeed himself. And we know that the primary vote does not always nominate the most desirable candidates. The office is not sacrosanct, nor are the duties attached to it. In the selection of jurors the Sheriff is acting as an officer of the court, and the only check thus far devised to prevent an abuse of his power is his supersession by elisors. As this is a perfectly legal exercise of the authority of the court I do not see why you should disapprove of it. Our judges by the method of their appointment, are as far removed from politics as is possible, and I do not think we have any cause for charging them with showing bias. Why should they not be entrusted with this most important power, the honest exercise of which is essential to our welfare and to the stability of our institutions? Are they not much more to be trusted than is an elective officer, with an eye open to future preferment?

The experiment is certainly worth trying and I hope the bill now before the Legislature will pass without the mischevious referendum clause. To take this power from the sheriff will not greatly reduce his authority. We know that it is hopeless to expect that the sheriff will always do his duty and act in an impartial manner, as his sworn obligation requires, and hence we should have recourse to a jury commission appointed by the court. I was glad to see so much space given by you to the subject, as it indicates your belief that it is of interest to your readers, and I hope it will arouse them to communicate their views concerning it to the members in the Legislature from Union county.

AS TO CITY DUMP.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I read in Saturday's Courier News the account of H. C. Compton's visit to Florida, and trust he will now be a real progressive. I, however, take exception to his remark relative to the Myrtle avenue extension. He says non-property owners have called this a dump. Rightly so, it was the city dump and would be now but for the real progressives. He forgets to mention that he sold many a load of good clean soil for a song, instead of using same to make a road. He speaks of some garbage—the last 50 feet was composed of 60 per cent. ashes and old junk, and 40 per cent. of rotten garbage, hence the picture of young people with air guns shooting the numerous rats. Rats, by the way, do not feed on clean ashes and good soil. Even a lion is a clean animal and trys to avoid foul smells.

Mr. Compton has owned Compton avenue for say thirty years, and yet this so-called progressive did not macadamize same until five years ago, under pressure by the Council at that, through the complaint of his neighbors about the awful mud road. He has yet to lay the sidewalk on three-quarters of one side of Compton avenue, also quite a stretch on Myrtle avenue before being entitled to membership with the progressives. The writer (only a tenant) will pay his share toward a real road from Compton to Grant avenue. Will this would-be lion tamer and property owner do likewise.

Yours very truly,
H. E. LANGFORD.

ALARMING REPORT NOW FROM CAIRO

People Removing Goods to Safe Places as the Ohio River Rises.

FOUR LEVEES BREAK

Dayton Wants Loan From Federal Government—Conditions Better at Pittsburgh, Pa.—Water Lower at Cincinnati.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Cairo, Ill., April 2.—With the Ohio River nine feet above flood stage, and still rising, and the crest of the flood yet to come, the situation in this city is regarded with apprehension, and the people of the city are getting their belongings to high ground. It is almost impossible to forecast what may happen before the water begins to recede, not only in this city, but in all of the region below here. Should there be much more rainfall within the next ten days the situation so far as property damage is concerned may become as serious as it was at Dayton.

The Big Four Railroad levee here broke at 2 o'clock this morning. The Illinois Central Railroad was cut in two and the condition is the same as last year when service through Cairo was cut off eight days. Passenger trains and perishable freight are being detoured via Thebes Bridge over the St. Louis, Texas and San Francisco Railroad to Memphis.

New York, April 2.—Advices received by the Weather Bureau indicate more rains for the flooded districts. The river at Cincinnati has passed the crest. It was 69½ feet this morning, a fall of three feet since yesterday morning, and receding. The river at Louisville also has passed the crest and was 45 feet this morning, a fall of three feet. The stage at Cairo was 54 feet and rising. At Memphis 37 feet and rising, at Nashville 44.9 feet and rising, at Vicksburg 40.7 feet and rising.

Dayton, April 2.—John H. Patterson, president of the flood relief committee, states that at a meeting of bankers and officials of the building associations of Dayton it was decided to make an appeal for Federal aid. A loan of from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 from the Federal Government for reconstruction work is to be asked.

Pittsburgh, April 2.—Practically all steel plants and blast furnaces are getting into operation days in advance of the time that seemed likely during the height of last week's floods. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company is running in all departments, the Carnegie Steel Company's Ohio works and furnaces are also in operation. Partial resumption of Newcastle and Sharon plants is reported.

CHILDREN'S PARTY.

A children's party was given yesterday afternoon in honor of the first birthday anniversary of Marion J. Diehl, of Stonybrook place, the borough. The afternoon was spent playing games and refreshments were served. During the afternoon a picture of the guests was taken and will be given to them as souvenirs. Among those present were Gladys, Myrtle and Evelyn DeNise, Kitty Downs, Marion Scott, Alice Reed, Edna Wyckoff and Norman Downs, Carl Williams. Those who assisted in entertaining were Mrs. A. Diehl, Mrs. F. J. Diehl, Mrs. William Wyckoff, the Misses Nora and Florence Reed, Mrs. F. Downs and Mrs. George Gates.

AN AUTO MISHAP.

While operating his new Overland automobile on West Seventh street this morning, W. G. Morse, of Belvidere avenue, became confused when he tried to slow down on the speed when rounding the corner of Park avenue, and threw in the accelerator instead of the clutch. This action caused the car to skid violently to one side of the street hitting the curb stone with force enough to smash the wheels on one side of the car.

ADVERTISING CITY.

The business men interested in a proposed Plainfield exhibit at the Real Estate Show to be held May 3 to 10 in the Grand Central Palace, New York city, held another meeting this morning, at which all the committeemen present reported that mercantile, professional and real estate men in general are heartily in favor of the plan.

APPROACHING WEDDING.

Miss Gladys Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Peck, of Myrtle avenue, and Edward Townsend Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Booth, of Central avenue, will be married on Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents.

POLICE RUN DOWN TWO BURGLARS HERE

Clever Work of Flynn and MacDonald Results in Capture of Crooks.

Due to clever detective work by Sergeant John J. Flynn and Patrolman Daniel J. MacDonald, Leon Shockley, alias Sharkey, colored, 25 years old, of Lincoln place, North Plainfield, and James Louis, 23 years old, 422 Forsythe street, New York city, were arrested this morning, charged with the burglary at Issac Richard's tailor shop, in East Third street, several days ago. Richard's place was entered by forcing a rear window and 22 pairs of trousers, two overcoats and one sack coat was stolen.

The men were caught following information gathered by the policemen after they had discovered parts of the stolen clothing in the stable of Peter Seader, hackman, of 20 Chatham street. Chief Kiely complimented his men on their catch.

The prisoners' records are being looked up and it is thought that they have been implicated in other offenses committed in Plainfield, according to the police. They will be arraigned before City Judge DeMeza tomorrow morning.

The local policemen were assisted in making the arrests by Chief Marshal George Weiss, of the borough department.

VITAPHONE COMPANY NOT TO LEAVE HERE

Officials of the Vitaphone Company this morning denied the assertion made yesterday in another local paper to the effect that the concern is considering an offer made by the Newburgh, N. Y., Chamber of Commerce to remove the plant to that place. The proposition was made the company and while it was an unusually alluring one the officials decided not to take advantage of it because of the large investment they have made in Plainfield, the impossibility to fill their present orders, the loss of time that would be necessitated incidental to transferring the plant's holdings, and the many advantages that Plainfield offers for the company's business.

The offer came through the efforts and enthusiasm over the Vitaphone proposition by A. S. Baldwin, manager of the Alberger Pump and Condenser Company, of Newburgh, and so attractive was it that the local concern was forced to give it careful consideration before turning it down. The Newburgh Chamber of Commerce, an active and influential civic body in that community, offered the Vitaphone Company $50,000 to construct a plant of 24,000 feet of floor space and a power plant, to equip the new plant with working benches ready for manufacturing and suitable shafting, providing the company would transfer its holdings to Newburgh.

At the present time the Vitaphone people are having plans drawn for another building which will have 9,000 square feet of floor space and a power plant with a 300 horse power turbine engine. They expect to break ground for this addition in about two weeks.

PATROLMEN'S CLAIMS AMOUNTED TO NOTHING

Seven patrolmen who have applied for $40 each back pay as a result of their promotion from Class E to Class D, have had their claim refused and have been notified to that effect by Councilman Leighton Calkins, chairman of the police commitee, on the strength of an opinion rendered by Corporation Council Charles A. Reed.

Mr. Reed made the following statement today:

"The ordinance of the city divides the regular policemen into five classes, viz: A, B, C, D and E, each of which has different pay. It provides that after serving a year in the lowest class the patrolman can be promoted to Class D, and receive higher pay, etc. A patrolman must serve four years and pass through Classes E, D, C and B before entering Class A and receiving the salary of $1,000. These men were appointed special policemen at first and their claim was based on the supposition that they were to count the time served as 'specials' in computing service in Class E, such is not the case, however, and their application must therefore be refused."

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 50 degrees; 11 a. m., 54 degrees; 1 p. m., 59 degrees.

MINSTRELS BOOKED AT THE PARK CLUB

Will Lyle to Present an Old Time Show Assisted by Local Chorus.

Park Club members are looking forward to the minstrel show which is to be given tomorrow night at the club, under the auspices of the tennis committee. Augmented by a chorus composed of a number of young men members, Will Lyle and his "old time" minstrels will provide an entertainment which is promised to be of an interesting and laugh-provoking character. The Lyle troupe was here in December, having performed at a benefit for Holy Cross church, and at that time they demonstrated that they were capable of giving a fine evening's entertainment. All of the principal parts will be taken by the members of this troupe, during the "first part" and they will also provide what is said to be an interesting second part.

In the first part Will Lyle and Bert Coyle will be the end men, and the chorus will be made up of "Bud" and Brown Rolston, William Barlow, Jr., Charles Titsworth, William D. Flanders, Roy Titsworth, Ray Lyman, Donald A. McGee, Max Brakely, Albert D. Beers, Henry Gurez and Austin W. Andrews. Will von Schiller will be musical director.

After the performance there will be dancing, with music provided by an orchestra of colored men, who have proven very popular at a large number of dances here this winter.

The program will be as follows:

First Part — Opening chorus, "Dixie," company; song, "Underneath the Cotton Moon," Ed. Conlin; end song, "When That Midnight Choo Choo Leaves for Alabam," Bert Coyle; song, "Down in Dear Old New Orleans," Jack McGuinness; end song, "When Uncle Joe Plays the Rag on the Old Banjo," Will Llye; song, "Uncle Tom's Cabin Door," Billy O'Connell; finale, company.

Second Part—Fantastical preludes on the African harp, Will Lyle; musical glasses, H. Charles Russell; Niggerish niggerisms, Bert Coyle and Billy Connell; minstrel cartoonist, Oliver.

NO DISAGREEMENT WITH THE ENDRESS COMPANY

Councilman Fred Endress denies that there has been any disagreement between himself and the Endress Company, as has been reported in another paper, regarding the sale of his property on West Front street, which is occupied by the company. He asserts that when he leased the property to the company there was an agreement in which the company was given an option of buying the property at a certain figure upon the expiration of the lease, which will be May 1.

Mr. Endress says that two months ago the company gave notice that it would desire to exercise the option on May 1, but if for any reason the purchase was not made it would want to make another lease for four years. Mr. Endress says that the company can have the property under the terms of the agreement and adds that there has been nothing but friendly feeling between the company and himself.

MISCHIEVOUS BOYS.

Seven boys ranging in ages from 12 to 17 years, were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on charges of malicious mischief preferred against them by Louis Cohn, a contractor and builder, of 118 Liberty street. Cohn claimed the boys damaged a house he is erecting in Johnson avenue to the amount of $100 by pulling out the plumbing pipes, stealing parts of gas fixtures and breaking windows. After a severe reprimand had been administered by the court, sentence was suspended.

LODGE ENTERTAINMENT.

Members of Josephus Lodge, No. 16, Knights of Pythias, will hold their annual entertainment and dance tonight in Abrams' Auditorium, which has been elaborately trimmed in purple and gold for the occasion. Those comprising the arrangement committee were Thomas Farrell, chairman; Fred Chapman, secretary; Isaac Bailey, treasurer; Harry C. Folkes, floor manager. Concert and dance music will be rendered by the New Amsterdam orchestra of New York City.

HETFIELD, JR., NOW C. A. REED'S PARTNER

Corporation Counsel and Assistant Prosecutor Compose New Law Firm.

Announcement was made today by former State Senator Charles Arthur Reed and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., that they have formed a partnership for the general practice of law effective on May 1 next, at which time Mr. Hetfield will remove his present offices from the Frost building to those occupied by Mr. Reed in the Marsh building at Park avenue and West Second street.

With the recent appointment of Mr. Reed as corporation counsel, a report was current that Mr. Hetfield was to become his assistant. At the time Mr. Reed announced that he had not reached a decision in the matter. Now that a partnership has been formed, Mr. Hetfield will become assistant to the corporation counsel, in addition to a general practice of law.

Mr. Reed was born at Fort Wayne, Ind., December 4, 1857, and for many years has been a factor in local, county and State affairs. He was graduated from Rutgers College in the Class of 1878. He lived on a farm from 1866 to 1882, when he was admited to the bar of New Jersey. He was appointed a Special Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau in 1883, and served until July, 1885. He served as counsel for North Plainfield for twenty-one years, being appointed in 1888. Throughout his long residence in this vicinity, Mr. Reed has always stood high in his profession and enjoyed a large practice.

Mr. Reed was at one time president of the Somerset County Bar Association and was one of the first trustees of the New Jersey State Bar Association. In 1895 he was elected from North Plainfield to the Assembly, on the Republican ticket, his home town giving him the largest majority ever given there to any candidate on any ticket, his plurality being 587. During the election in 1896 the whole force of the opposition was concentrated against him as a candidate to the State Senate, when his own town gave him an increased majority over the year before, which was unprecedented. His plurality in the county was 1,390. Again in 1899 he demonstrated his popularity when he was re-elected to the Senate by a plurality of 1,007.

Since 1899 Mr. Reed has been chairman of the Somerset County Republican Committee. In 1899 he was president of the Senate, discharging his duties in an able, dignified and impartial manner, making a record for himself. He removed to North Plainfield in 1887 and continued the practice of law, his office being in the First National Bank. In 1894 he formed a partnership with William A. Coddington, and offices were taken in the Babcock building, and later in the Stirling building on Park avenue. This partnership was later dissolved and Mr. Reed spent the best part of a year in travel abroad, returning to Plainfield last year. He purchased a fine home on Hillside avenue, which he will occupy when changes are completed. Mr. Reed is connected with a number of societies, including the Elks.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was born in Plainfield and has always lived here. He is the son of Judge Walter L. Hetfield, the family being one of the oldest in this city. Mr. Hetfield was admitted to the bar in 1900 and has enjoyed a successful law practice ever since. He was attorney for Dunellen for four years and is now serving his fifth year as attorney for Fanwood. In August, 1960, Governor E. C. Stokes appointed him a member of the Union County Board of Elections, which office he held until March, 1908, when he resigned to accept the office of assistant prosecutor of Union county. He was unusually successful with his work in that office, which he resigned April 1, his prosecution of cases in the county courts invariably resulting in a conviction.

Mr. Hetfield was chairman of the Plainfield Republican Executive Committee in 1910. He has always been active in the Republican party. He is a 32d degree Mason, being a member of Salaam Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles Mystic Shrine; Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.; Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P.; Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M.; Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E.; Court Plainfield, Independent Order Foresters; Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. ITALIAN IS BURIED UNDER TON OF EARTH Rescued by Fellow Workman as Was Another Who Was Held Fast.

Buried beneath a ton of earth for fifteen minutes when an eight-foot-deep trench at Madison avenue and West Fifth street caved in, Pasqual Conconelli, of 768 North avenue, was rescued by three fellow workmen who dug frantically to save him. John Sancare, of 422 East Third street, was also buried to his arm pits when the banks gave way, but although the pressure against his breast almost robbed him of his breath and he was in terrible pain, he shouted to his comrades not to bother with him but to save Conconelli, who was buried beneath the earth.

The trenches are being dug for the Public Service Gas Company by Michael Mango, a contractor. Although it is the custom to erect shoring when a pit of eight feet or more is dug, this had not been done by the contractor.

Conconelli with three other laborers was working with pick and shovel when suddenly the banks gave way. His shrieks were smothered as the falling earth entirely covered him. Sancare was standing buried in the ground with only his head and shoulders visible. He shouted that Conconelli was buried in the pit and the laborers assisted by several men who happened to be passing dug the man out. It was over fifteen minutes when his face was uncovered. He was lifted semi-conscious from the excavation.

By this time Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow and Dr. Albert Pittis arrived on the scene and brought the laborer to consciousness. Attention was then turned to Sancare, and after he had been dug out, both were taken to their homes in an ambulance. They will recover.

FIRE CHIEFS TO MEET AT WESTFIELD TOMORROW

An all-day session of the New Jersey Fire Chiefs Association will be held at the Westfield fire house tomorrow and an interesting program of speeches and demonstrations has been arranged by the committee in charge of the affair. Chief T. O. Doane, of this city, is a member of the committee, and fire chiefs are expected from nearly every town in New Jersey having a paid department in the State.

Because of the central location of the Westfield headquarters, it being easily accessible to nearly every department in New Jersey, a large body of representatives is expected and preparations are being made accordingly. The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when the annual business session will be held. Following this, a representative of a gas engine company will talk on its machine. The afternoon session will be featured by an exhibition of Webb and Dixon autos, representatives of the respective companies conducting short runs taking the delegates for rides on the motor apparatuses.

JOHN O'BRIEN RESIGNS AS "SKEETER" INSPECTOR

John O'Brien, chief inspector for the Union County Mosquito Commission, tendered his resignation to that body yesterday afternoon and it will take effect May 1. He gave as a reason for retirement, the fact that he was going into business. Russell W. Gies, his assistant, was recommended for the appointment of chief inspector, but nothing definite was done at yesterday's meeting.

Dr. James S. Green, of Elizabeth, and Dr. Frederick W. Sell, of Rahway, were recommended for appointment to the commission for a term of three years by Justice Bergen, but this matter was also laid on the table until the next meeting.

The commission is making preparations to place the mosquito extermination work on a more wide-spreading basis this year and in doing this it is planned to co-operate with the Somerset County Commission. Efforts are being made to place North Plainfield in the Somerset county organization and if this is brought about the work can be conducted to a greater advantage throughout both counties.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Plainfield High School will meet at the High School auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, when Lindsey Best will discuss "The Selection of Studies in the High School," and "The Daily Program of High School Pupils." All parents and others interested are urged to attend.

HOW ADVERTISING BENEFITS CHURCH

Two Montclair Churchmen Tell How Newspaper Publicity is Profitable.

GIVE SOUND ADVICE

Rev. Edgar S. Wiers and Emerson Harris Make Addresses to Unitarian Congregation on How to Build up the Church.

The value of newspaper advertising as a means of stimulating greater interest in church work was shown in two excellent addresses given by Rev. Edgar S. Wiers and Emerson Harris, of Montclair, at All Souls' Unitarian church, last night. Mr. Wiers is pastor of Unity church, Montclair. In referring to the growth and increased interest in Unity church, Mr. Wiers attributed it largely to judicious newspaper advertising.

"We consider that twins will be born every year in our church," said Mr. Wiers. "The growth of the playgrounds, the establishment of dancing classes and motion picture shows through the efforts of various church organizations are all evidence of this fact. Since Unity church began its campaign of advertising at least two new departments have been benefitted by the church activities every year and the religious body has assisted in creating many recreative and business propositions.

"The Sunday evening services conducted by Unity church for the citizens of Montclair have grown from mere gatherings of the regular members to a meeting attended by many of the representative families of Montclair, who are realizing what the church is doing in the community. These meetings have been centres for the dissemination of civic knowledge."

Mr. Harris, who is engaged in the advertising business, gave a short talk along practical lines of advertising. He told of the many advantages to be gained by a church in heralding its "wares" through the columns of a newspaper. Just as a business house is classed by the kind and amount of advertising it does, so will a church be known. Mr. Harris told of the benefits obtained by the Montclair church through advertising. When it inaugurated the plan, $300 was spent in advertising the first three months. At the end of that time the average attendance increased from 100 to 145. The money paid for advertising had been more than returned to the church treasury by virture of the increased plate collections.

Both Mr. Wiers and Mr. Harris declared that a church must stimulate a desire, awaken interest and give the people what they really demand if it is to be an influence in the community in which it is situated.

DANCE CLASS ASSEMBLY HAS DELIGHTFUL TIME

The Dancing Class Assembly, composed of two dancing classes that have been under the direction of Miss Florance, of Elizabeth, closed the season with a delightful dance at the Hartridge Auditorium, last night. The members were privileged to invite their friends and in all there were nearly three hundred guests present. There were no special decorations or other features, the affair being intended simply as a dance. However, the function was marked by sociability which everyone seemed to enjoy.

While there was no special committee of arrangements, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. George Megrew, Mrs. T. M. Day, Mrs. Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. W. F. Wallace and Mrs. John H. Jewett made it a point to see that everyone became acquainted, thereby adding to the pleasure of the guests.

An orchestra of six colored musicians provided a popular program of dances. The dancing began about 9 o'clock and continued until after 1 o'clock this morning. During an intermission refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry Johnson.

FUNERAL OF F. O. PETERSON.

The funeral service of F. Oscar Peterson, of Forster avenue, was held at the late home at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of which Mr. Peterson was a member, officiated. The burial was in the cemetery at Samptown.

FUNERAL OF A. A. ANDERSON.

The funeral of Arthur A. Anderson was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at his home, 346 Manson place, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, of which Mr. Anderson was a member, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

No garment can bear my label unless it also bears my approval.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

68¼ Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67¾ Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

Progressive concerns are writing or telephoning for free demonstrations every day.

THE REMEDY.

The majority of North Plainfield's taxpayers were probably much surprised over the financial condition of the borough as revealed in the official report of the investigating committee as made public on Monday night. That some of the departments, particularly the education board, is conducting the work at a cost beyond the means of the municipality was made plain and that there must necessarily be considerable retrenchment all along the line but especially in educational affairs was clearly pointed out.

It is to be regretted, however, when considering the report that the committee did not show exactly where and how the Education Board is spending too much money and precisely where and how they may manage the affairs at a lesser cost to the taxpayers. But there is one striking thing about the whole matter which must be apparent to any one who carefully persuses and ponders over the findings and the recommendations. It is that the solution of the problem can be found in consolidation of the territory in which North Plainfield is embraced with the city of Plainfield. It is not only admitted that Plainfield can educate the high school pupils for North Plainfield at a considerably lower figure than the borough can, but it is strongly recommended that a contract for that purpose be made at the earliest possible moment. The statement was made at the meeting in question by an undoubted authority, Assistant State Commissioner of Education Betts that Plainfield's public schools are of recognized merit.

What applies to the schools also applies to other departments of the city government. No one will deny the truth of the assertion that our police, fire and street departments, for instance, are a credit to the community. As for the policing phase of the question it was stated at the meeting to which we refer that there was no need of police in the borough but it was not added, as it should have been, that the reason is that Plainfield's police department in effect looks after North Plainfield's interests in that they ever have a watchful eye for the evil-doer, without regard to the geographical and political division of the community. Plainfield's fire department, too, is large enough and efficient enough to protect property on both sides of "the brook." Our Board of Health could also very well extend its work to North Plainfield, and for that matter so could our street department. As to the latter, the report recommends that a competant engineer be placed in charge of that work. We have one in the person of that very efficient man, Andrew J. Gavett.

The only solution for North Plainfield's problem, hence, as we view it, is to consolidate with Plainfield. This should have been done years ago when a campaign for that purpose was waged. Had the election then been favorable, North Plainfield would not be in its present predicament.

We have never heard of any sound objection to a merger of the municipalities, practical politics alone being the chief obstacle encountered in the past. But the thinking men of the borough, must fully realize that politics should not be allowed to enter into the decision of the question. It should be decided solely on its merits and if it were today, we believe that the verdict would be overwhelmingly for consolidation.

While the railroads and the express companies have made it a rule to carry everything free for the relief of the flood sufferers, the telegraph companies have indeed been souless corporations for they exact the regular rate for wiring relief funds to the stricken people.

That eloquent, genial and popular fellow citizen, James E. Martine, senior United States Senator from New Jersey, will be the contributing editor for next Saturday's issue. The Senator can write as well as he can talk and as a speaker his superior is hard to find.

Some who then were bitterly opposed to the proposed merger can not see how much better off North Plainfield would be at this time had it consented to a consolidation with Plainfield some years ago.

"Don't come until you're called" is indeed a new kind of freedom at the White House—New Haven Union.

Yes, and "many are called, but few are chosen."

The fund being raised by this paper for the relief of the victims of the Ohio flood disaster now amounts to $571. Is your name on the honor role?

They don't believe in glossing things over when it comes to making a report on the condition on municipal affairs in North Plainfield.

DANIEL POUND'S FUNERAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of Daniel Shotwell Pound was held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the church, officiated. He read the Scriptures, offered prayer and made a short address of eulogy, referring to Mr. Pound's faithfulness as a member of the church.

During the service, William Holmes, baritone soloist, of the First Baptist church choir, sang "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love," and "Now the Day is Over," accompanied by Miss Bertha Jones, organist of the church. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the bearers were William Craig, B. F. Coriell, R. V. Saums, George Harris, Benjamin Harris and William Schwartz.

MRS. MARY LEE DIES OF PARALYSIS, AGED 71

Mrs. Mary D. Lee, aged 71 years, died suddenly in the apartments of her daughters, 23 New Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, following a stroke of paralysis. She came to Plainfield two weeks ago.

Mrs. Lee was born in Sheffield, Mass., where she lived for many years, prior to the death of her husband, Seth Squire Lee. She was a member of the M. E. church of Sheffield, Mass., where the burial will take place on Friday. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will offer prayer at the home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Surviving Mrs. Lee are three daughters, Miss Alice Lee, a teacher in the Irving School; Miss Caroline Lee, a teacher in the Lincoln School; Mrs. Walter Sherman Candee, of Albany, N. Y., and a son, Dr. F. H. Lee, of Canaan, Conn.

E. Vassar, Jr., pastor of the New Market Baptist church, officiated. Interment was made in the cemetery at South Plainfield. Mr. Clawson had been a resident of New Market nearly all his life and for many years was janitor of the Dunellen schools. Besides Mrs. Clawson he is survived by two sons, Walter G. Clawson, of Dunellen, and Frederick Clawson, of Scotch Plains.

A Century of Liquor Drinking in PLAINFIELD

by Oliver B. Leonard

(Second Instalment.)

Our immediate forefathers during the first half of 1800 were inveterate tipplers. The sideboards of nearly every well-to-do housekeeper contained intoxicating spirits and the family Bible and rum decanter were close neighbors even in many Christian households. Alcoholic stimulants were of daily use and considered necessary by all classes. Excessive drinking habits were almost universal. History records it that "seasons of festivity and of sorrow; of labor and of relaxation; of gay dissipation and of religious solemnity, as well as all social intercourse of society were alike signalized by the free use of stimulating drink." The birth of a child, the raising of a building, the moving into a new house, the induction of a minister, the meeting and departure of friends, were always occasions for drinking. No less was it the custom during harvest to have plenty of ardent spirits; on training days; at the assembling of court, and election-times and at all other gatherings special or general, wise or otherwise. Public opinion on the question of dram drinking had no conscience and when only a few hearts had any sympathy for the cause of temperance or realized any danger from the intemperate use of intoxicating beverages.

"Where There's Drink There's Danger."

Write it on the workhouse gate,
Write it on the school boy's slate,
Write it in the copy book
That the young may at it look
"Where there's drink there's danger."

White it underneath your feet,
Up and down the busy street,
Write it for the great and small,
In the mansion, cot and hall,
"Where there's drink there's danger."

Write it in the Christian's home
Sixty thousand drunkards roam
Year by year from God and right Proving with resistless might
"Where there's drink there's danger."

There have been periods of general revival in the temperance work by a "precious few" at different times in the past history of Plainfield. None advocated total abstinence until the agitation of the drink question by the Washingtonian societies during the decade of the 40s.

Previous efforts had tended only to discountenance and suppress the excessive use of ardent spirits.

In modern times—as late as 1884—Plainfield had a great temperance awakening under the labors of Mabie and English. Hundreds signed the pledge of abstinence and no doubt many of them have kept that pledge. Some have fallen by the wayside. For at the same time good people were advocating sobriety and temperance, the Common Council that year granted the usual licenses to sell intoxicating liquors, and by that means kept the temptation in the way of the drinking multitude. Is it any wonder that many fell in the gutter?

When will the day dawn when we will not be called upon to lift men out of the gutter—but have the courage to take the gutter out of the way.

Down to the time when Plainfield became a city, in the spring of 1869, liquor drinking was carried on in a few old fashioned bar-rooms of "inns and taverns."

"Manning's Tavern" from 1806 to 1826 was the first resort in the village to supply the thirsty appetite with ardent spirits of a limited variety, and it was patronized.

"Laing's Hotel" began its career in 1828 and continued its groggy business among numerous patrons for fifty years, extending its life-destroying influence a decade or more into our city rule.

Following these two popular rum resorts existing for a while by authority of the County Courts, may be mentioned "Thorn's Tavern," "Barkalew's Stage House," "Ayers' Hotel" and "Buena-Vista Bar," all located on Front street, then known as Main street or old Stage road.

The "Mansion House," subsequently called "City Hotel," was built in 1852, being the present "Queen City Hotel" on Park avenue, at that time Cherry street.

These half dozen bar-rooms, with "Farmer's Hotel" on Somerset street, supplied the dram drinking population down to the days of the late Civil War.

About this time, 1860-70, lager-beer drinking began to develope and increase. To a large extent it took the lead of its fiery competitors, then and previously obtained mainly at hotel bars. Beer saloons were springing up in all the neighboring cities and became exceedingly popular with the steady drinker, and soon proved themselves a worse curse than the old wayside inn and tavern. For they invited the young man as the old tavern did not.

FOR BABY'S SAKE BUY A "BLOCH" PULLMAN CARRIAGE

What wouldn't a mother do for the sake of her baby? And yet there are any number of young mothers who unconsciously do their little ones harm in their efforts to really help them. They want their babies to get the benefit of the fresh air, and they hasten to buy a go-cart or baby-carriage.

They wouldn't for the world give baby anything that would harm it, and still they unknowingly do the little one actual harm by not getting a perfectly comfortable go-cart—one that is constructed on scientific principles.

ALL GO-CARTS ARE NOT ALIKE.

You probably didn't know there was any difference in go-carts. Simply took it for granted that one make of go-cart was as good as another, when such is not the case.

Did you ever stop to think why some babies who are ordinarily good, are fretful and restless when taken out in a go-cart?

Did it ever occur to you that probably the go-cart was at fault?

When baby is fretful and restless you can depend upon it that something isn't altogether right.

It isn't natural that a baby should turn and twist around and get out of sorts any more than we grown-ups, without some reason for it. And the unscientific design of the go-cart is usually the cause of it all.

MIDDLESEX POULTRY RAISERS WILL MEET

Organization Will Be Effected at Gathering That is Called for New Brunswick.

During the past year the leading poultrymen of Middlesex county have many times expressed their opinion that a Poultry Association for educational and co-operative purposes would be a great benefit to the poultry raisers in the county. With this in view a meeting has been called for the evening of April 8, which is next Tuesday, at the Poultry Administration Building, College Farm, New Brunswick, to perfect such an organization.

At the present time there are twenty-one such educational poultry associations in the State, every county being represented except Middlesex and Cape May, the Cape May poultrymen are at present organizing, and Middlesex raisers do not wish to be the only ones not having an enthusiastic organization. These associations meet once a month at which time a lecture program is carried out, and a general discussion upon poultry topics is held.

It is earnestly requested that all persons of the county, both men and women, who are interested in the formation of such a body to use all possible means to be present on the evening of April 8, at which time a short program will be given before the organization matter is taken up. The program is as follows:

"The Possibility of Poultry Organization and Co-operation," by Prof. H. R. Lewis. "What Organization Has Meant to the Poultrymen of Union County," by F. Warren Sumner, president of the Union County Association, and "Rearing Chickens," a short talk by Prof. Clark.

The Poultry Department of the State Experiment Station issues every month circulars in the form of "Hints to Poultrymen" to members of these educational organizations. If this organization progresses favorably there is no reason why a large poultry show cannot be held during the coming winter in New Brunswick.

Middlesex county is one of the leading poultry counties in the State, and it is hoped that everyone, whether keeping five or five hundred chickens, will plan to attend the organization meeting on April 8, and by their presence and enthusiasm make this first meeting a grand success.

NEW JURY REFORM BILL FROM MARTIN

He Follows Up Conference With Another Measure to Balk Wilson.

Trenton, April 2.—Assemblyman Thomas F. Martin, of Hudson County, thwarted Governor Fielder again yesterday afternoon, when as Chairman of the Municipal Corporations Committee of the House, he reported a substitute measure for the two jury reform bills that had been drafted by joint Conference Committee of the Senate and Assembly. Not only has he made that committee's work of no avail, but he also has prevented the Governor from vetoing the bill that would leave the power of selecting juries in the hands of sheriffs.

After two long and secret sessions the conferees agreed upon two bills, one providing for the drawing of Jury Commissioners by Circuit Court Judges and the other leaving the power, under court supervision, in the hands of the sheriffs. Both bills carried referendums, the idea being to have each passed, and then let the citizens themselves adopt the one desired.

Governor Fielder, whose ideas of jury reform are identical with those of President Wilson, had previously said that he would veto any bill on the question that was weakened by a referendum. When the Conference Committee's action became known last night, and the Governor said he did not think it would be feasible to enact both laws. He also said he had the right to veto one, and it was taken for granted that he meant the one leaving the sheriffs in power.

The bills were referred by Speaker Taylor to Mr. Martin's committee, and the latter, having heard of the Governor's intentions, included the two measures in a new bill, and reported that one yesterday afternoon as a substitute. This substitute also carries a referendum, and there is practically no possibility of it receiving executive approval even if it should pass both branches of the Legislature.

Senator Davis, of Salem county, Democratic leader in the upper house, is striving hard still to have the party's platform pledge carried out, and yesterday, under suspension of the rules, he introduced the original jury reform bill providing for selection of jury commissions by Circuit Court Judges and making the law mandatory throughout the State. It is generally conceded that his effort is in vain, for the Assembly, now under the domination of Speaker Taylor, Mr. Martin, and the other anti Wilson forces, will without doubt defeat it.

In this situation Governor Fielder's threatened special session, to be convened about May 1, seems assured. If the session is ordered, not only will the Governor take the stump all over New Jersey to advocate the bill, but President Wilson will come back to the State and try to force the legislators into line.

There was quite a sensation in the House yesterday afternoon when attention was directed to the influence City Counsel James R. Nugent, of Newark, right-hand man of former United States Senator Smith, still exerted. The rumpus came during consideration of a bill local to Millville. Assemblyman Ackley, of Cumberland county, said that he had asked one of the legislators to support the measure, and that the man had replied:

"I'll see Nugent."

Ackley said the man came from Essex.

CITY OF ROME IN DANGER OF FLOODS UNDER ITS FOUNDATION

Great Structures Impaired by Water Soaking of the Soil.

Ancient Springs Gone and Supply Is Vastly Cut Down.

DESPITE the fact that Rome is considered the best watered and best drained city in the world, its soil is soaked with spring water, and it is a well known fact that a subterranean flood feeds the so called "dispersed waters" which the Tiber fails to drain, as their level is lower than that of the river.

There is dispersed water practically under every building in Rome. Since ancient times the water supply has diminished by more than 37,000,000 gallons a day, and only four out of the fourteen aqueducts of old Rome still carry water to the city. Out of the twenty-three springs in existence within the city walls many have disappeared owing to the increase of modern soil, and their waters are lost. The modern embankment of the Tiber protects the city from inundations, but it does not afford an outlet for the surplus dispersed waters which still flood the foundations of many buildings in the lower quarters of the city and constitute a permanent menace to their stability.

Successful Drainage Done.

Several successful attempts have been made from time to time to drain portions of this subterranean alluvium. Thus the Coliseum was provided with a regular outlet for the enormous amount of water flooding its foundations at a cost of about $200,000. The foundations of modern buildings have been laid on dry soil after the waters had been absorbed by powerful steam pumps, and new drains have been purposely built on many occasions. Often, however, the waters cannot be got under control, and quite recently the exploration of a portion of Caracalla's baths had to be given up, as the dispersed waters found there were at such a low level that an attempt to drain them toward the Tiber proved impossible.

The great damage caused by dispersed waters to many ancient and historical buildings of Rome cannot in most cases be remedied. As is often the case in Italy, and especially in Rome, an outcry is raised, and a remedy is urgently invoked whenever some ancient or historical building is irrevocably damaged or threatens collapse owing to the corrosion of its foundations by dispersed waters.

The authorities then step in, and some action is taken, while reassuring statements are made to the effect that the danger is not imminent and not beyond remedy. A case in point is that of the basilica of Santa Maria in Trastevere (St. Mary beyond the Tiber), the cardinalitial title of Cardinal Gibbons, the first church erected to the Virgin in Rome and one of the oldest and most celebrated churches in the world.

Splendid Church Damaged.

The existence of dispersed waters under this church has been known for over thirty years, when slight cracks were noticed on its walls due to the gradual but slow subsidence of its foundations. The cracks increased in extent and spread over both the interior and exterior walls of the church. The church is included among the national monuments of Italy, and as such the fine arts department is intrusted with its maintenance. Cardinal Gibbons on his last visit to Rome wrote to the fine arts department, pointing out that unless urgent measures were taken the extent of the damage in Santa Maria di Trastevere would increase. The minister of public instruction happened to be an anti-clerical, and the cardinal's letter remained unanswered. Needless to say, nothing was done to strengthen the foundations of the church, and the inevitable result was that the architrave of the left lateral door has been displaced, the marble slab with the inscription of Cardinal D'Altemps over this door has been split in two, and several pieces of stucco, marble and bricks have fallen down.

The left portion of the facade threatens collapse, and the portico is greatly damaged. A wide crack runs across one of the interior walls of the church, while the stucco of the small chapel on the right of the main entrance has been irrevocably ruined. The fine arts department sent two inspectors, Professor Munos and Professor Parisotti, to ascertain the extent of the damage, but their report has not been made public. Meanwhile some precautions have been taken, such, for instance, as shoring up the damaged door and removing a ciborium by Mino da Fiesole from the chapel on the right of the main entrance lest it should be damaged if the chapel were to collapse. Of course it has been announced that the fine arts department will undertake the necessary repairs, but naturally it is not known when the repairs will begin.

Origin of Famous Church.

The basilica of Santa Maria in Trastevere is one of the most venerable churches in Rome. Originally it was a titular Christian house founded by St. Calixtus in the year 224 on the site of an asylum for old soldiers, where a fountain of oil had broken forth at the time of the Saviour's birth and flowed away in one day to the Tiber. The wine sellers and tavern keepers disputed with the early Christians for the site, but the Emperor Alexander Severus settled the controversy by saying that he preferred that it should belong to those who honored God, whatever their form of worship.

A century after its foundation the church was restored by Julius I., entirely reconstructed in 1139 by Innocent II. and altered by Nicholas V. and Pius IX. The interior of the church still retains its twelfth century character. The nave is divided from the aisles by twenty-two granite columns taken from an ancient temple of Iris and Serapis. The pavement is one of the richest specimens of Cosmati work in Rome. The mosaics of the church have a worldwide celebrity.

Man of Big Stature Preparing Gorgeous Resting Place.

Joseph Lakowski of Perth Amboy, N. J., is preparing his own coffin. Joe, who is fifty-one, is hearty—far, indeed, from being a dead one—but he says he wants to know that he is resting as comfortably in the hereafter as he has rested in the past. A year ago Joe started his task, and the building of the coffin has been his hobby.

The oblong box will be completed as soon as the gold handles arrive from Chicago. It is made of quartered oak imported from Poland and rests on four metal lion heads. The wood is highly varnished, and the sides are embellished. The coffin is six feet eight inches in length, and Joe declares he has lain in it many times and that it is most comfortable.

Lakowski weights 275 pounds and is a six footer. The top of the coffin is all glass. The inside is heavily padded with asbestos, but Joe refutes the reason for this advanced by facetious folk.

LONG STUDY OF FIXED STARS.

Yale Establishes Distance to Nearest Has Eight "Light Years."

Observations extending over some twenty years for the parallax of fixed stars have been completed at the Yale observatory. The observations have included 238 stars of the northern heavens.

The nearest of the stars which came under observation, which, in fact, is the nearest of all the fixed stars of seventh magnitude and is invisible to the northern hemisphere, is one of the seventh magnitude and is invisible to the naked eye. It is 46,000,000,000,000 miles from the earth, denoted in astronomical terms by about eight "light years." This means that light, which travels about 186,000 miles a second, would require eight years to traverse the distance from this star to the earth.

FOR A NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

Bernard Shaw Proposes Anglo-French-German Compact.

Bernard Shaw in an article in the London Daily Chronicle on "Armaments and Conscription," discussing the harmful effects on Great Britain of a possible Franco-German war, says:

"Great Britain's policy ought to be to secure the conclusion of a triple alliance with these two countries, the terms being that if France attacked Germany Great Britain would combine with Germany to crush France, but if Germany attacked France Great Britain would combine with France to crush Germany.

"Germany doubts whether France would come into this alliance in her present temper, but I really do not see how she could help it if Germany consented, because we should conclude a dual alliance if we could not have a triple one, in which case France would be in the position that, whereas she could not attack Germany without fighting us, at the same time Germany could attack her without our interference. The alliance should guarantee, further, that if any power were to attack either France or Germany the three would line up together against that power."

$800,000 SPENT ON AVIATION.

French Committees Purchase 170 Planes and Instruct Seventy-six Men.

National committees promoting military aviation in France have thus far spent $800,000, collected by public subscription, in purchasing 170 aeroplanes and in training seventy-six aviators. What is considered of much importance in aviation circles is that the committees have acquired sixty-five public landing stations in various parts of France for the use of civil and military aviators.

The area of each station is at least twenty-five acres, and on the grounds have been built sheds and repair shops.

OLD FOLKS CONCERT IS HUGELY ENJOYED

Lots of Fun at Entertainment at Trinitly Reformed Church.

The "Dress Rehearsal of Ye Olde Folks Concert," at the Trinity Reformed church last night afforded an evening of fun for a large audience. Those who crowded into the church parlors enjoyed a quaint program and from the opening number to the closing chorus it was a pleasant departure from the usual entertainment or song recital.

Miss Helen Woolley, acting the part of "Ruth Mindful Fleece," was encored repeatedly following her excellent rendition of "Lasca," and "Sally Huckleberry," known in private life as Miss Etta Raybert, brought the audience to applause by her clever impersonations. In her selection, "Aunt Jemima's Courtship," her reputation as a recitationist again pronounced itself. The costumes worn represented those in the period of 1840-1850.

The program: Auld Lang Syne, chorus; Ye Two Parte Songe, by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Young, as Prof. and Madame Jene de Montesquien; speakin' piece, "Lasca," by Miss Helen Woolley, as Ruth Mindful Fleece; four part tune, "My Old Kentucky Home," by Mr. Young, Lawrence French, as Phineas Pootygood, Ralph Martin, as Melchisedeck Tubbs, and Mr. Drange as Uncle Bill Smilax; chorus, "Row, Row, Row;" vocal duo, "Juanita'" by Miss Helen Hall, as Desregard Glucose, and Mrs. Elizabeth Van Arsdale, as Jerusha Ann Dodge; vocal solo, "The Last Rose of Summer," by Miss Etta Raybert, as Sally Huckleberry; chorus, "My Maryland;" solo, "My Grandma's Advice," by Mrs. Young.

Part two: chorus, "Old Folks at Home;" vocal duo, "Loch Lomond," by Mr. and Mrs. Young; recitation, "The New Church Organ," by Miss Woolley; chorus, "Call John the Boatman;" vocal solo, "Listen to the Mocking Bird," by Miss Adele Freeman, as Dorothy Crabtree; chorus, "Polly, Wolly, Doodle;" recitation, "Aunt Jemima's Courtship," by Miss Etta Raybert; four parte songe, "Memories of Childhood," by H. Can Zandt, as Longmetre Chapman; Fred Smith, as Bijah Bumpers of Boston; Mr. Dufford, as Deacon Ichabod Periwinkle, and R. Doeringer, as Father Fytche; chorus, "Good Night, Ladies."

Those who comprised the chorus: Misses Ella Van Arsdale, Martha Morrison, Hazel Runyon, Elizabeth and Ethel Hillpot, Madeline and Marion Blair, Jennie Sears, Helen Woodruff, May Bennett, Edna Diltz, Hazel Todd, Edna Cole, Adelaide Cole, Helen Smith, Margaret Barkalew, Emma H. Ryno, Adele Freeman, Helen Hall, Lillian Force, Mrs. Jay Van Arsdale, Mrs. Farnum, Elmer French.

These arranged the affair: Mrs. Leonard Smith, Mrs. Corra Ryno, Alfred Willett and Russell Sears. A committee composed of Mrs. A. B. Cole, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Miss Florence Dickson and Mrs. L. D. Townley, served refreshments.

THE FORUM.

ELECTIONS.

Editors Plainfield Daily Press:

I note with great regret that the New Jersey Assembly has rejected the preferential second choice primary bill. The purpose of this measure is to permit every voter at the primary election, after marking the name of the person he most favors, to indicate the person upon whom his second choice falls in case the former fails to receive a plurality of the votes. One result of such a statute would be to prevent the nomination of a person receiving a small proportion of the total vote. In our own county nominations have been effected by the votes of less than one-fifth of the full party vote cast at the primary. The successful candidate ought to be endorsed by as near a majority of his party as possible. Another result would be that the machinations of the professional politicians to secure the nomination of a pliant tool could be more easily defeated.

It was found in Wisconsin that the single choice primary failed to realize the expectations of those who procured its adoption. The quality of the candidates was not a great improvement over that of those obtained under the former convention system. So a statute was enacted giving a second choice, with the result that far abler and more disinterested legislators were procured. A similar law exists in Minnesota. Shall New Jersey lag behind in the effort to restore the government to the people and to take it from the bosses? I do not know how the members from Union voted, but if they were among the 27 who opposed it I hope their constituents will advise them of their mistaken position, and that if they insist in maintaining it there will be a chance at the primaries next September to replace them by others who will have more regard for the public welfare. But I hope they were among the 21 who voted aye. Where were the other 12 Assemblymen? Did they dodge? Let us have the record. If the bill is defeated at this session we must try again next year, and keep trying until we win, so that we may make our primary an effective means of nominating true men.

AS TO BOROUGH PROBERS' REPORT.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

As a member of the Board of Health of the borough I take exception to that part of the special finance committee's report referring to the Board of Health. The charge that the board is extravagant is unjust and is not warranted by the facts. The appropriation for the Board of Health is $1,000 per annum. Of that amount $600 is paid for an inspector; $300 for secretary and treasurer, and $75 for counsel, leaving a balance of $25 for incidentals. The committee compares the borough of Somerville, which has an excellent sewer system, whereas the borough is a mass of cess-pools and privy vaults, which require constant attention, and it needs a counsel to back up the Board in these matters. The esteemed gentlemen of the committee may know how to run a business or municipality on wind, but I have not learned the art as yet. The Board of Health of the borough was presided over by Joseph O. Osgood, chief engineer of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, who was a very painstaking official. Another veteran member of the Board was Calvin H. Rugg, whom I am sure no one would accuse of extravagance. The health of a community should be its first consideration, and men who are giving their time to looking after such affairs should be commended rather than condemned for doing their duty. If some kind of epidemic should spring up in the borough the very ones who are now finding fault would be the first ones to criticise.

If we are spending too much money for the schools, that is one thing; but do not let the impression be scattered broadcast that everything in the borough is being conducted in an extravagant manner, or that the borough is going to the bowwows. It is just such sensational reports as these that hurt a community and prevent its growth.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS HONOR MRS. JOHN A. PETERKIN

Mrs. John A. Peterkin, of Belvidere avenue, who has just completed her twenty-fifth year as a member of the King's Daughters, is the guest of honor at a reception being given this afternoon by the Loyal Daughters at the home of Mrs. W. W. Coriell, of Belvidere avenue. Mrs. Peterkin has been president of the Loyal Daughters for the past eight years and the members recently learning that she had been identified with the organization for a quarter of a century planned an appropriate recognition of that event.

Mrs. John A. Peterkin and Mrs. H. B. Smith received the guests to the number of about fifty, while Mrs. Robert Perrine and Mrs. W. M. Alling poured in the dining-room. They were assisted by other members of the Loyal Daughters. The home was simply, yet attractively, decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Peterkin received the congratulations of the guests and best wishes for many years of useful service in the work of the King's Daughters.

The Loyal Daughters was organized about twelve years ago by Mrs. Dorsey Hyde, who was the first president. After serving four years she was succeeded by Mrs. Peterkin, to whose faithful and efficient service the success of the organization is largely due.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Interesting services were held in the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the home and foreign missionary societies.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The subject will be "The Freedmen."

An illustrated lecture on "The Philippines" will be given at Hope chapel tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Men's Club. There will also be election of officers.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Grotman, 959 Arlington avenue.

A preparatory service will be held at Warren chapel tonight at 8 o'clock. The celebration of the Lord's Supper will take place next Sunday morning.

Reports read by the committee that had charge of the Dutch Supper conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace M. E. church, at the regular monthly meeting last night, showed that $35 had been realized from the affair. It was decided to hold the reception in honor of the pastor, Rev. C. C. Cain, Friday evening, April 11.

The dressmaking class at Hope chapel postpones its Thursday night meeting this week for one week, owing to the fact that the Christian Endeavor rally will be held that night at the Temple Baptist church.

Craigalea Lodge, auxiliary to Clan Mackenzie, will hold its regular monthly business meeting in the Exempt Firemen's hall on Park avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock.

MT. BETHEL SCHOOL BUILDING MANDATORY

No Aid From State Unless Structure is Erected Says J. B. Betts.

If the taxpayers of Mt. Bethel desire to receive any money from the State school funds they must build a public school at that place to conform to the requirements of the State Commissioner of Education. This is the word that has been sent to the school authorities at Mt. Bethel by J. Brognard Betts, of North Plainfield, assistant to the State Commissioner of Education, Dr. Kendall, and he has called a special meeting for tonight at Mt. Bethel when the question of voting an appropriation of about $3,000 for a new school will be taken.

Sometime ago the school authorities at Mt. Bethel purchased a suitable lot of Alfred Binz upon which it was planned to build a new school. When the question of appropriation came up it was defeated and since then nothing has been done. The school sessions are now being held in a hall at Mt. Bethel, which is wholly unsuited for such purposes and the State Department of Education has decided that something must be done. If the appropriation is turned down tonight, Mt. Bethel will not receive any aid from the State.

SIMPLE SERVICES IN ROME OVER REMAINS OF MORGAN

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Rome, Italy, April 2.—A simple funeral service was held over the body of J. P. Morgan at the Grand Hotel today. Only relatives, intimate friends of the family and United States Ambassador O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien attended the service, which was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Nelson, of the American church.

New York, April 2.—Henry P. Davidson, of J. P. Morgan & Company, announced this afternoon that it had been decided that funeral services for Mr. Morgan would be held at St. George's church in this city, and that the interment would be at Cedar Hill cemetery of Connecticut. The dates and hours for the service and the interment depend upon when Mr. Morgan's body will arrive here. Nothing definite has been learned by Mr. Morgan's associates as to when his body will leave the other side.

WASHINGTON TODAY IN BRIEF

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 2.—The provisional government of the Republic of China will be formally recognized by the United States within the next week. President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan conferred at the White House today and decided to take this action.

President Wilson will send to the Senate next Monday the nomination of Judge E. K. Campbell, of Birmingham for the United States Court of Claims.

In last night's conference between President Wilson and Chairman Underwood no agreement was reached on the sugar tariff, but the well known disposition of the Senate is in favor of a duty on sugar, probably one cent a pound, and the President has not yet determined whether he will throw his influence to the advocates of a small duty or to the free sugar men. That position is satisfactory to Underwood since it gives him something to trade on when he comes to final grips with the Senate. The duty is more important to the Senate than to Underwood and anyhow a duty would give his bill more revenue producing power. President Wilson will follow the debates on the sugar schedule very carefully and will listen to and weigh the arguments of the advocates of a duty.

Reports at the White House today were to the effect that E. C. Penfield, formerly of New York, but now of Germantown, Pa., is to be appointed Ambassador to Germany. The appointment of collector for the port of New York rests between John K. Sague and John Purroy Mitchell, of New York.

MAKE DEMONSTRATION AGAINST MONTENEGRO

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Paris, April 2.—The French Government today decided to take part in the naval demonstration on the Montenegro coast owing to Montenegro's negative reply to the request of the European Powers that she raise the siege of Scutari. Action will be taken, however, only after Russia has given her definite approval and his asked France to represent her.

London, April 2.—A message from the Admiralty was read in Parliament today to the effect that great Britain is sending two warships to join the international fleet in the Adriatic which is making a hostile demonstration against Montenegro.

Just Cosy

It's great, when winter winds are howling, to be nice and cosy. It's great to sit—Dad, Mam and Buddy—and feel gentle heat wrap you round with genial comfort.

It's GREAT to have a furnace in the cellar capable of doing it.

"Square Pot" Furnaces make cosy homes possible. They distribute heat evenly. They run steadily. They give perfect combustion and they reduce "furnace care" to a few brief moments daily.

Our sectional cut, shown here, gives the germ of the "Square Pot Idea." That corrugated square firepot increases heat radiation almost 25 per cent. and clears of ashes every time the grate is turned. That means a free fire, perfect combustion and practically no heat waste—virtues found more fully developed in Square Pot Furnaces and boilers than in others. These are things that make Square Pot Furnaces worth while. Ask your dealer to show you.

HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or hut. Some people can make a hall bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent—a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers. their agent because it reaches the kind of people They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

Copy for These Classified Advertisements is received until 1:30 each afternoon. Minimum charge is 10c.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The little girl's frock that is finished with bretelles is a becoming one, and the model in the cut has bretelles of a novel sort, draped at the front and brought together at the back to form a V.

In the illustration the frock is of challie trimmed with lace, but it would be easy to make it of silk or satin. There is a fitted body lining, and the separate sleeves are sewed to the armholes, while the skirt is straight.

For the twelve-year-old size the dress will take five and one-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three and a half yards of lace banding and four and a half of lace edging.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from ten to fourteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7738, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

ECONOMIES IN LAMB.

FOR the Easter dinner lamb is one of the favorite dishes. Roast leg of lamb with mint sauce is a standard, but there are other methods of preparing lamb that are equally appetizing and more economicial.

Instead of leg of lamb the neck, which is much less expensive, may be cooked to suit the needs of a very small family. Neck of lamb with green peas is very nice.

Cooked With Peas.

Neck of Lamb With Peas.—Get about two pounds of the neck of lamb, a can of green peas, a half cupful of chopped onion, a tablespoonful of salt, an eighth of a teaspoonful of white pepper, a tablespoonful each of flour and finely cut parsley. Trim the meat from the bone, wash and put into a boiler with one quart of boiling water. Boil one hour, add the onion, salt, pepper and peas; boil slowly another hour. Then add the flour, which has been mixed with a little cold water; boil three minutes; add the chopped parsley. Serve on large platters and garnish with sprigs of parsley and dust with paprika.

A Nice Pot Roast.

Pot Roast of Lamb.—For this shoulder of lamb is required. One weighing three or four pounds will do. Wipe the meat and put on the fire in a small boiler. With it put a small piece of suet and an onion chopped fine. Turn the meat until it is well browned and then add a cup of water. When the water boils down add another cup. Let the meat cook for about an hour and a half. Wash and pare a quart of potatoes and put them on with the meat. Now add two cupfuls of water, a tablespoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and cook for half an hour. Take out the potatoes and meat, add a tablespoonful of flour mixed with a litle cold water and cock for three minutes. Serve the meat and potatoes on a platter with the gravy and garnish with parsley.

Served With Gravy.

Braised Shoulder of Lamb.—Wipe off the meat with a piece of wet cheesecloth. Then put into a braising pan or pudling pan with a close cover. Add two tablespoonfuls of minced onion, a bayleaf, a cup of boiling water and put on the cover. Then set in a hot oven for an hour. If it is then well browned add a cupful of water, a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Cover over and put back in the oven, reducing the heat so that it may cook slowly for an hour longer. Mix one tablespoonful of flour with a little cold water and add to the gravy in the pan. If it is not brown enough add one tablespoonful caramel. Place the meat in the center of a hot platter and strain the gravy over the top. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

For the Children

Miss Jansje Bowman, a Little Dutch Heroine.

A few weeks ago a little Dutch girl who lives in the town of Dordrecht, Holland, or the Netherlands, as it is now called, was made joyously happy by receiving the medal of the Carnegie hero fund and a gold bracelet. The girl's name is Jansje Bowman, and she is only eleven years old. The incident which brought recognition from the hero fund occurred last summer. While playing on a dock in the Dordrecht harbor a small boy of six years fell into the water and was being carried away by the tide when Jansje sprang into the harbor fully dressed, and, after a severe struggle, pulled the drowning youngster ashore. And so that is why Jansje now wears a medal and golden bracelet awarded her for risking her life to save another.

A Good Trick.

Put a tumbler in the center of the table. Take a small piece of paper measuring, say, about an inch or an inch and a half each way. Mold into a hollow form over top of thumb and place it upon the table, hollow downward. Now explain to the company that it is impossible to blow the paper off the table because the glass has the effect of dividing or so disturbing the current of air on the surface of the table as to defy their utmost endeavors to blow it off.

To succeed in this a single long hair from a lady's head must have been previously secured to the bottom of the glass by means of a minute particle of shoemaker's wax. Another particle of wax is placed in the center of the piece of paper by which the other end of the hair is fastened to it while molding it over the thumb. In order to avoid all possibility of detection the table cover and the hair should be dark colored and printed paper used, such as a bit of newspaper. This prevents the wax from showing, which might be the case if the paper were clean and white. The hair should be long enough to allow the paper to reach about eighteen inches or two feet from the glass.

Ripples.

There is a very amusing little game called "ripples," which will be nice to try at a surprise party some time. At such affairs everybody is always wanting everybody else to suggest "something different."

Let all those present sit in a circle, and then the one who knows the game best will start it by giving out the title of a verse. Nearly all children have memorized Mother Goose, so this would be a good one to start with. He says the first word of the first line, the next player on his left says the word after that, and so on until the entire circle has recited several times and the verse is finished.

Each player who fails to remember the word he or she should recite drops out of the circle, and the one remaining in the longest wins the game.

Walnut Shell Boats.

Materials Required.—A walnut shell, a small piece of cardboard, a match, a piece of white paper and some sealing wax.

Scoop out any remaining fragments of nut and skin from the interior of the shell and cover the opening with cardboard, which must be, first of all, cut the exact size. Thrust a match through the middle of the cardboard and fasten it securely to the bottom of the boat with sealing wax. The cardboard can also be fastened on to the shell in the same way. A sail can then be cut from white paper and fastened to the match by means of two holes.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The corrected woman suffrage amendment to the State Constitution passed the New Jersey Assembly on Tuesday afternoon by a vote of forty-one to five. The same men voted against it as had previously voted "no" on the resolution introduced a few weeks ago, Mr. Matthews, of Essex county; Mr. Rowe, of Passaic county, and Messrs. Griffin, Leonard and McLoughlin, of our own county, Union. These men when approached on the question said they not only did not believe in woman suffrage, but did not believe in a referendum to the people. Mr. McLoughlin said that if it came to a popular vote he believed there was danger of its passing, because all of its friends would undoubtedly vote for it, and so few of its opponents would bother to turn out and vote against it at a special election. At any rate, he preferred to take no chances.

Commenting on the stand taken by the county's representatives, the Elizabeth Journel refers to the organizing of a very large suffrage league in Elizabeth on the very day these men voted against the amendment, and says, "That a knock is sometimes a boost is a proposition to which the attention of those Assemblymen from Union county who voted against the suffrage referendum recently passed by the Legislature might well be called. To all appearances they have given the suffrage cause hereabouts an impetus that it might not otherwise have achieved for some time to come."

Doctor Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, is doing all in her power to help the New Jersey suffragists in their campaign. She will speak at a mass-meeting in Camden on the evening of April 9, at a similar meeting in Paterson on April 10, and at a meeting in Elizabeth on April 15. All local suffragists are urged to remember the last-named date. The meeting will be at 8:15 o'clock in St. John's Parish Hall, adjoining St. John's church on Broad street, only five minutes' walk from the Central Railroad station. The Elizabeth Suffrage League extends a cordial invitation to all interested Plainfielders to come to this meeting. Doctor Shaw is perhaps the finest woman speaker in this country. In addition to being eloquent and logical, she has a pretty wit of her own, a happy combination!

When Congress convenes on April 7 a delegation of women representing every State in the Union will present to it a petition asking for a woman suffrage amendment to the National Constitution. Mrs. William Hughes, of Paterson, wife of the new Senator from New Jersey, will represent her State on that occasion.

The annual suffrage parade in New York will be a monster affair this year. It will take place on the afternoon of Saturday, May 3. New Jersey as one of the campaign states will take her place pretty well towards the beginning of the procession, and it is expected that there will be at least five or six hundred New Jersey women in line. The night before the parade there will be a meeting at the Metropolitan Opera House. It will really be more of a festival than a meeting, a rally of all the suffrage hosts for joyous expression of the gala spirit within them, before going forth to the great suffrage demonstration on the following day. Ex President Roosevelt will be the speaker of the occasion, and the beautiful allegorical pageant which was given in Washington on the steps of the Treasury Building the day before President Wilson's inauguration will be repeated with all the additional accessories offered by the stage of the Metropolitan. A number of New Jersey women are planning to sit together in adjoining boxes, which will be decorated with the banners of the various New Jersey Leagues. Box seats will cost two dollars apiece, and all who would like to go and sit with the New Jersey delegation should send their names at once to Mrs. C. L. Riley, president of the Plainfield League. Orchestra seats will cost $1.50; dress circle, $1; balcony, 50 cents; family circle, 25 cents, and admission (standing room), 50 cents. Orders for everything except box seats should be sent directly to Mrs. Frances Maule Bjorkman, 505 Fifth avenue, New York city.

The new suffrage stamps recently issued by the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association are finding a ready sale. They are oblong in shape and yellow in color, and bear the words in black

VOTES FOR WOMEN
New Jersey Women
Voted 1776-1807
WHY NOT NOW?

They cost only twenty-five cents a hundred and may be ordered from Woman Suffrage Headquarters, 33 Halsey street, Newark. Buttons reading "Votes for New Jersey Women" may also be ordered from the same address. It is the ambition of the State Association to waken all New Jersey suffragists to a special interest in suffrage work in their own State. After all we will not get the vote by way of Albany or Harrisburg, but only by way of Trenton!

PARISH HOUSE NINE WILL OPEN SEASON

Commercials, of This City, go to Scotch Plains for Game Saturday.

Although the Scotch Plains Parish House baseball team has had but one baseball practice to date and that one held last Saturday resulted in only a handful of candidates turning out, the 'Plains boys are scheduled to lineup against the strong Commercial nine, of this city, on the Scotch Plains diamond next Saturday afternoon. While the material has not been tried out at the Parish House it is known that a number of stars exist in the ranks of the 'Plains athletic club's membership and a fast nine can be put on the field to represent that institution at a moment's notice.

The Commercials have been holding regular practices for some time past and Manager Guinn is busily engaged arranging a schedule of games with some of the most formidable diamond aggregations in the State. Material is abundant and one of the festest amateur teams in this vicinity will represent the local club. Many of the men who played on the team when it was a member of the Manufacturers' baseball league last season are back in the fold and are ready to play once more this year. Among those who will make up the Parish House squad are Jack Ricketts, who played with the Bankers' team last season; Frank Lee, a former Leal's School player; Tony DeNitzio, formerly of the Scotch Plains baseball club, and of the Public Service Manufacturers' league team; Sidney Lidgate, a brother of the Baltimore catcher; Edward Hatfield, Frank Hand, who caught for Scotch Plains last year and formerly played with the United States Outlaw League; Albert Meyer, Henry Demerest, who is manager of the team; William Reynolds and others of more or less diamond fame.

"Baldy" Johnson was unanimously elected to mascot the Parish House team on the diamond this year.

BASEBALL NOTES

Umpire "Silk" O'Loughlin, of the American League, is working out with the Rochester team at Anniston, Ala.

President Frank Farrell, of the New York Americans, will establish a permanent training camp in Bermuda for his Yankees.

Jesse Tannehill, the veteran major league pitcher, has been engaged as manager of the Covington, Ky., team in the new Federal League.

Pitcher Ray Keating, the Lawrence, Mass., star, is making a name for himself with the New York Americans and will no doubt become a regular.

Monte Cross, who is engaged in the scrap iron business in Philadelphia, has organized a semi-professional baseball team to be called the "Scrap Iron Players."

By the way they are playing against minor league outfits the Athletics and the Giants seem to have it on the other big leaguers in the way of condition.

Adding Jimmy Adams' 6 feet 5½ inches to Carl Wellman's 6 feet 7 inches, the St. Louis Browns have over thirteen feet of pitching material in two men.

There is talk of a Spring series between the Cubs and the Athletics next year. Both teams will train in Florida, the Athletics at Jacksonville and the Cubs at Tampa.

Chung, a Chinese student, is one of the most promising ball players among the Columbia University candidates. He is a second baseman and a good hitter.

Reports from the Detroit Tigers' training trip have it that Bobby Veach is doing better work than either Davey Jones or Matty McIntyre, his predecessors.

Two of the Cincinnati regulars, pitcher Rube Benton and infielder Dick Egan, are on the hospital list. Rube has a severe cold and Dick is nursing a lame ankle.

Eddie Collins, of the Athletics, has realized his fondest hopes. In a recent game Eddie clouted a home run with the bases filled and he can now rest on his laurels

The Boston Red Sox have shipped pitcher Joe Martin back to the Beaumont club, of the Texas league, and shortstop Scott, last year with Youngstown, to the Indianapolis club.

Before he became a ball player, Teddy Cather, of the Cardinals, worked at the plumbing and barbering trades, as a druggist, a roller-skating instructor and as an asbestos coverer in a locomotive works.

The Pittsburgh Club insists on a temperance clause in the contracts with the Pirate players; the Cubs limit their men to one beer a day, while no restrictions have been put on the Boston Red Sox.

The Milwaukee Club has signed pitcher Harold Juul, son of State Senator Niels Juul, of Illinois. Pitching for the Calumet (Mich.) team last season, Juul, who is but 18 years old, won 18 and lost 8 games.

If he can induce an American league team to stand half of the training expenses and to do their Spring practise work with the Boston Braves, Manager George Stallings is willing to build a training camp at his plantation in Georgia.

"TAL" PENDLETON SEVERELY INJURED

Famous Princeton Athlete Lacerates Right Hand Sliding to Base.

Princeton baseball stock took a temporary drop yesterday when "Tal" Pendleton, the Tigers' star hitter and baserunner, lacerated his right hand while sliding to base.

The injury will keep the Princetonian out of the lineup for at least a fortnight, and will probably prevent him from playing shortstop at any time this season. This position has been the strategic point in the Tiger nine this year, and the subject of much experiment by Coach Clarke.

Pendleton's injury came early in the batting practice as he slid to first base. The little finger of his right hand was almost severed, but the medical attendant said that the finger could be saved.

This is the third consecutive year that Pendleton has lost his early season's work through injury. Last year he strained a tendon in his leg and two years ago he fractured an ankle bone an injury which slowed him up for the entire Spring. In football his only injury came in the last minute of the Yale game last Fall, when he dislocated his shoulder.

Following the accident of yesterday Coach Clarke shifted Capt. Worthington to shortstop, a position he played in preparatory school, and gave Ted Reed the third sack berth which Worthington has held for two years.

CHANCEMEN SPEEDING HITHER.

Frank Chance and his New York baseball players boarded the Royal Mail steamer Arcadian yesterday morning and sailed away homeward bound. The Peerless Leader announced before departure that he intends to have his men toss the ball about the deck and thus keep their muscles limbered up.

WIND UP SEASON WITH A VICTORY

B. A. A. Basketball Team Takes Close Contest From Netherwood Quintet.

Playing on the Netherwood court last night, the Boys' Athletic Association basketball team wound up its court season with a flourish, administering an 18 to 15 defeat to the Netherwood players. The contest was fast and well played throughout, neither team holding a decided advantage over the other at any time. The Netherwood lads were in the running until the last chirp of the whistle and had just as good a chance of pulling out in the lead as their rivals until the game was called.

A fusilade of field goals in the final minute of play sewed up the contest for the B. A. A. team and by virtue of this good and timely shooting the Netherwood boys were pushed into the rear. Mills, the B. A. A. center, was the individual star of the game, getting four goals for a total of eight points, while Sykes and Snyder, of the winners, and Gullberg and Mowan, of the Netherwoods, put up excellent fights.

U. OF P. TRAINER RETURNS TO FOLD

"Mike" Murphy on Franklin Field With Penn Track Athletes Once More.

Mike Murphy, Pennsylvania's famous trainer of athletes, who has been in seclusion at his home since his return from Thomasville, Ga., three weeks ago, made his first appearance of the season on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, while the track team was at work yesterday afternoon. The students gave him a reception that would have done honor to a Pole discoverer.

No one was expecting the veteran yesterday, and when a motor car turned in at the gate and ran over the field with the trainer bundled up in blankets beside the driver, a cheer went around the track. There was no more running until all the men in the field had filed past the car and shaken hands with him. Mike said that he would be on the field every day hereafter, although he contented himself with remaining in the car yesterday afternoon and giving his directions through a megaphone.

Dr. Robert G. Torrey, Pennsylvania's former football star, who is attending Murphy, said the trainer was much improved and that what he needed now more than medicine was to get back to Franklin Field. He went to Georgia in December, and the trip seems to have done him good.

STATE SCHOLASTIC TOURNEY IN JUNE

All of the Larger New Jersey High Schools Expected to Take Part.

A regular meeting of the New Jersey Interscholastic Association was held at the Barringer High School in Newark yesterday afternoon and many important matters were disposed of which have been running along for some time past. One of the most important matters coming before the league body was the organization of a mammoth field day in which all of the High Schools of the State are expected to be participants. This is a project never before tried and the result is looked forward to with interest by those who make it their business to promote scholastic athletics.

The meet will be held in June and four representatives were chosen by President McGee, one from each of the schools having delegates at the session. William Grady, a Barringer delegate, was appointed chairman, with Donald Walton, of East Orange; Redfield, of Montclair, and Kenley, of Stevens, as assistants. At the present time most of the larger High Schools of the State are members of this flourishing organization and before the big meet is pulled off it is hoped to have every school in New Jersey enlisted in the cause.

PATERSON TO HOLD BASEBALL RIGHTS

Dick Cogan to Succeed J. W. Dobbins in Control of N. Y. & N. J. League.

An effort to transfer the Paterson (N. J.) franchise to Danbury, Conn., was voted down at a meeting of the club owners of the New York and New Jersey Baseball League held at Newburg, N. Y., yesterday, when J. W. Dobbins announced that he would relinquish the Paterson franchise because he was unable to get suitable grounds, and Ernest K. Landgraf made application for it in behalf of Danbury, Conn. But Landgraf has been interested in outlaw baseball in the past and for this reason, practically, his proposition did not meet with approval.

Later it was announced that "Dick" Cogan, who has an option on Olympic Park in Paterson, N. J., would take up the franchise in that city.

F. W. Leib, of New York city, resigned as secretary and William Pfan was elected to fill the vacancy.

Another meeting of the league will be held in Middletown, N. Y., Friday, when forfeits will be posted and a schedule prepared.

OVERALL EXPECTED TO SIGN.

The new pitcher recently announced by President Murphy as a star player who would bring the Chicago National's hurling staff up to an equality with the best in the league is none other than Orvall Overall. Murphy abandoned secrecy today and said that "Orvie" Overall is the man and that he expected his signed contract within a few days. Overall made his last appearance in a Chicago uniform in the world's series in 1910. After that he refused to play any more, but kept himself in condition by pitching in week-end games around Los Angeles.

ST. JOSEPH'S TEAM MAKING STRONG BID

Broke Even With Dunellen Last Night in Three Cornered Tournament.

Enthusiasm is beginning to show itself in a hot form in the tri-cornered Holy Name Society euchre tournament now being conducted with the societies of St. Joseph's, St. Mary's and St. John's, of Dunellen, as contestants. While the St. Mary's representatives failed to put in appearance last night at Dunellen, where the games were scheduled to be played, St. Joseph's and St. John's had the evening's tournament all to themselves, playing a series of hotly contested games. The result hinged on the final game and when the schedule was totaled up it was found that each team had annexed fifteen games during the course of the evening, all of which were close and interesting.

While the boroughites came out on even terms with their rivals, they did not have some of their strongest men last night at Dunellen and had the regular players been on hand the result might have been vastly different. Because the St. Mary's team did not show up last night, it is considered practically out of the running for the title which will be decided next Tuesday night, when the final contests will be played at St. Mary's Social Hall on Liberty street, this city. By virtue of their excellent showing last night, the North Plainfield team is within five games of the lead, having won twenty-four games against twenty-nine of the Dunellen combination. Manager McCormick hopes to have his strongest lineup on hand next Tuesday evening and at that time expects to take a majority of the games scheduled, thereby winning the title and prizes that go with it. The league standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Forfeit
St. John's	29	1	0
St. Joseph's	24	6	0
St. Mary's		8	15

TO USE BALL GROUND.

Long Branch, April 2.—The contract between Richard Henriquez and the Board of Trade for the use of the carnival grandstand at the U. S. Hotel baseball diamond the coming season was signed yesterday. Dr. Henriquez, for the use of the grandstand, gives the Board of Trade the use of the baseball enclosure for holding its carnival attractions. Last year it cost the Board of Trade $1,000 to put up and take down the grandstand and erect the boxes on the U. S. Hotel property along the ocean front.

FAUST ASKS FOR LIFE JOB.

Harry N. Hempstead, president of the Giants, returned from the South yesterday. He says that Jim Thorpe will be carried on the payroll throughout the season. Mr. Hempstead exhibited a letter from Charles Victory Faust in which the mascot-comedian, asks to be signed to a life contract. He doesn't wish to be sold or traded, he says, because his heart is with John McGraw and the Giants.

PARK AVENUE PRACTICE.

Candidates for the Park Avenue Baptist baseball team are requested to report for practice on the grounds at the corner of Grant avenue and West Front street next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All of those contemplating playing with the team during the coming Sunday-school league season should be on hand at that time when the tryouts will be conducted.

WAGNER STILL ON DECK.

Pittsburgh's Great Shortstop In Fine Condition For Season.

Judging by his playing in the spring practice games, Hans Wagner, star shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is going to have another great season. Last year, when Hans was given the captaincy of the team, it was thought the great Dutchman would fall off in his play. However, as in former seasons, Wagner put another one over on the wise ikes by putting up a sensational brand of ball.

CHARACTER STUDY OF WAGNER.

Wagner recently celebrated his thirty-ninth birthday How long will he keep in harness? Hans says himself that he still thinks he can hold down his job for a few more years. With Wagner going well the Pirates have a fine chance to land the National league pennant this year.

"RUBE" LEVEE HERO.

Hickman, Ky., April 2.—The water was eighteen inches above the top of the levee at 10 o'clock last night, and only sandbags, held in place by a temporary frame wall kept the flood from the downtown section. Great difficulty is experienced in keeping negro laborers at work on the levees. In many instances it has been necessary to keep them in Hickman at the point of a rifle. Last night "Rube" Waddell, the baseball player, now here with his team, kept several negroes prisoners in a poolroom all night.

Gandil In Fine Shape.

First Baseman Chick Gandil of the Washington Americans believes that he is going to have the best season of his career this year as a result of the removal of his tonsils.

An Inspector Needed.

The American league having ruled that players of visiting teams must dress on the grounds in clubhouses provided for them it will be in order to send out a traveling inspector to see that some of the clubhouses are fitted up to the players' satisfaction. Some complaints were heard last year.

Brooklyn's New Ball Park.

The new Brooklyn baseball club's ground, Ebbets field, has no stairways, fourteen runways taking the place of them. It has ten exits and will seat 30,000, which can be increased 20,000 more.

CENTRAL LEAGUERS DEFERRED MEETING

More Time Needed by Several Clubs to Get a Line on the Baseball Situation.

Representatives from the teams entered in the Central New Jersey baseball league which was recently reorganized, met last night to complete the outstanding details for the opening of the league season but because of the unsettled conditions prevalent among several clubs it was decided to defer all definite action until Tuesday night of next week. Several of the clubs have not decided definitely on their playing grounds while still others have not completed their personal financial arrangements and any action at this time would probably receive a jolt when the final organization and schedule compilement took place.

All of the teams that have entered the league were represented at the meeting last night and while much enthusiasm was evident a number of teams have apparently been handicapped for time and have not been able to accomplish a whole lot since the last gathering. At the Tuesday night meeting a schedule will probably be drawn up and everything completed for the opening of the league season which is due to take place sometime during the early part of May.

FULL CREW MEASURE IS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Trenton, April 2.—Gov. Fielder signed the Egan Full Crew bill last night, making it a law.

Next to the jury reform situation interest centered yesterday in the hearing before Gov. Fielder on this bill, which had passed both houses.

The principal argument against the bill was made by Samuel Rea, the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Mr. Rea said that if what he called "these impositions" continued on the railroads, the only remedy would be Government ownership. He referred to the recent passage of the grade crossing bill which alone would cost his company upward of $60,000,000, and said that such measures would break the credit of the companies and disable the systems so that ownership by the Government would be the only way out.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Robert Hilliard, in his fifth month of "The Argyle Case," at the Criterion, New York, rouses capacity audiences to enthusiasm while solving the ingenious complications of thrilling twin mysteries in a real detective play, in which real up-to-the-minute detective methods are illustrated and the dictograph and finger print process are graphically demonstrated. "The Argyle Case" is not a freak drama, but a rational, realistic play that grips like a handcuff and sustains the quiver of suspense to the final moment. There is an abundance of witty, laughter compelling comedy blended with its tensely dramatic situations. As a study of scientific detective methods, such as are employed in the famous cases of its co-author, William J. Burns, it is both absorbing and instructive. Mr. Hilliard, as Asche Kayton, who solves the Argyle mysteries, plays with authority, power, humor and distinction and is credited with the greatest success of his brilliant career. The supporting cast is one of the most perfect assembled in New York in many seasons. Matinees of "The Argyle Case" are given on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

David Belasco has been often accused of being a "magician." But nothing he ever has done so thoroughly justifies that characterization as his production of "A Good Little Devil" at his Republic theatre in New York. "A Good Little Devil" is a fairy play, written by Madame Edmond Rostand and her son, Maurice Rostand, wife and son of the celebrated French poet. A pretty story attaches to their authorship. It seems that during the several years M. Rostand was engaged upon the writing of "Cyrano de Bergerac," his wife and her little son were of necessity left much to their own resources for pleasure and diversion. Madame Rostand had a pretty knack for making up fairy stories "out of her own head," and these home-made tales her little son loved better than any she read him from books. Indeed, he liked them so well, particularly the one they called "Un Bon Petit Diable," that Maurice prevailed upon his mother to "write it in a book," which, to please the lad, she did, copying it all very carefully, and leaving blank spaces where the little Maurice could supply illustrations with his colored crayons. Young Master Rostand grew up, went away to school, and his beloved "Good Little Devil" was forgotten until a couple of years ago. At that time, encouraged by M. Rostand, the mother and son made a real play out of it, which was produced last year in Paris. Mr. Belasco immediately obtained the English rights, and thanks to his wizardry, the Republic theatre has been packed to its doors for over one hundred nights.

MEXICANS ANNIVERSARY.

City of Mexico, April 2.—A brilliant passage of arms, in which Gen. Porfirio Diaz defeated a superior French force in the streets of Puebla on April 2, 1867, was recalled today to all residents of the republic by the general commemoration of the anniversary. Business was generally suspended and the day was further observed with military reviews and numerous patriotic meetings. During the brief period that Mexico was ruled by Emperor Maximilian, with the support of the French soldiers, certain sections of the country stoutly refused to acknowledge the monarchy. Profirio Diaz led the southern wing of those who opposed the intervention of the foreigners. For two months he had laid siege to the city of Puebla, which was the most important place in southern Mexico. The fighting had been furious during a portion of this time but the Mexicans had been unable to dislodge the French from their fortifications. Learning that Maximilian was sending reinforcements from the capital Diaz was spurred to a greater effort and on April 2 he attacked the town just before daybreak. He led the charge in person and dashed into the heart of the city with a small band of followers before the French recovered from their surprise at the audacity of the attack. A bloody fight followed in the principal square and resulted in a complete victory for the Mexicans.

ELIZABETH RAISES $2,500 FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS

Elizabeth, April 2.—The fund for the flood sufferers being raised in this city yesterday reached a total of nearly $2,500, of which about $900 has been collected by the Board of Trade. More than $1,500 has been collected through other sources. Of the latter amount $1,410 was sent yesterday to the National Red Cross Society.

Plans are being rapidly completed for the big benefit concert to be given in the armory next Friday night. The Musicians' Union has agreed to furnish a band of twenty pieces free of charge. Practically all of the musical oragnizations in the city will take part and several prominent soloists will sing.

CHEAPER GAS RATES IN ELIZABETH NOW IN EFFECT

Elizabeth, April 2.—The Elizabethtown Gaslight Company and its subsidiary companies at Rahway, Cranford and Metuchen yesterday put into effect its new rate of 90 cents 1,000 cubic feet for gas. The rate in this city, Rahway and Cranford heretofore has been $1.25 1,000 cubic feet, with 25 cents 1,000 discount if bills were paid within ten days of their receipt.

The new rate means a 10 per cent. reduction from the previous net rate if the bills are paid promptly. In Metuchen the rate heretofore has been $1.40 1,000 cubic feet, so that the new rate means a reduction of 50 cents 1,000 if the bills are paid within ten days.

SUFFRAGE CONFERENCE.

St. Louis, Mo., April 2.—Enthusiasm appeared to be the keynote at the opening here this morning of the second annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Suffrage Conference. The attendance included delegates from a score of States and among them were many suffrage leaders of national and international reputation. The greater part of the day was devoted to the exchange of views as to the best methods of promoting the cause and winning the ballot for women. Practical workers explained the several methods of getting the question before the people for a vote and the steps necessary in submitting the matter to the initiative and referendum or securing favorable action by a legislature or constitutional convention. At the afternoon session delegates from Kansas and Arizona told of the methods by which victory had been won for the equal suffrage cause in those States.

REFITTED OLYMPIC LEAVES.

Southampton, April 2.—The mammoth steamship Olympic, refitted and reconstructed at a cost of more than $1,000,000 with a view to making her the safest vessel afloat, sailed today for New York. The great steamship, which still retains the honor of being the largest vessel in the world, was greeted with a roar of salutes from the whistles of all the craft in the harbor as she left her dock and moved majestically out into the cannel. Experts pronounce the reconstruction work on the Olympic to be one of the wonders of modern engineering. The original double bottom of the vessel has been extended well above the water line, so that now the big ship has what may be called two complete hulls, one within the other. As additional safeguards she has been fitted with a number of extra bulkheads, some of which extend to the decks forty feet above the water line.

$600,000 SWINDLE.

Chicago, Ill., April 2.—The United States commissioner today heard arguments in the proceedings brought for the extradition of Hans Bauder, who is being held at the instance of the Swiss government on a charge of having fleeced people of Switzerland out of $600,000 in fraudulent mining stock schemes. Though still a young man, Bauder has had a highly spectacular career since he first came to Chicago from Switzerland seven or eight years ago. As president of the International Realty Association he has maintained expensive offices in one of the downtown skyscrapers and has been well known about town.

WHO EVER SAW SUCH HATS AT $5?

Here is a true story telling the reason why of this unusual sale of hats. A New York milliner, who has a great reputation for clever designs and who sends hats all over the country, largely to exclusive milliners, made up a lot of hats for a milliner, who, after placing the order, got into business difficulties, and the order could not be filled.

Wholesale prices for such hats as these would be not less than $5.00 and $6.00—yet, thru this trade turn, we secured them at such a concession as to offer them to you at the wholesale price or less— $5.00.

These beautiful hats are made of fine quality hemp, trimmed with ribbons, malines and flowered chiffon, and are in styles involving the newest and most popular conceptions of the milliners, and will, undoubtedly, prove one of the biggest millinery hits of the season. We have no doubt most women will be very glad to get one or more of these hats at this low price—$5.00.

The Newest of the New in Springtime Coats

You will find it quite easy to select from this collection of modestly priced garments something exactly to your liking. MAYOR STEWART ON AIR-DROMES

His Honor Opines on Some Applications He Will Pass up to Council.

HE STATES OBJECTIONS

The Mayor Takes a Wise Stand, But Will Let the City Fathers Decide About Open-air Moving Picture Shows.

That as mayor, Percy H. Stewart will follow the example of his predecessors in preventing the beauty of the city being destroyed by the erection of crude looking open air moving picture theatres was made evident this morning in a statement given to the news reporters. Several applications for licenses have come to the city's executive recently and as to them he stated:

"Upon investigation I find that these air-dromes have been objected to in other towns where applications for licenses have been made and this objection is based upon the fact that an air-drome comes in competition with other amusement places located in buildings on which large taxes are paid and for which high rents are charged. Also I observe that air-dromes lower the tone of a city when located in the business section and that where these places are permitted at all, they are far removed from the centre of a town.

"There is also a question as to what would be a proper license fee should we decide to have them here. At present we have one license fee for theatres and another for circuses and out-door shows. The fee for the latter class is much higher than the former because they not only come into competition with established enterprises conducted by our own citizens, but because they take a great deal of money out of town and this is objected to by the merchants.

"I propose to submit the question of licenses for these amusement places as well as the granting of applications to the Common Council concerning the erection of a moving picture theatre, plans for which were already disapproved by me, I wish to state that I have no objection to a theatre when properly constructed and surrounded by safeguards as required by our building code. This code was adopted by the Common Council only after the members of the Trades' Council and Master Builders' Association had passed upon and approved it. Men engaged in the erection of theatres should remember that public safety is of prime importance and that it is the duty of public officials to see that proper safeguards are provided in places of this character."

Recently in North Plainfield the Casino Amusement Company applied for a license to Mayor Robert Clark to erect an open air moving picture theatre in Duer street and which was refused after the borough executive had submitted the matter to the Council, and a public meeting had been held. At this meeting the project of an open air amusement house, with the unbecoming high board fences, which accompany it, was enthusiastically denounced.

LINEN SHOWER.

Miss Isabella Schneiper, of Dunellen, tendered a linen shower in honor of Miss Sarah Cutting, at the latter's home on New street, last night. The evening was spent in playing progressive games and listening to an instrumental musical program arranged for the occasion. Among those that attended the affair were the Misses Alice Higgins, Jennie Thomas, Margaret Rafferty, Minnie Kutscha, Isabella Schneiper, Hannah Higgins, Florence Cutting, Sarah Cutting and Mabel Cardner, and Mrs. Ferguson and John Parsell, of this city, and Miss Carrie Bopp, of Westfield. Miss Cutting is the prospective bride of John Parsell. Their wedding will be held in the near future.

DEPUTY SURROGATE.

Somerville, April 3.—John Zulauf has been appointed by Surrogate McMurtry as his deputy, and assumed his new duties on Tuesday. Mr. Zulauf is well known about the county and State, and is prominent in Masonic circles. He is a brother-in-law of William H. Cawley, Sr., of this place, but is a Democrat. He has never held a political position, except being a member of the election board of the Third district of Somerville.

DEATH OF LITTLE DAUGHTER.

Mabel Lillian Armstrong, aged four months, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong, of 428 East Sixth street, died this morning. She had been ill for the past two weeks with bronchitis and pneumonia. The funeral will be held at the home of the parents tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, will officiate and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

VIVIDLY DESCRIBES HORRORS AT DAYTON

Wendell Pictures the Terrible Scenes When Flood Visited That City.

En route from Columbus, Ohio, and the flood districts of the West, William H. Wendell, of Philadelphia, stopped in Dunellen yesterday on business and when seen in a hotel by a Daily Pres reporter told of the horrors of death and ruin caused by the terrible floods.

At the time the levees broke, pouring raging torrents of water throughout Ohio, Mr. Wendell, although stopping at Columbus was in Dayton at the time. He says the advent of the flood was like the bursting of a thousand bombs; children were separated from their mothers and wives from their husbands and in some parts of the city panics raged as great masses of humanity struggled, fought and ran to escape the terrifying flood.

Mr. Wendell saved himself from the first onrush of water, carrying with it debris and parts of buildings, by running to the third story of a brick apartment house. With members of several families he made his way over house-tops to city buildings, which accommodated hundreds of sufferers.

"The heart rendering scenes I will never forget," continued Mr. Wendell. "Women, frantic with fear and grief, cried aloud for the loved ones they were separated from. The first day of our imprisonment food and sleep were forgotten in the excitement. But on Wednesday we secured a small quota of food by means of walking the telegraph wires to and from a near-by hotel, I forget the name. We ate but once a day and then sparingly. We suffered untold agony by the cold, which was intense. It rained in torrents the entire time, it seemed.

"Our terrible experience was made even more trying by the horrible sights we saw. The destruction of property can hardly be described. No pen or verbal account could picture the scene of dead bodies being carried by the swift current passing through the streets. Our stay in the city building was made even more unpleasant by the moaning of the dying and the heart rendering words of comfort given by the relative-survivors to those who were about to pass away.

"I got away from the city as soon as I could but not until I had witnessed some of the results of the devastation. When the waters receded the streets were covered with several feet of slime and mud. Dead animals lay all about. The dead human beings were removed to the improvised morgues as soon as discovered by soldiers who are guarding the ruins against looters. The odors are stifling and those in charge are experiencing great difficulty in enlisting men to clear away the various substances. Disease is sure to develop and then more trying times will be in store for those remaining in the city."

'LLOYD-GEORGE' IN HERO ROLE.

Prompt action on the part of Patrolman Lloyd-George Muir prevented a fire in the business section of town last night when he broke through the back door of Neighbor's restaurant on North avenue and threw a blazing pot of grease out into the yard where it could do no damage. Muir was attracted by calls of "fire" and rushing to the scene of the blaze made short work of it. In grappling with the huge pot of flaming grease Muir sustained several burns about the hands which, while not serious, proved to be extremely painful.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR.

The members of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will give a reception tonight to Rev. and Mrs. Frederick J. Hubach. It is expected that Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church; Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church; Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, district superintendent, and Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, former pastor, will be present and speak. Bertram Tallamy will give vocal solos. There will be special decorations. The affair will be in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society.

POSTPONEMENT OF A DAMAGE SUIT TRIAL

Adjournment Taken in Langhorne's Action Against Penna. R. R.

The suit of Frank C. Langhorne, the photographer, against the Pennsylvania Railroad, which was to have been tried in the United States District Court, Newark, yesterday, was adjourned at the request of the railroad company on the ground that an important witness was unable to be present. The plaintiff consented, and Allan Strong, of counsel for the company, said that he would notify the plaintiff soon as to when it would be convenient to start the trial.

Mr. Langhorne's suit is the result of his being run down by a Pennsylvania Railroad tug while fishing from a boat near Sewaren on October 5, 1910. Mr. Langhorne was injured to such an extent that when he was taken out of the water, one of the rescuing party is said to have remarked: "There is no use working over him, he's a goner." After considerable time was spent, Mr. Langhorne was finally revived and was later removed to the Perth Amboy Hospital, where he lay in a critical condition for some days. This will be the third trial of the case, no verdicts being reached in the other two.

It is claimed by the plaintiff that the accident was due to negligence on the part of the company, in that a deck hand and not the captain was in charge of the wheel on the company's tug.

SEAFARERS FRIEND TELLS OF HIS WORK

Captain Benn, of Mission Yacht Fame, Gives an Instructive Talk.

Describing in a graphic way his personal experiences in Sailors' mission work, Captain Benn, the pilot of a mission ship, held the close attention of an audience in the Congregational church parlors last night. His talk was illustrated by an excellent collection of stereopticon views adding much to the enjoyable lecture itself. These slides were still more interesting because of the fact that they were taken by the mission captain during his trips to uncivilized lands where christianity was practically unheard of until he started his work of conversion.

Captain Benn has been active in recent years in the distribution of literature among seafaring men. This work has been made possible by the generosity of people who contribute reading matter regularly to this cause and the captain illustrated the remarkable change brought about by this special phase of his work. He showed the great contrast existing between the ships having no literature and the ones which were provided with this means of entertainment for the crew in idle hours. A large amount of the speaker's work has been done among vessels coming into New York harbor, and he told of the number of men benefited every month by the missionary work. He took his listeners through the waters frequented by his little ship and the lands where the missionary is welcome today. Slides were thrown on the screen showing the type of men who handle the missionary ship and the humble surroundings of the little craft that has wrought so many wonders.

The speaker dwelt at length on the famous city of canal boats where people spend the greater part of their life on the water. It was among these water homes that Captain Benn spent years, bringing happiness into the lives of the inhabitants. He told of the religious services he conducted in these places and the changes in atmosphere brought about in a comparatively short length of time.

An interesting account of the dives along the docks frequented by thieves who stored their loot in the places where it could be easily secured and traded to crews of incoming vessels was given. Many of the dives have been closed up through the efforts of the captain and his co-workers.

Captain Benn is probably one of the best known men to seafarers at the present time, he having come in personal conduct with the captains and crews of nearly every vessel. Through the aid of a marine register Captain Benn manages to keep in touch with the incoming and out-going times for sailing and his visits are looked forward to by the men starting on long voyages, for he brings literature to them that will help to pass the long hours on shipboard.

Captain Benn's descriptions of his Christmas and Thanksgiving Day work were most impressive. At Christmas time he distributed 22,000 presents to seafaring men and at Thanksgiving Day he was enabled to distribute dinners.

THIEF GOES TO JAIL IN DEFAULT OF BAIL

James Louis, 23 years old, of 422 Forsythe street, New York city, arrested yesterday by Detective Sergeant John J. Flynn and Patrolman MacDonald, charged with the burglary of Isaac Richard's tailor shop, in East Third street, several days ago when twenty-two pairs of trousers, two overcoats and one sack coat were taken, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning and held in $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

In default of bail Louis was taken to the county jail in Elizabeth. His alleged accomplice, Leon Shockley, alias Sharkey, colored, 25 years old, of Lincoln place, North Plainfield, also appeared before the court, but the evidence submitted against him was so incomplete that Judge DeMeza held him for further examination.

The men were caught after clever work by the two policemen, who enlisted the services of a stool pigeon to secure evidence against the pair. When caught both were working in the stable of Peter Seader, hackman, of 20 Chatham street, North Plainfield. Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough, assisted in making the arrests.

The concern owns the store property on the east side of the present butcher shop now being used by Henry Windham as a restaurant and there is some talk of including this place in the improvements making an even more up-to-date restaurant for Mr. Windham.

The new butcher shop will have an interior of white tile and all of the fixtures will be constructed with a view of making it the most sanitary shop of its kind in this section. When completed the local store will have an ice plant of its own and several departments will be enlarged to cope with the steadily increasing business.

DOVE OF PEACE NOW WITH FREEHOLDERS

Elizabeth, April 3.—The first legalized meeting of the old large Board of Freeholders since January 1, when the controversy regarding whether the large or small board was the legal body, will be held here this afternoon, when the Democrats, who, heretofore, have refused to meet with the old board, will sit with their Republican colleagues. It is expected that there will be a change in the personnel of the committees because of the return of the Democrats.

The men who were elected to the small board and who are ousted because of the court's decision include Thomas Hughes and James McCann, of Plainfield. A number of matters that have been held in abeyance pending the court decision probably will be taken up this afternoon. These include some changes in the appropriations for different purposes in the tentative budget and other matters that could not be taken up without the possibility of legal technicalities.

OHIO FLOOD CREST IS AT EVANSVILLE

High Water Now in the Lower Mississippi—Funds From Abroad.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 3.—The general outlook for the lower Mississippi today is for high water, but with conditons not so menacing as a day or two ago, unless there are heavy rainfalls. The crest of the Ohio flood is at Evansville. It is falling at Louisville but rising between Cairo and Memphis. At Cincinnati the Ohio River is falling, and at Memphis the Mississippi River is rising. The Weather Bureau is hopeful that conditions will not be worse in the lower Mississippi than they were a year ago.

At Cairo this morning the river stage was 54.5 feet, a rise of four feet. At Cincinnati the stage was 68 feet, a fall of 1.5 feet; at Vicksburg the river stood at 41.3 feet, a rise of six feet; at Memphis the river stage was 39.4 feet, a rise of 1.6 feet; At Nashville the river stage was 44.8 feet, a fall of one foot.

"FRANCE" TO CONVEY J. P. MORGAN'S BODY

Steamship to Leave on Saturday With Remains of Dead Financier.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Brieg, Switzerland, April 3.—The funeral train conveying the body of J. P. Morgan from Rome to Harve on its way to the United States crossed the Italian Swiss frontier this morning and proceeded direct through the Simplon tunned on the way to Dijon, France. The body will probably be taken to the United States on the steamer France, sailing for New York, on Saturday.

New York, April 3. — It is understood that J. P. Morgan, Jr., is likely to succeed his father as a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. There is also good reason for believing that prominent associates of his father are strongly in favor of the son accepting the places left vacant on a large number of boards by the death of Mr. Morgan. This succession would not be possible in the case of the United States Steel Corporation as Mr. Morgan, Jr., has been a member of that board for several years. In addition to the New Haven Railroad the principal railroads of which Mr. Morgan, Sr., was a director are the New York Central, Big Four, Lake Shore, Nickel Plate, Lake Erie and Western, and New York, Ontario and Western. Mr. Morgan was not a director of the Northern Pacific but his son already is. The principal bank of which the father was a director is the First National. The son already represents the interests of the firm in the National Bank of Commerce and the National City Bank.

WERSING'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Young Civil Engineer, Missing From Home, Drowned in the Hackensack.

FELL FROM A BRIDGE

Employed by Jersey Central—Funeral Services to Be Held at the Late Home Here Tomorrow Afternoon.

The body of Charles A. Wersing, of Watchung, who was employed as a civil engineer by the New Jersey Central Railroad, and who suddenly disappeared from his work on the Hackensack draw-bridge, Monday night, was found yesterday in the Hackensack River. Following his disappearance a general alarm was sent out by the police and a search of the hospitals in New York, Jersey City and vicinity was made, but without result. He was twenty years old.

Believing that possibly the young man had been drowned, a search of the river was made and yesterday the body was found not far from the bridge where Wersing had been employed. So far as those in charge of the bridge repair work could ascertain, Wersing must have fallen into the river about 9 o'clock, an hour before he was to quit work. It is believed that he must have lost his balance while climbing about the bridge and dropped into the river.

Immediately following Wersing's disappearance, the railroad officials were notified and they did all in their power to locate the missing man. The latter's brother, Robert Wersing, of New York, also joined in the search in the hospitals in New York city and vicinity.

The parents of the young man, who did not learn of the fatality until last night, are prostrated and are under the care of Dr. N. W. Currie. Mr. Wersing had been in the employ of the New Jersey Central about six months. He recently passed a Civil Service examination to enter the Government employ, and expected to take his new position in two weeks. He possessed exceptional talent and had a most promising future. He was at one time employed by F. A. Dunham, of this city.

There survives beside the parents, five sisters, the Misses Emma, Martha, Clara and Edith Wersing, of Watchung, and Mrs. Elizabeth Chargeois, of this city, and two brothers, Robert Wersing, who is employed by the Edison Company, of New York, and Edward Wersing, a student at the Plainfield Business College.

The remains were brought to Plainfield today and the funeral will be held at the home of the parents tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Conrad Blunk, of St. Peter's Lutheran church, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

WIRELESS AERIAL CAUSE OF A SLIGHT BLAZE

A wireless aerial on the roof of Charles L. Lewis' residence, at 639 Belvidere avenue, became tangled with the electric light wires running into the house, setting fire to the structure at 1 o'clock this morning. Patrolman O'Keefe was passing the place at the time and sent in an alarm from box 68, at Denmark road and Belvidere avenue.

The blaze was extinguished with chemicals, the damage amounting to about $50. The family was aroused by the firemen.

Leonard Lewis is an ardent wireless enthusiast and has erected a station on the roof of the house. The wires, which were strung from the highest point of the building to an aerial in the yard, were not properly insulated and the electric wire coming in contact with them set fire to the house.

AROUSING INTEREST IN A S. S. CAMPAIGN

First Baptist Church "1,000 Membership" Workers Hold a Meeting.

The Sunday school officers and teachers of the First Baptist Bible school were in charge of the mid-week prayer meeting at the church last night, the purpose being to arouse increased interest in the movement to secure 1,000 members of the school by Christmas. Arthur M. Harris, the superintendent, conducted the meeting, and gave an inspiring talk, in which he emphasized that what is desired is that every member of the school shall be a member of the church and every church member enrolled in the school.

An interesting musical program included violin solos by Randolph Douglas; vocal selections by Hollis Cubberly and Marie Douglass. Eighteen young girls from the school gave an exercise representing "The Cross," each one reciting appropriate verses, concluding with the singing of "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Then representatives of the various departments, in a few words, told what the Bible school meant to them, as follows: Men's Conference Bible class, J. Henry Crane; Probasco Bible class, Randolph Chandler; Teacher Training class, Miss Marjorie Cubberly; Normal class, Frank Bach; Mrs. Lewis Matlack's class, Mrs. Matlack; intermediate department, Randolph M. Stelle; junior department, Howard Allen; primary and beginners' departments, Marie Douglass. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, spoke on "Bible School Enthusiasm," followed with a few words by Mr. Harris, after which Randolph Douglas displayed in large letters "One Thousand by Christmas." During the meeting Mrs. Lucie Rising, the church missionary and others, offered prayer.

HOPE CHAPEL HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

Encouraging Reports and Election—Walter I. Firstbrook New Treasurer.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year and reports read at the annual meeting of Hope chapel in the chapel parlors last night. Rev. F. L. Greene acted as moderator and Frank Rimmer as clerk. The pastor's report showed that twenty-two new members had been received, thirteen of which were on confession of faith. The church roll now contains 330 names and the treasurer, John B. Slorah, issued a most encouraging report for the year with receipts of $15,000.

Superintendent of the Sunday-school G. Herbert Condict, told of the work being done in his department which now has an enrollment of 628. The sum of $650 was raised in various ways, and $134 of this was used for missionary purposes. Various other organizations made their reports and special credit is due to the Ladies' Aid Society, which had a most successful year, raising $419; and to the Young Men's Association, another flourishing institution of the church work, that raised $120 in six months.

At the annual election of officers Walter L. Firstbrook succeeded John B. Slorah as church treasurer; ways and means committee, Charles J. Vincent and George T. Leighs for term of three years, succeeding themselves, and Thomas Hendry for a term of one year, succeeding Walter L. Firstbrook, who resigned; assistant treasurers and ushers, George E. Leighs, Thomas Heron, Guy Snyder and Robert Baille.

IMAGINATION ROUTE TRIP TO PALESTINE

Temple Baptist Endeavorers to "Sail" on Two Giant Ocean Liners.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Temple Baptist church, at its meeting last night, decided to conduct an imaginary trip to Palestine as a contest for new members. The society is to be divided into two sides, one of which is to sail on the Mauretania and the other on the Lusitania. Every member who attends a Sunday night service will add 25 miles to the progress of the trip and every new member brought in will add 500 miles. Frank Stewart was appointed captain of the Lusitania and Edward Baker [illegible] of the Mauretania. The crew reaching Palestine first will be given a social by the losing crew.

Six new members were added to the list last night, the Misses Christine Vestergard, Edna Stewart, Grace Baker, Miriam Smith and Clarence Carson and William Simon. It was decided to establish an associate membership for those who are not active and cannot regularly attend all meetings. Fifteen names were placed on the associate list last night. Edward Baker, Jr., chairman of the lookout committee, spoke on the benefits to be derived from an associate list. The missionary committee reported that $8 had been turned over to the church treasury. The other committees presented excellent reports.

Mrs. Clayton Deming and daughter, Veenera, of Tolland, Mass., are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Miles Roberts, of Kensington avenue, and are also visiting other friends in town.

Jonathan Clawson, of Brook avenue, a well-known resident of the borough, is quite ill at his home with pneumonia.

Patrolman William Mernagh is detained at his former home in Sterling with an attack of the grip.

Plainfield, N. J., April 3, 1913.

Like all progressive live-wire newspapers, the Newark Evening News is an avowed advocate of the government by commission plan for municipalities and its terse and timely comment herewith reproduced is worthy of notice: "Commission government brought Omaha out of the awful confusion due to the frightful tornado within a week after the disaster. Absolute order has been restored, relief has been given to more than 2,000 homeless families, and the work of reconstructing the residential section of the city has been begun. The commission form of government, it will be remembered, was the outgrowth of the terrible calamity that visited Galveston. The Texas city had to wait for a reorganization of its government before the work of rehabilitation was begun. Omaha was more fortunate in having adopted the commission form before the city was stricken. The municipal machinery was ready at hand to meet the great emergency, and it is doing its work with wonderful celerity, precision and economy. A strictly business administration pays in ordinary times, but it is a godsend in a city's days of stress and misfortune. And now Dayton comes to the new form in its emergency. Can there be a better argument for the plan?"

After having fought valiantly and persistently for two decades for the principles of the Democratic party and after having offered himself as a sacrifice candidate for almost every office within the gift of the people, James E. Martine was rewarded a short time ago by being chosen to the exalted office of United States Senator. Martine was so accustomed to defeat that his friends feared that victory might have a serious effect on him and that were he sent to some other place as a government official he would pine away longing for the good old days at Cedar Brook Farm. When he was ordered to Washington to occupy a seat in the Upper House, friends were eager to learn how he enjoyed life at the Capitol. The impressions made upon him will be contained in a contributed editorial in Saturday's issue. You will want to read what Editor Martine, the "farmer-orator," has to say.

The bill for Sunday baseball passed the House yesterday and will now go to the Senate, where the chances are that it will be defeated. The average man cannot see why the wealthy citizen should be allowed to play golf to his heart's content on Sunday while the poor man is subjected to arrest if he engages in the National game. Such is the real situation and will continue to be until both pastimes are either permitted or prohibited.

So successful has been the parcels post scheme in this country that Canada is making arrangements to introduce a similar system in the Dominion. Already in the United States, it is admitted by the express companies that their business on small packages has been reduced twenty-five per cent. and it would not be surprising that in a reasonably short time the Government will handle all bulk of that class of business.

Progressive churchmen of Montclair told an audience here the other night how profitable the use of newspaper advertising had proven to their church. Not only did they get the expense back in the form of increased collections at the services during which they waged the publicity campaign but the attendances at the services was so much greater that they decided that "advertising pays."

Without a dissenting vote, the Senate has adopted the House resolution making the violet the official flower of New Jersey. In championing the resolution, Senator Nichols, Republican, said that Jerseymen "should have the bluest flower grown as their emblem." The G. O. P. statesman seems to take the result of the last election very much to heart.

What have you given for the relief of the victims of the flood in the Ohio Valley? Plainfield's donation will be closed on Saturday, when it is hoped that a substantial offering will be wired to the official committee. Send your contribution today to the Daily Press and it will be acknowledged promptly in these columns.

FORT MEETS WILSON AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Afterwards He is Dinner Guest of U. S. Supreme Court Justice Pitney.

Washington, April 3.—Former Governor J. Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, who is spending a few days visiting in the city, had a conversation with President Wilson yesterday. The former Governor said there was nothing political about his visit, or in his talk with the President, who had been very cordial in his greeting and invited him to make his headquarters at the White House while in the city.

"I'm a Bull Mooser, and I expect to continue to be one," laughed the former Governor, when asked about the chances for amalgamation of the Republican and Progressive parties. "The Republicans who are trying to get the Progressive back into camp are not, as a rule, interested in any of the issues and principles for which our party stands. The Republicans in the New Jersey Legislature this winter, instead of being progressive, have shown themselves almost wholly reactionary, in their opposition to a constitutional convention and other reforms of big meaning. They are not for the things we stand for, and we don't intend to give up our fight for progressive principles."

Governor Fort was the guest at dinner here last night of Supreme Court Justice Mahlon Pitney. He called today on Senator "Billy" Hughes and Senator Martine at the Capitol, and the latter told him he thought a Progressive was "almost as good as a Democrat."

MRS. MARGARET BRENNAN.

Mrs. Margaret Brennan, widow of the late Martin Brennan, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Luke Hurley, at 334 Evona avenue, with whom she made her home, after a short illness this morning. Mrs. Brennan had been a life long resident of the city and leaves besides her daughter two sons, Thomas, of Dunellen, and William, of California; also one grandson, John Shirley, of this city. Notice of the funeral will be made public later.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Trenton, April 3.—There was passed in the Senate yesterday a bill permitting the establishment of Boards of Works in cities of the second class. The bill was introduced largely in the interests of the city of Elizabeth, in Union county, and was introduced in the House by Assemblyman Griffin. There was also passed a companion bill also introduced by Mr. Griffin and prescribing the duties of the board. Senators Davis, of Salem, and Pierce, of Union county, both urged the passage of the measures.

NAVAL MEN DROWNED.

A Century of Liquor Drinking in PLAINFIELD

by

Oliver B. Leonard

(Third Instalment.)

Plainfield was incorporated in May, 1869, when the New Jersey Legislature gave us our City Charter which, with subsequent supplements, delegated the right to the Common Council to grant or withhold liquor licenses.

The first Common Council of the newly chartered City of Plainfield held its first public meeting on the 11th of May, 1869. On July 20 following they passed the first "Ordinance relating to the Sale of Liquor," which was subsequently found defective. Under this ordinance six applications were made to carry on the liquor traffic in "cellars, eating houses, and other places," but they were all refused by the councilmen.

Two tavern licenses were already in full force by previous authority of the Union County Courts, one of which did not expire till the summer of 1870, and one, the old popular "Laing's Hotel," running out in the mid-winter of 1869. This last, a cherished legacy from our ancestors, was deemed an absolute necessity for the prosperity of the infant city. On the first day of February, 1870, the Council, out of respect for the old landmark of by-gone days, licensed this "orderly and familiar resort" for traffic at the bar.

"Why call it a bar? 'tis a capital name, short
Easily said and of meaning most pregnant,
And I rather suspect from the devil it came
For e'en to his friends, he is slyly malignant.

"I'll tell what it means—'tis a bar to all good
And a constant promoter of everything evil,
A bar to all virtue, that's well understood,
A bar to the right, and a fort for the devil,

"A bar to the observance of every good rule,
A bar to the welfare of family and nation,
A bar to the hallowed enjoyments of home,
A bar to the holiest earthly fruition."

The purposes for which the old fashioned "inn and tavern" was designed (namely, the lodging and feeding of travelers and horses, before the days of railroads), had ceased to exist in a manner to call for such accommodation any longer. But it was next to impossible to do away with the old hotel bar so suddenly as the drink habit burned to be satisfied.

There were three hotel bars at first permitted by the young Council to dispense intoxicating drinks at a small fee of $70 and $80 each. This condition continued to exist during 1870 and 1871.

The population of Plainfield in 1870 was 5,100 and North Plainfield numbered about 1,500 (with its two hotel bars). So there were four or five legalized tavern bars in the place. One such den to every 1,300 denizens, not to mention the twenty or more illicit liquor selling places in the city.

The Common Council June 27, 1870, passed a further "Ordinance for licensing and regulating Drinking Saloons" only. This remained the local law for about five years. During 1870 and 1871 applications were made for permission to sell the destroying drinks in restaurants, oyster places, billiard rooms and bowling alleys. Six applicants thus petitioned the City Fathers for such privileges. They were refused. A powerful public opinion prevailed against licensing any places where legally could be sold or disposed of, wine, porter, ale, cider, beer or any malt and spirituous liquors.

The many protests of good, temperance men and Christian people prevailed with the Council who in answer to the vigorous remonstrances of a large number of citizens, denied applications for drinking saloons. But it was known that many violators of the ordinance were supplying the accursed stuff to the thirsty throats of hundreds of men.

An anti-dram shop organization was formed in town and every lawful measure taken to have the ordinances of the city upheld and the illicit trade in dram drinking stopped.

The Councils were firm and refused to extend the privileges beyond the licensed taverns. A majority of our law-makers considered it was not for the good of the greatest number to encourage the use of intoxicating liquors, even in hotels. Acting manfully upon their convictions, they opposed granting license to sell spirituous and fermented liquors over the bars of inns and taverns after the first three years of our municipal organization.

1871 was an anxious year for the Common Council and an intensely important one for the citizens.

During 1872 an amendment to the City Charter was made and the date of municipal elections changed from May to December, making this councilmanic year only eight months long. But it was a memorable year and the anti-license members made a record that the better element of the voters sustained in the fall election. The charter election in December, 1872, resulted in the choice of six men at least as representatives of sobriety and temperance constituting the Council of 1873.

With this year (1873) began a twelve months' contest with the powers of darkness. The people sustained and encouraged the anti-license legislation. The liquor element was defiant, and scores of places were dispensing the maddening drink without legal authority. Funds were subscribed by good citizens to ferret out and prosecute violators of the liquor law, and maintain the honor of the city ordinances.

Judgments were obtained in our local court against certain liquor dealers for illicit selling in the forepart of 1873. The County Courts in April reversed these decisions on minor technicalities. But the cause was not forsaken, nor the friends of good government discouraged. Further and more binding proofs were soon secured against the bold violators of the license law. Among the many suspected were a few clearly detected in December of '73 against whom indictments were found. Four were prominent bar-room proprietors whose sentence was sustained by the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and a penalty was fixed. This was an achievement for the temperance cause and an encouragement to the friends of morals, peace and good order, while at the same time it was a terrible blow to evil-doers.

FOR BABY'S SAKE BUY A "BLOCH" PULLMAN CARRIAGE

What wouldn't a mother do for the sake of her baby? And yet there are any number of young mothers who unconsciously do their little ones harm in their efforts to really help them. They want their babies to get the benefit of the fresh air, and they hasten to buy a go-cart or baby-carriage.

They wouldn't for the world give baby anything that would harm it, and still they unknowingly do the little one actual harm by not getting a perfectly comfortable go-cart—one that is constructed on scientific principles.

ALL GO-CARTS ARE NOT ALIKE.

You probably didn't know there was any difference in go-carts. Simply took it for granted that one make of go-cart was as good as another, when such is not the case.

Did you ever stop to think why some babies who are ordinarily good, are fretful and restless when taken out in a go-cart?

Did it ever occur to you that probably the go-cart was at fault?

When baby is fretful and restless you can depend upon it that something isn't altogether right.

It isn't natural that a baby should turn and twist around and get out of sorts any more than we grown-ups, without some reason for it. And the unscientific design of the go-cart is usually the cause of it all.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

"'A Man's Friends,' at the Astor, one of the best plays that I have seen," said W. Bourke Cockran, the distinguished politician and orator, "goes a step further than any other plays that have dealt with existing conditions, political and social." Mr. Cockran went on to state that Mr. Poole, in his play, has "with subtlest wit and the most intense dramatic power" exposed the manner in which human virtues are employed to engender political corruption. W. Bourke Cockran, who sat in the same box with Col. Theodore Roosevelt at the opening performance of "A Man's Friends," at the Astor theatre, was enthusiastic in his admiration of Mr. Poole's play. He has written the following letter to the management: "'A Man's Friends' is one of the best plays that I have seen for a long time. It goes one step further than any of the others which have dealt with existing conditions, political or social. That step takes the spectator into a region where the subtlest wit and the most intense dramatic power are requisite to clear exposition of motives the most complex, operating to control the conduct of men under conditions the most trying. And these qualities which adequate treatment of his subject requires, the dramatist supplies in abundant measure."

SHE WEDS GERMAN BARON.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 3.—The wedding of Miss Eva Marco McKay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jefferson McKay, of this city, and Baron von Baldinger-Seidenberg, of Stuttgart, Germany, took place today at Oak Hill, the home of Miss McKay's grandmother, Mrs. James McKay. The bride is well known in society in Pittsburgh, Washington and New York. She made her debut but three seasons ago at Oak Hill. She finished her education at Morristown, N. J., and following her debut went abroad for an extensive tour of Europe. Baron von Baldinger-Seidenberg, the bridegroom, is the only son of the late Baron von Baldinger-Seidenberg, lord chamberlain to the King of Wurttemberg, and Countess de Valois St. Remy. Baron von Baldinger-Seidenberg and his bride will make their home in England.

What $10 down will do

You must have that piano you—and all the family—have wanted so long. What can you buy that costs as little and gives so much pleasure? $10 down puts this Stroud Piano in your home—a $350 value at $250.

$1.50 per week

This Weber Grand, $750

There is no home so sumptuous—so luxurious that it will not profit by the presence of this superb instrument. There is no musical ear so hypercritical as not to be thrilled by its marvelous voice.

$40 down, $5.50 per week

Have you an old piano?—Rich in tone, and dear to your heart—with which you would never part, but which you cannot play? Then you need a Pianola to play it.

Pianolas, $250 to $450
$12 to $20 down
$1.50 to $3 per week

Aeolian Hall from across the Plaza of Bryant Park

YOU think of Aeolian Hall as the home of all that is best in music—the home of the Weber Grand Piano, of the Pianola, and of the Steinway and Weber Pianola Pianos—the place to buy the very best in piano or player-piano construction.

But have you ever thought of Aeolian Hall as the best place for you to buy? No matter how little you can afford to invest in an instrument—even though it be no more than $1.50 per week?

At Aeolian Hall, whatever instrument you purchase is at least a 25% better investment than the same money would buy elsewhere. The reason is this: Aeolian Hall is the distributing center for a great group of factories. These factories exercise a tremendous advantage both as to quality and price, in the purchase of materials and in manufacturing facilities—and these advantages are transmitted directly to you in the instrument you buy.

For instance: The Stroud Piano—our $250 piano, is the equal of any $350 piano purchased anywhere else. The Stroud Pianola Player-piano—our $550 instrument, combines $350 piano value with a genuine Pianola action. In the Stroud, as in every genuine Pianola Player-piano, you get all of the exclusive Pianola expression devices which no other player-piano at any price can offer you—at $550.

Nowhere in New York can you make more attractive or convenient terms of purchase than here at Aeolian Hall.

Think of Aeolian Hall not only as the best place to buy, but as the best place for you to buy your instrument, whatever or however you wish to pay for it. Come to Aeolian Hall and select it.

Aeolian Hall is the only place in New York where you can buy a genuine Pianola.

Is your piano silent?—A home full of listeners and no music to listen to? A Pianola Player-piano will fill your home with harmony.

Steck Pianola Player-piano, $850
$40 down, $5.50 per week

If you have a "silent piano" to trade in, we are prepared to make most liberal arrangements.

Steinway Grand Pianola Piano, $2100

Steinway, the master's instrument—and Pianola, the master within the instrument!

Terms if you want them.

The Victor
50c. per week and up

The Victor and Victrola of course are sold at the same prices everywhere, but nowhere can you make more attractive terms than here. And here you have proper facilities for listening without disturbance, and selecting, from the most complete stock in New York, exactly the instrument and records you want.

MT. BETHEL TO HOLD ANOTHER SCHOOL ELECTION

The citizens of Mt. Bethel at a special meeting last night, decided to hold a special school election on Wednesday, April 16, to vote on the question of appropriating $2,900 for the erection of a new school building at Mt. Bethel. At the meeting last night a letter was received from J. Brognard Betts, assistant State Commissioner of Education, stating that unless arrangements were made to build a new school at Mt. Bethel, the State would withhold its share of school funds.

The school board recently purchased a piece of land at Mt. Bethel for a school but could not agree on the amount to be appropriated for the building. The matter has been in dispute for a year or more, but the decision of the State school authorities will, it appears, bring about a decision very soon.

HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or hut. Some people can make a hall bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent—a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers. their agent because it reaches the kind of people They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

FAVORITE FISH DISHES.

SMELTS, whitefish and halibut are three favorite fish which are now in season. These suggestions for cooking such fish may be useful.

Smelts prepared as below are nice for breakfast.

The baked halibut or stuffed whitefish is an appropriate and delicious accessory to the dinner bill of fare.

A Breakfast Dish.

Fried Smelts.—Clean, wash and dry the smelts, dust with salt, pepper and flour. Put some drippings into a frying pan and when very hot put in the fish. Keep turning constantly until a nice brown; then reduce the heat and finish slowly. They must be well done, but not fried hard. You can bread and fry in deep fat and serve with sauce tartare.

With Hollandaise Sauce.

Baked Halibut.—Take a piece of halibut weighing two or three pounds, clean it and place on a buttered rack in a dripping pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and arrange on the top strips of fat salt pork. Add one cupful of milk and bake in a quick oven for thirty-five minutes. Baste often and take out the pork the last ten minutes. Place on a serving dish, removing the outside skin, and garnish with shredded potatoes. Serve with hollandaise sauce.

Steamed Fish.

Stuffed Whitefish With Oyster Sauce.—Select a whitefish weighing four or five pounds. Scale, wash and wipe. With a sharp knife make the incision for cleaning and dressing. See that the inside of the fish is clean. Make a rather rich dressing of breadcrumbs, a half teacupful of boiled salt pork chopped fine, a hard boiled egg chopped and mashed, a quarter of a teaspoonful each of salt, pepper and made mustard; a half teacupful of white wine vinegar, a little powdered sage and a tablespoonful of butter. Fill the fish with the dressing, tie up in a floured cloth and steam eight minutes to the pound. When ready remove the cloth, lay the fish on a border of parsley and place around it alternate slices of hard boiled egg and lemon.

Oyster Sauce.

Make a cream oyster sauce by scalding a half cupful of milk, thicken with a tablespoonful of flour and one of butter rubbed smooth. Add to the thickening a half teacupful of cream, a half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper. Scald fifteen oysters in their own liquor with a dash of lemon juice, mix them with the cream sauce, pour a little over the fish and put the rest into the gravy bowl.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

"God could not be everywhere, so he made mothers."—Jewish Rabbi.

Westfield.

The parents and teachers of the Grant School, of Westfield, organized a Parent-Teacher Association on the afternoon of Thursday, March 27. Short talks on the purpose and value of such organizations were given by Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr., of this city, and by J. J. Savitz, superintendent of Union county schools.

Nearly every woman present joined as a charter member and much enthusiasm was manifested.

Child Welfare Commission.

Oregon has the honor of being the first State to appoint a Child Welfare Commission to study the needs of children and conditions affecting them. This commission is to report a year hence with recommendations as to what Oregon should do to hold front rank in the opportunities for life, health and morality of the future citizens, the children of today.

Governor West has chosen Mrs. R. H. Late, president of the Oregon Mothers' Congress, as chairman of the First State Child Welfare Commission.

Merchantville.

Two large Parent-Teacher Associations have recently been formed in Merchantville, one in the Center Street School and one in the Collins Tract School.

Mrs. E. C. Grice, president of the Home and School League, of Philadelphia, addressed a union meeting of both organizations, outlining the three stages through which an association must pass if it has any true growth in it: First the individual help sought by mothers and teachers for individual children; second, the consideration of the welfare of the group of children in that school; and third, interest in the conditions of community and State which affect the children, the realizing that which the betterment of the individual in time benefits the many; it is equally true that every improvement of community or State has a direct effect upon every individual child.

Country Life Department.

Hon. Logan Waller Page, chief of the Good Roads Department of the United States Department of Agriculture, has accepted the chairmanship of the Country Life Department of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations. When child welfare is under consideration there is no State which is so far advanced that it can afford to ignore the country child.

It will be the aim of the Country Life Department to show how the opportunities of the country children can be improved.

Bryant-Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association.

The experience of the last six months in the Bryant-Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association has been that it is a good plan to hold separate meetings in each school. The steady increase in membership and the enthusiasm shown in the Lincoln branch bear testimony to this.

The members feel that it is their association and meetings are in their own school, where they meet the teachers of their own children. Instead of having one well attended meeting a month, we hold two as well attended as before the separation of the two schools. Mothers who never came to the Bryant meetings come each time to the Lincoln School. The officers feel that the labor is well worth doing.

MRS. O. H. SMITH, President.

School Boards.

A woman has recently been elected to the School Board of Cranford which gives Cranford the honor of being the first town in Union county to have a woman member.

In Peapack and Gladstone, Somerset county, three women have been serving in this capacity, appointed by County Superintendent H. C. Krebs to fill unexpired terms. Mr. Krebs states that the town seems so well satisfied that he confidently expects their re-election this spring.

Moorestown, in Burlington county, has three women on its School Board and their splendid service has been recognized by repeated re-elections. All three have been teachers and two are mothers.

Open Schoolhouses.

On Friday evening, March 28, the Washington School auditorium was for the first time opened for the free use of the colored people of Plainfield for dancing, by the Board of Education.

About fifty young men and women responded, some accompanied by their parents or older friends. The piano and two violins were played for the dancing by Miss Gertrude Randolph, Arthur Venoble and John Venoble.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons and Mrs. Wm. N. Sandford, Jr., chaperoned the affair. William S. Tyler, president of the Board of Education, was also present. Mrs. James F. Lawson, of 308 East Third street, assisted by Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Robert Tunstall, Mrs. John Gates, Miss Alice Maynard and Mrs. William McKoy did much to make the evening a success. Mrs. Lawson organized a committee of young mein to take the responsibility of maintaining the excellent standard of dancing and deportment established on this first night.

Those present expressed great pleasure in the plan of continuing the Friday night dances and the hope that a Glee Club, a basketball team, gymnastics and other kinds of recreation would eventually be added.

One representative young colored man remarked earnestly, "I am going to do all I can to help. I have lived in Plainfield all my life and we have never had such an opportunity before."

Clarence A. Perry, among the foremost authorities on Social Centers, says "The forces which are rapidly transforming public schools into focuses of community life are genuine human needs, some elemental, others created by an unprecedented gregariousness—but all compelling satisfaction if the advance of the race toward its destiny is to be unimpeded."

The dances will be given every Friday evening and all are welcomed. Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Tunstall will be present this week also to insure a happy time for all.

"MAC" SAYS

Baseball will be ushered into Plainfield diamond circles full blast next Saturday afternoon. Both High Schools have games to run off and several of the other amateur aggregations are preparing to start their schedules. The trouble begins thus, and will continue thusly for five months.

Jack Martin will be back in Plainfield tonight to tell us about the Bermuda hospitality. Manager Chance has ordered black sweaters for the Yankee team. Wonder if there is any significance attached.

Ernie Dorflinger is not saying much these days. Like all the other big magnates the Plainfield manager is reticent until the league race begins and then he cannot be convinced that any other aggregation could lower his team's standards.

Alienists inform us that this country harbors 125,000 idiots not counting the gent who started the report in circulation that Ty Cobb had been signed up by Dave Driscoll to play with Plainfield and New Brunswick. Some people still believe.

Lincoln Beachey announced a short time ago that he had given up aviation because there was too much of the stuff in the air. Reports from the big league training camps seem to point to the fact that a number of the pitchers being given tryouts have shown evidences of aviation in their twirling.

Some men are easily pleased, among the latter being those who delight in watching a chess tournament.

You never can tell. The Cuban who put a $10,000 purse for a chess tournament may be perfectly sane in other respects.

Young Stites Surprised Nelson With an Eleventh Hour Rally at Brunswick.

"Kid" Stites, of this city, a fourteen-year-old youngster with an accurate, reliable stroke, a keen eye, and a good head, defeated "Doc" Nelson in a pocket billiard match at William F. McGovern's, New Brunswick, Tuesday night, by a 100-85 score.

Stites was accompanied Tuesday night by Stites, Sr., who runs a pocket billiard establishment in this city. A New Brunswick paper says: "That anything so good in the sport line could come out of Plainfield was a tremendous jolt to the enthusiasts who gathered to see the go."

"Doc" got away to a big lead by corraling the first two frames. To get away with this stunt he brought into play the old-time mastery of the game which has won his "rep" for him. He made hard shot after hard shot, and at times when the ordinary player would have been trying to dope out the best safety, he would scatter the pyramid all over the cloth on a seemingly impossible combination or kiss.

But Nelson's youthful adversary started to climb after those disheartening two frames, and soon had "Doc" snowed under, 86-52. Then the score became 91-85, through a come back on "Doc's" part.

Up to this point Nelson had been playing a good, but very unlucky stick. He miscued four times and thereby lost thirty balls. Those who have seen the star cueist shoot know how seldom it is that he miscues. The ones he made Tuesday night will last him for a month. Unfortunately, they came in a bunch.

So "Doc" had played good pool until near the end, and then he threw his game away by a glaring display of carelessness and poor judgment as any champ or near-champ ever exhibited. In the last frame, when he had fifteen to go and the youngster needed nine, "Doc" didn't bring his generalship into play, didn't use his head in the least, but instead unnecessarily splashed the spheres to the four corners of the earth on a bungaloo combination that didn't send the object ball within six inches of the pocket. That ended it, for Stites ran nine.

DRISCOLL'S POSTPONED OPENING NEXT SUNDAY

Dave Driscoll's New Brunswick team will play the Utica team, of the New York State League, at Amusement Park on Sunday afternoon. Cadore or Smith will be on the mound for the home team to do the flinging against the leaguers. Manager O'Neill, of the Utica team, has not decided who he will pitch against the Brunswicks.

All of the members of the Utica club are expected to be in New Brunswick by Sunday and Manager O'Neill will have all of his regular players in the game. He wants to show the fans of Brunswick the fine bunch of ball players he has collected this season. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

OUTLAWS REORGANIZE.

Every detail pertaining to the reorganization of the United States Baseball League has been completed, and the made-over "outlaws" body will officially tear off the lid on May 10. According to President Witman last night the league has secured eight clubs which have promised to stick through the thick and thin of the coming season, no matter how deep they may have to delve into their pocketbooks. Teams located in Newark, New York, Brooklyn, Reading will form the northern end of the circuit, while the southern makeup will include Baltimore, Washington and Lynchburg, Va.

NATIONAL BOWLING TOURNEY.

Rochester, N. Y., April 3.—The annual championship tournament of the National Bowling Association was formally opened in Rochester today under conditions that promise the most successful tournament in the history of the association. The entry list comprises several hundred teams and individual bowlers from cities throughout the East and from points as far west as Toledo, Chicago, and Cincinnati. Canada also is sending some representatives. The contests will continue over a period of three weeks.

HOPE CHAPEL PRACTICE.

Captain Allen Snyder, of the Hope chapel baseball team, has issued a call for practice to be held on the Hope common diamond Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He is anxious to have all candidates for the Hope Chapel Sunday-school League team on hand at that time as this will be the final tryout before a game. Although the league season will probably not open for some time, Snyder is planning to run an independent game a week from Saturday with an idea to getting a line on his available material.

HARVARD KEEPS HAUGHTON.

The renewal of the contract with Percy D. Haughton, '99, as head coach of the Harvard football team for the next three years was announced yesterday by President Frederick W. Thayer, of the Harvard Varsity Club. Mr. Haughton has coached the eleven for the past five years, during which two games with Yale were won, two tied and one lost.

PLAYERS BUY CLUB.

The Grand Rapids baseball franchise in the Central League was purchased last night by Edward Smith and William Essick, of Chicago, from Bert Annis, of South Bend, Ind. The sale price is said to be close to $15,000. Essick and Smith are members of the team and will take their regular turns in the pitcher's box this season.

DATE UNCERTAIN FOR INTERNATIONAL MEET

Harvard and Yale Athletes May Not Meet English University.

Harvard and Yale apparently are playing at cross purposes in regard to drafting the official invitation which is to be sent abroad requesting the Cambridge and Oxford track teams to visit the United States this summer for a big international meet.

The original draft, which was drawn up over a month ago, has spent much of its time seesawing between the Crimson and Blue track camps and at present has withstood numerous additions and changes. If the American universities fail to agree on the form of contract to be sent abroad, and if they insist on June 19 as the date for the meet, the chances are very slim for the proposed international mingling at the Stadium. The Englishmen want July 5, thus giving them ample time to take their examinations abroad, come to this country and be acclimated to a certain extent before the games.

Both Harvard and Yale, although the invitation has not been forwarded yet, are stubborn concerning the day set for the events, and unless the Englishmen agree to give way to them in this particular there will be no meet this year. Harvard trackmen today expressed themselves as almost certain that the games will yet be held this season. Still there will be a chance for some master mind to enter the breach, take the situation in hand and smooth over what now appears unsurmountable difficulties. The Englishmen who have been expecting the official invitation daily for the past month must be wondering what Harvard is taking so much time over.

LIPTON ISSUES REVISED CHALLENGE TO N. Y. Y. C.

London, April 3.—Although keenly disappointed over the declination of the New York Yacht Club to accept his challenge for the America's cup under the conditions specified by him, Sir Thomas Lipton today announced his decision to challenge the American yachtsmen unconditionally for the trophy. When Sir Thomas first issued his letter to the New Yorkers he stipulated that the length of the contending boats should not be over seventy feet, but the Americans refused to consider the challenge under this restriction as it was conceded that Sir Thomas would have a walkover with this regulation attached.

When the New York Yacht Club issued its declination it intimated that the defending yacht would not surpass in size the challenger and Sir Thomas appears to have immediately taken advantage of this fact. The Englishman said sometime ago that should the New York Club ever offer this opportunity he would take advantage of it immediately and this probably prompted his action of today.

APGAR HIGH MAN.

Neaf Apgar, of this city, was one of the high men of the day in the weekly shoot conducted at the Smith Club traps at Wiedenmayer's Park Tuesday afternoon. The performances of the shooters in the sweepstakes events were unusually good, notwithstanding the stiff wind which blew across the traps. Apgar chalked up a mark of twenty-four, which was the highest score of the afternoon. His afternoon's individual tallies were 20, 24, 20, 21, 22, 22.

LOCAL BASEBALL SEASON TO OPEN

Saturday Will Start the Big Ball Rolling On Its Five Months' Trip.

Baseball will be ushered into Plainfield in full blast next Saturday afternoon when both High Schools open their schedules with home games. Plainfield will show at Parker Field in a game with the Camp Bowser aggregation, and North Plainfield will have New Brunswick High School to fight against on Hyde Oval. Both of these games are excellent opening contests and should bring out large crowds from the respective institutions.

The Camp Bowser nine will be composed largely of Plainfield High School graduates, many of the former P. H. S. diamond stars getting into the game at this time to play against their Alma Mater. Captain Good and his aggregation has been hindered to some extent in carrying out their training schedule by the rainy weather but with some hard work between now and Saturday afternoon the P. H. S. pilot hopes to have a team on the field that will give the graduates a hard run for the game. Material is abundant at Plainfield High School and large squads have reported at every practice. Many of the veterans have been retained and there are comparatively few places in the infield or outfield to fill. These few vacancies are being hotly contested and it looks as though Good would have his trouble picking out the best of the large number of available candidates.

The rainy weather has had the same effect on the North Plainfield High School team, Captain Dunning being handicapped by the short time in which he has been given to pick the team. Unlike Plainfield High School, the boroughites have no indoor place to hold practices and when the weather is such that outdoor drill is out of the question, they have to lay off. The first game of Manager Spencer's schedule was originally booked for last Saturday afternoon with Montclair High School but the boroughites thought it advisable to cancel this engagement and as a result the New Brunswick ball tossers will open the season here Saturday afternoon. Little can be said as to North Plainfield's chances against the New Brunswick nine because neither team has played a game to date and when they met last year the one feature of the game was Smith, the Brunswick pitcher's box work. Had it not been for this member of the team, N. P. H. S. would have stood a pretty good chance of coming out in the van but Smith held the boroughites hitless until the seventh inning and then allowed them only two scratch bingles. Smith is not a member of the team this year and from reports it seems as though the Brunswick nine was having a pretty hard time to fill the vacancy made by Smith's graduation.

BRICKLEY RETIRES.

A. D. Chandler, one of the best jumpers on the Harvard varsity track squad, pulled a tendon in his right foot yesterday while practicing his specialty in the Stadium. He had to be carried off the field. Chandler will be unable to get into harness again for a month. Charley Brickley has given up all forms of athletics this spring, acting under the advice of Dr. E. N. Nichols, in order that he may be fit for next football season.

WILSON MAY CLASH WITH THE CONGRESS

His Views on Tariff Reduction Considered Too Radical by Some.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 3.—President Wilson's theories on tariff reductions have caused consternation among the moderate revisionists in Congress and the present outlook is that instead of harmony and general agreement on an administration bill, a sharp clash between the conservatives and the radicals will result.

The President contends that his stand for an extremely low duty on agricultural products will reduce the cost of living, while conservatives assert that that theory is not borne out by experience and that a revenue tariff is essential to the treasury and is demanded by the farmers.

President Wilson has yielded to the views of Secretary Bryan and other advocates for free raw wool. The Ways and Means Committee experts after two years' of painstaking research including a comparison of conditions throughout the world felt that a 15 per cent. duty was necessary. It is certain that a vigorous contest will be precipitated in the House caucus and there is no doubt that stubborn resistance will be encountered in the Senate.

GIRL ON HORSE SAVES MAN FROM INJURY AS HIS MOUNT RUNS AWAY

Had it not been for the timely assistance of Miss Nan Campbell, Charles L. Knoedler, of the Knoedler Art Galleries, of New York, might not at present be enjoying the best of health. Miss Campbell, who comes from Virginia and knows horse nature down to elementals, stopped Mr. Knoedler's horse after he had run three-quarters of a mile with his master in a precarious position.

Miss Campbell, who is a cousin of George Gordon Battle, was out on her morning ride. She heard the commotion behind her and, turning, saw the running horse and Mr. Knoedler clinging to him. She put spurs to her mount and was soon flying along as fast as the runaway.

From the walk several persons shouted a warning to the young woman, but she did not seem to heed the cry. Instead she turned in and put her horse in the path of the runaway. Her manoeuvre was successful in that the frightened animal came to a standstill and Mr. Knoedler managed to disentangle himself.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

PHOENIX, ARIZONA

As It Impresses 'COL.' ARCHIBALD HAGQUER

There are two classes of people in Phoenix—those who admit they came here for their health and those who lie about it.

Living is not high here. At least, it is no higher than in any town of the same size in the East. The biggest hotel in the place, an entirely satisfying and modern plant, maintains a lunch room where one can eat adequately and well at hungry times for from 25 to 40 cents. The food is the same as that served in the main dining room. Meals are served in the ordinary restaurants to be found about town—and there are enough of them—for 35 cents. A nicely furnished room, with a sleeping porch thrown in, may be rented for from $15 to $20 a month. Five to eight room modern houses may be rented for from something like $20 to $40 a month. Staple foodstuffs are not dearer than in Plainfield, but fruit is. One thing that operates in favor of the householder of moderate means is the fact that the standard of housefurnishing is comparatively simple. One can get along with few pieces of furniture without losing caste in "our set."

Believe all you read about the Sal River Valley climate (Phoenix is in the Salt River vale). To be sure, it gets hot in the summer months, but the sunshine, the blue sky and the chrystal-clear atmosphere are always present. It rains in this section, but mighty seldom. The skies have been known to run thirteen months straight without squeezing a drop of water on the scenery. Nobody here wants rain—not even for the novelty of it. The old timers may have yearned for wet weather, but the Roosevelt Dam knocked the yearning flat. Nowadays irrigation—abundant and never-failing—attends to all the wants of the growing things, and rain only makes the roads and streets messy. During the "winter" months wood fires are needed to mage the houses comfortable, especially evenings and mornings, but frost is an almost unknown thing.

It takes an Easterner some time to get used to the faithfulness of the sunshine. He can't readily assimilate the fact that when he makes an appointment to go riding or walking or picnicking or visiting on such-and-such a day that the most unlikely thing in the world is interference by the weather. You can always swear that next Thursday is going to be clear. The same applies to next Monday, next Tuesday, next Wednesday, next Friday, next Saturday and next Sunday.

One might think from the picture drawn of climatic conditions out here that no one ever got sick in the Sal River valley. The notion would be pardonable, but folks here do have ills not transplanted from the East. They get colds, cerebro-spinal meningitis (sometimes epidemic), infantile paralysis, pneumonia, typhoid and the usual run of internal derangements. Smallpox the Mexicans always have with them.

Phoenix is called the Rose City by a good many people. Roses are not strikingly in evidence at this writing—March 29—but some bloom are to be seen. Plenty of other flowers are in bloom though, and the green things are all on their jobs. So are the sunshine and the blue sky and the chrystal air. Never forget those three delights.

Where is the enslaved toiler who longs for sundry acres and freedom? Let him come hither with $1,000 and realize his dream. He can have 20 or more acres for a payment of $500 down, keeping the other $500 for operating expenses, and be a lordling of a rich domain. Note that $1,000 though. Nobody can come here, any more than he can go any place, and have land, tools, stock and food handed to him through the working of some mysteriously bountiful agency. But if he will come armed with a little money and a knowledge of farming and stock raising this is what the land and the sunshine—and the ditches—will do for him:

It will give him seven cuttings of alfalfa a year. (And alfalfa grows forever once it is planted, so I've heard.)

It will grow all kinds of familiar and some unfamiliar, fruits all the year 'round.

It will be ready for working as a truck patch all the year 'round.

It will offer no hindrance to chicken raising and hog raising from January 1 to December 31.

It will—but what's the use of detailing? Anybody can sense for himself what it means for a farmer to possess acres of rich land where the sun shines all the time, water flows in abundance and the seasons include nothing but summer and late spring. The man who gets hold of irrigated, mortgage-free land here has acres and not achers. And the full tale is not told yet. Only farming has been touched on. If a man will, he may give over his acres to fattening beef cattle or raising, and working dairy cows. That cattle-fattening game is alluring. On paper it beats the statistical chicken-raiser's dream to hollow. Just look at the layout: Here are your acres—many or few, as the case may be—green with alfalfa all the year 'round. Here are range cows bought for about $30 a head. Here are buyers yelling for fattened cattle at $70 a head. What can be simpler in the money-making line than to turn $30 cattle loose in alfalfa, sell 'em for $70 in due course—and regard with great satisfaction not only the net profit, but the calves that the cows present you with. It is figured that one acre will feed two cows. If the feeding is done from racks, that is, if the alfalfa is cut and stacked, one acre can be made to feed three cows. Big operators, however, say now that it is better to allow one acre to a cow for green feeding. The stock-raising plan is to divide the land into two pastures. When the alfalfa in one is eaten down, the cattle are driven into the other. By the time they have eaten the grass down there the grass in Pasture No. 1 has grown up again. It is cruel to remind the statistical chicken-raiser that there is nothing to prevent a man from fattening cattle and raising chickens on the same place. The vision evolved is likely to cause him to swoon on his pencil.

TO LAUNCH EUROPA, KING OF THE OCEAN

Berlin, April 3.—A large party of press representatives left here today for Hamburg, the guests of the Hamburg-American Line to witness the launching of the giant vessel that is being built for the company at the shipyards of Blohm and Voss. The new vessel will be called the Europa and will be placed in service between Hamburg and New York. She is a sister ship of the Imperator, the largest ship in the world. Prince Regent Ludwig of Bavaria has accepted an invitation to be sponsor at the launching, and his son, Prince Rupprecht, will christen the vessel.

The Europa will be 950 feet long and 100 feet beam and will have a displacement of 50,000 tons. She will be equipped with internal combustion engines and two 1,500 horsepower Diesel motors, and will use oil as fuel.

There are to be eleven decks on the new liner. She will have accommodations for more than 4,000 passengers of all classes and will carry a crew of 1,000. Every feature ever devised for the convenience, comfort and entertainment of ocean travelers has been included in the plans for the new giantess of the seas. The novel features will be a regulation tennis court on the upper deck and a swimming pool 75 by 25 feet, on one of the lower decks.

The Europa will not be a fast boat, being built more for solid comfort than great speed. Her time across the Atlantic will be in the neighborhood of seven days.

The most powerful Marconi apparatus ever set up at sea will be installed, the unusual height of her masts making it possible to receive or transmit messages across the broad expanse of the Atlantic ocean. The Europa will always be in direct communication with either her namesake continent or America.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Verdi's beautiful, powerful and dramatic composition, "Il Trovatore," has been selected for the offering of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Plainfield theatre Saturday night. This opera is described by critics of highest authority the world over as the ideal opera of the public, possessing all of those qualities which endear themselves to music lovers of all grades of culture or lack of it; sweetness and pleasant melodiousness in some passages, with tragic and passionate expression in others, all of Verdi's wide and varied but typical style, ranging from the sentimental and poetic to dramatic heights. It is a vivid musical depiction of an absorbing story of mediaeval Spain, in which the rivalry of two men, brothers unknown to each other, one a Count and the other a minstrel knight, both in love with the same lady, forms the center of the plot. "Il Trovatore" owes its remarkable and enduring popularity not only to its beautiful music, but also to the stirring action, romantic coloring and intense interest of its story. "Madame Butterfly" will be presented at the matinee.

HERE AND THERE

The following interesting item is taken from the weekly bulletin of the First Baptist church: "The church clerk has been observing for several months the timely attendance of worshippers at our Sunday morning service. The results have been reported to the calendar-man in the following items of punctuality and tardiness of persons getting into the pews: Beginning of service 10:30 o'clock (Howard time) 100 to 125 persons seated. During organ prelude 60 more enter pews. By time first hymn and Psalm are finished 60 to 75 more additional persons take their seats and while anthem is being rendered 30 are found standing ready to sit. After this period 10:30, the bulletin was not kept as the canvasser rested himself and suspended the count."

Before ordering your coal---think on these things

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.

2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?

3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?

4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.

5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.

6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

UNION CO. JAIL IS UNSANITARY

State Charities Aid Society Agent Tells Freeholders of Her Investigation.

CONDITION DEPLORABLE

Addition Needed at Bonnie Burn—Wilbur and Doane to Investigate as to County Bridges—Some Routine Matters.

Elizabeth, April 4.—The most unsanitary condition of the county jail was called to the attention of the Board of Freeholders at its meeting yesterday afternoon, in a communication from Miss Tiffany, of Plainfield, as a representative of the State Charities Aid Society. She has been investigating conditions in the county jails of the State and that concerning the Union county jail was referred to the freeholders. Miss Tiffany commended Warden Charles Dodd and his wife, who is the matron, who, she said seemed to be doing good work, but the absence of lavatories for the prisoners had resulted in a deplorable condition. The report was referred to the committees on buildings and grounds and jails for investigation.

The condition of the Leland avenue bridge in Plainfield was discussed and Freeholders J. Hervey Doane, Logan Fay and Adolph Gruener were appointed a committee to investigate. The road on Leland avenue near the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, has been widened and the bridge will either have to be repaired or else replaced with a new one. It is one of the oldest bridges in the county.

The question of building an additional ward at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium did not come up at the meeting as the plans for the same were not ready for presentation. The sanitorium is now taxed almost to the limit and it is only a question of a short time when increased accommodations must be provided. Both Freeholders S. P. T. Wilbur and J. Hervey Doane were named on committees to investigate several bridges in the county.

All of the members were present, including the Democrats, who up to that time had refused to sit with their Republican colleagues. No action was taken regarding the makeup of of new committees.

INITIAL CONCERT OF ATHALIA GLEE CLUB

William N. Runyon's Band of Artists Give a Superb Entertainment.

An excellent program of vocal and instrumental music rendered by the Athalia Glee Club of the Park Avenue Baptist church under the leadership of William N. Runyon, delighted a large audience in the church auditorium last night. Every number was presented in a way that reflected much credit. Louis Marc Klebba, a young baritone-tenor, made a big hit. Solos by Miss Edith Bechtel, a local school girl; William G. Smith, a basso, and Victor S. Hogg, of New York, a baritone, were worthy of more than passing mention. A quartet composed of William N. Runyon, Louis Marc Klebba, K. L. Wilson and Victor S. Hogg, rendered "Annie Laurie" exceptionally well.

The program consisted of the following numbers: Chorus, "Barcarolle;" Irish love song, by K. L. Wilson; chorus, "Rosary;" violin and flute duet, "What From Vengeance," by Arthur Mosher and Elmer Wheeler; solo, "Vulcan's Song," by William Holmes; quartet, "Annie Laurie," by Louis Klebba, V. S. Hogg, K. L. Wilson and William N. Runyon; instrumental trio, "Meditation Religieuse," by Mrs. Russell R. Dorr, Herbert J. Harold and Arthur S. Mosher; march, duet, by the Misses Martha Casner and Hazel Hyatt; farewell greetings by the chorus. Part two: solo, "Prologue," by Louis Klebba; cornet solo, by Whitney Frazee; "The Bandolero," by William G. Smith; "Rigoletto," by Arthur S. Mosher; "The Swallows," solo by Miss Edith Bechtel; "Sleep Gentle Lady," by the chorus; duet, "The Crucifix," by Miss Bechtel and Victor Hogg; solo, "Best of All," by William Holmes; "Soldiers' Chorus," by the chorus.

The club was assisted by Miss Edith Bechtel, soprano; William Holmes, basso cantante; Louis Marc Klebba, baritone-tenor; William G. Smith, basso; Victor S. Hogg, baritone; Arthur S. Mosher, violin; Whitney Frazee, cornet, and Elmer P. Wheeler, flute. The accompanists were Mrs. Russell Dorr and Herbert J. Harold.

WANT CONCERN TO LOCATE PLANT HERE

Commerce Chamber, However, Can't Find Suitable Building for Tailoring Co.

A committee of the Chamber of Commerce is trying to induce the large tailoring concern of Wehner & Company, of New York city, to locate in Plainfield, according to a report submitted by Captain John C. Curtis, of the manufacturers' committee, at the regular monthly meeting last night. Negotiations have been under way for the past week but as yet the chairman has been unable to find a suitable place for a plant. Three members of the concern paid a visit to Mr. Curtis here and were taken on a tour of the city with a view to getting a line on the available factories and buildings suitable for the requirements. Wehner & Company have a capitalization of $300,000. A floor space of 15,000 square feet is needed, preferably on the second and third floors of some building centrally located. The firm does not intend to build and most of the places visted during the time the company's representatives were in this city did not have this spread of floor space. Several locations were proposed at last night's meeting of the Chamber and Mr. Curtis was authorized to inquire further into the matter and to do what he could in the matter.

In order to make it easier for the Chamber to supply information to firms contemplating locating in this city, the Chamber last night authorized Chairman Curtis to insert an advertisement in the two local dailies and the local weekly requesting property owners having buildings or land suitable for development by corporations to notify the secretary who will keep a list on file for reference. The committee in charge of the prize competition conducted recently with a view to securing a plan for advertising Plainfield, through its chairman, Paul Burns, reported that a final meeting for the selection of the winning plan would be held next Wednesday evening in the Chamber's rooms and the judges are requested to be on hand at that time. It was voted to hold an open meeting when the prize winners have been decided on and the cash awards will be made publicly.

CURRENT EVENTS AS SEEN BY A WOMAN

Miss Richards Gives Last of Her Series of Talks on International Happenings.

Miss Janet Richards, who closed her present series of talks on "Current Events" at the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, devoted most of the afternoon to an interesting review of the subjects covered during the four years that she has been lecturing in this city. She touched upon the Japanese-Russian War, which lasted eighteen months, the civic strife in Turkey in 1908, during which the Sultan was deposed by the young Turks' party, the Mexican uprising, which lasted two years.

Miss Richards also referred to the Italian- Turkey war over Tripoli, which lasted for one year, the Chinese outbreak with the fall of the old dynasty and lastly the Balkan War, which has been engaging the attention of the world more recently. It was the opinion of Miss Richards that the present attitude of Montenegro and Servia was continued it might upset the peace negotiations as drafted by the world powers, and she wondered whether the settlement along those lines would bring about a war of all the powers. Such a thing she thought might be possible.

Miss Richards then turned her attention to the disturbances in Germany, France and England, especially referring to the troubles incident to the heavy taxation for military purposes. She advocated the adoption of Sir Edward Grey's plan, that the powers do nothing for a year in building up their armed forces and let up on the heavy taxation.

In conclusion Miss Richards spoke of the sentence imposed upon Mrs. Pankhurst, the English suffragette, commenting in an interesting way on the incidents which have led up to the jail sentence which she is about to serve. It was pointed out that the English people are slow to act, but when once they do, their decision is apt to be a severe one. A three-year jail sentence in England is far different from that in this country, and what effect it would have the audience was left to judge for themselves.

CITY JUDGE PLACES HUBBY ON PROBATION

If He Supports Her for That Time, and Does Right He May Be Reunited.

Declaring that the defendant was an industrious and attentive husband when sober, but that he was a brute when under the influence of intoxicants, City Judge DeMeza in the city court, today, directed Bror Lundstrom to pay his wife $4 a week for two months and placed him under a $200 bond to fulfill the obligation. According to the court's ruling, if he behaves himself and proves his fidelity during the coming two months, Lundstrom's wife will rejoin him. The Judge said that it was always his desire to bring separated couples together if it can be done in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Lundstrom appeared before Judge DeMeza on complaint of his wife, whom he married on December 28, last, following the death of his first wife, Mrs. Sophie Lundstrom, on October 9 in Norway. She was returning to her native home in Sweden in a futile attempt to regain her health. According to the testimony in court today, the second Mrs. Lundstrom left her husband on February 15, last, because of alleged cruel treatment. The charge was emphatically denied by the husband, and supported by Charles Lundstrom, a son of the prisoner. Harma Benson, of Webster place, was another witness. Mrs. Lundstrom has been living at the Swedish Lutheran Home in New York. Lundstrom's arrest followed his wife's appeal for support.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL ON PUPILS' PROGRAM

High School Parent-Teacher Association Hears an Address.

Lindsey Best, principal of the High School, addressed the monthly meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association at the Plainfield High School auditorium last night on the subject of "A High School Pupil's Daily Program." He outlined a system of regularly supervised work for recreation and study that conformed with the pupil's growth in brain and body during his High School course. The speaker dwelt at length on the value of sticking to a schedule that is the same for each day and division of work such as to allow the pupil to derive the largest amount of benefit therefrom.

A short business meeting was conducted by the Association previous to Mr. Best's talk and a social hour followed during which a program of vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed by the teachers and mothers present. Mrs. G. Stuart Simmons, president of the Association, presided and among those who took part in the musical program were Mrs. Guy Bender, Mrs. H. R. Moyer, Mrs. William Burnett, and H. R. Moyer.

A discussion, in which a number of the members took part, was conducted by the president during the business meeting.

The auto bus will start from the Queen City Hotel, which will be made the headquarters of the company.

PARK CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY MINSTRELSY

Will Lyle's Troupe, Assisted by Local Young Men, Provide Entertainment.

Before an audience that well filled the Park Club hall, a minstrel performance was given last night by professional talent, aided by a number of local young men. The show was given to raise money to be used in making improvements about the tennis court of the club. Will Lyle and his company of old time minstrels provided a program made up of a number of popular songs, interspersed with the usual line of jokes and witticisms, keeping the auditors in good humor for an hour or more. The opening scene displayed a number of darkey plantation hands shooting "crap" and they decided to give a minstrel show, for which they formed the conventional circle. The Plainfielders who assisted the troupe were "Bud" and Brown Rolston, William Barlow, Jr., Charles Titsworth, William D. Flanders, Roy Titsworth, Ray Lyman, Donald A. McGee, Max Brakely, Albert D. Beers and Austin W. Andrews.

In the olio, which made up the second part, Will Lyle told some funny stories and played his banjo; H. Charles Russell coaxed music out of ordinary tumblers; Bert Coyle and Billy O'Connell presented some "Niggerish Niggerisms," and Oliver, the minstrel cartoonists, concluded the bill.

After the performance dancing was enjoyed until an early hour this morning, the music being furnished by a colored orchestra, which has proven popular at several dances during the winter.

C. E. BANNER IS WON BY TEMPLE BAPTIST

Presentation of Trophy and Address by Rev. L. Y. Graham at Rally.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Temple Baptist church was awarded the atendance banner at the rally meeting of the local C. E. Union held in that church, last night, its percentage being 70. The Hope chapel was second with 63 per cent., the First Presbyterian church society third with 51 per cent., while the society from Trinity Reformed church was fourth with 31 per cent. A new banner of beautiful design was presented to the winning society.

Frank Stewart, president of the local union, named the following as a nominating committee to report at the annual meeting: Clarence B. LaRue, Fred Lounsbury, Jr., Miss Lucie Coriell, Elmer Gayle and Miss Mildred Greene. The societies represented at the rally were First Presbyterian, of this city; First Presbyterian, of Dunellen; Hope chapel, Temple Baptist and Trinity Reformed, of Plainfield.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. L. Y. Graham, of the First Presbyterian church, Rahway, who gave an inspiring and helpful talk to the Endeavorers. In his opinion no religious society had been blessed as that of the Christian Endeavor. It offers the finest field for work, and while it is difficult for young people to keep up with the countless attractions of the present day there is always a distinct satisfaction in working to promote the Endeavor movement. The speaker said that in China they have what is called "the run around and drum up society," which he thought to be an excellent idea. Mr. Graham urged that instead of Endeavorers going about with sober faces, they should always be pleasant and have a cherry smile for everyone.

While he urged the promotion of the social side, Mr. Graham told the Endeavorers not to forget the religious part of their work. He believed that one reason why men do not go to church more is because they are not made to feel at home and are not given a welcome. In contrast he spoke of the welcome given men in the saloon, where they seek companionship. They scarcely ever drink alone, but mingle with other men whom they often find to be congenial companions. If the Christians would emphasize the social side more the church would not be criticized to such an extent. The speaker thought it possible to make the society's problems its entertainment, which would be of great benefit.

Mr. Graham gave the Endeavorers much encouragement by his approval of the efficiency campaign plan which he said would result in raising the standard of the society and furnishing an idea. In conclusion, Mr. Graham gave the Endeavorers a cordial invitation to visit his church. A social hour followed the meeting.

WESTFIELD LIGHTING BETTER THAN OURS

Delegation From Here Inspects Neighboring Town's Facilities.

Patrick J. Reville, A. D. Edgar, Francis J. Blatz, Fred Endress, William L. Gloak and Cornelius van-Herwerden, representing the Common Council, together with Winfield S. Angleman and Charles H. Hand, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and H. P. Chandler, general agent; W. R. Causebrook, local agent, and Claud R. Fisher, power engineer, representing the Public Service Corporation, took an automobile trip to Westfield, last night, to inspect street lighting conditions.

The party had planned to visit Perth Amboy and New Brunswick, but it was found impossible to cover all three places in one night. The Tungsten lamps are used at Westfield and seem to give good results. In fact the business section of Westfield is better lighted than that of Plainfield.

The councilmanic light committee has not fully made up its mind as to what lamp will be used here, but the Tungsten for the residential section and the carbon arc for the business section seems to meet with general favor. The company is still demonstrating both lamps on West Second street. It is expected that the light committee will get together soon for the purpose of deciding upon some plan to recommend to the Common Council for adoption.

CLERGYMAN TALKS ON NATION'S BIRTH

Rev. Wm. S. McCoy Gives a Highly Instructive Illustrated Lecture.

The debt the country owes to such men as Washington, Adams and Franklin, who by their insistence of high ideals of human liberty brought about the independence of the Nation, was the feature of an interesting lecture on "The Birth of Our Nation," given by Rev. William S. McCoy in the parish house of Holy Cross church, last night.

The pictures illustrated scenes in this country, from Halifax, Nova Scotia, where many of the Tories went at the time of the Revolution, to the plantations of South Carolina. There were in addition fine views of England and one or two of Russia and Germany. The lecture was concluded with the singing of "America," which was thrown on the screen. There was a good attendance, especially children. Mr. McCoy plans to give a series of similar lectures during the year.

FANWOOD WANTS TOLL ABOLISHED

Demands Call to Plainfield be Made "Local" on Return for Franchise.

OTHER CONCESSIONS

The New York Telephone Company's Application for 50 Years Permit Held up by Fanwood's Council.

The New York Telephone Company when it made an application to the Council of the Borough of Fanwood last night for a fifty-year franchise, found that there was strong opposition to granting such a privilege without a number of concessions, the principal one being that the Council wants Fanwood placed in Plainfield territory so that there will be no extra charge for calls between the two places.

The committee argues that Fanwood borough is so close to Plainfield that the people are entitled to this concession in view of the rates charged for telephone service. The company wants the privilege of erecting poles and stringing wires through any of the streets of Fanwood as the necessity demands, but there is also objection to this, the Council believing that in some instances the company should place their wires underground. Then the Council thinks it is entitled to a certain number of free telephones. The company is willing to grant one to every certain number of subscribers.

The company declines to give the Fanwood people the free service to Plainfield without the extra charge of five cents, and does not want to be compelled to place its wires underground and in view of this favorable action on the company's petition will doubtless be held up for the present at least. It has been referred to Borough Attorney W. R. Codington.

F. A. Dunham, of this city, presented a new tax map, which was ordered by the Council, and was approved.

The following persons will take the parts in "The Kleptomaniac," Miss Marion Wean, Miss Elsie Rodenbaugh, Miss Grace Graves, Miss Luela Stryker and Miss Ruth Thomas. Both of the productions are comedies and the numerous laughable intricate parts and unwindings in the productions will hold the audience spellbound. Those in charge of the coaching department are Miss N. M. Cuddeback and Miss Geraldine Brooks, of the High School faculty.

The local firemen did good work in confining the flames to the barn owned by Charles Michaels, which caught fire yesterday from an unknown cause. It is thought, however, that tramps sleeping in the hay loft caused the blaze by the careless use of matches, used undoubtedly to light their "weeds." According to several Italians, they saw two men run from the vicinity of the fire shortly before the alarm was turned in. Constable Clark is investigating.

Many people in the vicinity of Park and Westfield avenues witnessed an unusual automobile accident yesterday when a machine, receiving a jolt from a bump in the road spilled one of the occupants in the road. It proved to be a little girl. Although she quickly bounded to her feet blood was oozing from a cut in her head, she staggered about, until the man driving the auto had time to jump from his seat and run to her assistance. He picked the child up in his arms, placed her across the lap of one of the woman passengers, and proceeded with all speed in the direction of Plainfield. The machine was a seven-passenger black one, but in the excitement none of the witnesses noticed the license number.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

To the average musical ear that delights in original melodies, brilliant inspirations and easily recognized features of musical beauty, there is hardly anything among all classic compositions more fascinating and thoroughly enjoyable than "Il Trovatore," one of Giuseppe Verdi's most famous compositions, which will be presented by the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. This splendid work is full of life, color, romance and very characteristic of the scenes which accompany it, laid in picturesque old Spain, telling in its melodious splendor the story of Manrico, a troubadour, and Count di Luna, who are brothers separated in infancy and unknown to each other, and both mortal enemies, being rivals for the hand of Leonora. It contains more action and interest than most operatic librettos, and its stirring scenes are accompanied by some of the richest melodic inspirations that ever came to Giuseppe Verdi. "Madame Butterfly" will be presented in the afternoon.

RECEPTION FOR PASTOR AND WIFE

Monroe Ave. M. E. Congregation Welcomes Back Rev. and Mrs. Hubach.

GREETINGS ARE CORDIAL

Addresses by Other Local Methodist Episcopal Ministers and a Vocal Entertainment—Church is Prosperous.

The members and friends of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church joined last night in giving a reception to Rev. and Mrs. Frederic J. Hubach, upon their return for a second year. The affair was largely attended and proved enjoyable. The church was attractively decorated with palms and spring flowers by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Edward H. Beckman, treasurer of the church, in the absence of W. J. McGee, who left for Europe the week, presided and introduced the speakers. Among those who spoke were Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, district superintendent of the Elizabeth district; Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church; Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church. Mr. Hubach made a happy response to the congratulatory words of his fellow-ministers, expressing the hope that the coming year would be even more successful than the last one.

During a social hour which followed refreshments were served. There was also vocal solos by Bertram F. Tallamy, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Louis Tallamy. The affair was in charge of the Official Board, Ladies' Aid Society and the Epworth League.

Last year was a successful one in this church. It was reported last night that the church is entirely free of all debt, every bill being paid. When the thank-offering was taken, $1,000 was requested and $1,100 was given. The sum of $1,600 was asked for the new organ and $1,800 was contributed.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

The Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York, although often spoken of as the "Little Board" is in reality one of the larger stock exchanges of the world. It transacts more business in American railroad and industrial stocks than any exchange in the world with the single exception of the New York Stock Exchange. It does more business in a day than the Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago Stock Exchanges combined.

The 9:30 o'clock call gives the members and clients of the Consolidated an opportunity to take advantage of overnight news and happenings, giving them the earliest market on this continent. It is said in Wall Street that the Consolidated is on the uptrend, and, if the price of seats is any criterion, this is certainly so.

It is the belief of the members that the investment and speculative commitments of 90,000,000 people require and can easily support two exchanges. The Consolidated was the originator of active dealings in "odd lots" (less than 100 shares) which business has grown to immense proportions, as it allows every thinking person who watches the trend of financial affairs to trade with his means, thereby minimizing the chance for loss.

WATER BOARD MAKES SHIFT.

New Brunswick, April 4.—The new Water Board met Wednesday night to pay bills and salaries for the month. The members have organized by electing Theodore Cohn president and Thomas F. Brennan clerk. They also reelected Ferdinand W. Stablin superintendent, to succeed Charles H. Morris. Mr. Morris was elected in place of Stablin two years ago, when the Republicans got possession of the board. It is now Democratic again, the Common Council having ousted the Republican members on change. The clerk, Alfred T. Rastall, resigned, to take effect May 1. Stablin will receive $2,000 and Brennan will get $1,500 annually.

LEGISLATURE ENDS; EXTRA SESSION NEXT

Its Promises Broken, President Wilson Will Invade New Jersey.

Trenton, April 4.—Wrangling to the very last, and with the reactionary forces in control, the 137th session of the Legislature came to an end at 1:04 o'clock this morning without having enacted a jury reform law or a constitutional convention bill. Although the Democrats had a majority of three in the Senate and 42 in the Assembly, the influence of James Smith, Jr., and of James R. Nugent was so potent that both these important platform pledges were broken.

It is just one month since Woodrow Wilson left the Governorship and in that short time the progressive Democratic ranks have become badly shattered. With the hopeless split in the Republican party, the State faces a gubernatorial campaign with the most muddled political situatioo, perhaps, in its history.

Final adjournment without a jury reform or constitutional convention measure means that there will be a special session. Acting Governor Fielder will now act on his threat, and within the next few days will issue a call for a special session to meet about May 1. When the lawmakers reassemble he will send in ringing messages on both these propositions, insisting that the platform pledges must be kept.

President Wilson will come into the State before the special session meets and will speak his mind on the situation. He has declared if jury reform were beaten he would call the roll of those responsible for the defeat, and so his speech will be awaited with great interest.

The jury reform fight ended with the Assembly having passed the committee substitute for the McDermott bill, giving the hybrid proposition of jury commission and sheriff drawn juries under court revision with a referendum. The Senate yesterday afternoon refused to accept this bill, standing pat on its position. The Senate passed the Davis bill providing jury commission appointed by the Circuit Judges and without a referendum, the vote being 18 to 0. Leavitt, of Mercer, and Barber, of Warren, were absent, and of course Acting Governor Fielder did not participate. By the vote of 8 to 16, the Senate had previously voted down the motion to substitute the Read bill for the Davis measure. Jury reform got no further.

The constitutional convention proposition went on the rocks in the same manner, each House having passed a measure, but the two branches refusing to agree on the question.

With the official clocks stopped at 11:55 o'clock, both Houses worked hard until the hour of sine die adjournment. Many bills were railroaded through in the Assembly, while the Senate did little in the way of passing of bills after 3 p. m. About the last bills passed were the appropriation measures.

Final adjournment came at the hour stated, when the Assemblymen marched to the Senate Chamber and Senate President Johnson, with a rap of his gavel, declared the session adjourned without day.

THE PERFORMANCE.

Two promises of the party were unkept when the Democratic Legislature adjourned at 1:04 o'clock this morning. They were for jury reform and for a constitutional convention, both of which were assured the people in the last campaign. But neither former Governor Wilson nor Governor Fielder are to be held responsible for this failure to keep faith with the voters. Neither are the progressive members of the law-making bod; to be accountable. The blame rests on the Democratic legislators under the domination of the Smith-Nugent faction, who violated party pledges for the avowed purpose of attempting to humiliate Woodrow Wilson. But the end is not yet, for Governor Fielder will issue a call within a few days for an extra session to begin on May 1, when a stubborn fight will be made to pass both these much desired reform measures.

The other platform pledges, however, were kept and among the measures passed were these:

Favoring the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people; Anti-trust laws (Seven Sisters bills) for corporation reform; The Fielder Grade Crossing bill; A full-crew bill for railroad trains; Hennessy bill for use of public school buildings as social centres and for political meetings; Bills for the benefit of the workingman; Acts to promote economy and efficiency in State government, and Tax reform bills.

Among the other important laws passed during the session were these: Ratifying the income tax; important automobile legislation giving more stringent regulation; increasing the salaries of the State judges; strengthening the State weights and measures department for the better protection of the people; strengthening the pure food laws; two or three bills strengthening the State labor department in its supervision of the factory conditions in the State, etc.

Two or three important liquor bills were introduced. These bills were the usual local option measure; a bill prohibiting brewers and distillers from owning or controlling saloons; the State Liquor Dealers' Association bill limiting saloons in each town to one to 500 inhabitants. The bill limiting the saloons to one to 500 inhabitants was the only one passed.

THE PANKHURST WOMAN.

Every believer in decency and order will rejoice in the punishment meted out to that common rowdy, Emaline Pankhurst, for the sentence of the English court to three years' imprisonment, ordinarily, should have the effect of putting a stop to the outrages committed in the name of "Voters for Women." The actions of this gang of women, under the leadership of Mrs. Pankhurst, have been most disgraceful and have been of a nature as only could be expected from barbarians. But it seems, however, that the imprisonment of the arch-fiend is not going to end the reign of terror, but that on the contrary the members of her band are conspiring to commit greater enormities; offenses that will stagger humanity. The outrages have continued long enough and England should use the iron hand. Every one of the rowdies should be incarcerated for they are enemies of society. They are worse than the hardened and coarse criminal for their environment and education has been such that they should be held to a greater degree of responsibility for their acts.

A GOOD LAW.

One of the best laws enacted by the Legislature is that aimed at the wearers of hat pins likely to injure others than those whose millinery they bedeck. Governor Fielder put his signature to the bill yesterday immediately after it had been passed and the measure is now effective. Fines of from $5 to $20 are provided for the wearing of hat pins liable to inflict "lacerations upon the flesh of another person." If tips or guards are affixed to the "dagger," the wearer is exempted from punishment. The complainant will receive by a provision of the act, one-half of the fine collected in any given case.

About a year ago, the Chamber of Commerce renewed the agitation for the consolidation of the city and borough, but the action of the North Plainfield Council in passing a resolution declaring in effect that that body considered it inadvisable to bring up the subject at that time suddenly ended the discussion. Possibly had the borough councilmen given their support to the movement North Plainfield would not be in its present predicament.

If Mr. McCombs will persist in his refusal to accept the French ambassadorship, we suppose the United States will have to make out the best way it can without him. Possibly there is some other man in the country who might really do as well as he would.

The Citizens Democracy was incorporated yesterday in New York, its purpose being to work for the adoption of the commission form of government for the metropolis. The organization advocates the initiative, referendum and recall.

The contributing editor for to-morrow's issue will be our esteemed fellow-townsman, United States Senator James E. Martine. He will give his impressions of Washington life.

The first sensible thing Huerta has done since usurping the Presidency of Mexico is his decision to retire in favor of another.

President Wilson is consulting the time-table of railroad service between Washington and Trenton.

AVOIDED ONE COLLISION BUT MADE ANOTHER

Driving his National touring car from its course south along Park avenue near Muhlenberg Hospital last night to avoid running into a horse and wagon coming in the opposite direction, Milton Mendel, of Holly Park, Park avenue, ran into an auto-truck belonging to the James McCreery Company, of New York. His machine was almost totally demolished. Both front wheels were smashed and torn from the axle. The hood was damaged beyond repair and the engine knocked from its connections and broken.

The damaged machine was thrown directly across the tracks of the Arlington trolley line running along Randolph road, and traffic at that point was blocked from the time of the accident at 10:30 o'clock until after midnight.

A. G. THORN CELEBRATES EIGHTY-FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Albert G. Thorn, of East Front street, the pioneer laundryman, who retired from business a few years ago, is today celebrating quietly the eighty-fourth anniversary of his birthday. He formerly lived on East Second street, his laundry being in the rear of his residence. For many years he was engaged in this business, later selling out to Horace Young.

Mr. Thorn has also achieved considerable success as a maker of violins, chiefly as pastime, and some of the instruments of his own make possess unusually sweet tones.

A Century of Liquor Drinking in PLAINFIELD by Oliver B. Leonard

(Fourth Instalment.)

The Common Councils of 1872-1873 and 1874 were all strictly anti-license men, at least a majority of them were not in favor of licensing the liquor saloons.

The Police Committee reported to their fellow Councilmen that twelve places were disposing of intoxicants without a license and mentioned them by name. They stated that about twenty other persons were in the same illegal business, whose names were at that time withheld.

The liquor element in the city was defiant and encouraged the rum-sellers in open rebellion to sell their accursed stuff without leave of a license. Vigorous efforts were put forth by the liquor drinking voters and their allies to turn the city election of December, 1874; in favor of a license Council for 1875. Exasperated by defeat in the Council chamber for three years they rallied their full force at the polls and won a disgraceful victory. This strong license Council and the one following in 1876 granted freely and unguardedly the numerous petitions, fifteen each year.

Aroused by the defiant action of the liquor sellers who had become excessively bold and aggressive from their two years' liberal license privileges, good men combined together for a restrictive Council of 1877. Their efforts were partially successful. The encroachments of the terrible traffic were somewhat checked. While the sale of liquor in saloons was prohibited, licenses were granted to the hotel bars.

Local legislation had not effected a reform in the drink habits of the frequenters of saloons. Their appetites were still unchecked and to appease their burning desires the score or more of unlicensed resorts were secretly maintained. Quietly and concealed the illicit business was conducted by them throughout the year. When another city election was held the bad element won again. The tactics of politicians, the machinations of the drinking classes and the coalitions formed by the saloon party proved too complicated to be overcome by the respectable and unsuspecting voters of good order and morality.

So rum became ruler in the Council of 1878 and its advocates have swayed the deadly sceptre uninterruptedly ever since. From that day to this each charter election has resulted in sending to the Common Council enough friends of the liquor traffic to grant most of the applications asked for. In Plainfield, as in scores of other cities the saloon has become a political power.

"It has more bars than God has altars, and more priests than God has preachers."

Advocates of "Reform Measures" in the Common Council justified from the first their action on account of financial shortages in the City Treasury which were embarrassing local affairs. They argued that without the necessary material aid of this authorized trade in poisoning drinks the municipal machinery would stop. Hence the needful pecuniary lubrication was obtained with blood money and the wheels of our city government were kept in motion by renewals of the rum privilege. The monetary aspects of the question have from that time to this had a powerful influence upon a great many property holders who pay taxes. Without the license fees in hand they believe that their tax bills would be heavier. Without the income from rum-selling privilege many thought the city would have less light in the streets—more mud on the roadways and no police protection. For this reason a great number of the citizens were not disturbed that the liquor traffic should assist in paying municipal expenses. They have been willing that an annual tax of any sum up to $1,000 per license should be levied upon the rum sales and they would vote for councilmen who were of the same mind.

It may be of interest to everybody to be informed of the total amount of money paid into our City Treasury for the liquor licenses, beginning with the fees received from the two or three taverns in 1869 (the birth year of our city charter) when the license was $70, down to the present hotel and saloon license of $1,000, the sum total receipts (1869-1913) have been $293,597.00. Adding the fees derived from liquor licenses for 1912 the grand total rises above $300,000.00.

FREE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON NATURE

A. R. Spaid Gives Last of Series Under Auspices of Board of Education.

"In Marsh, and Swamp and Hollow Tree," was the subject of an interesting lecture given by A. R. Spaid, of Delaware, at the Washington School, last night, it being the last of the series of free lectures during the past season under the auspices of the Board of Education, and incidentally it was one of the best. Mr. Spaid is an entertaining lecturer and he held the close attention of both old and young as he described his beautiful views.

Mr. Spaid prefaced his lecture with some wholesome advice to his audience in which he urged them to seek the country for rest and recreation, instead of spending their holidays in the crowded centres of the city in search of pleasure. They by the aid of a series of fine pictures he showed the almost unlimited attractions to be found in the country.

The speaker gave an instructive talk concerning bull-frogs, toads, tadpoles, musk-rats and squirrels, including the flying squirrel. Mr. Spaid in speaking of the musk-rat said that the trade in these animals now amounts to about a million dollars annually in this country, the skin being very valuable in the making of coats. He told of many interesting traits of the bull-frog and toad, the former being considered worth $18 a year as a destroyer of cut worms. He urged the children not the destroy the bull-frog when small, but to allow it to grow to full size, when it would be just more valuable.

The lecture also included a number of views of different kind of flowers to be found in the country, where nature is left undisturbed to work out its own peculiar plan.

Thousands of these Victorias are in daily service in all parts of the country and success has been stamped indelibly upon the machine. It is essentially the ideal "woman's car." Ease of operation because of its simplicity of construction makes it so. Its stability and strength gives it the long life for which it is known—makes it a car one is glad to own.

Its low cost of operation, its present low price, and the special payment offering, still further increase the desirability of this particular electric Victoria.

This in the Offering in Brief

Comparing These $3 Handbags with Those Priced Regularly $4, $5 and $7.50

we find that the $3 ones are their equal in quality of leather and neatness of workmanship, as well as in newness of style and daintiness of fitting. Many are direct copies of even more expensive bags.

A lucky turn of the wheel of fortune brings them to us at the $3 price from a maker who preferred money on hand to a small over-stock.

Whether a woman wants a charming pin seal bag to carry with her smartest costume—or a sturdy goat or matt seal, or goat walrus shopping bag—she will find it here. Pig skin and morocco bags, too.

In a nut-shell there are:

Black and fashionable colors.
German silver frames—gilt or gun-metal finish.
One, two fittings or more.
Some with triple frames—others single frames and many envelope shapes.

Picture Voiles, 25c Yard

So called because it will need no skill at all to transform them into real picture frocks.

Daintiest, prettiest fabrics imaginable. White grounds, flowered with tiny Jouy roses.

Hard to keep enough of them on hand (they are only 25c a yard and are 38 inches wide)—but a just-arrived shipment insures plenty for Saturday shoppers. Insures, too, greater variety of choice than ever before.

Dress Fabric Salons First floor, Old Building.

By Far the Prettiest Hats We Have Had at $10

Have you tried one of the new pokes to see whether it is a becoming shape?

There is a fascinating one ready for tomorrow. Old gold hemp with a quaint little peak directly in front and a drooping brim faced and edged with shirred black moire souple.

Around the crown is a wreath of small flowers now fashionable on the Riviera, rose, blue and violet with green leaves and wide bow of pale blue velvet ribbon directly in back.

Another poke faced with midnight blue velvet has a double quilling of corbeau blue moire ribbon, ending in a charming bow of many loops and ends at the back and an upstanding cluster of natural red roses—you can almost smell their fragrance.

One of the sailors in a new tan is draped with a bright blue ribbon ending with a wide tailored bow and a dull green dahlia at either side.

Then there is a poke with clusters of tiny rambler roses at each side and a facing of French blue taffeta besides many, many others all so new and fresh and summer-like they are a great pleasure to see and to wear. Black, gold, twine, taupe, navy, almost any color.

Second floor, Old Building.

Capture of Rich Ostrich Feathers

includes the very new shades most in demand—such as the mahogany used by Caroline Reboux, the bright blue which we can hardly keep in stock, the wonderful rose and pink shades, bright green, violet, orange, yellow, natural, white, black and others.

They are very soft with wide broad flues.

Priced $2.75, $4.25 and $7.25

according to their length (12 to 21 inches) and quality.

Ordinarily they sell for a third to half more than these prices, but the manufacturer co-operated to make this Saturday a very wonderful millinery day in the Wanamaker Store.

Main Aisle, Old Building.

HERE IS WHERE YOU GET SEED CORN FREE

For the purpose of introducing in Union county a higher grade of corn F. Warren Sumner, president of the Union County Poultry Association, announces that he will distribute to all who make request a sufficient amount of seed corn of Reid's improved yellow dent variety to plant a small patch for seed purposes. The seed is from the corn which took first prize at the Land and Irrigation Exposition in New York, as being the best corn grown in the United States. It is reported to have an average yield of 120 bushels per acre.

Several valuable cups will be offered at the next agricultural and poultry show to be held for the best five ears of this corn grown in the county. The county association has appropriated $25 to the western flood fund and it was turned over to the Board of Trade, Elizabeth, yesterday, to be sent west.

WILSON LEARNS PULSE OF SENATE ON FREE LIST

Washington, April 4.—When President Wilson taught school he discussed the proposition of "when an irresistible force meets an immovable body." Now he is experiencing a demonstration of it in his efforts to force free wool and free silver on the Senate. The President's labors with Senators of his own faith have not been prolific of results. He was told very frankly that free sugar and free wool would meet with stubborn resistance in the Senate and that the enactment of those policies would certainly lose the Democrats several States in the next election.

As the Democratic majority is none too robust at its best and as the administration expects to do business for several years to come this line of talk was language that the President could not understand. The President was advised at last night's meeting with Senators not to include free wool and free silver in the bill, but to let those articles carry duty and when the bill reaches the Senate the sense of that body could be tested on compromises. The House managers are giving the President free rein in his recommendations and accepting them with little protest since they know that in the end the struggle will be between the President and his Senate and they are willing for him to bear the brunt of it.

WILSON HEDGED ABOUT BY CONSPIRACY OF ENTERTAINERS

Throws Washington Clubs Into Panic by Declining Membership.

Executive Faces Siege of Those Offering Him Social Distinctions.

IT was not enough that Woodrow Wilson should get himself "in bad" with the haberdashers, real estate agents, butchers, bakers and candlestickmakers of Washington by upsetting the plans for an inaugural ball, out of which they expected, as usual, to reimburse themselves with liberal interest for their "contributions" to the expenses of the inaugural committee. The Washington teapot, hardly yet calm again after that disturbance, he throws it into even a greater tempest by declining honorary membership in the Chevy Chase Country club on the ground that public business will absorb his time largely, to the exclusion of "clubbiness." As a consequence the Columbia Country club, also at Chevy Chase, and the Washington Country club, across the river in Virginia, and the Metropolitan, Army and Navy and Cosmos clubs, the principal downtown clubs of Washington, were in a fine frenzy of perplexity as to whether to make the usual proffers of honorary membership.

There is hardly a literary or debating society in the District of Columbia which does not, as a matter of course, elect the president to honorary membership; his downsitting and his uprising are beset by formal "honors" of one kind or another; every organization of any consequence in its own eyes, from Key West to Cape Mendocino, sooner or later invites him to address the club or at least invests him with the degree of past exalted panjandrum.

Cannot Be Ordinary Person.

For a simple, unostentatious, red blooded man the greatest drawback about the presidency of the United States is the fact that from the moment of his election until his term of office expires, and usually long after that, he cannot be a mere human being, with the rights and immunities of an ordinary citizen. Wherever he goes he must be pursued by armed secret service guards, reporters and photographers. He cannot sit down in a club corner, stretch his legs and express opinions upon affairs of the day like other men—his every chance remark is quoted or misquoted on the street corners almost before he has completed it. His trivial likes and dislikes are known and commented upon; he cannot move hand or foot with the freedom that blesses his fellow men.

Some men like this sort of thing. Within the memory of men still living there have been presidents—one anyway—to whom publicity was the breath of life, who basked in the limelight as in the normal sun of day and took some pains to keep it turned on when other men slept; who counted that day lost whose low descending sun failed to find them upon the front pages of the evening papers and the early "bulldog" editions.

Job Is Weary One.

But to the average man, after the novelty wears off, the position of "first citizen of Washington," must get to be a weary business. And if he has come to the White House with any notion that he brings with him rights of privacy, tastes or personal opinions of his own or any of the other attributes that make life bearable for John Doe and Richard Roe, he soon finds his mistake. The curse falls likewise upon his family. The remarks attributed to Mrs. Wilson to the effect that a president's wife could dress on $1,000 a year, set all the Washington dinner tables a-buzzing.

Even the dressmaking of the president's wife and daughters is a public affair, and these alleged remarks—whether Mrs. Wilson really made them or not—will cause the gowns of the Wilson family to bear an inspection of microscopic intensity.

So, when you come to the question of club membership, it is in the same atmosphere. Mr. Wilson cannot choose the club—if any—to which he desires to belong and apply for membership like any other man; he must take it as a gift and in some sense an obligation or not at all, and this episode has shown that if he desires it not at all. It is taken more or less as an offense.

Mr. Wilson Knows Dangers.

There is a serious side to the question, and the consideration of it justifies the suspicion that Mr. Wilson has instinctively sensed, or had some pretty subtle information about the real situation in Washington, and the difficulty a president has at best in keeping himself free of embarrassing entanglements. A very plausible argument might be made against the president's accepting membership in any local organization in Washington.

One of the hard things about being president is that he can have few intimacies. For one thing, to be the intimate of the president, if the game is to be played "on the level," is to have the door of advancement shut upon you absolutely. Membership in a "tennis cabinet" has been at times in the past a peculiar qualification for promotion.

Before a new president has reached the third week of his incumbency he suspects the "how-d'ye-do" of every man who greets him in the street; from morning until night almost every person who comes near comes with a demand.

ENGLISH COLONY TO FOUND A UTOPIA IN COSTA RICA

To establish a real Utopia in Central America for the future homes of many Englishmen and their families, Walter T. Knight, a lawyer of Bacup, Lancashire, recently sailed for Port Limon.

This is the second trip that Mr. Knight has made to Costa Rica. Ten months ago, as the representative of the Simplicists' Society of England, an organization with a membership of 800, he went down to seek an ideal location for the colony.

"We have purchased sufficient land to accommodate 250 families," said Mr. Knight. "I am going back to make preliminary arrangements, and in June the advance guard of colonists, including carpenters, mechanics, doctors and others, will arrive. By Christmas we hope that 150 families will be settled."

Mr. Knight explained that while the new colony would be founded on the teachings of Dr. Theodore Hertzka of Vienna and that the doctor's ideas had been adopted by the Simplicists in their book of regulations, the colony would be limited to Englishmen.

Co-operation Is Plan.

"The main idea is co-operation, with the protection of idividual rights and liberty," Mr. Knight continued. "There will be no individual ownership of land. Farmers and workmen will own the product of their labor and will buy and sell among themselves in the currency of Costa Rica.

"Women may work for their living if they want to, and will thus be saved the necessity of marrying for a home and support. Cooking and housekeeping will be done by the community. All work places will be apart from the home section.

"Control of the colony will be divided into twelve departments. Education will rank first, and its object will be to instill respect for the rights of others. Interest charging will be illegal. No monopolies or combinations will be allowed. There will be no employers and no proprietors and no chance for idler's profit."

CHOPIN'S LAST PUPIL PLAYS.

Dr. Peru at Eighty-three Gives Concert to Save Goods From Sheriff.

The last surviving pupil of the great Chopin gave a concert recently in Paris to save his poor belongings from the sheriff. His name is Dr. Peru, and he is eighty-three years old. Sixty-five years ago he was one of the favorite pupils of the great composer.

The poor old man played fourteen pieces by Chopin as the master had taught them to him, and the audience was surprised and delighted with his beautiful performance. Eighty-three years old and his fingers as nimble as those of a girl of twenty.

Peru, despite his great age, is still making a scant living as a piano teacher in the workingmen's quarters.

FRAU KRUPP AIDS ARMY.

Owner of Armament Works to Pay $1,800,000 to Military Fund.

The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin printed recently a forecast which other newspapers regarded as based on official information of the extent of the levy on fortunes which is to go toward paying for the $250,000,000 increase of the army. According to this, the levy will be at rates ranging from $1 in $400 on fortunes between $5,000 and $50,000 to $1 in $25 on fortunes of $20,000,000 and over.

Frau Bertha Krupp, the owner of the vast armament and shipbuilding works at Essen and Kiel, will be required on this scale to contribute $1,800,000 as her share, as her fortune is about $45,000,000.

—A great deal of today's "Good luck" is going to attach itself to those who read and investigate Press want ads.

From the Regular and Exclusive GIMBEL Collection---
739 Young Women's $29.50 to $40 Suits
At $25

We have just reached the turning point! In other words, the time when we must dispose of all the broken-size suits that have accumulated thus far this season. The number of these suits is enormous—739—for we had more styles than ever before.

Every Suit Is in a Spring 1913 Model---Many Are Reproductions of Modes By Bernard, Paul Poiret, Drecoll and Bechoff-David

While there are suits of fine wool poplins, whipcords, Bedford cords, fancy worsteds, plain and striped eponges, French and men's wear serges, you must expect to find probably only one suit of a style or a size. Of course, of some there may be three, four or six suits. However, every young woman who wears a 14, 16 or 18 year size should be able to find just the suit that she wants, for there are scores of styles in this dispersal.

Young Women's Matelasse Coats, $20---Special

In light shades for evening wear; also in the fashionable dark colors for street wear; lined with peau de cygne. Illustrated.

Young Women's Crepe Meteor Dresses, $12.50---Special

Those with bodices of chiffon and shadow lace are quite dressy, while those that are trimmed with broche crepe might be called demi-dress styles. Sizes 6 to 14 years.

Young Girls' Coats, $10---Special

Brown, navy and black serge, with collar, revers and cuffs inset with moire in self or contrasting colors. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Illustrated.

Young Girls' Lingerie Dresses, $3.75---Special

These dainty dresses with skirts of eyelet and blind embroidery have long panel waists that are cluster-tucked and inset with Valenciennes lace; ribbon-run embroidery beading defines their waistlines. Sizes 6 to 14 years.

A Crowning Event!—New and Specialized $10 HATS

The latest creations of our own artist-milliners! And every hat possesses the same indescribable character that distinguishes our much more expensive hats in French Salon.

Although we illustrate one of the new styles in black Italian Lace Tagal, trimmed with high loops of rose-pink ribbon and garlands of roses and small flowers, there are many hats in the new poke-sailor styles, the new and artistic mushroom shapes, besides elongated hats and turbans in great number—trimmed with lovely flowers, modish feathers and gay colored silks.

Also several hundred hats at $6.75, $8.75, $12.75 and $14.75.

Young Girls' Dress Hats, $5, $6.75, $10 to $25

Jeanne Ipynx and Valentine About, the famous Paris modistes for the Younger Generation, contributed both hats and ideas for this collection of Milan, Tagal, Leghorn and lacy lingerie hats. As many of the hats from our own workroom are made of fine imported materials, and as they all possess the charm of simplicity, they quite rival those from Paris. These for girls of 6 to 15 years.

Now, Modish Women Desire Moire Coats—And Here They Are At $15, $25 and $29.50

When prices increase by leaps and bounds you can be very sure that a fabric is fashionable and is much in demand. This is just the moire situation today—and indications signify that the demand will be still greater and prices higher.

Our foresightedness—explains why tomorrow's prices of $15, $25 and $29.50 are possible. If we had misjudged the trend of Fashion, we would have had to suffer a loss, but as we were right, we are enabled to present these Moire Coats at the most extraordinary prices of the season.

The $15 Moire Coats are in a just-below-the-hip length model, with panel back and draped sides.

Those at $25 are copied from a Premet model that swathes the figure artistically about the hips.

The $29.50 Moire Coats are in a five-eighths length model, with exceptionally straight lines, as the back is shirred at about the knees—and finished with a large braided ornament.

All of these Moire Coats are lined throughout with a very good quality of peau de cygne in pretty colors.

Soft Black Satin Coats, $22.50

Conservative enough for afternoon wear and sufficiently dressy for evening. In a model with modified cutaway front and Mandarin sleeves. Lined with gold, violet, taupe or black peau de cygne.

New Steamer and Motoring Coats, $15 and $17.50

The imported Coats at $15 are of a fine black-and-white checked woolen in a double-breasted style—belt in back. The Tweed Coats at $15 and $17.50 seem quite foreign, as they are copies of imported models.

Fancy Collars Says Fashion

For some dresses and suits, and the daintiest of beige batiste collars enriched with blind embroidery—starting at 50c; with cuffs, $5.95.

New voile collars embroidered in black to give the shadow effect on white voile are $1.50.

Of course, more elaborately embroidered collars up to $5.65.

Guimpes with pleated bosoms and pretty flat collars at $1.95 to $3—are of chiffon, cloth, net, embroidered crepe de chine and voile.

Maline Ruffs, $2.50 and $4.95

Row after row of fine accordion pleated maline in two tones of violet, green or brown, also white-and-black, or all white or all black. Just around the neck length, $2.50; longer, $4.95.

P. H. S. GRADUATE NOW A CHAMPION

Ray Dutcher Won the Amateur Club Swinging Title Last Night.

Ray W. Dutcher, a Plainfield High School graduate and former resident of Dunellen, who is now taking a course in New York University, successfully defended his title as amateur club swinging champion in the all around gymnastic championships of the Metropolitan District conducted by the Amateur Athletic Union in the New York Turn Verein last night. Dutcher won the club swinging title in 1912 and the fact that he had to compete against every opponent who faced him at that time again last night besides a lot of new aspirants for the title makes his feat all the more meritorious. The former P. H. S. athlete captured first place in the event with 28½ points over J. L. McCloud, of the Newark Y. M. C. A., who came in for second honors. Dutcher represented the New York Athletic Club in the championships having been signed up by that organization after he coped the title in 1912.

During the past season Dutcher represented the New York University in the club swinging event in all of the college meets and was looked upon as a sure winner in the intercollegiate championships conducted at Princeton University last Saturday night. Much to the surprise of his followers, however, Dutcher fell down in his form shortly before the intercollegiates and was defeated by Haasis, of Rutgers.

The fact that Plainfield High School graduates are making such a creditable showing in gymnastic circles of late has rather surprised those interested in that institution's athletics, as this branch of athletics is one of the few that is not promoted to any great extent. Russell Miller won the intercollegiate title on the flying rings and was elected president of the intercollegiate gymnastic association and now Dutcher comes across with his second title. Neither of these youngsters displayed any remarkable ability in this sport while students at P. H. S. and their sudden appearance on college and athletic club teams was not looked for.

AMATEUR FOOTBALL.

New York, April 4.—A proposal to form a national organization to control the sport of amateur football, on the same lines that golf, tennis and other branches of sport and athletics are now controlled by governing bodies, will be considered and acted upon at a conference to be held in this city tomorrow. The conference has been called by the American Amateur Football Association, which now has a membership of more than 120 clubs from New York to Salt Lake City.

L. B. WANTS TO RENT PARK.

Long Branch, April 4.—An effort is being made to lease Ocean Park for the summer season. Several prospectors are here. The park cost the city $75,000, while the buildings cost originally as much more. The Ocean Construction Company, lessee of the park, has defaulted on its rental, the bonding company having been sued by the city to recover the $5,000 due on last year's lease.

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE CHAMPION GIANTS WATCHING PLAYERS IN PRACTICE STUNTS.

BIG JEFF TESREAU — H. N. HEMPSTEAD WATCHING GIANTS AT PRACTICE. — SNODGRASS AND SHAFER

Of all those interested in the Giants none is more so than H. N. Hempstead, the club's president.

In the accompanying photographs he is shown standing near McGraw, intently watching the batting practice. "Larry" Doyle has just finished pounding one out and "Christy" Mathewson is waiting for his turn.

Arthur Shafer and "Fred" Snodgrass, the "native sons," are also shown.

In the other picture "Jeff" Tesreau is revealed taking one of the few rests that he takes when trying to work himself into condition to do the big share expected of him in the rest of the club for a third successive National League pennant.

GEORGE ORTLIEB SIGNS CONTRACT

Proposed Westfield Manager Will Play on New England League Circuit.

Westfield baseball stock took another drop yesterday afternoon, George Ortlieb, who was to have managed the aggregation in the Central New Jersey league during the coming season, announced that he had returned his signed contract to Manager Louis P. Pieper, of the Lawrence (Mass.) team. Ortlieb, while a resident of Westfield, earned a deal of his baseball reputation as a member of local teams.

He played with the Plainfield baseball club and against it on a number of different occasions during the past few years and was a favorite with local baseball enthusiasts. "Germany" Ortlieb, as he was familiarly known, will have as his team mates on the Lawrence team, Albie Carlstrom, the former Plainfield shortstop; Frank Bruggy, the Bound Brook catcher, and Flick Luyster, the Elizabeth star, who is well-known in this vicinity as a ball player.

Ortlieb was with the Lawrence Club on two occasions. Two years ago he joined the club in the spring, and after showing a classy assortment of benders, injured his arm in some way and he was forced to quit the club. He returned last summer, but remained only a short while, again jumping the league. Ortlieb is in the best of trim this spring and he looks forward to a successful season on the hillock.

GAME AT HYDE OVAL.

North Plainfield High School will ring open the 1913 baseball season at Hyde Oval tomorrow afternoon with a game against the New Brunswick High School aggregation. This will also be the opener for the visiting team and a good game ought to be the issue. N. P. H. S. has been holding regular drills under the leadership of Captain Frank Dunning and are hopeful of scoring a decisive victory in their initial clash.

CALL SOUNDED FOR THE PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CANDIDATES

Manager Edward Mosher, of the Park Avenue Baptist baseball team, one of the contenders for the Sunday-school League title this season, has called a practice for tomorrow afternoon and wants all of his candidates to be on hand on the diamond at Grant avenue and West Front street promptly at 2:30 o'clock. About twenty men have signified their intention of trying for positions on the Park Avenue team which will be one of the strongest in the league and Mosher says that he expects some close races for the open positions.

Most of the veterans of last year have returned to the fold and there is an abundance of new material on hand. Among the new stars is a deaf and dumb catcher and first base man who have shown promise in preliminary practices. Another new man is Frederickson, who hails from Morristown. He is a shortstop and will make a strong bid for this berth.

SNYDER WANTS ALL HOPE CHAPEL CANDIDATES OUT

Hope Chapel baseball candidates will be given their first work out on the Hope Common diamond tomorrow afternoon under the leadership of Allen Snyder, who was recently elected to pilot the Sunday-school League champions in their second race for the title. Snyder wants every prospective candidate on hand as there are many applicants for positions on the nine and those trying for the open jobs will have to display real baseball in the preliminary practises.

Hope Chapel will have most of its last year's players but a number of new men have enlisted as aspirants for infield and outfield berths and Snyder will give everyone a thorough tryout tomorrow afternoon. It is planned to have a practise game with some local amateur team next Saturday afternoon and a team will have to be selected before that time.

MISS WAGNER WINS TWO TENNIS TITLES

Champion Scores Easy Victory for Singles—Hard Fight for Doubles.

Miss Marie Wagner achieved the unique distinction yesterday of winning two tennis championships in one day. On the floor courts of the Seventh Regiment Armory, New York city, Miss Wagner defeated Mrs. C. N. Beard in the final round for the singles indoor title in straight sets by the score of 6-1, 6-1, and within an hour after successfully defending her title, in partnership with Miss Clara Kuttroff, she added a second championship by defeating Miss F. May Fish and Miss A. Fish in the final round of the doubles, 10-8, 6-2.

That Miss Wagner would be successful in defending the title she has held for two years was foreshadowed by her clever racquet work in the preceding rounds, in which she outclassed her opponents and scored easy victories, but the doubles presented a different problem. The Misses Fish worked their way through the tournament in the most approved style, overcoming opposition with little apparent effort, and were considered worthy opponents to fight for the title. Miss Wagner, fortunately, was not required to use up her energy and stamina in annexing the singles championship, as Mrs. Beard did not develop the playing strength that marked her display against her opponents in the earlier rounds, and, as a result, the champion did not suffer from unusual expenditure of strength.

COMERCIALS AT PLAINS.

The Parish House baseball players, of Scotch Plains, will open their season tomorrow afternoon with a game on the Plains diamond against the Commercial aggregation, of this city, one of the 1912 Manufacturers' League teams. The Commercials have had several practises preceding the initial competitive game and are in fine fettle for the contest tomorrow.

RED SOX RELEASED ALBIE CARLSTROM

Former Plainfield Shortstop Was Trying for First Base on Boston Team.

Albie Carlstrom, the former Plainfield baseball team's shortstop, returned to his home in Elizabeth yesterday from the Red Sox camp at Hot Springs with heaps of praise for Jake Stahl. While Carlstrom has been released by the World's champions, Manager Stahl will keep a string on the youngster and he will probably be recalled by that aggregation next spring.

Carlstrom conferred with Manager Louis Pieper at Lawrence before returning to Elizabeth, and it was arranged that he will play first base for the New England League champions this summer. Manager Stahl and Scout Pat Donovan are both of the opinion that Albie will develop into a rattling first baseman, and he will be given every chance to deliver.

VICTORS GET MEDALS.

Seven members of the Plainfield High School basketball team, champions of the 1913 interscholastic league, were awarded their medals at the assembly exercises of the school this morning. Owing to a mistake on the part of the manufacturer, the medals were inscribed with the dates 1911-1912 instead of 1912-13 and will have to be returned to the makers to have the mistake rectified. Those who received the awards were Captain Edson Woodhull, Manager Arthur Grisley, John Heron, James Buckle, William Peacock, Monroe Good and Albert Brynarski.

P. H. S. OPENING GAME.

Parker Field will be the scene of Plainfield's first baseball game tomorrow afternoon, when the Plainfield High School baseball team lines up against the Camp Bowser aggregation. The latter team is composed largely of P. H. S. graduates and will no doubt put up a stiff fight against the schoolboy players. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

Y. W. C. A. EXHIBIT THE BIGGEST EVER

A Complete Program of Class Work to Be Presented at the Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

A mammoth gymnastic exhibition in which nearly fifty feminine athletes will participate, will be conducted in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tonight by the members of the Y. W. C. A. gym classes under the direction of Miss E. C. Wetherell, physical instructor. A complete program of calisthenics, folk dancing and recreative games has been arranged and the affair is expected to be the largest ever conducted under the auspices of the local association.

Rehearsals have been held in both the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. gymnasiums in preparation for the demonstration and a program has been compiled by Miss Wetherell to include the following numbers: "Grand March," by all classes; "Swedish Day's Order," by the Westfield class and Friday afternoon juniors; "Wand Drill," by the Monday evening class; recreative indoor games, "Cat and Rat," by the Tuesday afternoon juniors; "Three Deep," by the evening classes; "Center Ball," by the Friday afternoon juniors; "Tarentella," (an Italian street dance), by the Westfield class; "Club Swinging Exhibition," by the Tuesday evening class; singing games, "Carousel" and "I See You," by the Tuesday afternoon juniors; "Ace of Diamonds," (Swedish Folk Dance), "Asehbogan" (Hungary), by sixteen girls in costume; "Oxdansen," (a mock fight), by the Monday and Tuesday evening class; "Dumb Bell Drill," by the Friday afternoon juniors and the Westfield class; "Wild Bird," (Aesthetic dance), by the Tuesday evening class; "Bean Setting," (English Country dance), by the folk dancing class.

As a fitting climax for the evening's program a basketball game in which the girls of the Yellow and Blue membership campaign teams will take part has been arranged and this promises to be the feature event of the evening. Both quintets have a number of the best girl basketball players in this vicinity in their ranks and some good basketball will be the issue.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING.

First no hit game in history of game was played in Ionia, Mich., Aug. 17, 1876, between the St. Louis Reds and the Cass club of Detroit. Jim Galvin pitched for the Reds.

HAS COBB REACHED LIMIT?

Fans Wondering Whether Great Player Will Improve or Go Back.

Baseball fans are now asking, "Will Ty Cobb, the great Detroit outfielder, batter and base runner, duplicate his performances of former seasons?" They ask, "Has he reached his limit?" For the past five years Tyrus has played wonderful ball in all departments. No other pill tosser has pulled off as many sensational stunts in the field, at the bat or on the bases as the Tiger boy.

Last year he let up somewhat on the bag pilfering record line. His batting was as good if not better than the previous year. Now the question. Will he improve on it?

No doubt Ty is in a class by himself, but there is a limit to everything and everybody. Hughie Jennings says the "Georgia Peach" will improve over his previous performances. Now, we will have to wait until the season is well under way to see whether Ty has fallen off or not.

Y. M. A. A. FIRST GAME.

On the Center street diamond tomorrow afternoon the Young Men's Athletic Association baseball team will usher in its season's schedule with a game against the Putnam A. C. Vail and Howell will probably be in the points for the Y. M. A. A. nine.

BAMBERGER'S
"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"
MARKET, HALSEY & WASHINGTON STS.

Come With Us to "Woodland"

(Furniture, Fourth Floor).

We take pleasure in inviting you to while away the afternoon or morning in "WOODLAND"—the rustic pergola which we have erected upon the fourth floor of the new building. This wistaria-clad comfort retreat is constructed entirely of Old Hickory, rough-hewn from the forests. As you rest in one of the great arm chairs or rockers, or stroll through this shady lane, you will hear birds chanting sweet notes of spring. In imagination, you can hear the rippling brook as its waters dance over the smooth surfaced rocks. Stroll a little farther through the walk, and you enter a rustic summer house, while nearby is a playhouse for the tots, with its cute little chairs and rockers of old hickory. The attractiveness of "Woodland" appeals to you all the more when you realize that for a modest outlay a rustic retreat, even more inviting, may be erected in one's summer garden.

Old Hickory Furniture for Outdoor Use

In connection with this rustic display, we direct especial attention to the Old Hickory furniture on display. The line is complete. It represents the best in design, material and workmanship. We recommend it for outdoor and porch use. The wood is not marred by paint or stains, but remains in its natural state. The furniture has graceful lines, and carefully hand-woven seats and backs. However, the furniture is as durable as it is restful. Constant use will not weaken and exposure does not disfigure Old Hickory furniture. We are showing a complete line of Old Hickory arm chairs, rockers, settees, tables, tabourettes, swinging baskets, veranda boxes, play houses and summer houses.

Arm Chairs	$2.50 to $12.00	Tabourettes	$2.00 to $2.50
Settees at	$5.50 to $11.00	Play House 6x6 feet	$25.00
Tables at	$7.50 to $9.00	Summer House, 8x8 feet	$50.00

REED AND WILLOW FURNITURE—We are also showing an extensive line of domestic and imported willow and reed furniture in all the popular and prevailing finishes. Some upholstered in cretonne, leather or panne coverings. Prices very moderate.

COFFEE DESSERTS.

WHEN no other ingredient is at hand for making desserts very acceptable ones may be made with cold coffee, a few eggs and a little cream or milk.

Some recipes for coffee desserts are given here:

A Pleasing Sherbet.

Frozen Coffee.—Grind four heaping teaspoonfuls of coffee very fine, then put in a boiler and add a quart of freshly boiled water. Let it steep for a quarter of an hour and strain through muslin and add a half pound of sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Now turn the liquid into a freezer, add a tablespoonful of white of egg and freeze until it is as soft as mush. Then serve in sherbet cups.

Made With Gelatin.

Coffee Jelly.—Take two cupfuls of cold coffee, a half cupful of sugar, a cupful of boiling water, a tablespoonful of granulated gelatin, a half cupful of cold water and a cupful of whipped cream. Soak the gelatin for ten minutes in the cold water and then add it to the boiling water and sugar and stir until dissolved. Pour into a mold and set it in a cool place to get firm. Garnish and serve with whipped cream.

A Rich Cream.

Coffee Cream.—Take a cupful of strong coffee, a cupful of thin cream, three eggs, a half a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of cold water and a tablespoonful of gelatin. Scald the coffee and the cream in a double boiler. Soften the gelatin in cold water and add it to the hot cream. Add the beaten yolks of eggs and the sugar and cook two minutes. When cool add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and beat the combination in a dish set in very cold water till it begins to stiffen. Serve with whipped cream.

A Light Dessert.

Coffee Whip.—Take four tablespoonfuls each of flour and sugar, one-half teaspoonful salt, two cupfuls coffee, one-half teaspoonful vanilla extract, whites of two eggs. Mix the dry ingredients thoroughly, moisten with a little of the coffee, then add the rest of the coffee slowly, mixing all smooth. Cook all thick, stirring often. Remove from the stove, add flavoring and beat until spongy. Beat egg whites very stiff and stir lightly into mixture. Set away to cool.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

This little dress is charming alike for wee girls and boys. It is laid in box plaits that give long slender lines, and the belt can be adjusted under these plaits and passed through slits cut for the purpose.

Linen, pique, galatea and like materials are used for the dress when hard service is required and for dressy occasions thin materials. The collar and front edges may be hemmed or finished with an embroidered scallop.

CHILD'S BOX PLAITED DRESS.

Two and three-quarter yards of goods twenty-seven inches wide will be required for the four year size.

On dressy suits for boys carried out in washable materials hand embroidery plays a prominent part as an ornamentation on the large sailor collar, on the ends of the washable tie and often as chevrons on the sleeves. On a little boy's Russian blouse dress the big sailor collar was of Hamburg edging.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for children two, four and six years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7788, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

ETHEL ROOSEVELT BECAME BRIDE OF DR. RICHARD DERBY TODAY

MISS ETHEL CAROW ROOSEVELT.

New York, April 4.—St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, Oyster Bay, L. I., was filled with a gathering of distinguished guests today, when Miss Ethel Carow Roosevelt, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, became the bride of Dr. Richard Derby, of this city. The youth and beauty of the bride, the prominence of her father as an ex-President of the United States, and the presence of many guests of wide note combined to make the wedding the most notable affair of its kind that has taken place in this vicinity in a long time.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the rector of the church. The bridal attendants were the Misses Josephine Osborn, Margaret A. Tucker, Helen Coster and Cornelia Landon and Miss Derby, a relative of Dr. Derby. The groom was attended by his brother, Roger A. Derby, who acted as best man, and met the bride at the chancel steps. The ushers were Messrs. Archibald D. Roosevelt, brother of the bride; James L. Derby, a brother of the bridegroom; Dr. Henry James, John C. Waterbury and Edmund P. Rogers, of this city, and Nelson E. Bossert, of Boston, a classmate of Dr. Derby at college.

The bride was given away by her father, Colonel Roosevelt. She wore a French gown of white satin with long train and covered with point lace. Her veil was of old point lace and she carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

The program of orchestral music at the church was especially notable and was arranged by the bride herself. Miss Ernestine Herrill, of Boston, sang several songs, one of which told the story of Ruth and Naomi. The organ was supplemented by an orchestra under the leadership of Nahan Franko, of this city.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests were taken in carriages and automobiles to Sagamore Hill, the Roosevelt home, where a wedding breakfast was served and a large reception was held. The breakfast was served on small tables in the dining room. Clusters of roses adorned the centre of each table. The decorations of the bridal table were entirely of white. In the centre was a two-storied wedding cake.

Dr. Derby and his bride have engaged passage for Europe tomorrow. They plan to spend the greater part of the summer in travel on the Continent. Upon their return home next fall they will take up their residence in New York city.

Though she has not been so conspicuously in the public eye as her half-sister, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the bride of today naturally attracted much attention during Colonel Roosevelt's tenure of office as President of the United States. She made her formal bow to society at a brilliant reception at the White House in December, 1908, and since that time she has been conspicuous in the younger social sets in Washington and in New York. During the past four years the most of her time has been spent with her parents at Sagamore Hill. Like her father, she is an ardent devotee of outdoor sports and is an exceptionally good horsewoman. Those who know her best describe her as an excellent example of the American girl of the highest type, attractive in personal appearance, with a winsome spontaneity which is so evidently natural and ever magnetic.

Dr. Richard Derby, the bridegroom, is about thirty-two years of age. He graduated from Harvard in 1903 and is now a successful physician in this city. His father, the late Dr. Richard H. Derby, of this city, was a noted eye specialist, who graduated from Harvard back in '67, and whose death occurred on July 1, 1907, at his summer home at Dark Harbor, Me.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The star feature revival of Lester Wallack's drama, "Rosedale," which opens a four weeks' engagement at the Lyric Monday night, under the direction of William A. Brady, Ltd., brings back to the stage one of the most popular and most famous plays contributed by the earlier school of American playwrights. It has been fifty years since "Rosedale" was first presented to the theatregoers of this city but, despite the lapse of half a century, the drama is singularly modern, in both plot and construction. Wallack produced it in 1865, at the old Wallack theatre, situated at the corner of Broadway and Thirteenth, and its success at the time was immediate and substantial. Before the season closed, though it was presented only thrice weekly—the other nights being set apart for the playing of old comedies—it had been performed 125 times and always, as the records disclose, to capacity audiences. During this long run which, in those days, was looked upon as phenomenal—with little likelihood of the record ever being surpassed—the fame of the play spread throughout the country. Thousands of Union soldiers, passing through the city, saw "Rosedale" at Wallack's and carried back to their comrades glowing reports of the drama and of the players. As a result, when Wallack revived the drama in later years, it was greeted here and elsewhere by audiences eager to see it played. "Rosedale" was revived in 1865, in 1868, twice in 1871 and one more in 1877. New York witnessed the last important revival in 1894—nineteen years ago—and, since then, save for its performance by stock companies, the script of "Rosedale" lay unused and neglected until Mr. Brady, seeking a play for his annual star cast revival, determined to place the Wallack classic once more before the public.

TO SEE KING'S FLOWERS.

New York, April 4.—King George V. has entered exhibits at the third international flower show of the Society of the American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists, which will be opened at the Grand Central Palace tomorrow and continued through the coming week. It will be the first time that the product of the royal conservatories has been placed in competition outside of Great Britain. The exhibition promises to be the most notable of its kind ever held in this country. Prizes aggregating $20,000 in value will be distributed.

VERMONT WOMAN 101.

Corinth Vt. April 4.—Mrs. Sarah Robie Wilson, of this place, celebrated her 101st birthday anniversary today. The official records of the town show that Mrs. Wilson was born in Corinth, April 4, 1812, the daughter of Ichabod Robie. With the exception of one year, all of her life has been passed here. Mrs. Wilson has four children, 21 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Glen Medairy, of Somerset place, will speak on the "Signs of the Times" at the meeting of the Seventh-Day Adventists tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the W. C. T. U. rooms, Madison avenue.

Before ordering your coal---think on these things

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.

2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?

3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?

4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.

5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.

6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

BOARD OF HEALTH TO SWAT THE FLY

To Wage Campaign Against Insect Which Spreads Disease Germs.

The Board of Health at its April meeting last night decided to wage an active campaign during the coming season agaist the fly nuisance and a definite policy was adopted. The board desires to interest the public in this campaign and enlist the help of every householder. One of the best means of helping in this work it was suggested was that householders see that their premises are given a thorough cleaning and all refuse matter removed and the premises kept clear of any matter that would tend to breed flies.

During March a total of 29 cases of contagious disease were reported, made up as follows: Tuberculosis, 7; scarlet fever, 8; diphtheria, 1; chicken-pox, 5; measles, 8. JONATHAN CLAWSON, OCTOGENERIAN, DEAD

Pneumonia Fatal to Life Long Resident of North Plainfield.

Jonathan Clawson, aged 81 years, a life-long resident of North Plainfield, died at 7:15 o'clock, last night, at his home on Brook avenue, following a week's illness with pneumonia. Mr. Clawson was born in North Plainfield, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeptha Clawson. His mother before her marriage was Miss Rachel Wooden. The family is one of the oldest in this section of the State. Mr. Clawson always lived a quiet life. During his earlier days he was a successful farmer. He acquired a great deal of valuable real estate in both the city and borough.

Mr. Clawson was one of the oldest members of the First Baptist church, and up to the time of his illness was a regular attendant at services. His wife died about five years ago. There survives a daughter, Mrs. George H. Smith, a son, Albert Clawson, and a nephew, Daniel Clawson, who has been employed at the local postoffice for many years.

The funeral services will be held at the late home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will officiate. The burial will be private, at the convenience of the family.

RECEPTION ENJOYED BY COLORED PEOPLE

About Two Hundred Attend Event at the Washington School.

The weekly reception and dance for colored people given at the Washington School, last night, was attended by nearly two hundred people. The majority were young folks and in addition there were present many of the parents. The music for the dancing was furnished by an orchestra composed of violin, piano and drum provided by the colored people, and this was one of the features of the affair.

The colored people have become so enthusiastic over this form of entertainment and the efforts being made in their behalf that they have decided to form a permanent association, which will include a glee club, and athletics, as well as dancing. A petition has been presented to the Board of Education asking that the use of the gymnasium be allowed the colored people.

The chaperones for last night's affair were Mrs. W. H. P. Veysey, Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, Mrs. William M. Sandford and Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, and they were assisted by a committee from the colored people, of which Mrs. James F. Lawson is the chairman.

Recently, Mayor Percy H. Stewart appointed a committee comprising W. H. P. Veysey, G. Stuart Simons and H. W. Marshall to take up the question of opening the public schools for social and educational purposes, and being permitted to increase the committee, they have named twenty-one additional members. This committee will meet at the Plainfield Public Library Monday night to discuss plans for this work. Many valuable suggestions will be offered and a program will be decided upon for the consideration of the Board of Education.

AUTO BUS SCHEDULE IS IN EFFECT TODAY

A. S. Compton, of Johnston's drive, was the first paid passenger to take a ride on the initial trip of the auto bus this morning, between Plainfield and Stirling. This service has been inaugurated by the Plainfield Transit Company, which is now being organized. The first trip this morning was to Stirling, the bus leaving the Queen City Hotel at 7:30 o'clock. There were several passengers on this trip and on the return from Stirling about a dozen people were brought to Plainfield.

After the initial trip, the regular schedule was followed to South Plainfield and Stirling, and the bus was well filled going both ways. The success of the enterprise seems to be assured and the company believes that it will not be long before another passenger car will be required to handle the traffic.

MRS. ANNA POTTER.

Mrs. Anna Potter, colored, wife of the late John Webster Potter, died at her home on West Fourth street this morning. She is survived by one sister, Jeanette Peterson. Notice of the funeral services will be made later.

CITY JUDGE REVOKES CHAUFFEUR'S LICENSE

William Banks, Who Forfeits it, Was Arrested Saturday for Speeding.

City Judge DeMeza this morning revoked the chauffeur's license of William Banks, who was arrested last Saturday for speeding. This is the first that drastic action has been taken against violators of the auto speed laws, although on numerous instances a suspended sentence of a heavy fine and a jail term has been meted out by the local magistrate. The numerous offenses committed in the city, however, has prompted Judge DeMeza to deal severely with offenders of this law, in order to stop the practice which seriously endangers the lives of the men, women and children of the city.

On passing sentence Judge DeMeza said he regretted that he had to take this step, but that the drivers of motor vehicles in this city had become so neglectful of the law that he found it necessary to take immediate action to end the violations. "And you will not be the only one who will lose a license," said the court, "because I am through dealing leniently with repeated violators of the auto speed laws. The lives of the people frequenting the streets of Plainfield must be protected."

Banks was arrested on West Front street by Patrolman Sweeney. The same day William Willis was arrested for a similar offense.

THESE TWO SWINDLERS BOTH PLEAD NON VULT

Elizabeth, April 5.—Charles Pearson, of Newark, and Harry Gray, alias Gustave Fletcher, of Kearny, the pair of swindlers caught by the local police selling bogus admissions for a "basketball game and dance to take place Monday, April 7, in the Plainfield High School Auditorium," pleaded non vult before Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday, and will be sentenced Friday, April 11. Both have police records. When arrested they had fake police badges and other articles which aided them to work their various flim-flam games on the easily fooled public.

Among the victims of the swindlers in this city were Dudley Miller, Clarence Thorn, Jacob Kenter and a number of High School pupils.

S. S. SUPERINTENDENTS QUARTERLY SESSIONS

The quarterly meeting of the Sunday-school Superintendents' Association of Plainfield will be held Monday night, April 14, at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The address of the evening will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 o'clock, to which all superintendents, their associates, departmental teachers are invited. Those intending to be present are requested to notify Arthur M. Harris, chairman.

Isaac B. Burgess, the new State Sunday-school secretary, will address the meeting on "Self Culture and Professional Training for Sunday-school Teachers." The question of the Sunday-school parade will be decided and other important business considered.

FRANCES McGAULEY.

Besides his parents he leaves four sisters, the Misses Alice, Mary, Ellen and Catherine McGauley; and two brothers, James and John McGauley. The funeral services will be held at his home Monday at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Mary's Cemetery.

SOMERVILLE A. A. ANNUAL BANQUET

Fine Program of Speech Making Featured the Affair Held Last Night.

Somerville, April 5.—The Somerville Athletic Association held its ninth annual banquet at the Country Club house, last night, and over 100 were present. The chief speakers were Senator John D. Prince, of Passaic county, and Senor Don Manuel Gonzalez, Consul General of the Republic of Costa Rica to the United States.

Other speakers were former presidents of the club, Captain Albert E. Case, J. A. Flockhart, and S. Pudson Galpin, Prosecutor F. A. Pope and President William S. Woodruff, the latter acting as toastmaster of the evening.

The committee in charge of the dinner consisted of W. H. Cawley, Jr., P. C. Beardslee, W. W. Major, E. M. Lougee and A. H. Van Fleet.

AN UNCLE PLEADS FOR YOUNG BICYCLE THIEF

Elizabeth, April 5.—Joseph Andrews, of Providence R. I., the youth arrested in Plainfield several weeks ago after a chase and charged with stealing a bicycle, and who made an unsuccessful attempt to escape Sergeant Flynn while being "mugged" in a local photo studio, was arraigned for sentence yesterday in the Court of Special Sessions. Due to the interest of an uncle, who had interceded for him, the disposition of his case was postponed until Friday, April 11. In the meantime the authorities will investigate the validity of the letter received pleading in his behalf. The alleged uncle says he will "look after" his nephew and give him employment.

FUNERAL OF LITTLE GIRL.

The funeral of Mabel Lillian Armstrong, the four months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong, of East Sixth street, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of the parents. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, officiated and the interment was in Hillside cemetery. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends. A number of wreaths and bouquets were sent by friends of the family.

A BRIDGE PARTY.

Mrs. F. H. Martin, of Clinton avenue, entertained several friends at her home yesterday. Following the luncheon, which was served at noon, the afternoon was spent playing "auction bridge. Mrs. Walter F. Manning carried off first honors, while Mrs. Samuel Beekman was awarded the consolation trophy.

ANNUAL EXHIBIT OF Y. W. C. A. CLASSES

Sixth Public Demonstration Witnessed by Many Was a Great Success.

When the fifty-four feminine athletes chosen by Elizabeth C. Wetherell, physical director of the Plainfield Y. W. C. A., to take part in the annual gymnastic exhibition conducted by that institution at the Y. M. C. A., made their appearance last night, the association athletic floor and gallery were packed to its capacity. An excellent program of fancy dancing, dumb bell drills, club swinging and games was given without a hitch, the large number of participants taking their respective parts smoothly and in a way that reflected credit on the Y. W. C. A. physical department. A feature that made the affair doubly interesting came in the fact that the drills and calisthenic exercises used for the exhibition were none other than those which the girls have to go through at every meeting of the respective classes and just what has been accomplished during the past season by the local feminine physical department was displayed thoroughly last night.

The program opened with a grand march in which everyone of the fifty-four girls took part, completely filling the Y. M. C. A. floor. The rest of the program was as follows: "Swedish Day's Order," by the Friday afternoon juniors and the Westfield class; "Wand Drill," by the Monday evening class; recreative indoor game, "Cat and Rat," by the Tuesday afternoon juniors; "Centre Touch Ball," by the Friday afternoon juniors; "Three Deep," by the evening classes; "Tarentella," by the Westfield class; "Club Swinging," by the Tuesday evening class; "Singing Games," by the Tuesday afternoon juniors; "Carrousel," "Ace of Diamonds,' by the Friday afternoon juniors; "Oxdansen," by the Monday and Tuesday evening classes; "Dumb Bell Drill," by the Friday afternoon juniors; "The Wild Bird," by the Misses Clara Hallard, Ellen Doughty, Gertrude Mair and Marion Mair; "Bean Setting," by the folk dancing class.

Miss Wetherell led the class in club swinging, this event being one of the features of the evening, the class showing marked skill in this difficult branch of gymnastic work. The Swedish exercises were based on educational and hygienic principles, the aim being to quicken motor responses, correct faulty posture and induce general development. That these purposes have been sought and found was plainly evidenced in last night's exhibition by comparing a number of participants of last year's and this year's exhibition as to their previous and present developments.

An amusing part of the program was the "Oxdansen," a Swedish folk dance representing a fight between students of two rival universities. There is a salutation before the fight and various movements are gone through which represent the treading on toes, jostling elbows, boxing ears, pulling hair and wrestling.

Following the gymnastic exhibition a flashlight was taken of the girls who took part in the affair. A basketball game between the Yellow and Blue membership campaign teams resulted in a 28 to 17 victory for the Yellows, captained by Miss Marion Mair, the losers' leader being Miss Ellen Doughty. A full account of this game is given on the sporting page of this issue.

LAYING OUT TENNIS COURTS.

The young people of Grace M. E. church, the borough, are planning to enjoy tennis this summer. Several large courts are being laid out at the corner of Somerset street and Park place and will be ready for play soon.

Bronze Memorial for the Late Dr. William R. Richards.

Services of special interest will be held at the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock when there will be unveiled a memorial tablet to Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, who was pastor of the church for nearly twenty years. At the time of his death he was pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York city.

This tablet, made of bronze occupies a position to the right of the pulpit arch, corresponding to the one erected in memory of Rev. Dr. Bliss on the other side of the arch. It was made by Grover P. Hinman, of this city, and is very artistic.

At the unveiling there will be brief addresses by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, John Leal, of the Crescent Avenue church; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel; Rev. Frederic L. Greene, of Hope chapel, and Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel. There will also be special music by the church quartet.

PLAINFIELDER'S SISTER HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Willard Sutton, of 109 Liberty street, has received word of the thrilling escape from death by fire of his sister, Mrs. Oscar Geiger, of Hamilton, Ohio, who is coming to this city on a visit the latter part of next week. She was staying at a hotel in Nanticoke, Pa., with her husband and son, when in the dead of night a fire broke out which reduced the structure to ashes. They lost all their clothing and jewelry they had with them on the trip, and ran from the burning building with nothing but their night clothing.

Although Mrs. Geiger's home in Hamilton, Ohio, is in the vicinity of the flood district, their dwelling was situated on the side of the picturesque hills there, and fortunately was not affected by the devastation.

BISHOP SCARBOROUGH TO VISIT LOCAL PARISHES

Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will visit the local Episcopal parishes tomorrow to administer the rite of confirmation. He will first visit Grace church at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon he will be at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. He goes to Holy Cross church in the evening at 7:45 o'clock. In addition to confirming clases in each parish, Bishop Scarborough will also preach. During his stay in the city he will be entertained by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, and Rev. William S. McCoy, of Holy Cross church.

The band raised $125 during the year, in addition to contributing useful articles to both foreign ad home missions.

It being the rule of the band that no officers shall serve longer than two years, Mrs. Corra Ryno was succeeded as president by Miss Winifred Rapalje. BOROUGH PLANS TO CUT EXPENSE

As First Step, Mayor Appoints Members for Committee on Apportionment.

COUNCILMAN OBJECTS

Another Member Suggests That Action Be Deferred—Clark Says There's Got to Be a Paring Down.

The first steps to be taken by the North Plainfield Council to comply with the various suggestions made in the recent report of the committee that investigated the borough's financial condition and educational system, were taken last night when Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., following a discussion, appointed Edumnd Rushmore and Allan Cowperthwaite, members of the Board of School Estimate or Committee on Apportionment, to act in conjunction with the two members of the Board of Education, (to be selected) whose duty it shall be to make recommendations regarding the school budget and to consult regarding expenditures.

When Councilman Cowperthwaite offered a resolution to the effect that the suggestion of the finance committee in this respect be adopted, Councilman Stahl started a discussion by stating that in his opinion this committee was unnecessary. This statement was followed by one from Councilman Woolston who said this recommendation was the only practical one the finance committee had suggested.

Cowperthwaite then explained that the appointment of the committee was for the purpose of furthering harmony in borough affairs, and to consider budgets and bring them to a figure that the borough could afford to appropriate. Councilman Alexander Milne wanted the appointment of the two committeemen deferred until joint action could be taken by the Board of Education on the matter. Mayor Clark added "There has got to be a paring down," and continued urging that the Council take the initiative in appointing members of this committee.

The meeting came to a close when executive session was called but not until A. I. Smalley told the Council in no uncertain terms that they were not doing their duty in some things. He was referring to the failure of the Mayor and Council to prevent the erection of a sign board near his home. He claimed they could easily stop the practice of erecting obnoxious structures in the borough but always refused to do so until a big demonstration had been made or petitions had been presented.

"Over Precaution"

In one of the old English Histories there is a story of a humorous murderer who drank a glass of beer at the gallows and blew off the froth because he heard froth was unhealthy.

HERE AND THERE

Commenting editorially in his paper, the Somerville Unionist-Gazette, Charles H. Bateman, a member of the Somerville Board of Education, has this to say regarding the contributed editorial of Supervising Principal A. B. Vossler, of North Plainfield, in the Plainfield Daily Press a week ago:

"Supervising Principal A. B. Vossler, of the North Plainfield schools, thinks that our school system as viewed in the light of twentieth century progress is antiquated. From the knocks that seem to come from the inside there are others who think likewise. Yet it is the best that the educators of the country can devise. Never before has so much thought and money been put into the public school system in order to get the best possible for our children. There are still defects which should be corrected but we believe the system never was more effective than it is today. Mr. Vossler blames the colleges for dictating entrance requirements to the public schools, but until they are made a part of the public school system they are in no way subject to it.

"The great problem of public education today is the great expense involved. Parents are demanding higher standards in the curriculum and teachers of a more efficient type are necessary at an additional cost. Buildings with better ventilation and other appointments are demanded. All of these mean a greater efficiency but a much greater expense.

"The schools are going through an experimental period and out of all the discussion that is now going on there will doubtless be evolved a system that will turn out men and women of the highest type the world has ever seen."

DIG UP SKELETONS ON BEACH

Keansburg, April 5.—While at work filling in around the home of Paul Hunter, on Keansburg beach Forrest Ludlow unearthed two human skeletons that were buried in the sand at this place forty-six years ago. Excitement ran high in the village for some time during the afternoon, as many stories were circulated. Coroner Harry Fay, of Red Bank, issued a removal and burial permit, and the bones and clothes and articles that were buried with them were interred in the Keansburg cemetery. Captain Romert Seeley one of the oldest residents of this place, stated that he well remembered the burial, saying that he was a fisherman at that time, and found the bodies of two men on the beach and buried them, according to the custom of that time.

MAN'S PERIL ON BIG REEL.

Beverly, April 5.—Lifted from his feet by a swinging derrick hook which caught in his clothes, Thomas Stevenson was swung across a huge reel, on which he was wound like a human thread, at the Wall ropewalk. He clutched the reel to save himself and several strands of the winding rope bound him fast to the revolving spool. Around and around he was carried, his body each time passing under the iron bar that smooths the hawser into place, before his cries brought help. Stevenson was slowly strangling to death, when John McCloskey threw the reel out of gear. The rope had to be unwound to release Stevenson. He was badly hurt, but his doctor says he will recover.

CONGRESS CONVENES AT NOON ON MONDAY

Extra Session to Revise the Tariff—Complexion of the New Body.

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Many members of both houses of Congress arrived today and by late tomorrow night practically the complete strength of the Sixty-third Congress will be in the city. At noon Monday more than half a thousand senators and representatives will be assembled at the Capitol at the opening of the extraordinary session called by President Wilson to revise the tariff.

The political complexions of the two branches of Congress will be as follows: House—Democrats, 291; Republicans, 97; Progressive Republicans and Washington party men, 47. Senate—Democrats, 51; Republicans, 44; Progressives, 1.

For the first time in many years the Democrats will have a working majority in both branches. And for the first time there will be an organized third party in the House, a party numerically small, it is true, but one that is expected nevertheless to play a conspicuous part in the proceedings.

By reason of the change resulting from the election last November many new faces will be seen at both ends of the Capitol. Of the 291 Democrats in the House, 103 will be new members, untried and uninitiated into the ways of Congress. There will be 144 Republicans and Progressives, and of these fifty-five will be freshmen. Equal in proportion will be the changes in the Senate, where many veteran legislators will be missed.

The Capitol is spick and span in readiness for the session. In the short interval since the adjournment of the Sixty-second Congress a small army of employes has been at work repairing and refurnishing the two chambers and the host of committee rooms in the main building and the two immense office buildings. The most notable change, of course, has been the substitution of benches for the time-honored swivel chairs and desks in the House.

The opinion is gaining ground that the session will devote itself almost wholly to the tariff and that all other matters acted upon will be of minor importance. Of course, when Congress is once opened any measure may be brought forward by any member of either branch, but the success of enterprises not vouched for by the President and the leaders of his party would be very doubtful. Early action is desired by the Democrats in regards to the currency and other reforms, but with the main task of tariff revision likely to occupy the most of the summer it grows more and more apparent that other matters of importance will of necessity be left over until the regular session in December.

President Wilson and the leaders of his party agree that the work of revising the tariff must not be done in a hurry. They feel the great patriotic responsibility resting upon the Democratic party, aside from the political consequences of congressional action. They appreciate the fact that such action as may be taken in revising the tariff involves the prosperity of American manufactures amounting in value to more than $20,000,000,000 a year, and may affect the welfare of more than seven millions of wage earners.

Nothing will be done hastily therefore, but every step will be taken cautiously and with full consideration of the possible result. The aim of the men who are leading and directing the effort at tariff reduction is to secure the passage of an act that wil stand the test of years and not disturb business.

When Congress assembles no time will be lost in taking up the real work of the session. In the Senate the routine program will be followed Monday. Vice President Marshall will call the body to order, and the President's proclamation calling the session will be read. A committee will be appointed to call upon the President and inform him that the Senate is in session, and another committee will similarly advise the House. Unless some Senator desires to talk upon a privileged matter, the only business of the Senate will be the opening formalities.

The House will of necessity take longer in getting its business under way. But the most of the preliminary business will be agreed upon in caucus so that no time will be lost after the session convenes. The Ways and Means Committee, acting as the committee on committees, has prepared a slate of committee appointments to be presented to the caucus. The plan is to organize only the committees necessary to conduct the organization business of the House—Rules, Accounts, Mileage and Enrolled Bills.

RECEPTION FOR MISS MEYER.

Suffern, of Sycamore avenue, the borough, gave a reception at her home yesterday afternoon for Miss Dorothy Meyer, of Jersey City, who will be married on Wednesday, April 30, to Edward C. HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or huts. Some people can make a hall bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent—a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers. their agent because it reaches the kind of people They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

IMPRESSIONS AT WASHINGTON.

As you may imagine I have been overrun with applicants for places, both men and women. It is sad to see many of them, for they have hung around hoping to be placed for weeks. It would be kindness for me to chop them off at once, but you know how hard it would be for me to do that. They want me to accompany them to see and introduce them to President Wilson, or to Secretary Bryan, or to McAdoo, as they feel confident that an interview would do the trick. Of course this I cannot do, for I often have twenty-five each day. Every man or woman who comes, has of course, been either born or has lived in New Jersey. I cannot understand how our little State held them all. But the climax was reached yesterday when a distinguished looking gentleman from Kentucky dropped in. He had been here a few times before, his claim on me being that his daughter had married and lived in New Jersey. When I told him that the position he sought had already been filled, he let loose, with "What's the use of being a Democrat, anyway? I know more about that department in one day, than the fellow he appointed has learned in his whole life," etc., etc. When I ventured to remind him that the man appointed was also a good Democrat, he responded, "what's the use of such argument; how the dickens does that help my case?" Of course this was unanswerable.

As you know we will be in Extra Session on Monday. The Senate Chamber is undergoing a cleaning and polishing, while the House has been considerably changed during the past three weeks. The old desks and chairs have been removed and benches substituted, after the English plan. They look handsome, but I doubt whether the plan will be popular. I cannot see how I could get along without a desk.

Heaven speed the move for a Commission Government for Plainfield. We have practically that plan here. Two Commissioners are appointed by the President and one, an Engineer, appointed by the War Department. The result is that we have a well governed city. The population is upwards of 380,000 — about 90,000 being colored. Property valuations are established at about a three-quarter rate, taxes being not over $1.50 per hundred. As a member of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee my designation has brought me much in contact with local matters here at the Capitol.

I have spoken twice at banquets of the Board of Trade, a number of times at other local functions, at "The Business Men's Club," "The Six O'clock Club," "The Oldest Inhabitants," and tonight I am invited to speak at the "Washington Chapter of Bankers," and so on. These functions are quite a test on wind and digestion.

One could not desire a more delightful constituency than that which makes up Washington. The Southern element is largely in control of the business and mercantile interests here. The banking buildings are very fine as are also many of the stores that line the business thoroughfares like F, G and also Fourteenth streets. The social end of life at the Capitol is most delightful, teas, receptions and dinners taking up a majority of the evenings each week. Even Sundays are not exempt. Many of these social functions are most lavish and in homes that are veritable palaces; though many are modest, both in homes and display, and yet most charming. The grace of the southern hostess and the splendid traits of the men are most captivating.

The life of the army officers and their families at the barracks is a most pleasant feature, for they are great entertainers, though modest and dignified. The great Naval Academy, at Annapolis, though about thirty miles distant is a source of much interest and a place of beauty. Situated on a splendid water front, laid out in parks, with fine old trees, dotted with great granite buildings, the place makes a most enticing picture. A glorious chapel with a dome of glazed terra cotta, glistening in the sun light and with rich bronze doors, is surely an impressive sight, while Bancroft Hall, the dormitories and mess hall, reading rooms, relics of naval commanders, etc., etc., will occupy your attention for hours, as will also the great armory, and the academy building, built of granite, and on lines of richness and permanency. But what a sight is yet to come; 780 superb specimens of young men, clad in well fitting suits (jackets) of black, with brass buttons, polished shoes, filing in line and, at command, marching like a machine. It was to me most attractive. In the Senate I have been instrumental in presenting and passing some legislation, that has been most pleasing to the commandant and professors at this Academy, and as a result I was handsomely entertained. Notwithstanding all this wonderful pomp and display, upon reflection, the whole thing rasped upon me. The thought ever came up within me, "What does all our boasted intelligence and civilization amount to, if we must train and educate these young men, the very flower of our manhood, to kill and slaughter their fellowmen?" Alas! Alas! The only answer that comes back is that the millenium has not yet come.

The quaint old city of Annapolis is full of interest. The fine old State House, the bricks of which were brought from England, supports a most symmetrical dome. The truss construction holding the dome, is a marvel of engineering skill. It would be a credit today, to any engineer. The whole is put together without nail or spike, being held by dove-tail and tenon and mortise construction. The State House is situated on a beautiful knoll, with the streets of the city radiating out like spokes to a wheel.

Old St. John's College is located here. In the ample grounds surrounding the college, is found "Old Liberty Tree," a tulip, about ten feet in diameter, estimated to be over 600 years old. Under this tree was made a treaty, with the Susquehanock Indians, in 1652. Washington visited Old Liberty Tree in 1791, while Lafayette visited the same in 1820. A bronze tablet has been let in the trunk, reciting the above history. I had no thought of writing so much, but forgive me and I will not soon trouble you again.

A Century of Liquor Drinking in PLAINFIELD

by Oliver B. Leonard

(Last Instalment.)

Consider the other side of the liquor account, does it pay?

What the saloons cost the city is of vital importance. It would be of startling interest to know exactly what the yearly drink bill of Plainfield really amounted to. There are estimated to be in this place over 2,000 standard saloon supporters who daily frequent these legalized resorts. Taking the reliable average of liquor drank per capita the quantity consumed in a year would fill up and overflow the Water Company's standpipe, which has a capacity of more than 500,000 gallons. The liquor bill for these regulars totals many hundred thousand dollars including heavy costs to the city for court expenses.

The saloon is not only a costly enemy to the drinker, a great expense to the county. It is a foe to the State whose duty is to protect its citizens, it is an enemy to the family and all its sacred influences, it is a deadly antagonist to the church building up a wall between the soul and its saviour, a veritable Gibralter of evil, endangering a bitter hatred for things pure and of good report.

The saloon draws into its services an immense army of drinkers, draymen, clerks, hackmen, mechanics and laborers of all classes and many respectable citizens unwilling to incur the hostility of the saloonkeeper. The liquor license question has dominated the majority of our lawmakers for more than a generation past. The wicked practice has been fastened upon our community by the power of the saloon. Its influence has manifested itself by unscrupulous combinations, artful dodges and in not a few cases by bribery at the polls.

These liquor applicants continue the nefarious business from year to year notwithstanding the license fee has been advanced from a meagre sum at first to the present high license of $1,000.

The infallible logic of the liquor traffic in Plainfield with high license in force is this: the business is so lucrative that there is enough profit in it to pay the fee and pocket big dividends. Furthermore there are enough consumers in the city who have craving appetites for drink and are willing to pay the price.

These high licensed monopolies have in no degree dimnished the quantity of liquor drank, nor in any sense suppressed the terrible consequences of intemperance. But rather all the more firmly has the system fastened the drink habit upon the victims and perpetuated the evil among the people.

BORO COUNCIL GETS SEVERAL PETITIONS

Some Minor Improvements Sought in Various Parts of North Plainfield.

There was a batch of petitions for various minor improvements presented at the meeting of the North Plainfield Council last night, despite recommendations of economy made recently by the borough finance committee.

A written request for more street lights in the vicinity of Verdon street and Summit avenue was sent in, signed by A. B. Utzinger, and others, although the special finance committee in its report recommended that the cost of street lighting in the borough be reduced considerably. Duer street residents above Greenbrook road asked that people be made to renumber their houses and that the Council notify them of this effect and assign the respective numbers to each dwelling.

Citizens living in Maple avenue presented a petition asking that more fire hydrants be installed in their neighborhood, giving various reasons that prompted their request. Sidewalks in Jefferson avenue to Walnut street were requested by the people of that vicinity and the macadamizing of Watchung avenue from Codington avenue to Johnson's drive, a distance of about a half mile, was urged in another petition.

In other petitions the installation of a street light at the intersection of Codington and Watchung avenues was urged and a cross-walk on the southwest side of Codington avenue across Watchung avenue was requested in another. Fred Becker, overseer of the poor, was granted an appropriation of $150 to pay the current expenses of his department. A report was received from Borough Recorder Gano stating that during the month of March sixteen arrests had been made and $15 in fines had been collected.

Alexander Milne, chairman of the street committee, reported that $436 had been spent during March, $116.84 of which was expended in the improvements made to West End avenue. Other committees reported that $440.11 had been spent on street lighting and street lamps and the fire committeeman, Councilman Stahl, reported that $291.66 had been spent in that department.

The following building permits were granted: Jackson avenue, one family frame dwelling two stories high, owner Mrs. L. J. McNabb. Watchung avenue, 529, story frame addition, owner Emedico Ciocco. Grandview avenue, one frame chicken house, owner Frank B. Pope. 74 Jackson avenue, fire tapper, to be removed from 157 Duer street, owner N. Y. Telephone Co.

Thirty tons of coal were ordered purchased for the borough fire house, same not to exceed in price $165, and the Plainfield Union Water Co. will be ordered to install two water hydrants in Maple avenue at a cost of $15. In response to a petition sent in several weeks ago, one light was ordered installed at Manning and East Belmont avenues.

MAY RECOUNT ROSELLE VOTE.

Trenton, April 5.—William A. Bembridge, William L. Hale and J. Wallace Higgins have filed a petition with Commissioner Kendall asking for a recount of the vote in the election of three school trustees in the borough of Roselle. In the election held March 18 the petitioners were candidates, as were Philip Miller, William A. Brown and Gaius Tipping. The returns showed that Bembridge, Hale and Miller were elected. The petition alleges that the tally of the election did not agree, that persons not qualified were permitted to vote and that a number of the ballots were improperly counted for Miller. The record gives Miller 225 votes and Higgins 211, but the petitioners say a number of ballots marked Miller and Brown were wrongfully given to Miller. Commissioner Kendall reserved decision.

AMERICAN PILGRIMS IN ROME.

Rome, April 5.—The first of half a dozen large parties of American pilgrims who are to visit Rome for the celebration of the sixteenth centenary of the Peace of Constantine has arrived in the Eternal City and others are expected during the coming week, which will be one of the most notable of the three months' celebration. The chief feature of the week will be the solemn octave in the Pope's cathedral church, St. John Lateran. Each evening some visiting bishop will preach. Among the noted American prelates listed among the preachers are Archbishop Glennon, of St. Louis and Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, both of whom are expected to arrive here shortly.

CELEBRATION OF "APPLE DAY."

Spokane, Wash., April 5.—Reports received by the Chamber of Commerce of this city indicate a wide observance of "Apple Day" throughout the State of Washington today. The celebration has been made an annual fixture as a means of calling public attention to the greatest of orchard products in the Pacific Northwest. Through the activities of the commercial clubs hotels and dining cars featured the apple on their menus today, while the "king of fruits" in the form of apple sauce, apple pies or baked apples, graced the dining tables in practically every home in the State.

GREAT NORTHERN'S PROJECT.

Wenatchee, Wash., April 5.—Actual construction work was started today on the Chelan River power plant; the central feature in the colossal plans of the Great Northern Railway to electrify its lines throughout this section of the Northwest. The project calls for the construction of a dam which is expected to be one of the engineering wonders of America. The cost of the entire power-plant will be close to $10,000,000. It will develop about 100,000 horsepower. This will be sufficient to electrify not only the up-river branch of the Great Northern, but all of its main lines east of the Cascades to Spokane.

SHE TRIED TO KEEP THEM FROM FATHER

Woman With Whom Wife had Placed Children Causes Arrest of Father.

Because he took his two children from the home of Mrs. Dawson, of 48 Craig place, late yesterday afternoon, MacDonald Mason was apprehended at the railroad station in this city last night by Patrolman Kelly when he was taking the children to his home in New York city. The police made the arrest in response to a 'phone call from Mrs. Dawson and she appeared at headquarters to press the charge against him.

According to Mrs. Dawson the children were left in her custody by Mason's wife, who, until recently, lived directly opposite her on Craig place. Mrs. Mason has been an invalid for more than a year and when she was forced to undergo an operation in a New York hospital last Thursday she turned the children over to Mrs. Dawson. Mason and his wife have been separated for nearly a year and his wife's lawyer in New York allowed him to see the children but once a week and these visits were usually made on Sundays.

When Mason turned up at the Dawson home last night she saw he was to take the children from the front lawn of her home and he said that he was going to take the children for a walk around the block.

Mrs. Dawson 'phoned to police headquarters and Mason's arrest followed but no charge was made against him and he was advised to seek legal advice in the matter, the children being this morning turned over to the former custodian. Mason retained Robert Newton Crane to represent him and together with Mason's father, the three conferred with Mrs. Dawson and her attorney, Martin Stutsman, and it was finally agreed to turn the two children over to Mason, who left immediately for New York.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, April 5.—Another wave of reform has struck and completely engulfed New York city and nowhere is it more keenly felt than in the Tenderloin district. By order of the Mayor the licenses which permitted a large number of places where liquor is sold, to keep open all night, have been revoked and the police have received strict orders to see to it that all such places be closed upon the stroke of one in the morning. Just what prompted the Mayor to issue this order is not known, but it is believed that he was driven to it by the numerous complaints he received concerning the vile character of certain cabaret shows. He came to the conclusion that the only way he could stop these performances without showing partiality was to treat all alike and compel all drinking places to close at one in the morning.

The case of Henry J. Klotz, who was arrested a few days ago upon the charge of having killed a woman, known in the Tenderloin district as Helen Taylor, by means of a bomb which he sent to her apartment on February 3, 1912, presents an interesting psychological problem. It seems to be another case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Klotz is a draughtsman and for seventeen years he has held a position in the Topographical Bureau of the city, enjoying the absolute confidence of his superiors and friends. He was a skillful worker and faithful in attending to his duties. An investigation by the detectives is said to have established the fact that this side of Klotz's nature formed a strong contrast with the individuality he presented outside of office hours. After leaving the office Klotz was in the habit of returning to his father's home in the Bronx. There he secluded himself in an electrically guarded room, where he spent his time manufacturing bombs and infernal machines, or he slipped out of the house unseen, to drink and carouse with the dissolute women of the White Light district. There he was known as "Crazy Henry" and had a large circle of acquaintances among the men and women of the under-world.

While at work in his well guarded room about a week ago a bomb with which he was experimenting, exploded and Klotz was seriously injured. He was taken to the Fordham Hospital and the police began to investigate the cause of the accident. The detectives found certain evidence which made them suspect that Klotz had been responsible not only for the explosion which killed Helen Taylor, but for a number of other bomb explosions which resulted in the death or injury of several persons. Klotz died after an operation in the hospital.

Justice Jaycox, of the Queens County Supreme Court, evidently thinks that there is a great deal in a name. The other day an organization recently formed in Long Island City under the name of "Silent Twelve," applied for incorporation. The articles of the organization stated that it was intended to promote social intercourse and entertainment for its members. Justice Jaycox refused to grant the application upon the ground that the name of the organization "indicated some necessity for secrecy in the carrying out of its aims for promoting social intercourse and providing its members with entertainment."

4,000 YALE MEN GIVE A ROUSING WELCOME TO PROFESSOR WILLIAM H. TAFT

P. C. HARPER LEADING COLLEGIANS IN A YALE SONG IN HONOR OF PROFESSOR TAFT.

Great was the welcome accorded to Professor William Howard Taft by four thousand sons of Old Eli when he stepped from the train on his arrival at New Haven, Conn., to begin his new duties. Not in the memory of aged persons who have seen much of what Yale men can do when they admire somebody has there been a like welcome in the Connecticut town—no, not even to the President of the country.

MISS ZELIE EMERSON, IN JAIL FOR HER EFFORTS TO PROMOTE WOMAN SUFFRAGE, IS A GREAT WORKER

MISS ZELIE PASSAVANT EMERSON AS A SCRUB WOMAN.

MISS EMERSON IN EVENING GOWN.

Little more than a year ago Miss Zelie Passavant Emerson was scrubbing floors, washing dishes, clerking in a department store and doing other hard work in Chicago. She went there from Jackson, Mich., in order to gain experience of the daily life of working girls and fit herself to serve the cause of woman suffrage. She was prominent in society in her own town and is said to have an income of $10,000 a year.

Her mother was the daughter of Dr. William Alfred Passavant, founder of the Passavant hospitals, in Chicago, Pittsburg and Milwaukee. Her father was Mr. Charles H. Emerson, who was in the oil refining business in Pittsburg and Cleveland.

Miss Emerson is now serving a term of imprisonment in Holloway Jail, London, for her tragic efforts to promote woman suffrage.

FARCEL POST SCALES IN COUNTY ARE FAULTY

Superintendent Augustus M. Schwartz, of the Union County Department of Weights and Measures, who made his first round of inspection of the various parcel post stations throughout the county, yesterday, discovered many defective parcel post scales and commercial weighting instruments. The inspection included a majority of the towns and cities outside of Elizabeth, the latter place being under the supervision of William J. Bender.

It is said that in nearly every office visited some defect was discovered, and instructions were left to have the same remedied.

ALLIED BALKANS ACCEPT PEACE PACT PROVISIONALLY

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Sofia, April 5.—The Bulgarian Government today handed to the diplomatic representatives of the European Powers its reply to the communication made to it on March 22, concerning the suggested basis of peace between Turkey and the Balkan Allies. The reply, which was that of all the Allied Balkan nations, accepts the conditions of mediation proposed by the European Powers subject, however, to reservations which practically negotiate the proposed terms.

Cettinje, Montenegro, April 5.—The blockade of the Montenegrin seaport of Antivari was definitely established today when eight foreign warships representing the European Powers formed a semi circle bar before the harbor.

A COLLISION.

The South Plainfield auto bus en route for that town shortly after 6 o'clock last night struck a Fourth street trolley car which was going east. The collision occurred at the intersection of Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street. Although both the bus and trolley car were crowded with passengers, the only person affected by the accident was William Jaeger, a fireman, stationed at the West End fire house. He was standing on the rear platform of the trolley car and the impact dazed him. Harry Casey and Frank Bird, motorman and conductor respectively, composed the trolley car crew. Dr. Runyon was driving the auto bus. The damage was slight.

FRIENDS ENTERTAINED.

The Young Friends' Association was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hutchinson on Westervelt avenue, last night, when a literary program was enjoyed. IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

HOT CROSS BUNS.

FOR Good Friday make hot cross buns. You can buy them at the baker's, to be sure, but the home-made bun is generally nicer, as the housewife does not spare the quantity of eggs or milk.

If an inexpensive sponge for buns is desired the following recipe will supply it:

These Are Economical.

Cheap Hot Cross Buns.—Take a cupful of scalded milk, two cupfuls of flour, one egg, a tablespoonful of sugar, a saltspoonful of salt, a quarter of a cupful of yeast. Beat the sponge well at night, and in the morning add flour to make it stiff. Then knead for a quarter of an hour. Put in a warm place and let it rise until it is light. Then add half a cupful of currants, a quarter cupful of melted butter, a saltspoonful of cinnamon and let the mixture again rise until light. Then shape into cakes, make a deep cut like a cross on the top of each and bake in a moderate oven. Glaze with sugar and milk.

May Be Quickly Made.

Quick Hot Cross Buns.—For this take one quart of flour, one-half cupful of shortening, one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of nutmeg and one-half cupful of yeast. Mix flour, sugar, spices and shortening together; add the yeast and milk and set in a warm place to rise. When light mix again and add a little more flour if needed. Let rise again for an hour and make into buns. Mark the top of each cake with a cross before putting into the oven. Bake in a hot oven.

A British Recipe.

English Hot Cross Buns.—Warm six cupfuls of flour and mix with it four ounces of moist sugar. Scoop out a hole in the middle of the flour and pour into it a quarter of a teacupful of yeast. Over this pour a gill of warm milk. Stir about a third of the flour into it, set the pan in a warm place and let it rise for an hour. Then mix in a quarter of a pound of melted butter. Add currants and spice to suit the taste and enough warm milk to mix the rest of the flour and sugar into the dough. This should be rather softer than bread dough. Let it rise until light and then shape into buns and mark the top with crosses. Put on buttered pans and when well risen bake in a hot oven.

Anna Thompson.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The fancy blouse made with front closing is an innovation of the season. This one includes a full chemisette that is most attractive, and it may be made with a high or a round neck and with long or short sleeves.

The double collar is handsome and allows effective use of two materials, but the under one can be omitted if a simpler effect is desired.

The fitted lining can be of the lightest, thinnest silk when a cool gown is desired, but even in the thinnest material it serves to support the chemisette and to keep the various portions in place.

For the medium size the waist will require three yards of twenty-seven inch material, with a half yard of same width goods for the under collar, another half yard for the chemisette, one quarter yard of banding two and a half inches wide and one-half yard of all over lace for yoke and stock collar.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7755, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

SOME FASHION HINTS FROM METROPOLIS

New York, April 5.—The prevailing style of afternoon gowns, with its infinite variety of materials and combinations enables designers to give full sway to their taste and ingenuity. Charmeuse and serge, charmeuse brocade and chiffon, taffeta, crepe and embroidered chiffon are combined on the same gown. The tight fitting lower skirt may be of shepherd's plaid serge with a draped top of black charmeuse, or a crepe foundation may have an overdrapery of printed silk, and sleeves of chiffon or charmeuse in an entirely different color.

Premet taffeta, a soft, changeable silk printed in tiny flowers, has superseded the foulard, which has been the popular spring material for many seasons past. The printed and embroidered chiffons are excellent choice. The designs are large and the colorings bright. Cabbage roses are outlined in black, and are seen on tan or old blue marquisette, chiffon and silk crepe. Crepe de Chine and crepons are printed, and many of them show a rough finish. Callot has introduced a plaid chiffon in pastel tones. An iridescent moire taffeta plays a conspicuous part in the materials for the afternoon models.

Bodices are transparent in many instances all white. Blouse and bolero are both good style and their effect is youthful. Frequently waist and sleeve are one. The kimono sleeve and dropped shoulder seam is still much used, also the bishop sleeve shirred in tightly at the wrist with frills of lace or tulle at the end.

Balkan buttons are a novelty. They are large and jeweled to match the costume. Collars resembling the Elizabethan ruff are new. They are high at the back and roll into revers in the front. All of the afternoon or theatre gowns have a semi-decollete neck, round or V-shaped. Few trains are shown in this informal frock. Almost without exception these models are slashed and an illusion petticoat may be worn.

Sashes are an interesting feature. They are applied in every manner, draped on the waist line or about the hips. They hang from the shoulder, cross in the back and fall in a knot over the left hip. The treatment of the sash ranges from the severest bands to the softest folds, and it may be a mere piping encircling the waist, or it may extend to the armpits.

Evening gowns this spring, though lighter in tone and loss barbaric in character than formerly, are just as elaborate as ever. The simple little gown is no more, except for the dance frock. Colors are varied in one fabric and several fabrics, differing in color and design and combined in one garment; lace of every conceivable kind and material is used as trimming. Brocade is still in high favor, all the well-known materials and new ones being made in brocade designs. Charmeuse, meteor, Crepe de Chine, Canton crepe, moire, flowered chiffon, satin and plain chiffon are the materials most used.

Colors are varied and rather bold. Apricot, geranium, American Beauty and paprika are taking the place of the deeper reds. There are many of the matallic hues, like absinthe, which is at present very smart; sulphur, beige, brass, gold and an unattractive shade of mustard color. The greens are very vivid and the blues very soft and almost dull in tone. This is essentially a color period, although black or black and white is always in demand. Sometimes a touch of black or very dark green appears as a contrasting note to give character to a gown of color.

Laces of soft texture, also those of gold and silver thread, nets, beaded, embroidered and bulged, artificial flowers, festoons of French ribbon and chiffon rosebuds, crystal banding and velvet ribbons are the accepted materials for trimming.

Drapery is a feature of all the gowns and is very beautiful, that following the diagonal lines being most used. Trains of different shapes and lengths are still a part of the conventional dinner gown. The newest train is cut square, although there are also many pointed trains. Dumay has invented an ingenious way of hooking up the train when dancing, so that it seems naturally draped in a cascade effect, as a part of the gown. The old method of having a loop in the end of the train, which must be held on the finger is both ugly and troublesome.

Once upon a time the sleeve ruled the world of fashion; today it is ignored. The sleeveless gown or wrap is spoken of, which means that if a piece of lace or drapery somewhere in the vicinity of the shoulder should resemble a sleeve it is accepted as such, but trouble is not even taken to make the two sleeves of the same gown alike. Often enough one arm boasts of a sleeve, while the other has none.

Scarfs with ends banded with wide printed borders in Bulgarian colors and design give an interesting touch of color to the light or white evening frock. One of a deep golden yellow shows a design in blooded squares, crescents, circles and dots in clear green, red, blue, black and white. A black scarf shows a similar design printed in blue, red and white. Rich red and a light and vivid shade of green form the foundation colors for other scarfs which are bordered with contrasting bright designs.

Sashes in red, green, black, white and yellow, combined in stripes, are made of wide silk ribbon with a central wide stripe of velvet. These sashes are finished with black silk tassels four or five inches long. They would supply character and style to white frocks of crepe or ratine.

A popular use for the rich Bulgarian silks and ribbons, which are so plentiful this spring, is in trimming hats. Many dark straws have silk-covered crowns. Shirred facings of silk or ribbon are also used, wide bows of figured silk trim wide shade hats and pert, upright wired bows are used on small hats. Ribbon streamers are used on a few big hats.

The oddest and most striking of the artificial flowers used on spring hats show a rim about the edge of each petal and a center of strongly contrasting color. The colors of these flowers, most of them roses, were never seen in flowers which grew on bushes. There are vivid green roses with salmon rim and center, lilac roses with lemon edge and rich blue roses which show crimson center and rims.

Flowers are used for hat crowns. A hat of wine red straw, small, close fitting and well shaped, with curled brim, faced with velvet of a deeper shade, was crowned with wine red silk poppies. The flowers were also used to cover an upright wire ornament.

Ostrich feathers made into fancy shapes have taken the place of aigrettes on the new spring millinery.

Sulphur yellow is a very popular new shade. For one who prefers a less somber coloring, the raisin shade may be preferable.

The long pointed slippers of the Parisiennes are expected to be extremely fashionable this spring.

MRS. HEINZE DIES RECONCILED TO NOTED FINANCIER SHE DIVORCED

One of the most pathetic scenes of recent days took place at the death bed of Mrs. F. Augustus Heinze, wife of the financier, who died in her New York apartment after a short illness. Only a little while ago, after three years of happy married life, Mrs. Heinz brought a suit for divorce against her husband. Later, however, on her death bed, she asked for him and he was brought to her. With her hands clasped in his and a happy smile upon her face, a most remarkable romance was ended. It was partly for the sake of their small son that the reconciliation was effected.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS ENTER STATE MEET

A Large Delegation From Local Assn. Will Compete at Newark Tonight.

A representative group of junior athletes from the local Y. M. C. A. boys' department will go to Newark tonight where they will compete in a series of athletic contests to be held at that place, open to boys only. The Plainfield delegation represents the cream of junior material in this city and Physical Director Ostlin, who will pilot the team on the trip, is hopeful of bringing home a goodly share of the awards. Competition will probably be of the closest sort and the local athletes will have to display some rare form in order to get into the prize list, as entries have been received from practically every Y. M. C. A. of importance in this vicinity.

A junior championship team trophy will be awarded to the team scoring the highest number of points which will be counted on the basis of five, three and one for each event. Ribbon prizes will be awarded for the first three places in each contest, but only first and second awards will be made in the relay races. The following events are on the program:

80-pound class—Standing broad jump, potato race (six potatoes), one lap relay race (four boys).

95-pound class—Potato race (six potatoes), standing hop, step and jump, two-lap relay race (four boys).

110-pound class—Running high jump; two-lap relay race (four boys), potato race (eight potatoes).

130-pound class—Running high jump, standing broad jump, three-lap run.

Unlimited — Twelve-pound shot, three standing broad jumps, potato race (eight potatoes).

PROFESSIONALS TO RACE IN BIG MEET

Mammoth Athletic Program to Be Staged at Celtic Park Tomorrow Afternoon.

William Queal, who is the acknowledged middle-distance professional champion of America and Great Britain, has entered in the one and five mile races to be held in conjunction with the sports of the Celtic Field Club at Celtic Park tomorrow. Pitted against Queal will be William Kohlemainen, the recognized professional long-distance champion of the world, who has on several occasions demonstrated his ability to run shorter distances in record time. From an authentic source, it was learned that Queal has been showing some remarkable trails in preparation for these races.

He already has a record of 4:20 for the mile and 1:58 for the half mile. It would not surprise the followers of athletics to see him approach W. G. George's professional record of 4:12¾. Kohlemainen, who is entered in both races, yesterday turned off five miles in 25:09, which equals the American amateur record. J. P. Sullivan will make his debut as a professional in the mile, and endeavor to make the pace so fast in the early stages that it will stave off any sprint that Queal or Kohlemainen may possess in the last quarter. Other entrants in this race are: Harvey Cohn, former amateur champion; Al. Raines, Jimmy Lee, William Powers, George Hooley, and, possibly, Frank Kanaly, trainer of the M. I. T., Boston.

In additional to the running races there will be a five-mile amateur bicycle race in which Eddie Goodwin, William Van Den Dries, Franklin Fisher, and thirty other pedal-pushers will strive for honors. The program will wind up with a championship Gaelic football match between Kildare and Mayo. These teams are very evenly matched. The game marks the opening of the championship series of matches at Celtic Park.

DRISCOLL HEAD OF NEW LEAGUE TEAM

Local Player Has Been Elected Pres't of N. Y. Baseball Club in U. S. League.

Dave Driscoll, the local baseball team's captain and well-known New Jersey magnate, represented the New York baseball club at the meeting of the recently organized United States League in Philadelphia last night. Representatives from eight clubs comprising the new organization adopted a schedule at the meeting last night and it was decided to respect the rules of organized baseball and draw up a schedule to include 126 games. The season will open on May 10 and close September 27 and the league will be run on exactly the same basis as the National and American Associations.

That Driscoll will pilot the New York team in the league race appears to be a foregone conclusion and he has been selected to represent that club in all business matters transacted by the United States League. The local player has been elected president of the New York club and will pilot the destinies of that aggregation on the diamond as well.

JACK MARTIN WILL STICK IN AMERICAN

Several League Managers Are Dickering for Local Boy's Services at Shortstop.

For the first time in a month Jack Martin, the local ball player who has been training with the New York Yankees at Bermuda, graced the confines of Plainfield with his personage last night, returning to spend the night with his people in this city before reporting for the game on Ebbet's field this afternoon when the Yankees and Superbas lift the lid to New York baseball fans. Jack dropped into the Daily Press office this morning and was in one of his reticent moods as usual, reluctant to talk of himself, but dispelled heaps of praise for his young competitors for the shortstop berth on the New York team. Martin had nothing but words of praise for Young, Midkiff and Derrick, all of whom he says are wonders.

According to Martin, Derrick's ability to clout the ball will keep him in fast company and he is the choice for the shortstop position in the opening game this afternoon. "Young and Midkiff are classy fielders," said Jack, "and this all important department of proficiency, makes them both favorites with the peerless leader."

Martin says he does not expect to be used in the game this afternoon and is waiting for the New York Club to ask for waivers, so that he can be definitely settled before the league season opens. New York press dopsters have been boosting the three infielders trying against Martin all season, whether or not they have merited all the applause and according to information coming from that source it would appear as though the Plainfield youngster was doshed to don International League woolens before the opening of the season. While the New York Club has a surplus of infielders and without a doubt will let Martin go, there is a strong possibility that the Plainfielder will be grabbed by some other American League team when offers are asked by Chance. Several of the American managers have been dickering for his services ever since he broke into first-class baseball and it will be comparatively easy for him to land a berth as there is a crying need for shortstops in several clubs just at present.

Martin is well tanned as a result of his month's sojourn in the Southern climate but says that Plainfield is good enough for him. Reports that he had been sick were set aside this morning by his assertion that he never felt in better trim and could display the best brand of fielding and hitting of his career. During the whole training trip Martin was accorded but one chance at shortstop, a position for which he was trying, and in another instance he was played in right field.

AUSTRALIAN TENNIS TEAM.

Sydney, Australia, April 5.—The Australian lawn tennis team which is to meet the American team in the preliminary tie for the Dwight F. TRIO OF STARS FOR BAPTIST LEAGUERS

Fritts, Randolph and Savage Trying Out for the Church Aggregation.

That First Baptist will be one of the leaders in the race for the Sunday-school League pennant this year was made even more certain today when it was announced that Jack Fritts, the former Y. M. C. A. and Commercial A. C. star; Dan Randolph, of the Commercials, and Russell Savage, a last year's Manufacurers' League man, would play with the Baptists this year. Fritts is an outfielder of no mean ability having played on the Plainfield baseball team two years ago and captained the Y. M. C. A. aggregation for several years.

Randolph is a first baseman and will probably be used to fill in this gap on the Baptist aggregation, while Savage is a catcher and outfielder. The initial practice of the team was held this afternoon and the array of material on hand seems to substantiate the estatement made by officials of that club to the effect that the First Baptist nine could not be beaten in the race for they trophy this season.

YELLOWS WON OUT IN FEATURE GAME

Held in Connection With the Y. W. C. A. Gymnastic Exhibition Last Night.

A basketball game played between the members of the Blue and Yellow membership campaign teams in connection with the Y. W. C. A. gymnastic exhibition program at the Y. M. C. A. last night, resulted in an overwhelming victory being annexed by the Yellows, who came out ahead by the count of 28 to 17. While the game was unusually close at all times, especially in the initial period of play, the victory of the Yellows was never in doubt, their playing being superior to that of their rivals at all times.

The entire game was played without the usual line restrictions characteristic of feminine contests, making it an interesting one to witness. Individual starring, such as predominates in nearly every girls' game, was utterly devoid in this one, every player on the floor putting up a whirlwind game. Those who did not ring up a long string of field goals, did their share of the work in leading the passing and assisting their teammates to get the ball where it could be easily caged for two points.

Miss Marjorie Burtis' all around play featured the first half. Not only did this little forward do a majority of the passing while she was in the fray but netted two beautiful field goals. Miss Helen Hummel did a majority of the scoring for the victors, while Miss Helen George served in this role for the Blues.

BASEBALL NOTES

Manager Griffith, of the Washington team, believes that his Cuban infielder, Acosta, is a coming big show regular.

The New York Yankees have had a fine training season in Bermuda and should be able to deliver when the big gong rings.

Artie Hofman, Scoops Carey and Chief Wilson are playing championship ball in the outfield for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Athletics have been doing great hitting in the practice games. Murphy, Oldring, Collins and Baker being the big wallopers.

Johnson, Groom, Hughes, Cashion, Engel and Gallia make up a pretty nifty pitching staff for Clark Griffith's Washington team.

The speed Janwrin and Carlstrom are showing with the Red Sox makes it appear that Hack Engle and Neal Ball are doomed for the ax.

Manager Joe Tinker is considering a plan to take the Cincinnati Reds to Honolulu after the close of the regular season next fall.

"Schoolmaster" Fisher, the New York pitcher, has discarded his spitter and in the future will depend upon speed and a fast breaking curve.

Lexington and Maysville, Ky., formerly of the Blue Grass League, have been admitted to the Ohio State League making an eight-club circuit for the O. S. L.

John J. (Jack) Grim, former big leaguer and of late a minor league manager, was declared insane recently by a commission of lunacy at Lynchburg, Virginia.

Fans, managers, players and scribes around the Three-I League circuit gathered at Peoria the other night and tendered a banquet to Barry McCormick, Peoria's new manager.

Bennie Meyers, of the Brooklyn team, was given his first big league tryout by Manager McGraw, of the Giants, in 1909. Meyers showed great stuff with Joe Kelley's Toronto team last season.

Mascot Jerry McCarthy, who was successful in mascotting the Red Sox to a world's championship last fall, will again chase the jinks for the champs, which no doubt means another pennant for the Hub.

Four well-known ex-major leaguers will manage teams in the new Northern League. The list includes Bob Unglaub at Minneapolis, Tim Flood at Winnipeg, "Lefty" Davis at Winona and "Spike" Shannon at Virginia.

When Cy Barger, the former Superba pitcher, now with Newark, read that Ban Johnson had put the crusher on ball players writing baseball articles for newspapers, he let a roar out of him that could be heard across the State of Georgia. "Ball players are slaves," piped Cy, "and take it from me, there will be one grand fight some day and then we will all be free to do as we please."

A CHALLENGE.

Manager Fliedner, of the Broadway A. C., has requested that the following challenge be issued to local baseball managers through the sporting columns of this paper: "The Broadway Athletic Club, of Bayonne, N. J., a light-semi-professional team consisting of the fastest men in New Jersey, would like to hear from all teams offering reasonable inducements. We can guarantee to furnish a first-class attraction. Address all communications to Eugene B. Fliedner, manager, care Broadway A. C., 471 Broadway, Bayonne, N. J."

WESTFIELDER NOMINATED.

Russell Savitz, a graduate of Westfield High School, who was prominent in athletic competition with local schools during his course at that institution, has been nominated by the Rutgers College Athletic Board for the position of assistant manager of the varsity tennis team. Three have been named for the position, Philip Ritter, of Brooklyn, and George Norcum, of Ocean City, being the candidates named to run against Savitz.

FOREIGN RACING DRIVERS WHO ARE TO TAKE PART IN SPEEDWAY CONTEST

Not since the early days of the Vanderbilt Cup race has there been such a list of distinguished foreign drivers entered in an American automobile contest as is announced by the management of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway for the 500-mile event to be run there May 30. Paul Zuccarelli, of the Peugeot team, is an Italian, but he has been driving French cars for years. He is noted for his daring and for his scientific driving. Zuccarelli and his teammate, Jules Goux, are now in France preparing for the big American race. They are expected to arrive in America some time during the latter part of April and will put in several weeks of training at the motor speedway. Albert Guyot, who will drive the English Sunbeam in the third annual 500-mile international sweepstake race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, is one of the old school of French drivers. Guyot is now in England testing his Sunbeam car at the Brookland track. He expects to come to America early in May. The Sunbeam, considered the fastest car in England, is a six-cylinder 120-horse power car, with a piston displacement of 380.5 cubic inches.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Occupying first place on the calender of events for the week will be the assemblying of Congress in extraordinary session Monday. The revision of the tariff is the purpose of the session. Radical changes in some of the existing tariff schedules are certain, though the multitude and diversity of the interests affected will necessarily make the task a difficult one.

The possibility that the long-expected decisions in the Minnesota and intermountain rate cases may be handed down will serve to attract public attention to the Supreme Court of the United States, when that body reconvenes Monday after a recess of two weeks.

Michigan's election of minor State officials on Monday takes on added importance since the electors will vote at the same time on several proposed constitutional amendments, among them one giving women the right of suffrage and another providing for the initiative, referendum and recall. Detroit will pass upon a charter amendment involving the principle of municipal ownership of public utilities.

State authorities, farmers, bankers and railroad officials are to meet in conference in Chicago, Tuesday, to devise simplified methods for the marketing and distributing of food products. The idea is in line with the letter addressed by President Taft to the governors of the different States proposing a farm credit system as a means for reducing the cost of production of food products and resulting in ultimate relief to the consumer from the high cost of living.

Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, is to be a speaker at the national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association, which will meet in Richmond, Va., Wednesday, for a session of four days.

The Chinese Assembly will convene Monday. One of its first duties

The week will see the real beginning of the professional baseball season of 1913. The American and National Leagues wil start their championship races Thursday. The Southern League, American Association and several other of the minor organizations will get under way the same day.

Other events of the week will include the meeting of the National Drainage Congress in St. Louis, the convention of the Navy League in Washington, the cable chess match between American and English universities, and the dinner of the Gridiron Club, at which President Woodbly in regard to early recognition of the republic by the nations of the world. will be to proclaim a new president of the republic. Much will depend upon the proceedings of the assemrow Wilson is to be the guest of honor.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

H. B. Warner, of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" fame, has registered one of the real successes of the season in Maurice Campbell's production of "The Ghost Breaker," a new romantic melodrama by Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard, at the Lyceum theatre. If applause can be counted upon to make a play a success, then this one surely is. Three or more curtain calls are given after each act, the third act in particular being the biggest applause getter, no less than ten curtains being credited to Mr. Warner and his supporting company at nearly every performance. The story tells of one Warren Jarvis, of Kentucky, who ends a feud by killing his enemy in a New York hotel. The play is exceptionally well mounted, and exceedingly well played. H. B. Warner as the young Kentuckian has amply sustained his claim to stellar honors. He is gay and debonair in the face of danger, and of course a mighty gunman. Katherine Emmet as the Castilian Princess has duplicated her success of the leading woman in Winthrop Ames' production of "The Affais of Anatol." William Sampson plays an old negro servant to the very life, and Frank Westerton is as handsome and striking a villain as one will meet in a year's travel. In the character of a sinister Spanish brave Frank Campeau is as fine a character study as there is in Broadway today.

DESTROYER LAUNCHED.

Quincy, Mass., April 5.—The torpedo boat destroyer Duncan was successfully launched today at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. In size and cost the Duncon will eclipse nearly all of the other vessels of her class in the navy. She is a one thousand ton, twenty-nine knot boat, and will be equipped with Curtis turbines and oil-burning boilers.

FINE FEATHERS

"YOUR HUSBAND IS BROKE."

"NO MAN CAN DO WRONG AND GET AWAY WITH IT: THE WRONG ALWAYS GETS AWAY WITH HIM."

TEN years ago a play like "Fine Feathers" could not have been successfully produced, because at that time it was generally believed that no drama could possibly succeed that did not possess a love theme as its most important basis. Yet this play by Eugene Walter is now acclaimed the most important dramatic work of the country. And this shows that not only has the drama developed in the last ten years, but that the public taste has also developed and their attitude toward the theater has changed from the thoughtless milk and water, song and frolic days of ten years ago. In "Fine Feathers" Eugene Walter has struck out along new channels. There were problem plays a decade—yes, even a century—ago, but they dealt with the problem of the sexes. There were dramas then that dealt with the eternal triangle, but the characters were usually the wronged husband, the wife and the lover. In the story of "Fine Feathers" the sex problem does not obtrude itself even by suggestion. There are no lovers except the husband and wife, and their love is of the human, everyday sort which stumbles over the small things as well as the big things of life and is far removed from the perfect romance and ecstatic bliss of the erstwhile drama. But the most significant feature of the play, insofar as it marks a new departure in playwriting, lies in the author's treatment of the leading feminine role. Her's is not one of love-making. She is neither loved or beloved. She is just a woman—the sort one encounters every day—with her faults and frailties and her great strength in the hour of need. It is a sure sign of the times. A generation ago a woman's only place was the home and the fireside—her only mission to love and to be loved—and thus she was pictured on the stage. The motives of all the heroines of the past were inspired by love, passion, hatred or jealousy. There was nothing prosaic in their lines or speeches. Not one of them ever hinted at sharing her husband's work or his confidence outside of sentimental boundaries. No heroine of old ever questoned her lover about his income—enough that the "divine passion" existed in his manly bosom. In the great majority of plays of the past generation Adelbert wooed his Gwendolyn from the first act to the last, and then they were supposed to live happily ever after. Playwrights were either blind to life as it really existed or were afraid to mirror this life on the stage. The fear of an unhappy ending has spoiled more plays dramatically than almost any other factor in play writing. No matter how improbable, how unconvincing, how untrue to life, the curtain had to be brought down on a happy ending, and that was what caused the era of the namby-pamby drama. In "Fine Feathers" Eugene Walter employs human beings as characters; they err and are punished. The wife does not believe in the old "love in a cottage" ideal. She prefers a real home and pretty clothes. In the old style of drama she would have cast about for an admirer with wealth, but in "Fine Feathers" she induces her husband to put his hand in the financial grab bag and dares him to take a chance at the system. This character shows the partial development of the modern woman along business lines, although that this development is not complete is shown by her ignorance of the principles involved in the action she urges upon her husband. It is by violating these principles that the final catastrophe comes, making the play really a human document and a sign of the present times. That the modern audience appreciates a modern play can best be judged by the fact that "Fine Feathers" broke all records for a dramatic production in Chcago, where it remained six months and is duplicating that record at the Astor theater, New York, where it has been running since January.

Playgoers are lookng forward to this dramatic treat with its cast of prominent stars.

"Fine Feathers," written by Eugene Walter, author of such vital American dramas as "Paid In Full" and "The Easiest Way," is a drama of today. It deals with problems that confront the average Amercan household and is peopled with characters familiar to every man and woman who goes to the theater. It is a big, reverberating play, full of gripping incidents and overpowering climaxes, diagnosing human life in a relentless, searching way with its lights and shadows, its humor and its serious aspects. It deals with the increased cost and the higher standard of living and its effects on the American home. It deals with the tentacles of "big interests" and shows how they reach into the American family and affect the man's method of industrial attack. In his theme Mr. Walter handles familiar subjects, but in form, surprise, development and absorbing depth "Fine Feathers" skirts the classics. It is full of "punchy" lines, aggressive Americanisms, vivid character accentuation and well blended philosophy. And its story is such as to appeal to every one—its moral one to strike home in every breast. H. H. Frazee, the producer, has gathered the most notable cast for this play ever seen in a modern drama, with such stars as Robert Edeson, Wilton Lackaye, Max Figman, Rose Coghlan, Lolita Robertson and Amelia Sumers. Mr. Edeson is seen in the role of a man poor in worldly goods, but rich in high ideals, who is put to the test that confronts so many men in modern life; Mr. Lackaye has the best role of his career in the character of a business man of today whose only unit is the mark of the dollar; Mr. Figman is seen as a newspaper reporter, a ne'er-do-well who develops some lovable traits; Miss Robertson has the difficult role of the wife who rebels at her husband's small income; Miss Coghlan is seen as a dowdy, gossipy neighbor, and Miss Sumers has the role of a maid of all work.

Considerable interest attaches to the personnel of the all star cast in that nearly each player has filled a distinct and unique place on the American stage.

Robert Edeson is the son of George R. Edeson, a well known comedian and stage director of the past generation, and made his first appearance on the stage in Brooklyn just twenty-five years ago with Cora Tanner in "Fascination." In 1892 he joined the famous Empire Theater company, in New York, remaining with it for three years as leading juvenile, playing in "The Masqueraders," "John a-Dreams," "Married," "Under the Red Robe" and "A Man and His Wife." In 1902 he became a star under the management of the late Henry B. Harris, his first success being "Soldiers of Fortune." Since then he has starred in "The Rector's Garden," "Ranson's Folly," "Strongheart"—in which he also appeared in London—"Classmates," "The Sinner," "The Call of the North" and "Where the Trail Divides."

When Wilton Lackaye was attending the Georgetown university in Washington he became president of the Lawrence Barrett Dramatic association, taking principal part in many amateur performances. Mr. Barrett met Lackaye and offered the young man a position in his company. He first played a small part in "Francesca da Rimini," while his most important role in Lawrence Barrett's support was Salarino in "The Merchant of Venice." He then joined Fanny Davenport's company, supporting her in "Much Ado About Nothing," "Fedora" and "As You Like It." He made his first independent success as leading actor in "Allan Dare," "Paul Kauvar" and with Rose Coghlan in "Jocelyn." He then became associated with Augustin Daly, playing in "Roger la Honte," "The Great Unknown" and other successes. He created the leading roles in "My Jack," "Colonel Tom," "The Dead Heart," "Money Mad," "Jim the Penman" and "Dr. Bill." In 1895 he electrified all America by his performance of Svengali in "Trilby." He has also starred in "The Pit," "The Law and the Man," "The Bondman" and "The Battle."

Before ordering your coal---think on these things

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.

2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?

3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?

4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.

5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.

6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

HANGED HIMSELF ON A BED POST

Aged Calvin Corle, of Neshanic, Committed Suicide by Strangulation.

ONCE STATE SENATOR

He Represented Somerset County in Upper House at Trenton From 1870-1872—Former President of a Somerville Bank.

For several days Calvin Corle, eighty-four years old, a wealthy resident of Neshanic, had been ill and confined to his room and yesterday morning he surprised his niece, Miss Deborah Corle, by appearing at the breakfast table. She congratulated him on his improved health. After a hearty breakfast Mr. Corle said:

"I think I will go to my room now and rest. Do not let any one disturb me."

Later Miss Corle heard piercing screams. She hurried to her uncle's room and found one of the servants in a faint. Mr. Corle was hanging to his old fashioned four-posted bed. He had knotted one end of the spread around his neck and had made the other end fast to the upper framework of the bed. He was a short man and his toes just touched the floor.

With the aid of servants Miss Corle untied the knots, but their efforts at resusitation failed.

Mr. Corle was a State Senator in 1870-1872. He was for fourteen years President of the Somerset County Bank, now the Second National Bank of Somerville. He was a widower and had lived for years on his large farm in Neshanic with his niece who acted as housekeeper and companion.

The service will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and end at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Luncheon will be served in Grace church parish house at noon.

LES ROMANESQUES ADMIRABLY GIVEN

Seminary Pupils Are Seen to Advantage in a Rostand Satire.

The pupils of The Seminary gave to their friends a delightful evening on Saturday in the presentation of "Les Romanesque." This is Edmond Rostand's first work for the stage—"an attractive and delicate satire upon the tribe of romancers in general." The charming little maiden Sylvette and her handsome lover Percinet imagine themselves actors in a wonderful drama because their respective fathers pretend to be mortal enemies. These wily parents, living on estates separated by a high wall, have concocted a scheme to bring about the union of the young people who have been educated abroad and are strangers to each other. With the aid of a dashing bravo, they give Percinet an opportunity to play the hero and so win the consent of his lady's irascible father.

All goes well until the two discover that they have been deceived when both are furious. The engagement is broken and it is only by a series of disillusioning experiences that a happy ending of the play is reached.

The cast follows: Percinet, a lover, Dorothy Langford, '14; Straforel, a bravo, Virginia Vail, '15; Bergamin, father of Percinet, Elisabeth Fullerton, '16; Pasquinot, father of Sylvette, Theresa Sharretts, '15; Blaise, a gardener, Constance Harris, '15; Sylvette, daughter of Pasquinot, Monica Sharretts, '13; swordsmen, notary and musicians.

Miss Monica Sharretts was a charming ingenue and the two fathers acted their parts with great spirit. Miss Edna Hopkins, who coached the play, is to be congratulated upon its success. The violin interludes given by Anton Gluckner added to the pleasure of the evening, which was concluded by dancing.

ACCUSER IS PUNISHED AFTER COURT'S LECTURE

Accused by Frank Giddis, of South Second street, of having assaulted him, Samuel Brown, colored, of West Third street, spent Saturday night in the local jail, although it developed in court this morning that he was a victim of mistaken identity. Giddis was arrested in West Third street by Patrolman MacIntyre for being intoxicated and fighting. He said he was held up by some colored men and pointed Brown out as the one who had inflicted a coloring of an ebony hue about his left eye. Brown was arrested at his home. City Judge De Meza scored Giddis in court this morning for being intoxicated and causing the arrest of an innocent man, and fined him $8 in default of which he will be sent to the county jail for forty days.

AUTO BUS CARRIES 300 PASSENGERS IN A DAY

The popularity of the new auto bus service which was inaugurated on Saturday by the Plainfield Transit Company, was shown yesterday when a total of about 300 passengers were carried during the day by the one bus between this city, Stirling and South Plainfield. It was not a case of "pleasure riding," the majority of the patrons using the car as a means of going back and forth to some definite place. On each trip to Stirling and South Plainfield the bus was filled.

Especially welcome was the bus on the Stirling route, where the people have had no such means of getting in and out of their country homes.

The company is now being organized to make the transit facilities permanent, the present demonstration being announced to continue until April 12. The people of Stirling are supporting the proposition by subscribing for stock and a number at South Plainfield have done the same.

BP. SCARBOROUGH MAKES HIS VISIT

AT THREE CHURCHES

The Resurrection His Theme in Addressing the Assembled Congregations—At All Saints' Church, Fanwood, Tonight.

The Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, had a busy day yesterday visiting the parishes of Grace, Holy Cross and Heavenly Rest churches, where he administered the rite of confirmation. At each service the Bishop was greeted by large congregations, and his sermons were greatly enjoyed.

The Bishop's general theme for the day was "The Resurrection," dwelling especially on its evidences. The Bishop visited Grace church at the 11 o'clock service in the morning, where he confirmed a class of twenty-one and addressed the members.

At the Church of the Heavenly Rest, which he visited at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the Bishop spoke from the text, "Then were the apostles glad when they saw the Lord," St. John's Gospel, 20:20. In addressing the class he emphasized the fact that the members now belong to the army of Christ in which there is no discharge, it being a life-time enlistment. The following were confirmed by the Bishop:

Wendell Hutchcroft, Abram Randolph, Ralph Ludgate, Frederick Siegrist, Robert Jackson, Lyman Tillson, Blanche Weed and Elizabeth Buss. Adrian Weed was received by the Bishop from the Roman Catholic church.

The Bishop visited the Holy Cross church at 7:45 o'clock in the evening, where a large congregation gathered. He took his text from Acts 1:3: "To whom also He showed Himself alive after His Passion by many infallible proofs." Throughout his sermon he emphasized frequently the evidences of the Resurrection, and in addressing the class of fourteen, seven young men and seven young women, he gave each one some wholesome advice. In each case the Bishop urged those confirmed to be faithful in the discharge of their Christian duty. The new members will take their first communion next Sunday.

Continuing his visits, the Bishop will go to All Saints' church, Scotch Plains, tonight at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of confirmation. The rector in charge, Rev. Edward Gabler, will present the class. The Bishop will spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Robinson, of Fanwood. During his stay in Plainfield yesterday he was entertained by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, and Rev. William S. McCoy, of Holy Cross church, spending the night with the latter.

PLANNING TO ENLARGE THEIR CHURCH EDIFICE

Arrangements were made at the annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church held in the church parlors yesterday afternoon and last night to enlarge the rear part of the edifice. This addition will add to the present kitchen and will also enlarge the primary rooms on the second floor directly above the kitchen. The work of construction will be started as soon as the committee in charge of the building preparations completes its work. It was voted to purchase new hymn books for use in the church.

All of the officers of last year were re-elected to serve during the ensuing term as follows: William M. Stillman was elected for a term of three years as trustee to succeed himself; clerk, Asa F. Randolph; treasurer, William M. Stillman; assistant treasurer, George E. Stillman; auditors, Charles H. Dunham, Arthur L. Titsworth; chorister, David E. Titsworth; organist, Miss Jessie Utter; head usher, George M. Clarke.

ARREST SIX ITALIANS WHO SHOT TWO MEN

Ever since the hold-up and shooting of William Wilkesman, a section foreman employed by the Lackawanna Railroad, and his friend, Edward Harris, both of Stirling, on February 2 last, the detectives of Morris county have been at work on the case. On Friday they discovered a clue in the finding of a hat. Later an Italian was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the shooting. After he was landed in the county jail, the prisoner is said to have confessed and gave the names of five other Italians who are said to be guilty of the shooting. They have all been arrested and are being held pending an investigation by the grand jury.

Wilkesman and Harris were returning home at 11 o'clock on the night of February 2, when they were mistaken, it is said, for two other men who had incurred the anger of the gang. They were held up and in their efforts to get away were shot six times. Wilkesman was so seriously injured that he has not yet been able to return to work, while Harris received wounds which prevented him from working for several weeks. The Italians are all residents in the vicinity of Stirling.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER IS RISING AT MEMPHIS

Washington, April 7.—Reports to the Weather Bureau show that at Memphis the Mississippi River has got to nine feet above flood stage and rising. The lower river has not yet reached flood stage, but is rising. Officials of the Weather Bureau do not fear very alarming conditions at points along the lower river as yet. At Cairo the Ohio River is nine feet above flood stage with a slight rise.

New York, April 7.—President Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company has telegraphed to the local office of the company that so far as he is able to estimate, the losses to physical property including the Chicago lines, from the recent floods, will not exceed $250,000. This is a smaller amount than was looked for when the trouble first came. Operations have been resumed over the company's own lines from Cincinnati to points east. It is expected that service will be resumed on the Chicago line Tuesday or Wednesday.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 7.—Senator Smoot has a plan to reduce the cost of living, which he hopes to see Congress adopt, and which he says would cost the U. S. about $500,000 annually and save millions of dollars to housewives.

The Senator expects to reintroduce his bill appropriating $10,000 annually to each State and territory to be used through agricultural experiment stations in research.

UNVEIL A TABLET TO DR. RICHARDS

Bronze Memorial in Crescent Ave. Church in Honor of a Great Preacher.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE

Addresses Made at Special Service Held Yesterday Afternoon—The Inscription on the Tablet, Which is Placed Near Altar.

"In grateful remembrance of the ministry of William Rogers Richards, D. D. 1884-1902. An ambassador for Christ; a preacher of righteousness, full of the spirit of wisdom."

Such is the inscription on a handsome bronze tablet placed in the church in memory of the late Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, for nineteen years pastor of the Crescent Avenue church. The tablet was unveiled yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when impressive ceremonies were held.

The covering was removed from the work of art and the token of esteem and memory which the tablet denoted, was revealed to the general public by Rev. J. S. Zelie, Ph. D., to the accompaniment of congregational singing.

Addresses were made by Dr. Zelie, John Leal, of the Sessions of the church; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, and Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel. Each one praised the late Dr. Richards as a man and private citizen; as a minister, as a theologian and as a church worker bearing the wisdom of the gospel.

The tablet, which is the work of the Hinman Bronze Company, of this city, is erected in a prominent place at the west side of the church edifice near the altar.

Dr. Zelie, the first speaker, said in part: "For eighteen years there was a ministry and fellowship in this church, which was one of the brightest in this country. Dr. Richards loved the Kingdom of God; he seemed to render this service for the fascination of the Kingdom of God. The things he done were prompted by no heroic determination but by loving impulse. He loved the word of God; he loved to watch and see how through human experience people were won to Christ, he was a preacher of righteousness; full of the spirit and wisdom."

John Leal spoke in a similar vein, "We think of bronze and brass and marble as durable things," he said, "and on them we record the things performed by heroic souls. The life and wrok of Dr. Richards will go on to posterity. For us that knew and loved him there is no need for a memorial. His work here is known to all men. He found here a large plant in good working order but self centered; but the power of this church was extended and reached to the chapels and to the outer world. His memorial is in our lives and if he could speak he would have it thus. He was a lover of men—free from all self seeking and endowed with the power to bring others to the master of service."

"Those of us who knew Dr. Richards," said Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, "need no bronze tablet to perpetuate his memory. He was a man who stood for the word of God, whose first purpose was to bring them to Christ. He was a brother beloved wherever he went—was without sentiment but made friends on the fruits of his deeds and noble life. A good citizen, Dr. Richards was ever ready to serve the city. He was public spirited in the full sense of the word."

"Gentleness and greatness; beauty and strength were the characteristics in the life of Dr. Richards," said Rev. F. D. Tildon. "He was a man who had the faculty of seeing things and told of them in a plain way. When he came to Plainfield he saw a field ready for the harvest and back of the vision of needs was the heart of a companion which moved him to do. As we recall the life of him who we honor today, we are greatful to God for his noble character, his loving disposition and his greatness as a clergyman."

A "STOLEN" HORSE RETURNED.

While Moe Fertig, of 369 West Third street, was bemoaning the loss of his horse which he thought had been stolen and reported the "theft" to the police, Patrolman Martin Flatley, who had been sent out to investigate, led the missing animal into its stall and notified the owner. It developed that the horse had suffered with colic during the night and after battering the stable door down, which Fertig thought had been done by horse thieves, wandered into the street. The animal was found by a milkman and later located by Flatley.

AUTO HITS TROLLEY, WOMAN SLIGHTLY HURT

Mrs. Lamberson, of Roselle, Sustains Contusions in the Accident.

An automobile owned and driven by T. M. Lamberson, who was accompanied by his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hill and the latter's son, all of Roselle, collided with a westbound Main Line trolley car at Terrill road and East Second street, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Lamberson suffered from shock and general contusions about the upper part of the body. None other was hurt. Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned and he gave "first aid" treatment before the party returned home in another machine, Mr. Lamberson's car being almost a total wreck and unable to proceed under its own power.

It is claimed that the driver of the automobile was to blame for the accident, in attempting to cross Second street at Terrill road, ahead of the trolley car. Instead the machine hit the trolley in front at right angles with sufficient force to throw it back against a pole. The front of the trolley was considerably damaged.

The trolley was in charge of Motorman Wilkins and Conductor Dumont, both of Plainfield. The latter secured the names of a number of passengers who witnessed the accident.

MEMBERS OF GIRLS' A. A. PRESENTED TWO COMEDIES

A small audience greeted two excellent productions by members of the Plainfield High School girls' athletic association in the school auditorium Saturday night, but all of those present were enthusiastic over the work of the girls in their plays, "Engaged Janet" and "The Kleptomaniac." S. faculty, and their work of the cast in the respective sketches reflected credit on their careful work.

Both of the productions presented a number of laughable and intricate incidents that held the audience spellbound during their unwindings.

LOWER TARIFFS FOR NECESSITIES

And Increased Rates on Luxuries in Measure Introduced in Congress.

MUCH ON FREE LIST

No Duty on Meat or Wool—Cut on Sugar Which Will Be Free in Three Years—Reciprocity a Feature.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 7.—The tariff revision bill presented to the House of Representatives in extraordinary session today contains many material reductions from existing tariff rates. Increased rates are provided for many luxuries while on the necessaries of life they are reduced and in notable instances removed altogether. Raw wool is placed on the free list, sugar duty is reduced twenty-five per cent. at once, with free sugar provision for three years hence. Tobacco and spirits are left untouched.

The treaty with Cuba is untouched but free trade with the Philippines is provided.

Following are the more important articles placed on the free list: Many chemicals, oils and paints, iron ore, hoop or band iron, for baling cotton or other commodities, cash registers, typewriters, agricultural implements, lumber and timber, bacon and hams, beef, veal, mutton, lamb and pork and fresh and prepared fish, prepared and preserved meats of all kinds, milk, bread, boots and shoes of leather, harness and saddlery. Rates on all brick have been cut.

A discrimination of ten per cent. in addition to lawful duties shall be collected on all merchandise imported in vessels not of the United States or which being the production of manufacture of any foreign country not contiguous to the United States shall come into the United States from such contiguous country. But this discriminating duty shall not apply to merchandise imported.

The present maximum and minimum tariff clause is supplanted by a provision authorizing the President to negotiate trade agreements with foreign countries wherein mutual concessions are made looking toward reciprocal expansion of trade and commerce. The said treaties will be subject to Congress for ratification.

The members of the finance committee of the Senate were in conference with the President this morning regarding the form in which the tariff bill should be presented to the Senate, whether as an Omnibus Bill or schedule by schedule. No definite decision was reached. In a personal interview with the newspaper men the President confirmed his intention of appearing before Congress tomorrow and reading his message, declaring his opinion that this was the most dignified way of submitting his message to that body.

Rates on all brick have been cut on an average from 30.23 per cent. to 10.28 per cent., tile from 47.84 per cent. to 23.36 per cent., window glass from 46.38 to 28.31 per cent., housefurnishings from 35 to 15 per cent., horses from 25 to 10 per cent., cattle from 25.07 to 10 per cent., and sheep from 16.41 to 10 per cent., reductions on cotton from 31.54 to 19 per cent., on ready made clothing 50 to 30 per cent. Similar cuts in underwear and stockings, linen handkerchiefs, are cut from 50 to 35, in wool manufactures. Yarns are reduced from 79.34 per cent. to 20 per cent., blankets from 72.68 to 25 per cent., flannels 93.29 to 25 and 35 per cent., dress goods from 99.70 to 35 per cent., clothing from 79.56 to 35 per cent., and carpets 60.82 per cent., to rates ranging from 20 to 30 per cent. upon incomes of more than $4,000 annually. A tax of one per cent. is imposed upon the excess. A surtax is imposed of one per cent. upon excess in come of over $50,000 and three per cent. on incomes over $100,000.

The new tariff rates, it is estimated, will reduce the customs revenue approximately $80,000,000 a year. This is expected to be made up by the income tax.

NOMINAL CHRISTIAN IS A MISERABLE ONE

So Says Rev. Dr. Strong in a Sermon at the First Baptist Church.

"Whether Jesus Christ is in the eyes of the world a glorious, triumphant Christ or an ignoble, impotent Christ, depends upon the way His followers make Him known," said Dr. Philip B. Strong, yesterday morning in a sermon on "The vine and the branches." "A vine, without branches is a graceless, useless stalk, and good for nothing as a vine Not only are there to be the branches, but without friut-bearing they also fail of their mission. And mere fruit-bearing is not enough, says the Master; but in bearing much fruit. 'Herein is My Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit.' There seem to be two alternatives, no fruit-bearing, and much fruit-bearing.

"Let the disciple who has borne a little fruit be encouraged with the statement in the same chapter that 'He cleanseth it, that it may bear more fruit.' This cleansing comes through God's word, the Master goes on to say, and an abiding in it 'Abide in me and my words abide in you, and yet shall ask what ye will (in this matter of fruit-bearing), and it shall be done.' The power of prayer and an abiding presence of God's word has never been fully tested. If all that could be done by means of these agencies was done, this old world would be brought to the foot of the cross within the next fifty years.

"The most miserable person in the world is the nominal Christian, who has before him all the time the vision of what he ought to be and might be, but steadfastly neglects and fails to do it, losing the blessing, and missing the joy. For it is our Lords' purpose that our joy might be full, and fullness of joy is found in fullness of fellowship and unstinted service for Him."

PLAY DEALS WITH BUSINESS PROBLEM

Probsaco Bible Class Production Written by a Plainfielder.

The play to be given by the Probasco Bible class on Thursday night, April 17, at the Park Club is of especial interest owing to the fact that this year the cast will produce an original play, written especially for its members. F. K. Anderson, of this city, who has staged both of the previous class plays, has suited the action and characters of his play, "Help Wanted," to the individual abilities of the young men who have represented Dr. Probasco's class in farcial productions last year and the year before.

"Help Wanted" is a play of modern business life, touching upon the efforts of an independent manufacturer to withstand that phase of unfair competition which evidences itself in price-cutting. Recent laws passed in some of the western States, making it illegal to reduce prices below normal in the effort to kill business competition, form a foundation for a part of the plot, and the author has turned to the interesting theme of advertising as a defensive weapon and as a vehicle by which to bring about a satisfactory denouncement.

The romantic interest in the play centers about the complications of a wealthy young man who is prohibited from marrying the girl of his choice unless he becomes self-supporting. An unusual condition is imposed upon him in his efforts to get employment, and a sensational newspaper story instigated by his jealous cousin offers a further obstacle.

Daly in the Middlesex County Court as a result of proceedings instituted by his brother. Martin was recently indicted for maintaining a disorderly house. Contrary to the advice of counsel he pleaded guilty, and insisted that he be sent to jail. He is said to be worth nearly $100,000.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

At last the Board of Aldermen has seen fit to modify by the passage of an ordinance one of the most objectionable features of the stupid Sullivan law. The ordinance permits any reputable householder or storekeeper to keep a loaded revolver in his home or store provided he obtains a permit to that effect from a Magistrate, the Police Commissioner, an Inspector or Lieutenant. The fee for each permit is $1 and the money shall go to the police fund.

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch is one of the leading suffrage workers in this part of the country and has always been extremely active in agitating and proselyting for "the cause." It is a rather interesting and somewhat peculiar fact that Mrs. Blatch is a British subject. She was born from American parents at Seneca, N. Y., but married an Englishman, who is engaged in the brokerage business in Wall Street. By her marriage she became a British subject. Some time ago Mrs. Blatch applied for admission to American citizenship, but the Federal District Court decided that she could not be admitted because she is married to a British subject. So long as her husband remains true to his British allegiance Mrs. Blatch cannot recover her native citizenship. It is not expected, however, that this decision of the court will interfere with Mrs. Blatch's activity in the suffrage cause.

The credulity and gullibility of some persons is almost beyond belief. The other day a man named Brinkham, of Newark, N. J., called at police headquarters and asked for the arrest of Arthur M. Taylor, who became Brinkham's son-in-law about six months ago. It seems that Taylor, who is only 23 years old, has been posing as a lawyer, although, as a matter of fact his name is not to be found in any bar directory. A short time ago Taylor asked his father-in-law for a loan of $400. He explained that he intended to go to Washington to meet the "head judge and buy a judgeship in New Jersey" with the money. Brinkham hesitated at first, but finally gave up the money, after Taylor had given to him, as "collateral security" for the loan a document, purporting to be Taylor's will and in which Taylor devised to his wife a ranch of 960 acres in Apache county, Arizona, and an alleged deposit of $5,000 in the First National Bank of Apache Township. With the $400 in his pocket Taylor departed and has not been seen since then. The deal for the judgeship has probably not yet been closed.

A woman residing in Montclair, N. J., sent a letter to Mayor Hinck, of that town, to issue an order requiring all the cats in the town to be muzzled. The writer of the letter stated that the nightly cerenades by the cats in her vicinity were extremely annoying and interfered with her sleep. She did not state how the muzzling should be done so as to interfere with the vocal efforts of the cats. Mayor Hinck does not consider the scheme suggested by the writer of the letter practical unless some inventor should come forward with a muzzle having a sort of Maxim silencer attached to it.

PROF. ROBERT W. PRENTISS.

New Brunswick, April 7.—Robert W. Prentiss, for many years professor of mathematics and astronomy at Rutgers College, died Saturday at his home, Grant avenue, Livingston Manor, in Highland Park. Death was due to a nervous breakdown. Professor Prentiss was a member of the Highland Park Board of Education. He was very active in a hard campaign for a new school in the manor section and this is thought to have contributed to the final breakdown. He was a member of the Livingston Avenue Baptist church, and had served as trustee and deacon. Besides a widow Professor Prentiss is survived by a daughter, Miss Marguerite Prentiss, and three sons, Arthur, Paul and Alanson.

SHERIFF SEEKS UNPAID FEE.

Elizabeth, April 7.—Because a judgment was satisfied and the case settled out of court after Sheriff Wright had made an execution, Edmund C. McKeag, a New Brunswick lawyer, refused to pay the sheriff the sum of $8.49, which the officer claimed was due him. The lawyer gave the sheriff forty cents. Sheriff Wright appeared before Judge Vail in the Circuit Court, Saturday, and conducted his own case. Lawyer McKeag was also present. The court reserved decision. The case in which the execution was served was an attempt by Hugh McKeag to compel Thomas P. Kolb, of Plainfield, to satisfy a Circuit Court judgment. Edmund C. McKeag represented Hugh McKeag.

ACQUITTED IN MURDER CASE.

New Brunswick, April 7.—William Wilitsky and Frank Doracz, charged with murdering Martin Martinoz at a christening in Perth Amboy last February, have been acquitted here by a jury. A number of witnesses were called by the defense. Among them was a young girl detective, who testified as to statements exonerating the accused made by one of the State's witnesses.

HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or hut. Some people can make a hall bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent —a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers. their agent because it reaches the kind of people. They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

WORK FOR BOY SCOUTS.

War has been declared on the pestiferous house fly and the Boy Scouts of America are preparing for a campaign of extermination. The proclamation ordering the 300,000 young soldiers to take the field has been issued by Chief Scout Executive James E. West, with headquarters in New York, and throughout the length and breadth of the land the scouts are commanded to "prevent, destroy and root out utterly the winged buzzers who have for centuries been the small boy's rival in inroads upon the domestic jam."

During the course of the next few days each scout will receive a card of instruction and the various camps will be told to co-operate with the local boards of health in the campaign of annihilation. The first duty will be to kill off all the old flies that have survived the winter and then to search out the breeding places, which they are ordered to clean up. To make the work effectual the scouts must get a promise from the owner of the place where the fly breeds to keep it clean and should he fail to do so it will be the duty of the scouts to notify the local health board.

The idea is an excellent one and will be watched by all who are interested in health problems and who understand what a menace the house fly is to the human being.

WHY NOT THANK HIM?

Not only Plainfield and North Plainfield, but Somerset county and for that matter the whole State owes a debt of gratitude to Charles W. McCutchen for his generous gift of Washington Rock. When the historic spot was threatened with spoliation some few years ago, Mr. McCutchen quietly purchased the tract and in his usual modest way placed it in charge of Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Since it has been properly marked by a cairn and flag staff, he offered to the State the site of the rock, upon which Washington once stood watching the Hessian troops. Now that it has been accepted formally by an act of the Legislature, it would not be amiss for the North Plainfield Council and the Somerset County Board of Freeholders particularly to suitably express their appreciation.

KANSAS CITY PLEASED.

What commission government does for a municipality is well illustrated in the case of Kansas City where striking financial results have been obtained. But Kansas City is but one of more than 225 city governments greatly bettered by the adoption of this businesslike, democratic and economical form of administration. As the Baltimore Sun says:

"The commission form of government goes marching on and bringing results, without regard to the feelings of practical politicians and standpatters. Raleigh, N. C., and Dayton, Ohio, now have fallen into line, the latter by stress of circumstances, and the number of the converts increases each year.

"Kansas City hugs herself every time she takes stock and compares the old order with the present. In the thirteen years prior to the adoption of commission government in that city, says the Kansas City Times, the disbursements of the old ward plan of government were $1,383,469 more than was received in taxes. When there was a deficit, the city sold bonds to meet it and the people paid interest on the bonds. Now the town is run on a cash basis and the total assets exceed the total liabilities by nearly three million dollars. 'The history of the new rule in every city,' adds the Times in commenting on these figures, 'is that its liabilities each year are less in proportion to its assets, and its receipts show a healthful gain over its disbursements, a sign of successful business management, either in private or public enterprise.'"

WILSON'S INNOVATION.

For the first time in 112 years, a President of the United States will read his own message to Congress when Mr. Wilson will appear at the extraordinary session tomorrow which has been called to revise the tariff. Washington and Adams were the only chief magistrates to personally address the Congress, Jefferson starting the custom of having his messages transmitted to that body by a messenger. Of course, the President's disregard of the precedent is considered as a startling innovation, but why should the executive and legislative branches of the Federal Government keep so far apart as they have in the past?

After having run down and fatally injured a girl at Princeton yesterday afternoon, the chauffeur sped away carrying the owner of the car with him. When apprehended at New Brunswick they were making a desperate effort to get out of the State. Jersey justice is not tempered with mercy when it comes to punishing such inhuman people as these.

Since January 1, when the scheme was inaugurated by the Government more than 150,000,000 pieces have been handled in the parcels post, and the scheme is considered beyond the experimental stage. The only drawback seems to be the limit of weight and should that be removed we can imagine some express companies throwing up the sponge.

Judge DeMeza is to be commended for revoking the license of a chauffeur found guilty of exceeding the speed limit. Desperate cases need desperate remedies and the way to put a stop to this practise of recklessly driving automobiles through the streets is to revoke the license of every offender.

Oh, very well, but didn't the doctor tell us that you can't come back when once you pass fifty?

MARTINE OPPOSES SLAUGHTER OF FISH

Wanton Killing of Salmon in Alaskan Waters Subject of Resolution.

Washington, April 7.—Disgusted with the wanton slaughter day after day of millions of salmon and other fishes in Alaskan waters by a combination of men who have placed immense fish traps at different points in those waters, which catch the fish in vast masses, piling them so high in the traps that the mass is at times so great that the fish underneath are literally ground to a pulp, and thus their food value is destroyed, either for the canneries or other commercial purposes—Senate Martine has determined to put an end to it. He will introduce the following resolution in the Senate immediately after it convenes today:

"Resolved, That the maintenance and use in the waters in and adjacent to the territory of Alaska of what is known as fish traps is forbidden.

"Resolved, Further, that any party or persons who shall construct such fish traps or similar devices in which to impound fish, shall, upon conviction, pay to the Government of the United States the sum of five hundred dollars for each and every offense."

WAYWARD GIRL'S MOTHER ATTACKS DETECTIVE FLYNN

Since Freida Richter, of 822 East Second street, escaped from the State Home for Girls in Trenton several weeks ago, the police of this city have been on the lookout for her and this morning she was apprehended at her home, where it is thought she went immediately after gaining her liberty. When brought to police headquarters her mother, Mrs. Bertha Richter, accompanied her. While Chief Kiely was to luncheon the mother, who was in a "pugilistic" state of mind, attacked Detective Sergeant John Flynn, who was in charge. A lively encounter followed, which resulted in Mrs. Richter's official arrest on a charge of assault and battery. She will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza.

Miss Richter was sent back to the home in charge of Miss Dullard, who came to Plainfield this morning.

The ceremony was performed in the Marble Collegiate church, New York city, and was the culmination of a two years' courtship. The elopment and marriage took place on the bridegroom's birthday, when he became twenty-three years of age.

MONTENEGRO TO FIGHT FOR SCUTARI.

NICHOLAS I

King Nicholas, of Montenegro, is determined to capture and hold Scutari according to reports at Cettinje, where it is declared that the King made the following statement:—

"I assure you that I and my people mean to keep the land we have retaken during the war. We mean to take Scutari and mean to keep it. That is the dominating impulse of the Montenegrins, who know too well that it is far better to die fighting than to go on living as we are doing now."

The King stated that the possession of the fertile lands of the Zeta Valley was a question of life and death to his country and that his people were prepared to defy the will of Europe and fight for victory or extermination.

"Scutari will be my capital in the future," declared the King in conclusion

ANNUAL SPRING FOOTWEAR EXHIBIT

A magnificent presentation of the newest creations of high class footwear.

The shoe is as important a factor in the wardrobe nowadays as the hat or glove. A woman would no more think of wearing ill-looking footwear with a new hat or dress than she would deign to wear a pair of soiled gloves. And so we pay as much attention to our shoes as we do to our millinery, waists or costumes.

Our "Princess Bee" $3.00 Shoe

Here's where we've made a host of friends with the women who appreciate something really good at a popular price. We give more style and better quality in $3.00 footwear than you can find anywhere else under the sun. Over 100 styles in boots, pumps, ties and slippers, and they are all well made and all right up to the minute in style—they're right in every way. Our pumps at $3.00 fit and look as well as any at $5.00.

Patent Leather Button Shoes with black cloth tops are very popular, and we've a number of good styles at....$3.00, $4.00 and $5.00

IMPORTANT BILLS WILL BE DEALT WITH IN EXTRA SESSION

Tariff, Appropriations and Philippine Independence on Schedule.

New Men to Large Extent Are In Control of Legislative Body.

ALL indications point to the consideration of several extremely important legislative matters in the forthcoming extra session of congress. First and foremost, of course, there will be the revision of the tariff; then there will be two appropriation bills, the discussion of an income tax, with probable provision also for an inheritance tax; the Panama canal tolls, discussion of Philippine independence and consideration of currency bills and of anti-trust measures.

To perform all these labors is a set of almost entirely new statesmen. The great body of men in the house have not been through the smoking battles of past experience, as had been their predecessors. But it appears that the representatives, by reason of the strong Democratic majority, will be in harmonious working order.

The Democrats have been in the minority for sixteen long years and will, of course, be a trifle unskilled in the active control of national affairs.

It has become quite clear from the expressed unanimity of the Democratic majority on most tariff details that the tariff will be revised downward in a substantial fashion. To the minds of Republicans who have fought for protection the reductions will probably seem radical, but to the extreme free traders of the Democratic camp they will seem slight.

© by American Press Association.

SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK.

Methods of Handling Tariff.

Two modes of procedure in the handling of this big question have been considered. To prepare the tariff bill as one general measure would have been the ordinary plan, but to take up the question schedule by schedule has been advanced as the more desirable way. The revisionists feel pretty well assured that if they launch into reduction of import levies with a dauntless hand and present their proposition to the senate in the form of a general bill their purpose will be defeated. The Democratic majority in the senate is perilously slim. It would take but a few Democrats in that body to find fault with a measure, step over to the Republicans and thus destroy the bill.

By taking up the tariff schedule by schedule most of the items of reduction can be put through. For instance, Democrats who find fault with reduction in a particular measure affecting their district would be offset by Republicans from other sections. Of course, in case the piecemeal system is resorted to, there probably will be some of the schedules defeated, and the net result will be an uneven revision of the whole tariff list.

The chances are that scant attention will be given by the public to the daily battles, harangues, debates and problems carried out in the house over the tariff. Whereas this subject is one in which the whole country is vitally interested, it has been worn so thoroughly threadbare that the public has little time to waste on further argument upon it. Just now all Mr. Common People wants is to have his servants at Washington get the matter disposed of and then tell him what the results are. The country will be deeply interested to know the results.

Ways and Means Committee Busy.

The ways and means committee will probably have the job of appointing other committees during the extra session. It has been made known that the powers in this appointing body do not want to make the appointments at the coming session. They realize, reasonably enough, that when they name the committees they will only be storing up a grist of new work in the form of immediate bills to be prepared by their appointees. The Democrats probably will demand the appointments.

With reference to the income tax, which is one measure that is assured, much has been said about the probability of an inheritance tax also. There is a strong sentiment in favor of the passage of a levy on inheritances, due to the fact that the income tax is not adequate to produce sufficient revenue.

About twenty years ago the Democrats passed an income tax law, but it was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. The constitution has been amended, and now the tax is constitutional. The plan is to have all incomes of over $5,000 levied upon. In the minds of those who, on behalf of the government, are turning covetous eyes toward inheritances the tax upon only $5,000 incomes and over will strike only a comparatively small proportion of the public. The revenue will not be nearly enough, they argue.

The Inheritance Tax.

It is asserted that to take a tithe from inheritance would work no one any injury and would bring the revenue up to the desired volume. This is the way these theorists argue: The inheritance really belongs to no one, since the person who left it is dead and the person to whom it is left has not yet received it nor ever previously possessed it. Thus to take a portion of it away for Uncle Sam's use would be robbing no one, say the inheritance taxers.

There has been a report from a pretty substantial source that powerful interests are preparing to fight the income tax. According to this report, a number of men who possess wealth well up into the millions and who would be separated from big sums of money by the proposed law have combined to launch a lobby against the measure. If such opposition does arise the country will be treated to an interesting controversy.

If a few such obstacles to purposed legislation arise the extra session in all probability will last until fall.

New Men Control House.

With the exception of Champ Clark there are new men in charge of things in the house. Speaker Clark, Jones of Virginia and Talbott of Maryland are the only members who were in congress when the Democrats were in power previously.

Sharing power with Speaker Clark is Oscar W. Underwood, who once was a formidable possibility for nomination as presidential candidate and who is now the leader of the Democracy in the house. Mr. Underwood heads the committee on ways and means and has an effective set of men as his followers in that group, including Francis Burton Harrison of New York, Shackleford of Missouri, Kitchin of North Carolina, Hammond of Minnesota, Peters of Massachusetts, Palmer of Pennsylvania, Ansberry of Ohio, Garner of Texas, Stanley of Kentucky, Rainey of Illinois and Dixon of Indiana.

Representative John J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, is another one of the leading factors in congress. His committee handles the sinews of war for many other committees and for the various departments.

The Appropriation Bills.

There are in particular two big appropriation bills which may come up. It is probable, however, that the bills will not formally come before the committee, either in the house or senate, as the plan to have Chairman Fitzgerald take one and Chairman Stephens the other and pass it has been strongly supported.

Other Democrats besides Underwood who amount to "some shucks" in the house and who gained their prominence in recent years are:

Goldfogle and George of New York, Kinkead, Hamill and McCoy of New Jersey; Clayton and Hobson of Alabama, Oldfield and Floyd of Arkansas, Raker of California, Taylor of Colorado, Sparkman and Clark of Florida, Adamson, Hardwick and Crisp of Georgia; Buchanan, Sabath and Graham of Illinois; Cullop, Moss, Adair and Barnhart of Indiana; Sherley of Kentucky, Brussard and Estopinal of Louisiana, McGillicuddy of Maine, Lewis of Maryland, Sisson and Humphreys of Mississippi, Rucker, Lloyd, Hensley and Borland of Missouri; Small, Pou, Page and Webb of North Carolina; Sharpe and Ashbrooke of Ohio, Ferris and Carter of Oklahoma, Johnson and Lever of South Carolina, Moon, Padgett, Sims and Garrett of Tennessee; Beall, Henry, Slayden and Smith of Texas, and Jones, Saunders, Glass, Hay and Flood of Virginia.

During the readjustments that have naturally occurred with the establishment of new members in the senate much has been said recently about the old seniority rule. Those comparatively young, untried, but presumptuous new senators have absolutely disregarded the old conventionality by pushing new men into the important positions and sidetracking certain old warhorses who in former times would have been given precedence.

© by American Press Association.

THE CAPITOL BUILDING.

The Case of Senator Kern.

This overturning of convention is particularly well illustrated in the case of John W. Kern of Indiana.

Senator Kern, whose name was virtually unknown twenty years ago, when Democrats had their say, is now leader of the senate and chairman of the caucus. Others who are ripping up old senate institutions by holding leadership are O'Gorman of New York, Gore and Owen of Oklahoma, Stone of Missouri, Smith of Georgia, Lea of Tennessee, Smith of South Carolina, Chamberlain of Oregon, Shively of Indiana and Pomerene of Ohio.

Much speculation has been indulged in as to whether President Wilson will visit the capitol and give personal advice on legislative matters. President Wilson some time ago expressed his disposition toward adopting that practice, but since then he has got into close touch with members of congress and has learned he can have access to the members before the sessions each day without going to the capitol.

Wilson Favors Currency Laws.

One measure that President Wilson is known to favor particularly for early passage is a new law, or possibly several laws, on the currency. Leaders of congress, however, have expressed the belief that there will be no time to take up the money laws question on account of the tariff. It is feared that if the currency question comes up all the different theorists on the remodeling of money affairs will cut loose and exploit their various beliefs to the disadvantage of the tariff law.

The question of granting or not granting independence to the Philippine Islands is looked upon as a peremptory subject. The last four Democratic platforms have contained planks favoring the liberation of the islands. On the other hand, President Wilson has signified his intention of sending several representatives to the Philippines to personally investigate the conditions there and report to him.

MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING, HATS & FURNISHINGS

When sewing machines were an experiment, we were making clothes by hand.

We have been carrying on this business on the same site since 1856—a proof, we think, of our ability to give men what they want in clothes.

While we have kept pace with the newest ideas in styles and abreast of all modern clothing-requirements, we have never varied from our original and steadfast ideals and notions of honesty.

We still hand-sew the major portion of every garment we make, while most ready-to-wear clothes are almost entirely machine-made.

We still hand-work with the needle our garments as we did in years gone by, thus insuring a dollar's worth of value for every dollar we charge.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE AT PARK AVENUE BAPTIST

A large congregation listened to a forceful and eloquent sermon on the subject "Father and Son," by Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening. The preacher took for his text, Gen. 22:1-2, "And it came to pass after these things that God did tempt Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham; and he said, behold, here I am. And he said, take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of."

The pastor depicted most graphically this story of implicit faith and perfect obedience. The service was exceedingly impressive, and closed with an earnest appeal to the unconverted to turn to God, and to the professing christians to follow the leadings of their Lord, no matter what the cost may be.

A Money-Saving Boiler
Square Pot Boilers operate economically. Their fuel consumption is comparatively small, their heat-delivering power comparatively large. The reason of this superior economic efficiency lies in the firepot. This is square at bottom and round at top—a form that gives greatly increased radiating surface over the ordinary round pot. Here is a sectional view of the economical Square Pot Boilers.

Note the nearness of interior water-holding sections to fire—upward trend of surfaces and capacious feed door and square firepot.
This arrangement gives free steaming and develops high efficiency on little fuel.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

GRAHAM FLOUR CAKES.

GOOD graham flour is wholesome. It is made by grinding the whole grain of wheat and omitting the final sifting that in the process of flour manufacture is known as bolting.

Good For Dyspeptics.

Graham Gems.—Take a pint of graham flour and the same quantity of sweet milk. Stir these together, adding salt to taste. Do not try to get the batter very smooth. Put your gem pans on the stove to heat. Butter each pan, pour in the batter and set in the oven. Bake for twenty minutes. The heating of the pans before buttering them and pouring in the batter accelerates the raising of the gems and gives them a delicious crisp crust.

Graham Apple Turnovers.—These are so wholesome that even a dyspeptic can eat them without ill results. Take a pint of graham flour and into it mix a teaspoonful of salt. Wet with sufficient boiling water to make a paste. Roll very thin and cut into rounds about four inches in diameter. Place a spoonful of apple sauce in the center of each and fold over. Bake on buttered pans in a hot oven.

Nice For the Children.

Graham Sweet Cakes.—Take a quarter of a pound of granulated sugar, a half cupful of sour cream, a half teaspoonful each of soda and salt, a large cupful of sifted graham flour and enough white flour to make it convenient to handle. Place the cream in a mixing bowl with the soda. Stir these together and then add the salt, sugar and flour. Stir until stiff. Sprinkle white flour on a baking board, shape the dough into a ball and roll very thin. Cut into oblongs three-quarters of an inch by three inches. Prick the tops of the cakes with a fork, sprinkle with sugar and bake in a slow oven until crisp and brown.

Graham Fingers.—Take a pint each of graham and wheat flour, a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a tablespoonful of butter and three-fourths of a pint of milk. Sift the graham and wheat flours together with the salt and baking powder; then rub in the shortening. Add the milk and mix to a stiff dough. Flour the baking board, turn the dough out on it and shape into little rolls the size and shape of the forefinger. Place on a baking pan which has been buttered. Coat the surfaces with milk applied with a soft brush. Bake for about ten minutes in a hot oven.

Points for Mothers

The Kindergarten Child.

After the child has passed his third year and enters the kindergarten period the mother often relaxes her care in regulating his diet, allowing him to eat when and what he pleases—in fact, this is often done long before the period of infancy is past, thus cultivating a perverted taste for food detrimental to his health and mental development, says Emily Riesenberg. Mothers often say they have no time to cook extras for the children, but will spend weary hours sewing or laundering useless frills for them while their darlings are either under or over fed. A good way for the mother who does her own work is to give the children their main meal at noon, when she can devote more time to its preparation; then while cooking the evening dinner she can set a little table in the kitchen, giving them an early supper, and if she is at all clever she will make them consider this a privilege rather than a deprivation.

Never begin the habit of warming their milk with tea or coffee. The milk is easily warmed by placing the pitcher in a pan of hot water, and should the child tire of drinking milk from a cup a cute little mug with some sippets or straws, used when serving lemonade, will prove an inducement. Clear broth or gruel can also be served in this way, as it is easier than handling a spoon or cup. As the child of this period needs food at frequent intervals a little luncheon should be given between the regular meals, and when attending kindergarten this may be put up in a small basket. Be sure to wrap the food in waxed paper and inclose a paper napkin to wipe the child's mouth and hands. For the small child at home a little bread and milk, with a lump of sugar to satisfy the natural craving for sweets, or bread and butter with a sprinkling of sugar is sufficient, and when packing a kindergarten lunch remember to give just enough to break his fast, but not enough to impair a healthy appetite for the noon dinner.

Beauty In Children.

It depends largely on the parents whether a plain child or even a beautiful one grows up good looking. Among other matters that spoil beauty, an authority points out that, quite apart from their color, bad teeth can quite destroy the distinctive expression of the face. "Only lately have we come to realize how large a part the state of the teeth play in our personal appearance.

"Plenty of foolish people who would consult a dentist for decay in a front tooth will be quite indifferent to the destruction of their molars.

"Parents are constantly guilty in this respect, and so are young girls who are really deeply interested in their personal appearance and are perhaps not above applying to their faces a kind of beauty which is not even skin deep.

"Yet what happens if we lose our back teeth in early life?

"The chewing must be done somehow, and so the front teeth are called upon to do it.

"They were made for biting into things, but not for chewing, and when we ask them to perform the mastication which should have devolved upon our lost grinders they are liable to lose their perpendicularity and begin to protrude.

"It is very nearly all up with beauty now. No one likes projecting teeth, and no one should, for they are morbid and an indication that something has gone wrong somewhere.

"Not only are they ugly in themselves, but they are liable to make it difficult to keep the lips closed, and the open mouth through which projecting teeth appear is an aesthetic disaster.

"Yet if the possessor had not been so foolish as to think that back teeth, which are not seen, do not matter, it might have been averted."

The New Portable Crib.

Quite the latest thing in babyland is a crib designed and made for use out of doors, to wheel from room to room and especially constructed for easy transportation.

The crib is made of white enameled wood, with foot and head board of fine steel wire netting, covered on the inside with a metal finish to prevent the baby from hurting his hands on any rough edges. The crib rests on four wheels, which enable it to be moved very easily. Its wire spring and its floss mattress may be raised to three different heights by means of screw eyes.

A mosquito netting is adjusted at one end and shaped so that it can be pulled over the ends of the bed and made quite secure. This netting, together with the wire sides, which allow the air to circulate around the crib, makes it ideal for use under the trees or anywhere out of doors. No insects or bugs can annoy the sleeping baby.

The entire crib comes apart and with wire spring and mattress can be placed in a large canvas bag, which comes with it. Pockets in the bag are made for the wheels, so that they cannot soil the mattress. In this manner the crib can be sent from place to place, and this easy way of packing will be found a wonderful convenience, as often hotels do not supply babies' cribs.

HARVARD STUDENT OF NINETEEN ON WAY TO EUROPE WITH HIS PRETTY BRIDE

Among the passengers on board the Lapland, bound for Antwerp, there is at least one bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dana Skinner, who will spend their honeymoon in romantic and picturesque centres of France, Italy and Switzerland. They will return to America in the summer, and Mr. Skinner, who, although only nineteen, is well known as a writer for magazines, will prepare to complete his studies at Harvard.

Mrs. Skinner was Miss Maragret Mary Hill, daughter of Mrs. Dora M. Hill, of Washington, D. C. Her marriage in the chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral was marked by simplicity, owing to the illness of the bridegroom's father, Mr. Henry W. Skinner, of Detroit and Boston. Mr. Skinner's condition had so much improved that he and Mrs. Skinner were able to accompany the young couple abroad.

The bride has been active in the younger social set in Washington and it was expected that she would be married there.

REINSTATES EXEMPT FIREMAN.

Trenton, April 7.—Affirming the constitutionality of the act of 1911 protecting exempt firemen in office, the Supreme Court has set aside the action of the city commissioners of Atlantic City in dismissing John W. Garey from his position as assistant health inspector. The commission sought to justify the discharge of Garey upon a number of grounds. Meeting the argument that he was protected by the exempt firemen's act the commission claimed that any protection he might otherwise have claimed was voided by the fact that he had failed to record with the county clerk his certificate as an exempt member of the volunteer fire department. In disposing of this, Justice Trenchard pointed out for the court that the law does not require that such a certificate be recorded, and the mere fact that such a provision was contained in the certificate itself could not be held to be binding upon Garey.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MUGGSY.

New York, April 7.—John J. McGraw, the veteran manager of the New York Giants and reputed to be the highest salaried pilot in any of the leagues, received a flood of congratulations from fans and friends today on the occasion of his fortieth birthday anniversary. McGraw first became identified with the national game nearly a quarter of a century ago, when as a youngster he joined a professional team at Olean, N. Y. After two seasons in the minor leagues he made his debut in the National League as a member of the Baltimore team. He remained with the old Orioles from 1892 to 1899. The next year he played with St. Louis and the next year he returned to Baltimore to manage the local team in the new American League. Since 1902 he has been in charge of the Giants.

FIRE WRECKS $6,000 HOUSE.

Highlands, April 7.—Fire on Saturday destroyed a house here owned by Jacob Simmons, with its contents. The building was situated on the hill near the "twin lights" and made a blaze which was visible for several miles along the North Jersey shore. The owner says the building cost $6,000, and that it was fully insured, but there was no insurance on the furniture, he declared. Mr. Simmons and his family vacated the house two days ago and moved to an adjoining house owned by him. He says he expected to rent the dwelling that was burned the coming season.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Denton, Texas, April 7.—Mrs. Fannie Flanary, accused of the murder of her husband, was placed on trial here today, and the task of procuring a jury was commenced. The case was brought here on change of venue from Dallas, where the alleged murder occurred some months ago. Mrs. Flanary shot and killed her husband in a hotel where he was employed as a clerk. The tragedy is said to have resulted from the husband's alleged attentions to other women.

JACK JOHNSON'S TRIAL DATES.

Chicago, Ill., April 7.—The trial of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, on an indictment charging him with smuggling a diamond necklace into this country from England, was scheduled to begin in the United States district court here today, but by an agreement of court and counsel the case has been put over until April 23. After the case of alleged smuggling has been disposed of Johnson will be tried on a charge of violating the Mann White Slave Act.

LONG HATPIN UNDER BAN.

Boston, Mass., April 7.—Those women of Massachusetts who do not cover the points of their hatpins with some device that will protect the public from injury are liable to a heavy fine, according to the provisions of a State law that went into effect today. The act does not restrict the length of pins, nor does it specify how they are to be rendered harmless. The method is left to the discretion of the wearer.

THERE ARE SENORITAS AND SENORITAS

"MAC" SAYS

Local baseball was ushered into Plainfield with a flourish Saturday afternoon. It seldom happens that both High Schools start their season's schedules on the same date.

North Plainfield's win was something to be proud of, not only because of the fact that they walloped their old rivals, New Brunswick High School, but because this was the first victory for the boroughites since the 1911 season. All last season N. P. H. S. failed to land a single win.

Camp Bowser repeated history by triumphing over the city school boys. P. H. S. has failed in the last six attempts to overcome the graduate nine.

What the Commercials did to Scotch Plains Saturday afternoon was enough to establish their superiority claims. The Plains boys did not have a single practice before the initial game, however.

"Dedicated to Beckman."

That third Nonpareil-Trenton Y. M. C. A. game will be played in the course of another week, don't get peevish or impatient. Just hold tight to that twenty-five cents you have been saving for the past month and your opportunity will come sooner or later. "Smatter Becky."

Our friend "Jack" Martin played right field for the New York Yankees in the game against Jersey City yesterday afternoon. He led off the batting at that.

Hope chapel's practice Saturday afternoon brought out a good array of promising material for Captain Snyder to work with. Bergen, the catcher, who was said to be playing with the Hopes, however, failed to show up and it is said that he will play with faster company, probably in some league.

A score of 17 to 0 was a good starter for the Y. M. A. A. aggregation. The Putnam A. C. was no mean rival at that and Vail's twirling was a feature of the contest. The winning pitcher struck out eleven in four innings and held the side hitless while he pitched.

SOME CATCH.

Claude Derrick made his claim to the Yankee shortstop position all the more imposing yesterday afternoon in the game with Jersey City, when the big Dutchman, who is Jack Martin's rival for the shortfield berth, pulled off a marvelous catch that was the brightest spot in the game. Kelly, the Skeeter left fielder, drove a smashing liner through the air some distance above Derrick's cap. It was going so fast that the Yankee shortstop didn't have any time to think. He just, in some way or other, leaped on high and the tip of his glove checked the course of the sphere, and as it came tumbling down the roaring hot ball carelessly nestled in Derrick's other hand. The crowd gasped with surprise, and then broke into a storm of applause. Jack Martin played right field.

HOPES FIRST GAME.

Captain Allen Snyder, of the Hope chapel baseball team, had a large and promising squad on Hope Common Saturday afternoon for the first tryout of the season. He was well pleased with the showing made and from present appearances it looks as though Hope would have an even stronger lineup than it did last season. A practice game has been arranged with the West End A. C. and will be played at Hope Common next Saturday afternoon.

INTERCLASS BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Baseball enthusiasts at the Plainfield High School have organized an interclass baseball league to be run on the same principal as the interclass basketball league which has just closed such a successful season. All four classes will be represented and a silver trophy will probably be awarded to the winner.

The Easter music will be repeated in full at the 11 o'clock service at St. Stephen's church, tomorrow morning.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

GAME WAS SHORT; SO WERE THE HITS

Vail Holds Putnam Sluggers Hitless During His Reign on the Mound.

Ira Vail's gilt-edged twirling paved the way to a 17 to 0 victory for the Young Men's Athletic Association baseball team in its opening clash of the season Saturday afternoon against the Putnam A. C. aggregation. Although but five innings were played, this short period was plenty long enough to establish the winner's superiority, for the victorious twirler, during the four innings he graced the mound, caused eleven batters to whiff the air and held the Putnam's hitless. Stewart was sent in by Manager Conger in the last inning and his pitching was equally as good, but Green spoiled a no-hit, no-run game for the winners by touching up Stewart for a single.

Both sides put up a good article of baseball considering the fact that this was the opening game for each. The winners have been holding frequent practices and to this fact probably was due their good showing. The loser's erratic fielding marred the contest to some extent, fourteen errors being their contribution during the course of the afternoon.

FIRST BAPTIST'S TRYOUT.

First Baptist baseball candidates were treated to their first drill of the season on their new grounds at the corner of West Front street and Grant avenue Saturday afternoon, a large squad being on hand to try for the various open positions. Most of last year's veterans have returned and several cracker jack new players have put in their appearance.

LEALS SUFFER DEFEAT.

Leal School opened its baseball season Saturday afternoon at Cricket Field with a game against the Clinkers, of Somerville. No box score of the contest was kept but Leals lost out by a count of 8 to 3.

TRYOUT AND PRACTISE GAME FOR PARK AVENUE

Park Avenue Baptist baseball players were treated to their first tryout Saturday afternoon in the form of a practice game with the West End A. C., a strong amateur combination of this city. From the 10 to 2 count tallied by the Parks, it would seem as though that aggregation was hot on the trail of the Sunday-school pennant this year. Saturday's contest enabled Manager Edward Mosher to get a line on the material available for a cracker jack lineup and out of the fourteen players who turned out he thinks he has the makings of one of the best contenders in the league.

The West Ends were unable to tally a single run until the ninth stanza, when George Gage, who relieved Mosher behind the bat, threw wild over third base, and allowed two of the opposing base runners to count. Ellison, the deaf and dumb infielder, will likely be used to play third base during the coming season, but Fredericks, the Morristown shortstop, will probably be shifted to the outfield and Ray Mosher will be brought into the shortfield. Manager Mosher will do the back stop work for the team.

The lineups:

PLAINFIELD THIRD IN NEWARK EVENTS

Two Local Y. M. C. A. Athletes Annex Prizes at State Meet—106 Entries.

Plainfield Y. M. C. A. junior athletes came out third with six points to their credit in the State Y. M. C. A. indoor meet for boys' departments conducted at the Newark Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, Morris Mann taking first place in the three standing broad jumps with a mark of 28 feet, 5½ inches; while Morris Lavere took third in the same event. There were 106 entries in the meet and the three standing broad jump was the only event in which Plainfield figured.

Newark swept the boards, getting 67 out of a possible 135 points during the evening. Paterson and Hudson City landed in second place tying with 27 points each. Richardson's of Newark, mark in the shot-put and Mann's leap were the feature events of the evening. Seven Y. M. C. A. teams were represented in the meet.

N. P. H. S. STARTS OFF WITH VICTORY

First Winning Contest in Two Years for the Borough Baseball Players.

North Plainfield High School opened its 1913 baseball season auspiciously Saturday afternoon by taking the New Brunswick High School nine into camp with a count of 11 to 1. Timely hitting and clean fielding spelled victory for the boroughites, who played in mid-season form, although they have had but few outdoor practises. Ernie Stahl made his debut as an N. P. H. S. twirler and pitched a stellar article of ball, allowing but five singles, and in the first inning he displayed something out of the ordinary by retiring the first trio of men to face him on strikes.

N. P. H. S. had but one shady inning and that was the eighth, when Stahl allowed the bases to become choked with no outs, but he again showed his mastery by disposing of the next three men and held his opponents' scoreless during that stanza. Young Stahl is only a grammar school product and has a great future in High School woolens before him if his performance of Saturday may be taken as a criterion. Up to the fifth inning the visitors advanced no further than second base. N. P. H. S. made but two errors against its opponents' six, all of which were well scattered, most of the eleven runs being the direct result of hard clouting.

CAMP BOWSER AT ITS OLD TRICKS

P. H. S. Forced to Swallow a Defeat in Opening Game of the Season.

Camp Bowser repeated history Saturday afternoon, when it chalked up one of its annual victories over the Plainfield High School undergraduate nine which was playing its initial contest of the season, by a score of 3 to 1. The game was a good one from both a fielding and hitting point of view, the infielders picking up fast grounders in mid-season form and the garden protectors of both aggregations performed creditably.

Van Zandt proved a puzzle to his former team-mates, allowing but four scattered hits. Woodhull also twirled a steady game and his work Saturday was some of the best he has done while wearing a P. H. S. uniform. The positions on the Plainfield team were practically decided upon Saturday afternoon, when Captain Good picked what he thought to be the best nine players to place against the Camp Bowser aggregation, which is nearly entirely made up of Plainfield High School graduates and former P. H. S. baseball players. Howard Craig's playing was by far the feature part of the contest, and his clouts told the tale of victory for the schoolboys.

HUNT CLUB'S RIDERS FOLLOW THE HOUNDS

The Watchung Hunt Club began its active season on Saturday with its first chase of the season, despite the heavy going. The hounds were met at the Plainfield Horse Show Grounds, the chase leading straight to Dog Corners, crossing the horse show grounds, the Terry, Scudder, Mayer and Compton farms. The first check was at Dog Corners.

The scent was again taken up and the run continued to Mt. Pleasant, crossing the Kelly, TenEyck and Force farms, checking on the Compton farm. As the going was very heavy and the hounds were unusually fast, only the following were able to finish: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; Miss Gertrude Noe, F. D. French, H. L. Finch, Beverley Brown, E. R. Finch and Huntsman Harrison.

RELAY PRACTISE.

Candidates for the Plainfield High School class relay teams entered in the class meet to be held at Parker Field next Saturday afternoon will be accorded tryouts at Parker Field during the next three days. The sophomores will work out this afternoon, the seniors and juniors tomorrow afternoon and the freshmen Wednesday afternoon.

COMMERCIALS IN THE LEAD.

Playing at Scotch Plains Parish House Saturday afternoon the Commercial A. C., of this city, defeated the Parish House team by a score of 15 to 3. No box score was kept by either manager.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL TO A SOMERVILLE MAN

Somerville, April 7.—Ira Voorhees, aged sixty-two years, died at his home here yesterday morning, as the result of injuries received while at work on last Thursday. He was employed by Smith-Schoonmaker Company, in charge of their planing mills, and in placing a board in the machine was injured about the stomach.

Mr. Voorhees had recently sold his property on South street, and moved to the building belonging to S. S. Packer only a week or so ago. He had been a sufferer from asthma for some time, although he continued at his work. He was a member of the Second Reformed church. He is survived by a wife, but no children.

TRAGIC LOSS OF SCOTT PARTY IS SHOCK TO WORLD

Intrepid Captain and Four of His Men Had Reached Pole and Were Returning.

Story of Venture Is Told by Member of First Party.

NEWS of the appalling disaster which caused the death of Captain Robert F. Scott and four of his men recently shocked the world. It brings to timeliness the interesting story of the great venture into the antarctic regions. Those lost besides Captain Scott were:

Lieutenant E. R. Evans, R. N., second in command of the proposed western party.

Lieutenant H. R. Bowers, Royal Indian marine.

Captain L. E. G. Oates, in charge of ponies and dogs.

Captain Scott, with his associate party of scientists and big crew of sailors, had been on a farreaching scientific quest, which included finding the south pole as merely an incidental. The venturers were found dead, the victims of a fierce blizzard which caught them on their return, after having had complete success in reaching the pole. The ship Terra Nova, which had taken the party into the antarctic and had gone to bring it back, discovered the tragedy.

Captain Scott arrived Jan. 18, 1912, at the south pole reached by Roald Amundsen. Amundsen had come to his final halt there one month and one day before. The Norwegian flag which he had planted there was found flying by Captain Scott. Documents found on the bodies of the dead recounted these facts.

This news came to London first in unconfirmed rumors and then in a cablegram from Oamaru, New Zealand, reporting that the Terra Nova had announced her early return by wireless "because of a grave calamity" to the Scott expedition.

In all the history of arctic or antarctic exploration there has been no fatality to equal the death of Captain Scott and his men. Other expeditions have perished from cold, from starvation or shipwreck; the bodies of other scientists have been found emaciated in the snow, and perhaps some of these had discovered the pole they sought, but there is no parallel of a polar hunt swiftly and scientifically accomplished, with accurate records set down, which was cut cut off at its very termination.

A Continent of Death.

The antarctic has long been known as a continent of death. It has neither the flora nor the fauna of the arctic. An occasional penquin or a migratory seal may be found near the ocean, but the interior has always been a whited waste. Captain Scott and his men inhabited the continent longer probably than any other human beings, and it was as if one of the diabolical blizzards which swirl across the high plateaus had determined to exact from them before they could escape the price paid by all other life in its frozen area.

The circumstance is particularly tragic from the fact that Roald Amundsen only a month before had come and gone in weather so exceptionally balmy that the Norwegian has been inclined to discount the reports of earlier explorers of the blighting winds of the plateau. That he was somewhat earlier than Scott had something to do with it, but the choice of routes also contributed to the ease of Amundsen's journey.

Captain Scott selected the same route he had taken in his first expedition, 1902-4, and later by Shackleton, pushing up the mountains from McMurdo sound and reaching high altitude early in the march as well as exposing the party to the blizzards almost from first to last.

Report of a Member.

Writing to the London Times on Captain Scott's plans and purposes, Herbert G. Ponting, a member of the original western party, who returned some time ago, denied that Captain Scott was ever in the race for the south pole, but was leading a great scientific expedition and confined his attention to that object. This report from one of the explorers is interesting. It is as follows:

"Since my return to England from the antarctic, having completed my work of illustrating Captain Scott's expedition, I have found that much misapprehension exists in regard to the objects of that enterprise. The popular idea that there has been a race to the south pole is an error. Captain Scott has not been racing, nor has he been engaged upon a mere dash to the pole. He is leading a great scientific expedition—perhaps the greatest ever sent out from England—and the reaching of the south pole was but an incident in the extensive program of work mapped out. To race would have been to jeopardize the success of the main objects of the expedition, and Captain Scott would not allow the presence of a rival in the field to move him from the course which he considered wisest and best.

"Within four months of our departure from New Zealand he had lost nine ponies out of nineteen, nearly half the total transport on which he was chiefly relying. It would be impossible to overstate the seriousness of this loss. Had two or three more ponies succlumbed it is doubtful whether the main objects of the expedition could ever have been achieved, as in this work success is entirely dependent on the transport of a certain amount of food. It was principally due to this misfortune that Captain Scott did not start on the polar journey till Nov. 1. His original plans provided for leaving Cape Evans on Oct. 1, but October is a very cold and tempestuous month, and to have exposed the remaining transport animals to the additional hardships which this weather would have entailed would have involved too grave a risk. He therefore reluctantly postponed his start for a month. That month probably lost for Captain Scott the honor of being first at the south pole.

Not Engrossed In Polar Quest.

"Among the congratulations to Captain Amundsen on his achievement those of Captain Scott will be the heartiest of all. More than any other man can be appreciate what it means to press such an enterprise to success. Captain Scott himself would have welcomed October's hardships, for that is a word I have never heard either him or any member of the landing party use, but he would not allow any really unnecessary exposure and risk to the animals he was dependent on to mar his chance of reaching the desired goal, as failure to get to the pole last season would have meant also the ruin of all this season's plans. He told me that he was much more interested in the work mapped out for this season and considered it of greater geographical importance than reaching the pole.

"When the last supporting party, led by Lieutenant (now Commander) Evans, left Captain Scott on Jan. 4 the polar party were only 145 miles from the goal of their hopes and in excellent health and spirits and were traveling at the rate of fifteen miles a day. All being well, the pole should therefore have been reached about Jan. 15 last. Caches of food had been made every sixty miles along the route. There was ample for the explorers to enjoy full rations on the whole return journey. The party were expected back at Hut Point, fifteen miles from Cape Evans, where the Terra Nova was waiting for them, about March 15, but on March 5 the sea was freezing so rapidly that Lieutenant Pennell, then commanding the ship, considered it unwise to remain longer, owing to the hourly increasing risk that the ship would be frozen in. It is unfortunate that we were unable to remain a week or ten days longer, as we should almost certainly have brought back with us the news that Captain Scott had reached the pole about Jan. 15. He and his companions probably returned to winter quarters before the end of March. No further news can be received from him until the Terra Nova again returns from the far south, about the end of next March. The members who accompanied Captain Scott to the pole are Dr. Edward Wilson, Captain L. E. G. Oates, Lieutenant Bowers and Petty Officer Evans.

"Captain Scott has tremendous staying power and any amount of energy of the right kind—the kind that sets a steady pace and keeps it up all day. If love of his work can pull him through we shall hear next year that he has not failed to accomplish all to which he has set his hand."

Captain Scott's Life.

Captain Robert Falcon Scott, R. N., C. V. O., F. R. G. S., commander of England's most important antarctic expedition, was born at Devonport, England, on June 6, 1868. After attending school at Stubbington House, Fareham, he entered the royal navy at the age of fourteen. As a cadet on board the training ship Britannia he gained some distinction as one of the cadet captains. When Scott's course on the Britannia was completed he was sent to the Cape of Good Hope naval station. He served for two years as a lieutenant on the Rover, which was in the British Pacific service.

The character of his service qualified him to take a special course of training, and as a four, one and two man in his examinations he had the privilege of choosing the subject in which he wished to specialize. He decided to take up torpedo work, and after qualifying in this he received assignments to one ship after another for eight years. After gaining an extra stripe Lieutenant Scott was appointed as a torpedo lieutenant to H. M. S. Majestic, a battleship of the first class and flagship of the channel squadron. His assignment to the Majestic marked the turning point of his career, for his commanders were Sir H. Stephenson and Prince Louis of Battenberg, two arctic enthusiasts who had served under Sir Leopold McClintock on a Northwest passage expedition.

Had to Help Support Family.

About this time it became necessary for Scott to help with the support of his family, and to see what possibilities there were for adding to his lieutenant's salary he went to London. There he met by chance Sir Clements Markham, chairman of the Royal Geographical society, who had previously shown interest in Scott. He suggested to the young lieutenant that he apply for the command of the Discovery, which was then being fitted out to explore the little known antarctic continent.

Scott was chosen from a long list of applicants. He was then twenty-nine years old, healthy, strong and well built. For a year he worked over the provisioning and equipping of his ship and over the selection of his crew and scientific staff. On July 28, 1900, the whaler Discovery left the Thames with forty men, prepared for an expedition to last three years if necessary. The ship reached New Zealand after a rough time in the "roaring forties" and thence sailed for the antarctic regions. Two years of hardship resulted in the conquering of 500 miles more of antarctic snow and ice than any of his predecessors covered.

Upon his return to England many honors were bestowed upon him. The admiralty raised him to the rank of captain, making him the youngest captain in the navy, and the late King Edward made him commander of the Victorian Order. Medals were given him by the Royal Geographical society, Royal Scottish Geographical society and American, Swedish, Danish, Philadelphia and Antwerp Geographical societies. The story of the expedition was published by Captain Scott in "The Voyage of the Discovery," and the two volumes were widely read.

Gets High Post.

The admiralty allowed him three months in which to give lectures, the hardest task he ever undertook, so Captain Scott said. Returning to service in the navy, he was assigned to the intelligence department of the admiralty.

For six years he continued at his desk, but finally "the call of the ice" could no longer be resisted, and he set out to raise funds for fitting out another expedition. After surmounting many difficulties Captain Scott secured the necessary financial assistance and had his expedition ready to start for his ultimate goal, the south pole.

When Captain Scott sailed he left behind a wife, whom he had married two years before, and an eight-months-old son, Peter, "the image of his father." The little fellow's baby idea of his father was a photograph, which he would hug and cover up, saying, "Keep daddy warm."

When word was received by Mrs. Scott last April that her husband intended to remain longer than at first expected she said: "I am not worried about the captain's safety. On the other hand, I am very glad that he availed himself of the opportunity to remain in the south until the objects of his expedition, which was one of scientific research, are accomplished." Only last week Mrs. Scott sailed with her baby from San Francisco for New Zealand, expecting to greet her husband on his arrival there.

Mrs. Scott is a sculptress, and shortly before the start of the fatal expedition she modeled the captain's clean cut features, his broad shoulders and deep chest. His whole bearing bespoke a man of indomitable energy and courage.

TO USE MUSIC ON PRISONERS.

Danville (Ky.) Authorities Adopt Unique Expedient In Court.

Soft music and prayer will be used in the police court at Danville, Ky., to break down stubborn wills of prisoners. Recently a piano was placed in the courtroom by citizens, and it is the plan of Chief of Police Wood to have soft music played while the accused are testifying and then a dirge when sentence is pronounced.

This method of procedure, it is said, will prove effective with keepers of "blind tigers" and other resorts. Heretofore this class of criminals have proceeded to offend again as soon as released.

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.

2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?

3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?

4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.

5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.

6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

KREBS OPPOSES N. P. H. S. CHANGE

Somerset County Superintendent Against Abolishing Borough High School.

ATTACKS THE REPORT

Presents Figures Alleged to Show That Investigators' Findings Were Not Sound—Smalley Concurs With His Opinion.

Somerset County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Krebs appeared before the North Plainfield Board of Education last night and in a short address told the members that the report of the special finance committee that a material saving would be effected if the High School pupils were sent to Plainfield was entirely wrong. He said the saving would only be a matter of several class rooms. His arguments were identical with those presented several months ago by Supervising Principal A. B. Vossler in a report on the subject submitted to the Board of Education at its request. Mr. Krebs also attacked the recommendation of the finance committee that the provision of the tenure of office act as applied by teachers be abolished.

"The assertion that $4,700 can be saved yearly by sending the borough High Schools pupils to the city," said Mr. Krebs, "is an entirely mistaken one and taken from one standpoint that are charged to the High School only. There are numerous expenses that are charged to the High School account, from which the finance committee based its report on this subject, which would continue regardless whether that part of the borough schools was eradicated or not. For instance the hall for athletics is totally charged to the High School, whereas the grammar and primary pupils use the enclosure also. The same applied to light, fuel, telephone, janitor service, etc., all of which expenses would continue at comparatively the same rate. And then, the members of the investigating body based their figures on the rate of ninety-three High School pupils, whereas the average attendance today is 131 and by the time we could make arrangements with the city authorities, this number will increase forty or fifty, so instead of costing the borough $4,650, at the rate of $50 per capita for ninety-

MISS BOSWELL TALKS ON SOCIAL MOVEMENT

Before a large gathering of women interested in social reform, Miss Helen Varick Boswell, of New York city, delivered a lecture at Debele's Hall last night under the auspices of the Women's League of St. Joseph's church, describing the social conditions existing in the Panama Canal zone. She was appointed by ex-President Taft to make an investigation of the social conditions existing in the canal zone and it was from the reports submitted after inquiring into the matter that Miss Boswell made her lecture of last evening.

The talk was arranged especially for women and the speaker dwelt on the points most interesting to the feminine sex. She told of the great work being done in the reform movement and contrasted the conditions existing before the movement started with those prevailing at the present time.

VanArsdale and Privates Rudolph Heinold and Adam Miller. Sergeant Oliver R. Pierson was elected to succeed Lieut. N. H. Hort, resigned.

The question of continuing the use of the administration rooms in the Babcock building was referred to the trustees. Announcement was made that Major William B. Martin will hold a regimental review in Elizabeth, Friday night, May 2.

LIBRARY BOARD ASKING $10,000

Seeks Extra Appropriation to Remodel the Job Male Library Building.

MAKES A STATEMENT

President Alexander Gilbert Tells Why Changes Are Imperative at This Time and Gives Itemized Cost.

The directors of the Plainfield Public Library, through their president, Alexander Gilbert, presented a lengthy petition to the Common Council at its April meeting, last night, in which the Council was requested to make an extra appropriation of $10,000 with which to remodel the Job Male library building. It is claimed that the extensive repairs are urgent.

The directors, according to the petition, have about $8,000 on hand in cash; estimated necessary expenses, eight months, April to December, 1913, when the taxes come in, $6,000, which would leave a balance of $2,000, to which it is desired to add $10,000. Mr. Gilbert points out that the library has increased its circulation 11½ per cent. a year, which for the six years noted is accounted for by an increase of 5 per cent. per annum in expenses and over 6 per cent. in efficiency per unit of cost. Mr. Gilbert's communication to the Council follows:

"In regard to the request of the Library for an extra appropriation of $10,000, the directors desire to submit the following facts:

Present cash, about	$8,000.00
Estimated necessary expenses, 8 months, April to December, 1913, when the new taxes come in	6,000.00
Balance	$2,000.00
Extra appropriation asked for	10,000.00
	$12,000.00

"An itemized estimate of proposed alterations is herewith enclosed. Enclosed is also statement of maintenance expenses for 1911-12 (the latest completed year) and our estimates for 1913-14.

"The present necessity for making alterations and repairs can only be appreciated after an inspection of the

BORO HEALTH BOARD DISCUSSES REPORT

Disputes the Findings But Will Take No Action for the Present.

Although emphatically disputing the alleged comparative cost for maintaining the Borough Board of Health as set forth in the special report of the borough finance committee, the members at a regular meeting of the board, last night, decided to take no definite action regarding the report until they receive an official copy from the special committee.

The Health Board discussed informally the question of extravagance raised by the special committee and in practically every instance took exception to the statements made. When an official copy of the report is received the board will put itself on record through definite action.

The Somerset County Mosquito Commission, through Dr. A. H. Dundon, received an outline of the work proposed and the Health Board will co-operate in this movement. The health inspector has been instructed to keep a sharp lookout for pools and other places where the insects are likely to breed and to do all in his power to abolish conditions that may appear to be good for the breeding of flies. The borough health authorities are very anxious to co-operate in the State-wide plan to rid communities of both mosquitoes and flies.

It was reported that there are only four cases of contagious disease in the borough, three of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria.

DOMINICK NOTTI.

CONGRESS WELCOMES VISIT OF PRESIDENT

Great Reception for Wilson When He Appears to Deliver Message Personally.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., April 8.—Curious to witness an event which has not occurred before within a century, tremendous crowds were drawn to the Capitol today to hear President Wilson's address to Congress. The President was applauded when he entered Congress, the audience arose and he bowed acknowledgement. He was listened to with great attention. The President concluded at 1:10 p. m. and immediately left the hall of the House.

The House then adjourned until Thursday. The full text of the President's message will be found on page nine.

Congress is likely to be kept in session until August first in the opinion of some of the leaders. It is recognized that stubborn resistance will be made to many of the excessive reductions and that in the Senate especially, some of the schedules will be fought inch by inch. President Wilson is charged by some of the Democratic Senators with assuming autocratic power in demanding the acceptance of certain rates. Senators say they have the interests of their constituents and States at heart as well as the interests of the administration.

The income tax bill is certain to provoke long discussion from the opposition and probably will be radically amended. It is regarded by congressmen who have read it with care as a very drastic and inquisitorial law providing for searching inquiry into the most private business affairs of men and corporations and compelling disclosure under severe penalties for failure of details of income and sources therefrom to an extent never before experienced in this country.

SOMERSET COURT OPEN; GRAND JURY AT WORK

Judge Parker appointed E. D. LaTourette as foreman and excused A. W. Totten. They were sworn in by County Clerk Anderson, after which they were given a charge of a general nature, the instructions mostly relating to the duties of grand juries, no special cases being named. They retired under the care of Constables George D. Totten, Andrew D. Flammer and William D. Pangborn.

Brightside Circle, of the King's Daughters, will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Jones, 16 Mountain avenue, the borough, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

HIS ARM LACERATED BY TEETH OF SAW

Apprentice Machinist Meets With Accident at the Walter Scott Works.

Harry Thomas, aged 15 years, of 206 Spooner avenue, who is employed as an apprentice at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works, had a narrow escape from losing his arm, yesterday afternoon. He was at work near a circular saw, when his arm accidentally caught in the teeth. Before the machinery could be stopped, the flesh was terribly lacerated.

The young man was hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital, where considerable difficulty was experienced in stopping the flow of blood. Inasmuch as Thomas had lost a quantity of blood, he was in a very weakened condition when he reached the hospital. Today it was reported that his chances for recovery are good.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE POLICY OF THE CITY

Mayor Puts it Squarely up to City Fathers as to Airdrome Petitions.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart, unwilling to assume the responsibility alone of either granting or refusing licenses for air-dromes or other out-of-door amusement enterprises, applications for which have been made in this city, addressed the Common Council, last night, in which he sought the co-operation of that body in deciding the future policy of the city regarding these forms of amusement.

Mr. Stewart said that there are now two applications before him for licenses to conduct air-dromes in the city. He has the power to grant or refuse. He said that he had no desire to refuse such licenses if it is the sense of the city that they are wanted. As for moving picture theatres he would not refuse a license if the building code is complied with. Mr. Stewart stated further that he wants to be fair with all.

The Mayor called attention to the fact that he has the power to levy a fee of $10 a day for the operation of moving picture theatres, but again referring to the air-drome proposition, he said that the buildings are temporary in character with an open top and fence enclosure. The money outlay is small and he understood that the promoters of such amusement enterprises take a considerable sum of money out of the city.

Still, Mr. Stewart said that he would like to have an equitable rule. One matter he wished to call the attention of the Council to was that he had been informed that with such amusement places in operation there would be required increased police protection, say from one to three additional men. He said that he would like to consult with the Council and learn its opinion as well as that of citizens in general.

In view of the Mayor's suggestion, a public hearing was mentioned as advisable. It was finally decided to hold such a hearing, Monday night, April 14, when all persons interested are invited to be present and express an opinion.

RICHTER WOMAN'S CASE ADJOURNED TO SATURDAY

Mrs. Bertha Richter, of 822 East Second street, who attacked Sergeant John Flynn at police headquarters yesterday, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning and on motion of Samuel S. Swackhamer, her counsel, the case was postponed until Saturday morning. Mrs. Richter's daughter, Frieda, escaped from the State Home for Girls and was recaptured yesterday and brought to headquarters. Mother and daughter sat in Chief Kiely's office and when the chief went to luncheon, leaving Flynn in charge, the latter not wishing to run any chances of the girl getting away again, placed her in a cell. This was not accomplished, however, until he had frustrated the double attack of Miss and Mrs. Richter, who fought him with every obstacle they could grasp. He finally lodged both behind the bars and charged Mrs. Richter with assault and battery.

EX-FIREMAN HURT IN JUMPING A TRUCK

Joseph Clark Badly Injured When Attempting to Board Fire Apparatus.

While visiting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Howard, of East Second street, last night, Joseph Clark, formerly of this city but now of Newark, was attracted by the sound of the fire alarm from box 46 and the idea of taking one of his old time rides aboard the fire apparatus occurred to him, he having at one time been a member of the local department. The hook and ladder truck had just left Huse No. 2 when he arrived and he ran at right angles to the rapidly moving vehicle in order to catch on to the side running board, instead of running alongside as is customary. He was unable to retain his grip and was flung violently to the roadbed, two wheels of the heavy truck passing over his left leg above the knee.

Clark was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where, upon examination, it was found that he was suffering from a compound fracture of the thigh and a severely bruised arm. While the injury was reported as serious at that institution this morning, Mr. Clark's general condition is good and he will recover.

The injured man is the son of Mrs. Burnett Clark, of West Seventh street, and a brother of John Clark, also of this city. He is engaged at present in the hotel business in Newark and came here yesterday to visit his relatives.

BIOLOGICAL ASPECT OF SOCIAL UNREST

Dr. Max G. Schlatt's Subject in Addressing Monday Afternoon Club.

"The Biological Aspect of Our Present Day Social Unrest," was the subject of an interesting lecture given by Dr. Max G. Schlatt, director of the sciological clinic of the Children's Court, of New York, before the Monday Afternoon Club, yesterday. The doctor displayed many charts in his plan to show the death rates in various countries.

"Feeble mindedness is not altogether due to heridity," declared Dr. Schlatt," but is largely brought about through the misdirected efforts of parents who strain every nerve to achieve certain things. The effect of this is shown in the children and frequently results in feeble mindedness in grandchildren and great-grandchildren

"The cells and functions of the body have the power to refine the oils that go to stimulate the organs, but this power is often injured and broken by this over-straining on the part of parents, as well as children.

"The use of narcotics by parents often times results in the unnatural condition of the cells and this power of stimulation is thereby weakened and made practically useless.

"This desire to do more than is possible has been true of the great nations in the past, where it has been shown that they have risen to great heights in the struggle of those times, but history has also shown that the progeny has not been able to hold this high position, it has been weakened to such an extent that it has been descending from that pinnacle and has been powerless to maintain the much coveted goal."

Throughout his lecture Dr. Schlatt frequently referred to his charts to prove his statements and he also gave numerous personal incidents that he has experienced in his work in the Children's Court in New York.

REV. DR. C. G. WOOLSTON TALKS ON BIBLE TOPICS

Rev. Dr. Clarence G. Woolston, pastor of the East Baptist church, of Philadelphia, spoke before a large congregation at the Park Avenue church last night on Bible topics illustrating his lecture with demonstrations and colors which attracted and held the attention of the children. The talk was arranged particularly for the juveniles nd Dr. Woolston's methods of interesting the youngsters were a feature of the talk. On several different occasions he used sleight-of-hand tricks to drive home his words and he was accorded the undivided attention of his listeners.

The speaker is an authority on Bible subjects and told of various Biblical characters and stories in a most original way.

MAYOR STEWART OUT FOR COMMISSION PLAN

Study of Subject Convinces His Honor Adoption of Form Would Benefit City---President Wilson Sends Message Wishing Success For Movement---Special Election to be Held Early Next Month.

The committee of citizens agitating a commission form of government for Plainfield last night decided at a meeting to work for a special election to be held early next month. The law requires that the election take place three weeks after the necessary petition is filed with the city clerk and it is proposed to comply with this provision either on next Monday or next Wednesday night and that would bring the election either on May 6 or May 13.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart.

Daniel J. Courain was appointed treasurer for a dollar fund, the purpose being to obtain contributions of $1 each for the necessary expenses of the campaign. Dr. M. J. Whitford was delegated to arrange for the use of the public school auditoriums for the purpose of mass meetings as a part of the education campaign to be waged. Authorities on the scheme of government in New Jersey cities where the plan is in force as well as experts from other States will be invited to speak and there will be ample opportunity for public debates.

When called upon by a reporter this morning to obtain his views as to the advisibality of having a commission form of government in this city, Mayor Percy H. Stewart stated that he was in favor of such a change and that he would actively co-operate insofar as he could, without taking his time from official duties, to make the campaign a success. He said that while he was in Washington upon important matters recently he had called upon Senator Martine and Congressman Tuttle, and at their invitation had called upon the President to pay his respects. During a brief talk upon general subjects, the conversation turned upon the question of the agitation for a commission form of government in the city of Plainfield. Senator Martine, during the talk, referred to the fact that an agitation was going on in this city in reference to this matter.

The President expressed most hearty approval of a commission form of government. This was not a surprise, as the President's views on the matter are so well known. As the Mayor was leaving President Wilson, the President wished the movement all success.

In response to a question by the reporter as to whether Mayor Stewart would become a candidate as a commissioner in the event of the citizens of the city deciding to have a commission form of government, the Mayor stated that he would present his name as a candidate to the people, as he took the greatest interest in the city, and aside from that he firmly believed in the principles of the commission form of government. Mayor Stewart stated that he had been giving the matter the most careful consideration and thought; that when the question was first presented to him certain objections arose in his mind, among others the possibility that a change in the form of government at this time might jeopardize the proceedings for the joint sewer enterprise, in which Mr. Stewart has been greatly interested and on which he has spent a large amount of time this spring at Trenton, fighting certain bills which were introduced in the Legislature, the passage of which would have rendered the joint sewer proposition impossible. But he has been assured that the change in the government could not affect the proceedings already had.

In closing the Mayor stated that he wished it distinctly understood that his attitude in this matter was no reflection upon the Common Council nor any of the officials of this city; that he had the highest regard for them; that they had treated him with the most profound courtesy and had gone out of their way to assist him and to facilitate the despatch of the public business. The Mayor said he believes that the city can be more economically and wisely administered under the commission form of government than under the present form. It is true that there would be at first a slight increase in the cost of running the city, owing to the salaries of the commissioners, but this would probably be more than counterbalanced by the saving due to improved business methods and the supervision of the finances. Moreover, it as any time in the future the city should be so unfortunate as to have a dishonest or incompetent official, the statute provides a speedy method of relief, he added.

WOMAN ATTENDANT AT POLICE HEADQUARTERS?

The Charity Organization Society has taken steps towards having a woman appointed by the Comon Council whose duty it would be to look after the women prisoners at the city jail. A petition was received by the Council, last night, from the society, asking that such an appointment be made. It was referred to the police committee, of which Leighton Calkins is the chairman. The petition bears a large number of names.

This is not an entirely new move, as the society has been considering the matter for some time and for several weeks past has been engaged in securing signatures to the petition presented last night.

PROPOSED JOINT SEWER CONTRACT ON 3D READING

Another step in the joint sanitary sewer movement was taken by the Common Council last night, when that body adopted on two readings the provisions of the contract which authorizes the city, North Plainfield and Dunellen to build a sewer system, as proposed. Opportunity was given anyone to speak for or against the contract before this action was taken, but no one appearing, the Council promptly approved the contract by a nine to one vote. The single opponent was Councilman P. J. Reville. Councilman Fred Endress did not attend the meeting.

The contract is familiar to all who have been following the progress of the sewer matter. It provides that the system shall be built, using the Darling farm in Piscataway Township for disposal beds, on this basis of cost: Plainfield, 65 per cent.; North Plainfield, 25 per cent.; and Dunellen 7 per cent. It further provides that other municipalities, such as Fanwood and Scotch Plains, may come into the sewer system on a rental basis. The contract was ordered advertised in the official newspapers of the city.

KREBS OPPOSES CHANGE

three pupils as the committeemen figured, it would cost the borough between $8,000 and $9,000 for the transfer. While this expense would gradually increase as the pupils became more numerous, the cost of teaching them in our own High School would increase comparatively little. Of course, of this amount the borough would be reimbursed $25 per every pupil sent to the neighboring institution.

"As to the teachers' tenure of office act, to discharge an experienced teacher after three years' faithful service would not only be unfair to the teacher but a serious reduction in the efficiency of the schools. If we should place three new teachers in place of three experienced ones no more than $300 would be saved a year, and while the beginners are securing their experience the children are losing. True, it was suggested, that the supervising principal could spend a greater amount of his time with the new teachers to bring them to the point of efficiency of those discharged, but this is a very mistaken view to take because teachers are born, not made."

As Mr. Krebs took his seat, Mr. Smalley asserted that although he was a member of the finance committee and did not want to be misrepresented as breaking faith with that body, the recommendation of sending the borough High School pupils to Plainfield was one of the several he heartily disagreed with. He said to abolish the High School would depreciate realty values, detract probable future inhabitants from the borough and would lessen civic pride.

It was decided to revise the rules of the Board and Dr. Cooley appointed Messrs. Lee, Woodruff and Edgar as a committee to attend to this matter. A resolution was adopted to the effect that all the Board's monthly accounts would in the future close on the tenth of each month. Another resolution was adopted authorizing a demand to be made on the tax collector, George Brown, to transfer the school fund balance due on 1912 district tax.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Under the title of the "Girl From Tokio", an English version adaptation of the German farce will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday afternoon and evening, April 12. The farce is a clean, clever and interesting mixture of mirth, comedy and ludicrous situations, resulting from the attempt of a husband to hide the facts of an early love affair from a jealous wife. It is an old theme perhaps, but told in an unique and original manner with a plot of humorous interest, it offers one of the most delightful and amusing of entertainments. The German version was one of the greatest successes of the Court Theatre, Berlin, where it ran for 215 performances. The cast includes Violette Villiers, Edmund Fordo, Loo Hobbs Martin, Sherry Snyder, Adelaide Matthews, Henry Travers, Allan Brander, John Raymond and others.

"The Girl of My Dreams," which will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday, April 26, afternoon and evening, is said to bear the earmarks of a Joseph M. Gaites production, that it has all the daintiness, chicness, good taste, amusing situations and laughs that under the deft handling are lifted to the dignity of a charming naturalness, that the costuming and scenic color schemes are superb and in harmony and richness and they are lavished upon a cast not only of rarely artistic principals, but a capable chorus rich in beauty. A preponderance of attention has been given by the book authors Messers. Nesbit and Hauerbach to the comedy of the story which, however, has a delightful central love-story—a bachelor city "bad boy" organizer of a Bachelor Club whose members, led by him have each sworn never to marry. He has fallen in love with a dainty little country Puritan girl—just enough to lend a special worth to her kisses, but not too Puritan to have her whole share of that eternally interesting quality in woman-jealousy. The renegade founder of the Bachelors Club arrives under its roof just after an automobile accident, wherein a woman's hat in the other automobile has been chewed up by his automobile—an accident which, as is invariably the case with woman's hats leads to all the complications and subsequent troubles. The club is holding a round-robin over the desertion of its founder. A superb males chorus thus opens the musical comedy whose swift current then sets in upon the arrival of the Puritan sweetheart, the lady of the lost hat and her titled escort. The play bears the distinction of having well defined characters. The music is by the famous composer the late Karl Hoschna, who is also responsible for "Three Twins," "Bright Eyes," "Madame Sherry," and "Doctor De Luxe." In "The Girl of My Dreams" he has written song hits galore. The particular bright and shining stars of the productions are John Hymans, who impersonates the all round good bachelor fellow, and the little Quaker Miss played by Leili McIntyre. They have been vaudeville headliners for a number of years, and this piece in which they are starred gives them much opportunity for forceful team work as well as other clever bits of acting. The supporting company comprises some very capable artists among them Alice Mills, Della Niven, Irving Brooks, Francis Caillard, Silvia De Frankie, Frank McEwen, a big beauty chorus and the original De Luxe Pony Ballet.

MAYO-CLAXTON WEDDING.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—Southern society in the national capital is much interested in the wedding of Miss Claire Claxton, daughter of the United States Commissioner of Education and Mrs. Philander P. Claxton, and Dale Redmond Mayo, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn. The marriage will take place tomorrow evening at Epiphany church, the Rev. Randolph N. McKim officiating. A large reception at the Claxton home, in Connecticut avenue, will follow the ceremony at the church. A number of guests from North Carolina and Tennessee are here for the wedding. The bride's attendants will include Mrs. Max Tull Payne, of Greensboro, N. C., as matron of honor, and Miss Rebecca Cushman, of Nashville, N. C., as maid of honor, and the Misses Elizabeth and Helen Claxton, sisters of the bride, as bridemaids. Mr. Mayo will have Warren Converse, of Chattanooga, Tenn., as his best man.

HACKETTSTOWN HAS CURFEW.

Hackettstown, April 8.—Although signed with misgivings by Mayor Taylor, the curfew ordinance adopted in March went into effect Saturday night. The Mayor said he believed the ordinance too cumbersome, and that it imposes an unjust burden on the police. The initial whistle of the curfew was sounded at 8:45 o'clock, warning all youngsters less than sixteen years old, to get home by 9, unless accompanied by parent or legal guardian. From April to November the whistle will be blown at 8:45, and the remainder of the year at 8:15. The ordinance makes the parent or guardian liable if children are found on the street after curfew. The police are required to send the strays home, and if they disobey, to take them home. No penalty may be imposed on the child, but the parents or guardian shall be subject to increasing fines up to $5 for the third and any subsequent offense.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Lester Chandler, '15, has been chosen to take the part of O'Rourke, the policeman, in the Athletic Association play, "Bachelor Hall." Coach Mertz is now holding three and four rehearsals each week and the play is progressing very rapidly. The date set for the production is Friday, April 25.

The Girls' Athletic Association has decided not to give its cake and candy sale that was to be held next Friday and Saturday afternoons at Saengerbund Hall.

The members of the senior class basketball team, that finished second in the inter-class league, have received the numerals presented to them by their class. Those who were awarded these monograms are Captain Raymond Kline, Thomas Fetherstone, Richard Underhill, LeRoy Herrmann, Newton Spencer and Clarence Schmidt.

The baseball team will play its second game of the season against the Roselle High School nine at that place tomorrow afternoon. Coach Webster has decided to take a few extra substitutes along and make the try-outs as fair as possible.

More season tickets have been sold thus far this season than in any previous year, and more school spirit is being shown than ever before. The tickets are priced at 50 cents and are good for admittance to all home games, twelve in number.

The first prize speaking contest ever held in the High School will take place on May 29. This feature will hereafter be an annual event and much interest is being taken in the first contest.

We haven't heard much of the freshmen baseball team since their first practise held about three weeks ago. The "cap" must be giving his squad a real rest. There is, however, much material for a ball nine in this class.

Mr. Webster has now taken full charge of the baseball squad, with Principal Phelps as his assistant. Both of these coaches are on the field every day and conduct a heavy practice. Mr. Webster gave the squad a short talk yesterday afternoon.

The tickets for the annual High School play are now on sale and can be purchased from any member of the High School. The play to be given is "Bachelor Hall," and the tickets are fifty and seventy-five cents. These tickets also include dancing after the performance.

Hyman Abrams has been appointed advertising manager and Carroll Taylor and George Townley are business managers of the A. A. play.

HEAD OF CATHOLIC ORDER.

Montreal, April 8.—Following a period of seven days spent in prayer and meditation thirty-two members of the Congregation of Notre Dame, constituting an "electoral board," met today at the Mother House of the order in this city and cast ballots for a new head of the order to succeed the late Rev. Sister St. Aniclet, who died several months ago. There were no candidates and each elector was free to vote for any one of the 1,500 nuns of the order. The voting was by secret ballot and public announcement of the result is not expected for some time. The Congregation of Notre Dame is the largest of all Catholic teaching orders of Canada, maintaining schools and seminaries in many of the principal cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Washington, N. J., April 8.—Rev. Gordon H. Mr. Hoxsey will sail Saturday for Rome, where he is to take charge of the English-American church there for three months. In the clergyman's place will come Rev. George H. Young, of Belvidere, who has accepted the call here. He will move his family to this place May 1.

MAYOR STEWART CONVINCED.

Announcing that after a thorough study of the subject he is convinced that it would benefit Plainfield to adopt the form for administering the people's affairs, Mayor Percy H. Stewart came out today unequivocally in favor of the commission form of government for Plainfield. His action is an agreeable surprise for he has been quoted as looking askance at the movement, but he makes clear his previous attitude by declaring that he had some misgivings as to the effect a change at this time would have on weighty problems now under consideration.

The mayor shows that he thoroughly understands the commission plan for he states in an interview given in our news columns today that the adoption of the provisions of the Walsh act would give Plainfield a more economical and a more wisely administered government. That is the idea in a nutshell. There is no suspicion of graft or loose methods so far as we are concerned and therein we differ from the situation in many cities where the plan has been put in effect. But the strong argument here as elsewhere is that government by commission simply means a conduct of the people's affairs in the same businesslike way that characterizes that of any large business corporation and as our government is simply nothing more or less than a business corporation in which each taxpayer is a stockholder and in which the receipts and expenditures annually exceed half a million dollars there is soundness in adopting the new plan.

Experience has no doubt revealed to Mayor Stewart many of the handicaps of the present form, that of a mayor and council, just as it did to Mayors Fisk and Moy when they were in office. It is a matter of record that these two former city executives advocated the scheme during their own administrations and they are just as firmly convinced today that the sooner the change is made the better it will be for the city. Many of the councilmen and other city officials are likewise favorable to the change.

One happy feature of the movement here is that it is devoid of political significance. Recognized leaders of the three great parties, the Republican, Democratic and Progressive have not only signed the petition for the special election but have announced that they will work for the success of the scheme at the polls. This is as it should be. Party politics should have no place in municipal affairs. The day when that idea was accepted has gone; today the people favor men not party labels when it comes to selecting their servants for the municipal government of their municipality.

Chairman Williams, of the citizens' committee, has stated that it is planned to hold the election on Tuesday, May 6. The educational campaign is to be begun next Monday when the required petition will be filed formally with the city clerk and the law provides that the election be held three weeks later. It is to be regretted that there can not be longer time for a discussion of the plan, but if the committee shows the proper degree of activity during those three weeks they should be able to have the subject presented satisfactorily by experts and experienced men.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

At the outset it must be admitted that the President has met the tariff question squarely and stated his position and that of his party frankly, in his special message sent to the Congress today. He is for a reduction of the tariff all along the line. He assures the business interests of the Nation that he does not seek to destroy but to build up; to unfetter business and promote free competition. He well says: "It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it." Haste is evidently in his mind, not wisdom. Change is necessary and reduction of duties must be made, but in doing it the business conditions must be considered and conserved to the end that they may adjust themselves to needed changes. The message has the right ring.

Tariff duties have gone beyond the mark required by free competition and equal business opportunity. He is evidently against helping the trusts for he says: "We must abolish everything that bears the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical and enterprising, masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world." That means that every tub must stand on its own bottom; that each business man must fight for its success and have an even chance, and only an even chance, with all other men in his trade, whether at home or abroad. There is nothing in the message which strikes at protection as a limited policy—as a policy of real and not artificial protection.

President Wilson is a student of economics and is not a pure theorist. He wishes to so reframe our fiscal system as to "open once more the free chamber of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file." That is, the tariff must be so arranged as to be of advantage not alone to the manufacturer, but the merchant and consumer as well. If his party has the good sense to follow him and not yield to the influences of the special interests, the outlook for the people coming into their own would seem to be good. But we can only judge of the benefits by the legislation which is yet to come. The President has kept his promise to the people—will the Congress be as faithful? Let us trust it may.

It is with much pleasure that we learn of the action of the State Board of Education in agreeing upon H. C. Krebs, of North Plainfield, for membership on State Board of Examiners. A bill passed by the last Legislature provides that one county superintendent shall become a member of that body and it is quite a compliment to Somerset that its superintendent should be selected.

Mayor Stewart having declared himself a candidate for a commissionership, should the voters decide in favor of a commission form of government, we believe it would be the proper thing for the people to elect him in that event. The Daily Press pledges its support to Mr. Stewart and at the proper time will advance reasons why he should be chosen.

MAURETANIA CREW NOW LEADS.

Since the inauguration of the plan to increase the membership of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Temple Baptist church, by means of the contest called "The Trip to Palestine,' the society has become enthusiastic. On Sunday night there was an attendance of 62 at the meeting, the largest in the past seven years. The attendance of the crew of the Mauretania gave her 1,025 miles advantage over the Lusitania, making a trip of 2,500 on the first night of her voyage, the Lusitania only making 1,475 miles.

COOLEY PRESIDENT OF EDUCATION BOARD

Boro Body Balks on Recommendation for Apportionment Committee.

That the North Plainfield Board of Education does not take kindly to the report of the special finance committee as to its statements regarding alleged extravagance was shown last night in the action of the board at its organization. Not only was that part of the report which refers to the board subject to severe criticism, but the members refused to concur in the matter of appointing a committee of apportionment.

Newton B. Smalley, a new member, protested vigorously against the plan to send the high school pupils to Plainfield and in opposing the sugestion to have a committee of apportionment, Mr. Smalley said that it was too much like having a "guardian" body over the Board and the Council, adding that he had not reached that stage in life when he needed a guardian, if the Mayor and Council had.

The board showed its confidence in Dr. J. H. Cooley by unanimously re-electing him president for the sixteenth consecutive year. E. S. Boyer was elected vice-president. Dr. Cooley, evidently feeling sure of his election, had his committees prepared ready for announcement as follows:

Building and grounds—Newton B. Smalley, Charles A. Lee and Charles I. Nash; finance—Francis L. Sill, Joseph A. Van Mater and Eugene A. Edgar; books and supplies—Mr. Van Mater, Mr. Smalley and Hiram A. Woodruff; truancy—Messrs. Lee, Sill and Nash; auditing—Messrs. Woodruff, Edgar and Boyer; teachers—Dr. Cooley, Mr. Boyer and Mr. Sill; commencement—Messrs. Van Mater and Smalley. Mr. Van Mater is the member elected at the recent election with Mr. Smalley. Mr. Nash was the only member of the Board not present.

Regardless as to how the board took the report of the special finance committee a spirit of economy was shown. Last year $140 was spent for the commencement exercises, the affair being held at the Plainfield theatre. This year it is proposed to hold it at the Park Club and reduce the number of invitations.

Supervising Principal A. B. Vossler in his monthly report suggested that the session of the first six grades be extended to 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the seventh and eighth grades hold sessions from 8:30 to 12:30, adding an extra thirty minutes for delinquents. Den J. Galbraith, who had the contract for installing the new heating system in the high school, was granted a payment of $799.85, the balance, $700, to be paid when the work is finished.

Mr. Smalley's motion that no finance committee or committee of apportionment be appointed was carried all voting in the affirmative, except Messrs. Edgar and Boyer.

The report of the State education auditor on the inspection of the borough's schools was read by H. C. Krebs, county superintendent of schools. The inspection covered a period from July 1, 1912, to February 17 of this year. The report emphasized violations of the school law and made suggestions, including one that the board should investigate insurance matters, adding that $10,000 is too much to carry on the Watchung School. There was some criticism regarding the way the books are kept, it being claimed that they are not kept properly. Attention was also called to the fact that the board had held executive sessions contrary to the school law.

THE FORUM.

TO THE STREET DEPARTMENT.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Both of the Oranges and Montclair are oiling their streets and filling up the holes. Would it not be a good idea for our city to follow their examples so as to keep down the clouds of dust and make riding more pleasant? Crescent avenue, East Seventh street and West Front street are badly in need of oiling and filling up holes caused by new sewers. The "do-nothing" policy of our councilmen is what is causing the agitation for Commission Government to get something done.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

SAUNDERS IS HUMOROUS .. AND FIELDER SERIOUS

"Made in Jersey," is hereafter to be a mark of the highest approval and a certificate of public confidence, whether applied to manufacturers or corporations, was the declaration made by Governor Fielder, as a guest of honor at the third annual banquet of the New York Flower Club at the Plaza Hotel, New York, Saturday evening.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, who responded to a toast, made a humorous speech on the subject of politics, but laid stress on the thought of the evening that the business man should give more attention to politics before he undertakes to criticise too freely.

Why I Admire The Woman Next Door

Anyone who can do as much on a little money as the woman next door, I certainly look up to. If there is a real bargain to be found anywhere she is the one to find it.

Just now she is conducting a Larkin Club-of-Ten and furnishing her spare room with Larkin Premiums. Already she has gotten the bed and bureau, and very soon will have a new rug.

I belong to her Club and so do most of the other neighbors on the street. We all use Larkin Products and like them very much. I have found their groceries splendid and wouldn't think of getting my soaps, toilet preparations or notions anywhere else. My last Premium was a handsome new bookcase. I had wanted one for a long time and I know you'd agree that this is a beauty if you saw it.

I certainly would advise any woman who is now buying her household supplies at the store to begin buying them from Larkin Co. You'll get just twice as much for your money, and everything you get is so good and fresh! Perhaps you could form a Larkin Club-of-Ten like the woman next door and thus get extra benefits from this method of dealing. If you'll just write Larkin Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask them for their big Catalog, D 24, I know they'll be glad to send it to you. This Catalog will tell you all about their plan and lots of other things I couldn't begin to mention here.

LOCAL SEWER PLANS RECEIVED THE "O. K"

State Board of Health Formally Approves the Extension Council Learns.

The State Board of Health in a communication to the Common Council at its April meeting last night approved the city's plans for an extension of the sanitary sewers in accordance with the State laws.

Residents of Marion avenue petitioned for electric lights on that thoroughfare and later on motion of Councilman P. J. Reville, chairman of the light committee, two lights were granted.

William H. Clark, of East Ninth street, in a communication, complained about the condition of that street, especially the poor drainage of surface water. The matter was referred to the street committee. The committee appointed by Mayor Percy H. Stewart to inquire fnto the plan of opening the public schools for social and educational purposes, extended an invitation to the councilmen to visit the Washington School either on Friday or Saturday night to note the success of the movement.

Robert H. Woodhouse, the general eastern representative of the Nott Fire Engine Company, in a communication, offered to furnish the city with an automobile fire engine of 900 gallon capacity, the cost of which is $9,500 for $8,750, at a saving of $1,000. This offer he said would only be held open until May 1. He did not want the Council to consider the matter in the light of charity, but being a Plainfielder he said that it was his desire that the city should get this bargain which he was able to offer. The matter was referred to the fire and building committee.

The West End Civic Association petitioned for a crosswalk at Muhlenberg place and West Third street, which it said was needed very much. The matter was referred.

Mrs. Frances Angerbauer, widow of Joseph Angerbauer, a former employe of the city, who died recently as the result of injuries received while working for the city, in a letter expressed her thanks to the Common Council for the city's kindness during her husband's illness, and inquired whether she was entitled to any benefits under the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act. The matter was referred to Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed.

Jacob Voehl, Jr., and others again petitioned the Council to take steps to widen Somerset street. This was referred to the street committee.

Frederick W. Yates, who, with other property-owners, is laying concrete walks through the Martine tract, in a petition called attention to the fact that the bridge over Cedar brook on Prospect avenue is not on a grade with the street and needs repairs. The matter was referred to the street committee and later to the Board of Freeholders with a request that the bridge be repaired as suggested.

A petition for crosswalks and lights on North avenue in the Netherwood section was referred to the proper committees. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported that sixteen sewer permits were issued during March and Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that he had issued twenty building permits during the same period. Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District Court, reported receipts for the past month of $226.-75, expenditures of $76.75, with a balance of $150.

Resolutions offered by Councilman C. C. Randolph and adopted, authorized the borrowing of $14,000 on account of sewer extension work, the transfer of $1,000 from the general fund to the street account, the transfer of $7,000 from the general fund to the fire fund, the transfer of $1,-000 from the general fund to the poor fund.

A resolution offered by Councilman F. E. Mygatt and adopted, set forth that inasmuch as the city had been uable to agree with the property-owners in the matter of opening and extending Kensington avenue, that the Council proceed by appointing E. T. Barrows, Daniel J. Courain and F. H. Andrews commissioners to assess benefits and damages for the improvement and that the commissioners meet on May 5 for the purpose of treating with the property-owners.

The sum of $225 was appropriated in accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Mygatt and adopted, to purchase power oil and a tar spreader for street work, and $300 was appropriated to pay Howard C. Tracy, E. A. Laing and H. B. MacDonald for their work in making a sewer assessment.

Other resolutions by Mr. Mygatt, which were adopted, appropriated $215 for the purchase of a motorcycle for the sewer inspector, the money to be paid out of the appropriation for sewer work, and May 5 was fixed as the time when the Council will meet to treat with the property-owners in the matter of widening Sycamore street, between East Fifth and Sixth streets.

Still another resolution by Mr. Mygatt, which was adopted, authorized the street commissioner to serve the customary notice on property-owners who have failed to comply with the law relative to the laying of sidewalks.

Councilman P. J. Reville reported back two bills, one for the sale of fire horses, etc., and another for $45. In regard to the first bill he said that he understood that the city and not the firemen's pension fund was entitled to the amount received from the sale of city property. Both bills were referred to the corporation counsel for an opinion.

An ordinance introduced by Mr. Mygatt and adopted on two readings calls for the macadamizing of West Seventh, Third and Fourth streets, and the issuance of $14,000 worth of 5 per cent. bonds for a term of three years, with the customary provision that commissioners be appointed to assess for the improvement. A public hearing will be granted on the ordinance at the May meeting of the Council.

A resolution offered by Councilman F. J. Blatz, requested Mayor Stewart to negotiate with the New Jersey Central with a view to securing better protection at the Rock avenue crossing. A copy of the resolution was ordered sent to the Mayor.

COMMON COUNCIL'S ROUTINE BUSINESS

Some Minor Matters Occupy the Time of the Local City Fathers.

Bids for furnishing the city departments with oats, hay and straw for the coming year were received at the April meeting of the Common Council, last night. In all five bids were presented, a larger number than usual, and Joseph Harrigan's was the lowest. They were as follows:

Joseph Harrigan—Hay, $21 per ton; oats, $1.04 per bag; straw, $21 per ton.

Consumers' Coal Company—Hay, $23 per ton; straw, $22 per ton; oats, $1.10 per bag.

Commercial Mills and Elevator—Hay, $24 and $21 per ton; straw, $22 per ton; oats, $1.15 per bag.

Union Grain Company—Hay, $21 per ton; straw, $22 per ton; oats, $1.15 per bag.

Van Zandt & Voorhees—Hay, $21 per ton; straw, $22 per ton; oats, $1.05 per bag.

These bids were referred to the proper committees.

Under a suspended order of business, a public hearing was granted on the proposed ordinance to extend the sewer system and the one providing for the macadamizing of certain streets. W. H. Siegelen asked the Council if it intended to include West Fourth street in the improvements, complaining of the condition of that thoroughfare. He was informed that the street would be included in a later ordinance. The other ordinance was adopted on third reading.

Charles T. McDonald submitted a bid, offering to build a dog pound on the city farm, according to the plans prepared by Edward V. French, architect, for $236. This was referred to the public affairs committee.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EGGS IN SAUCE.

EGGS with sauce are delicious and may be served either as luncheon or breakfast dishes.

Eggs served with sauce should be strictly fresh. Do not indulge in the illusion that the sauce will disguise the flavor of a stale egg.

With Boiled Eggs.

Boiled Eggs In Cream Sauce.—Take a half dozen eggs and boil them for about fifteen or twenty minutes. Take off the shell and cut off a little of the white so the egg will stand up alone. Boil one pint of cream and thicken with one tablespoonful of flour. Season with salt, pepper and a little butter. Pour the cream over the eggs, garnish with parsley and grated yolk of a hard boiled egg.

Eggs With White Sauce.—Take a half dozen eggs, boil, put into cold water and remove the shells. Cut the eggs into quarters. Cook in a frying pan a tablespoonful of butter and one of flour, and when they are blended pour upon them one and one-half cupfulls of very rich milk, half cream if possible. Stir to a smooth white sauce, lay the eggs in this, season with salt, pepper and dash of cayenne. Heat well and serve.

Easter Tidbits.

Eggs With Brown Sauce.—Brown a tablespoonful of flour in as much butter and add a small sliced onion. Cook thoroughly, then add enough stock to make a smooth sauce. Have ready as many sliced hard boiled eggs as you will need. Put these in the sauce and let them boil up. Add six or seven olives that have been cut from the stones after being boiled in a small amount of water, and then serve with parsley as a garnish.

Eggs With Bread Sauce.—Take a cupful of breadcrumbs, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, one-half teaspoonful each of salt and onion juice and six eggs. Put the breadcrumbs in a saucepan, then add the milk, salt, a dash of cayenne and the onion juice. Simmer slowly until thick and smooth, beating several times with a spoon. Pour the sauce into a broad, shallow dish and break the eggs carefully over it. Place in a hot oven until they are set.

DUNELLEN COUNCIL PUTS OFF ACTION ON PROJECT

No action was taken on the proposed new Washington county idea by the Dunellen Council at its meeting in the borough hall, last night, although the members discussed the project. The concensus of opinion seemed to be that Dunellen was due to receive recognition in Middlesex county which would probably be lost if the formation of the new county was agitated. Action on sewer matters was deferred until the next meeting.

The Piscataway Township Committee met last night routine business being transacted.

MAYOR MEETS PRESIDENT; WILSON FOND OF OUR CITY

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 8.—Mayor Perry Stewart, of Plainfield, called at the White House yesterday afternoon with Senator Martine and had a talk with the President.

"I am very fond of Plainfield," said the President. "You may remember that I was given a very pleasant reception there two years ago."

The Mayor replied that he remembered Mr. Wilson's visit to Plainfield at that time very well, and also remembered that Senator Martine had on that occasion nominated him for the Presidency, more than a year before the Baltimore convention.

The Mayor spent most of the day here transacting business at the judiciary department and went home last night.

FINE MEMORIAL WINDOW TO S. P. G. IS UNVEILED

Hattiesburg, Miss., April 8.—In Trinity church in this city there was unveiled this afternoon a costly memorial window, believed to be the only tribute of the church in America to the venerable Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The society, which has its headquarters in London, is one of the oldest Protestant missionary organizations in the world.

The unveiling was accompanied by impressive ceremonies attended by many eminent representatives of the Episcopal church gathered here for the annual council meeting of the Mississippi diocese. The Rev. Dr. Simpson-Almore, rector of Trinity church, presided at the exercises and the Rt. Rev. Theodore DuBois Bratton, bishop of Mississippi, performed the unveiling ceremony. The Rt. Rev. Edwin G. Weed, bishop of Florida, preached the sermon. The memorial was accepted in behalf of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel by a representative of Bishop Courtney, of New York, who is the only vice president of the society in the United States.

The design of the window is "Christ the Sower." The forty bishops of the Episcopal church in America, together with the late J. Pierpont Morgan and other leading laymen, contributed to the fund for its purchase. From the other side of the Atlantic contributions were received from the Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the Lord Bishop of Southwell, the Archdeacon of Nottingham and a number of others. A message of greeting from His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury was read at the unveiling.

BATTINITES CLAIM VICTORY OVER AJAX

On the Other Hand They Were Treated to a Drubbing by Local Y. M. C. A.

Manager Woolsey, of the Battin High School team, of Elizabeth, has issued a season's resume of the games played by his team, including one with the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, of this city. The Elizabeth pilot has the result of the game down in favor of the Battin athletes giving them the benefit of a 39 to 32 decision over the Ajax, while in reality it was a victory by the same score in favor of the Plainfield five. The game was the second one of the season for the Battin boys and was played on their home court in the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., the Ajax winning after a hard fight in which they showed their superiority in a decisive way over the Battin quintet.

At the end of the first half the score stood 15 to 12 in favor of the home players, but the visitors added a decided spurt in the final period and ran away with the game. A large crowd of Battin supporters attended the contest and it will probably be remembered as a beating received by the Elizabetheans. This was somewhat of a novel way for the Elizabeth manager to try to increase his "games won column" but he has evidently taken this means to do it. It will be remembered that at the time of the contest, the result proved a severe blow to the Battin quintet, who were then supposed to be one of the fastest fives in the State as far as High Schools were concerned and the local five was considered to have little or no chance of beating them. The officials were all Elizabeth men and the Ajax were very much dissatisfied at the time over the rulings but when the game resulted in their favor in the end they overlooked this fact. Among the teams defeated by Battin High School this season were South Orange High School, Somerville High School (two games), and Hasbrouck Institute (two games).

ANOTHER KNOCK FOR A. A. U. OFFICIALS

Ban Johnson and Other Chicagoans Plan Professional College League.

George Huff, athletic director of Illinois University, together with President Ban Johnson, of the American League, and Hugh Fullerton, of Chicago, plan to make a radical revolt against amateur baseball as practiced in the colleges. Mr. Huff says, "amateur rules don't make amateur athletes; they make amateur liars." The revolt is directed against the Amateur Athletic Union. The announcement is made in the current issue of Collier's National Weekly.

The plan is to form a college league, composed of eight or possibly ten clubs, made up of undergraduate players from American colleges. The managers of these teams will be managers or coaches of college teams or graduate coaches. The President of the league will be George Huff. The season will begin about July 15, and a schedule of seventy-seven games will be played.

The games will be played at American League parks during the absence of the major league clubs, or at National League parks. It is planned to have the season end about September 1, and the players will be paid a salary for their work, together with their hotel and traveling expenses.

A percentage of the gate receipts will be put aside to establish a fund to endow scholarships in universities and colleges. All the contests will be under the jurisdiction of the National Commission.

YANKEES INJURED.

Manager Frank Chance and his New York Americans won their victory over the Brooklyn team yesterday afternoon at considerable cost, because during the fray Chance had to retire limping, when a muscle in his right leg contracted and he almost collapsed. This ailment, common among ball players is termed a "Charley-horse" but is only temporary. Jack Warhop strained his shoulder after he had thrown half a dozen balls and had to retire, and Derrick, the shortstop, was spiked by Zack Wheat. The injury to Derrick was probably the most serious, the flesh between the thumb and the forefinger being almost torn away, when he split his thumb.

N. P. H. S. AT ROSELLE.

Coach George Webster, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, will take his "colts" to Roselle tomorrow afternoon for a game with the High School team of that place. The team is much encouraged over the good showing made against New Brunswick High School here last Saturday afternoon and are hopeful of annexing another at the expense of Roselle tomorrow. In order to get a line on all of the available material and to give everyone a fair chance to earn a position it is likely that he will take along an extra crew of substitutes.

The exhibits of Pomeranians, Russian wolfhounds, Boston terriers and American foxhounds are especially notable. All the best known kennels of the Pacific coast are represented.

NEW JERSEY HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

North Plainfield High School's win over New Brunswick High School here Saturday afternoon recalls the game of last year when the Brunswick team allowed N. P. H. S. but one scratch hit. Ample revenge was secured this trip, however, the score being 11 to 1 in favor of the boroughites.

Plainfield and Leals' hook up this afternoon. Wonder if Jim Nash will have any terrors for his old pals in a twirler's disguise?

What has become of that North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team? Answer, Beckman.

N. P. H. S. goes to Roselle tomorrow afternoon to play the High School of that place.

Plainfield High School athletes will conduct their annual outdoor interclass athletic meet at Parker Field next Saturday afternoon. A large entry list has been compiled.

The New Brunswick institution of learning will be well represented at the relays to be held at Philadelphia on April 26, under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania. One hundred and ninety-seven schools and seventy-two colleges have entered. Rutgers has been classed with Carnegie Tech., Pittsburgh University, Lafayette, Haverford, Johns Hopkins, New York University and Trinity.

The New Brunswick High will have its opponents in Class 9—Summit High, Conshohocken, Haddonfield, Germantown Annex, of Central High School; and Frankfort Annex, of Central High, Mt. Holly High, and Lansdale High.

Rutgers Prep. has been classed in No. 6 for preparatory schools with Phillips Brooks, Friends Select School, St. Joseph's Prep., St. Nicholas Academy, and Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf.

Saturday afternoon the Mohawks Baseball Club, of New Brunswick, defeated a team representing Rutgers Prep. School by the score of 5 to 1. The Mohawks won out by timely hitting and speedy base-running.

The baseball season of Pingry High School, Elizabeth, had an auspicious opening on Saturday afternoon when the team gained a clean-cut and decisive victory over Upsala College in an interesting game on the Elizabeth oval. The score of 7-3 is a good indication of the relative strength of the teams, but although Pingry was always safely in the lead, the tilt was far from being one-sided or slow.

Somerville High School was treated to a 3 to 1 beating at Elizabeth, Saturday afternoon, playing the Battin High School contingent. Harrison's sterling pitching won the game for the Battinites, he allowing but two scratch hits.

It fell to the lot of Roberson, the Somerville High School shortstop, to get both of his team's hits against Battin, Saturday afternoon.

Members of the St. Benedict's "Prep" School baseball team, of Newark, will inaugurate the 1913 baseball season this afternoon at Paterson, meeting the High School nine of that place. The prospects of a successful getaway are anything but promising.

By a batting rally in the ninth inning, which resulted in two runs, Asbury Park High School tied the score with the Atlantic Highlands High School on the Asbury Park diamond, Saturday. In the eleventh the Asbury Park boys again used their clubs and batted out a 6 to 5 victory.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Harry J. Sargent, the Central High School baseball squad, of Newark, which has been working out at the Roseville Oval the past week, appears to be rapidly rounding into form. During the week Coach Sargent has weeded out the "deadwood," leaving but twenty-four lads to battle during the coming week for a position on the nine.

At a meeting of the St. Benedict's Prep. School Athletic Association, of Newark, held yesterday afternoon, the teams were selected for the handball tournament and plans for an interclass field day were formulated.

The Montclair Academy baseball diamond has been put in condition and the candidates for the team are hard at work. The competition is keen for several of the positions. There are more than twenty boys out in uniform each day, with Coach Hazel giving them a few innings of real baseball.

MARATHONS READY TO OPEN SEASON

Manager of Strong Juvenile Combination Wants to Arrange Games.

Frequent practices conducted during the past two weeks have afforded those in charge of the Marathon Athletic Club's baseball team an opportunity to weed out the "deadwood" and the team at present gives promise of being one of the fastest junior aggregations playing the game on local diamonds this season. The material on hand is both abundant and encouraging from every point of view, outfielders and infielders having shown to their best advantage during the two weeks of preliminary drills.

Manager George Hummel is now arranging a schedule of games with teams of the junior class between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years and is anxious to get into communication with managers of juvenile nines in this city. The Marathon leader has already scheduled several contests which will afford him an opportunity to get a line on the nine men who will eventually constitute the regular lineup, and these contests will be played as preliminary tryouts. Local teams desiring to arrange games with the Marathons should address George Hummel, 121 Duer street, North Plainfield, N. J.

METROPOLITAN GOLF SCHEDULE FOR WOMEN

Complete List of Spring Tournaments and Where They Will Be Held.

Although the Spring schedule of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association contains only half as many one-day tournaments as a year ago, there are other features to make up the deficit. It was announced recently that team matches would play an important part in the schedule, and that the New York and New Jersey forces would clash at Montclair on May 13 and again at Knollwood on May 20. The most recent development is an arrangement of the first match of the season for May 6 at Oakland. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday. The fourth contest between the sectional teams is down for May 27, and will take place either at Baltusrol or Englewood. The schedule of events in addition to the four-team matches provides for five one-day tournaments and a two-day tournament at Dunwoodie on May 28 and 29.

The complete Spring schedule of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association is as follows:

March 6, team match between New York and New Jersey at Oakland Golf Club, Bayside, L. I.; 8, one day tournament at Englewood Country Club; 13, team match between New York and New Jersey at Montclair Golf Club; 16, one day tournament at Apawamis Club, Rye, N. Y.; 20, team match between New York and New Jersey at Knollwood Country Club, White Plains, N. Y.; 22, one day tournament at Century Country Club, White Plains; 27, team match between New York and New Jersey at either Baltusrol Golf Club, Short Hills, N. BASKETBALL GAME FOR BOTH SEXES

Mammoth Exhibition Planned for Saengerbund Hall—Four Teams to Play.

Something in local sportdom will be introduced here Friday evening, April 25, at Saengerbund Hall, in the form of a mammoth basketball exhibition, four teams of colored players acting as the participants. The opening contest bids fair to be a hummer, being staged between two of the fastest colored combinations in the State, the Imperial A. C., of Orange, and the Plainfield Speed Boys. The Imperial club is a promoter of all around athletics and has made a name for itself in a number of Metropolitan meets, having enrolled among its number many of the best colored athletes in the State. The basketball team is no exception and the Plainfielders will have to put up a sterling game in order to defeat the speedy visitors.

The Plainfield girls' team captained by Miss Charlette Mann, will play its initial game against the Corinthians, of Orange, led by Miss Borooxie Goode. This team has been playing for some time past and has won a name for itself in feminine basketball circles because of the article of basketball it puts up. This affair will mark the initial appearance of the Plainfield teams in competitive basketball, although they have been practicing all winter, not having the opportunity to appear in public before. The committee in charge of the affair consists of John R. Gates, Orvid H. Bigelow, Harry Gordon, Norman Goode, Henry Lewis, James Burrell, Charles Peterson, Raymond Perkins, T. Langford, L. Tillery, Jack Hegerman and George Harris. John R. Gates, Harry Gordon and Charles Peterson, are athletes from this city enrolled in the Imperial club and Orvid H. Bigelow is manager of the visiting basketball team. Jack Hegeman and George Harris are the floor managers and dancing will continue until two o'clock in the morning.

NEW YORK STATE LEAGUERS IN TRAINING AT BRUNSWICK

Wintry blasts with snow flakes did not look favorable for a baseball game at Amusement Park New Brunswick, Sunday, and the opening game was again postponed. Dave Driscoll's players made the trip to New Brunswick and had an hour's practice at the park.

The New Brunswicks were scheduled to meet the Utica, New York State League team, which started its spring training at the Brunswick ball yard last week. Because of the cold weather, Manager O'Neill did not feel like sending his team through a game, fearing the result to the players' arms, though he was willing to play if the crowd in attendance warranted playing the game.

Ten players have now arrived at the Brunswick camp, and twelve more are expected today. On Thursday and Friday of this week, Utica is scheduled to meet the Toronto International League team.

Frank Jeffries, of the Catholic Club team, of New Brunswick, is working out with the Utica team, and stands a good chance of being retained by Manager O'Neill. Felix Morales, who reports to the Newport News Club on Thursday, is also working out with the Utica team.

LIBRARY ASKS FOR $10,000

building, but the following reasons might also be mentioned:

"The Fire Underwriters Association has condemned the electric wiring which must be immediately overhauled or our insurance avoided.

"The old building must provide space for the following not provided for in the Carnegie building: (1) the cloisonne, butterfly, art and other collections which Mr. Carnegie specifically excluded from the purpose of his gift; (2) the Librarian's office; (3) a separate children's room, (an urgent need for an important department); (4) reference space for the special departments on law, medicine and music—Mrs. Craig A. Marsh made her generous gift of her husband's law library partially on the assurance that an effort would be made to provide a room for that department.

"If an inspection is possible, we would ask you to look at the following:

"(1) The outside appearance of the old in relation to the new building; (2) the flooring which is worn through to splinters in many places; (3) the front steps; (4) the walls noticeably in the Art Gallery; (5) the bad scheme of division into rooms.

"The alterations and repairs contemplated are such as cannot be done piecemeal, year by year. Economy and other practical reasons have prompted the board to wait until all can be done at once. In recent years the directors have certified their requirements for running expenses only, the amount being in all cases far below that authorized by statute. This year's certification for running expenses is over $3,500 under the statutory library allowance. In four years the library has asked for $17,400 less than the law provides. On only one occasion, and that about seventeen years ago, has the library asked for an extra appropriation. At that time the Council granted $7,000 to build the library stack room.

"Roughly, the present value of the library property is:

50,000 books, besides magazines, etc.	$ 50,000
New Carnegie building	50,000
Land	15,000
Old Library stack	7,000
Babcock buildings	13,000
Mason W. Tyler Trust fund	10,000
Cloisonne collection	10,000
Butterfly and other collections	5,000
	$160,000

"This is in addition to the art collection and the old building on which no value is stated. Of the above funds, the city of Plainfield has been asked to contribute nothing beyond the annual running expenses, with the exception of the $7,000 above stated.

"In regard to current expenses of the library, the following statistics are interesting:

	1907-8	1911-12	1913-14 (Extimated)
Circulation	53,000	82,000	100,000
Taxes	$7,500		10,900

Amount of money raised by taxes per volume circulated—1907-8, 14 cents; 1913-14 (estimated), 10 cents.

"In other words, the library has increased its circulation 11½ per cent. a year, which for the six years noted is accounted for by an increase of 5 per cent. annum in expenses, and over 6 per cent. in efficiency per unite of cost. These statistics are the more remarkable in view of the fact that the library is now operating two buildings in place of one."

Here is the itemized estimate of cost:

Item 1—Remove tower on front and finish with plain balustrade	$ 326.00
Item 2—Form new window opening second story front, and furnish sash	175.00
Item 3—Remove present main entrance steps and stoop, and replace with entrance	645.00

New Providence, April 8.—A notice of reward has been posted in Murray Hill, offering $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of thieves who robbed the country home of Mrs. Louise M. Schultz-Seivers, in Mountain avenue. It was learned that a phonograph, worth between $200 and $300, and silverware, the value of which was not given, were taken. A bundle of silver was found ready to be carried away.

SHORT MESSAGE STICKS TO TARIFF

President Wilson Advises the Extra Session.

URGENT NEED OF REFORMS

Chief Executive Says Recent Elections Laid a Duty Upon the Democratic Party, Which Must Lighten the Burden of the People—Says It Would Be Unwise to Move Forward Headlong or With Reckless Haste; That Business Must Be Encouraged, Not Destroyed, but That Everything That Has a Semblance of Privilege Must Be Abolished—Promises Special Message Dealing With Needed Banking and Currency Laws.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have called the congress together in extraordinary session because a duty was laid upon the party now in power at the recent elections which it ought to perform promptly in order that the burden carried by the people under existing law may be lightened as soon as possible and in order, also, that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves. It is clear to the whole country that the tariff duties must be altered. They must be changed to meet the radical alteration in the conditions of our economic life which the country has witnessed within the last generation. While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began or have moved in the direction they were given when no large circumstance of our industrial development was what it is today. Our task is to square them with the actual facts. The sooner that is done the sooner we shall escape from suffering from the facts and the sooner our men of business will be free to thrive by the law of nature (the nature of free business) instead of by the law of legislation and artificial arrangement.

© by American Press Association.

How Tariff Has Grown.

We have seen tariff legislation wander very far afield in our day—very far indeed from the field in which our prosperity might have had a normal growth and stimulation. No one who looks the facts squarely in the face or knows anything that lies beneath the surface of action can fail to perceive the principles upon which recent tariff legislation has been based. We long ago passed beyond the modest notion of "protecting" the industries of the country and moved boldly forward to the idea that they were entitled to the direct patronage of the government. For a long time—a time so long that the men now active in public policy hardly remember the conditions that preceeded it—we have sought in our tariff schedules to give each group of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world. Consciously or unconsciously we have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition behind which it was easy by any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly, until at last nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business, but everything thrives by concerted arrangement. Only new principles of action will save us from a final hard crystallization of monopoly and a complete loss of the influences that quicken enterprise and keep independent energy alive.

Must Abolish Privilege.

It is plain what those principles must be. We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical and enterprising masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not and probably cannot produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world.

It would be unwise to move toward this end headlong, with reckless haste or with strokes that cut at the very roots of what has grown up among us by long process and at our own invitation. It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it. We must make changes in our fiscal laws, in our fiscal system, whose object is development, a more free and wholesome development, not revolution or upset or confusion. We must build up trade, especially foreign trade. We need the outlet and the enlarged field of energy more than we ever did before. We must build up industry as well and must adopt freedom in the place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build, not pull down. In dealing with the tariff, the method by which this may be done will be a matter of judgment, exercised item by item. To some not accustomed to the excitements and responsibilities of greater freedom our methods may in some respects and at some points seem heroic, but remedies may be heroic and yet be remedies. It is our business to make sure that they are genuine remedies. Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us we shall be fortunate.

Thorough, but Moderate.

We are called upon to render the country a great service in more matters than one. Our responsibility should be met, and our methods should be thorough, as thorough as moderate and well considered, based upon the facts as they are, and not worked out as if we were beginners. We are to deal with the facts of our own day, with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts. It is best—indeed, it is necessary—to begin with the tariff. I will urge nothing upon you now at the opening of your session which can obscure that first object or divert our energies from that clearly defined duty. At a later time I may take the liberty of calling your attention to reforms which should press close upon the heels of the tariff changes, if not accompany them, of which the chief is the reform of our banking and currency laws, but just now I refrain. For the present I put these matters on one side and think only of this one thing—of the changes in our fiscal system which may best serve to open once more the free channels of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file.

WOODROW WILSON.

The White House, April 8, 1913.

INTEREST IN THE SESSION.

For the First Time in Many Years Democrats Control.

Elements in the extra session of congress are unusual. President Wilson has called the great body together at a time when his party has absolute control of every branch of the government relating to legislation.

This has not been the case before in twenty years. During that period of long ago when the Democrats were in power President Cleveland called an extra session, but the conditions were vastly different from now.

The extra session under President Wilson is remarkable because the lawmakers to a large extent are men of comparatively recent rise to prominence. Because of the fact that the Democratic party is providing a change from Republican rule for the first time in sixteen years great interest is centered upon the doings of congress.

Virtually a new generation of legislators has sprung up. With but a very few exceptions there are no men who figured in congressional doings of twenty years ago who are sharing the responsibilities of the body now.

Of only one thing has the public been absolutely certain, and that is that the tariff would be first and foremost among the subjects for work by the legislators, and that revision downward would be the purpose. The legislators themselves have not known just how the revision is to be managed, and it has been well understood that they would not all be pleased over all the details of the ultimate changes. The subject has been thrashed over so often and earnestly that its intricacies have become feared.

The ways and means committee, which has had the task of drafting the tentative form of the new tariff measure, has been unable to announce completion of its work in advance of the extra session, but the probability is that the measure will be taken up schedule by schedule.

The public has been led to expect that after the tariff is disposed of congress will consider currency, the income tax, Philippine independence and the Panama tolls questions.

Much publicity has been given to the proposed national income tax. The tax will probably apply only to incomes of over $5,000 annually. Certain members of congress hold that this sort of levy would be confined to but a comparatively small proportion of the public and that the revenue would not be sufficient. They argue that an inheritance tax should be added to insure the needed revenue.

The Opportunity Is Without Parallel

because of the unparalleled magnitude of the business of the WANAMAKER Piano Salons, conceded to be greater than that of any other piano store in the world. The desire to own one of the famous instruments on the WANAMAKER Roll of Honor — Chickering, Schomacker, Emerson, Lindeman, the celebrated Knabe, and the world's first and finest player, The ANGELUS—has prompted people to turn in their used pianos and player pianos in part payment, at prices fixed by us after careful examination of each instrument.

Every one of these instruments has been put in first-class condition in our own factory and is ready and worthy to be received and give good service in any home. The prices are the lowest we have ever known for instruments of such merit.

FAIR WARNING

A $60,000 Collection of Fashionable Silk Brocades for $35,000

To be displayed and sold on the Silk Rotunda, Main Floor, Lower Silk Rotunda, Subway Floor

Brocades are not only fashionable, but the great demand has made them very scarce.

The wonderful designs—the great roses, the modern art ideas, the richly scattered grounds with small exquisitely shaped patterns—have not been woven nearly fast enough.

But one silk corporation which has been most successful this year had $60,000 worth of brocades in reserve for later Spring orders.

The head of that firm sails Saturday for Europe to start on next year's business.

We offered to take over the entire lot. Our stock is not heavy. We can afford to reduce our duplicates of his patterns.

Rather than bother with holding on to them, the maker consented to our terms.

So to-morrow, we believe, for the first time this season

New Spring 1913 Brocades Are Offered for less

There are three kinds—all equally fashionable—Brocaded Crepe de Chine, Brocaded Crepe Charmeuse, Brocaded Crepe Chinois.

Fifty-two designs—large, small and medium—and in some as many as twenty colors.

New shades for the Spring—yellow, green, copper, rose, King blue, tan, violet, orange, many others, and plenty of white.

Designed for every time and occasion—from the afternoon tailored suit or combination costume to artistic evening wraps, dance dresses and dinner gowns.

Their new rates are given below. They are compared with the prices at which all first-class stores are selling them to-day, with the exception of this one special collection here:

$1.50 yard for $2.50 quality.
$1.85 yard for $2.75 quality.
$1.95 yard for $3.00 and $3.50 quality.
$2.25 yard for $3.50 and $4.00 quality.
$2.75 yard for $4.50 quality.
$3.50 yard for $5.00 and $6.00 quality.
$4.00 yard for $8.00 quality.
Widths 36 to 44 inches.

In face of a shortage in the silk market and the great vogue for brocades at the present moment, and with every prospect of a continued fashion, we consider this the best thing the Wanamaker Silk Store has yet done.

Preparations have been made to serve carefully and promptly all of our clients who wish to take advantage of this paradoxical opportunity.

Beginning at 8:30 o'clock to-morrow, Wednesday. Silk Rotunda, Main Floor; Lower Silk Rotunda, Subway Floor.

TO PROMOTE USE OF THE SCHOOLS

Mrs. Francis de L. Hyde is Elected President of Newly-formed Association.

MAXSON FAVORS IDEA

Scheme is to Foster use of School Auditoriums for Social and Educational Purposes—Need $1,500—Officers Chosen.

Plans for furthering the interest of the public welfare movement which seeks to open the public schools for social and educational purposes were discussed at a meeting of the Mayor's commitee at the Plainfield Public Library last night. This committee comprises H. W. Marshall, W. H. P. Veysey and G. Stuart Simons. The movement has assumed such proportions now that the committee, which was given the power, increased its number by nineteen, the purpose being to have different ones assume the responsibility for the program to be carried out at the different schools as they are opened for the work.

It was the sense of the meeting that money would be needed to carry on the work, and $1,500 was thought to be a reasonable sum. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde and W. H. P. Veysey were appointed a committee to wait on Mayor Percy H. Stewart and see how this money can be secured.

Champlain L. Riley, A. B. Jones and Mrs. Percy H. Stewart were appointed a committee to investigate the social welfare work in the State and report back to the geeneral committee at their pleasure. Dr. H. M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, addressed the meeting, telling of the many benefits that he believes will be possible through the opening of the schools for social and educational purposes. He expressed the hope that all of the schools would soon be opened for this work.

Samuel North, of Baltimore, who has been the guest of Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, and who is an expert on public playground and welfare work, stated that he had investigated the local playgrounds and the general conditions and added that he thought they met the needs admirably. He said he could make no suggestions for improving conditions or extending the usefulness of the work.

The commitee organized last night by electing G. Stuart Simons, president; Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, vice president, and W. H. P. Veysey, secretary. The newly-appointed members of the general committee are as follows:

TRUSTEES CHOSEN AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Trustees were elected and the annual report of the treasurer, John G. MacLaughlin, was presented at the ninety-fifth annual parish meeting of the First Baptist church, last night. E. L. Bonney was chairman of the meeting, and Oliver B. Leonard, the church clerk, acted in his official capacity.

S. St. John McCutchen, Thomas S. Armstrong and John G. MacLaughlin, whose terms expired as trustees, were re-elected for a full term of three years. The report of the treasurer showed the receipts for the year to be about $8,000 and expenditures about the same. This amount represents pew rents, the proportion from the regular budget and basket collections.

It has been proposed that the annual church meeting and the annual parish meeting be combined in one meeting to be held on the second Tuesday in April, which is the close of the fiscal year, and this will probably be done hereafter, so as to avoid any confusion from holding separate meetings.

OWLS INCREASING.

Twenty candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order last night at the regular meeting of the Italian Nest of Owls, held in Unity Hall, and which was attended by over 100 members. Visitors were present from Trenton, Bound Brook and Somerville. Following the initiation ceremonies, Donato D'Lonardo, of the local order, delivered an eloquent address, in which he urged that the members keep constantly on the alert to increase the lodge's roster. The serving of refreshments concluded the evening.

SUPPER IN HONOR OF THEIR PASTOR

Enjoyable Entertainment Also at Reception for Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson.

A church supper and reception in honor of Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, took place last night under the direction of the Ladies' Aid Society, about 250 of his parishioners attending the affair. The dinner, under the direction of Miss Minnie Sharp, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, was held in the basement and the program of music which followed under the leadership of Clifford Braider, the church, added much.

An opening chorus, "Blessed Be the Tie that Binds," sung by the choir, preceded the dinner and between the courses the choir rendered old fashioned songs appropriate to an occasion of this nature. Coffee was served at tables in the chapel, under the direction of Mrs. Stephen Tugwell. Four toasts were offered at the coffee bazaars as follows: "To Our Pastor," by J. W. Jackson; "To Our Pastor's Wife," by Henry A. McGee; "To the Ladies," by Stephen Tugwell, and "To the Men," by Mrs. Matthew A. Ewart. A musical number interspersed each toast. L. D. Albin acted as toastmaster at the supper and H. A. Gee was chairman of the program committee. Ministers from a number of other churches in this city and borough attended the affair and several responded with short speeches.

Three of the members of the new choir were present last night, Edgar A. Cole, of New York, bass, being detained at home by illness, his place being taken by William H. Holmes, of this city. The other members are Miss Gabriel Drosse, soprano; Mrs. Josephine Boughn, contralto, and Alexander McGowan, tenor, all of New York city, and they sang several selections under Mr. Braider's direction.

"HER LORD AND MASTER" BOOKED FOR MAY 8 AND 9

Thursday and Friday evening, May 8 and 9, have been chosen by the members of the Park Comedy Club for the presentation of "Her Lord and Master," this year's offering by the well known local dramatic organization. The play will be given at the Plainfield theatre. Rehearsals are well under way, the members of the cast having devoted most of the time for the past two weeks to becoming familiar with the lines.

It is said that the cast will be the best that has ever appeared in a comedy club show. Eugene B. Sanger, who has been chosen as the coach for this year's play, will take charge of the rehearsals within a very few days. He is one of the foremost stage directors in the New York district, and has for many years staged the productions of the students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Harvard Hasty Pudding Club and the Triangle Club, of Princeton.

AS TO STREET WORK.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett's men are now busily engaged in making repairs on the principal streets about the city, patching up holes in the roadbed caused by the heavy automobile traffic during the winter. A bituminous preparation is being used with good results. This preparation does not have to be heated but is mixed cold with fine stone. Thus far West Seventh street has been repaired and other streets are being taken in turn. Convenient railroad sidings have been secured and in the future it will be less difficult to remove the patented street materials to the different parts of the city.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 38 degrees; 11 a. m., 46 degrees; 1 p. m., 54 degrees.

PLAINFIELD FIREMEN SAVE SUBURBAN PROPERTY

The home of M. A. Rose on Terrill road, Fanwood, threatened with almost complete destruction by fire at 8 o'clock last night, was saved by the Plainfield fire department, which was summoned by telephone. The local firemen had the blaze under control when the departments from Fanwood and Scotch Plains arrived, and the occupants were able to save much of the furniture and clothing. The damage to the house will amount to about $1,000.

The origin of the fire, which is not known, was discovered in the upper part of the house about 8 o'clock. A telephone from a neighbor's house brought the apparatus from No. 4 house to the scene within a short time. Later word was sent to the Fanwood and Scotch Plains departments. The firemen from the latter department were taken to the scene of the conflagration by an auto truck from Newark, while the boys from the Parish House assisted in pulling the Plains apparatus to the fire, only to arrive too late to be of any service. Mr. Rose did not learn of the fire until he returned home at 9 o'clock last night. This is the second experience of the kind he has had in the past six months.

FLY SWATTING CAMPAIGN TO BE STARTED SOON

The "fly swatting" campaign will be started in earnest under the direction of the local Board of Health within the next week, and elaborate preparations are being made by that department of the city work to start a movement that will in time wipe out the pest so common in warm weather. With the earnest cooperation of all housekeepers, the board will conduct a vigorous campaign in the nature of a house-to-house canvas and inspection. All yards will be carefully scrutinized and the tenants in the houses situated thereon or owners will be compelled to remove all debris and refuse which tends to form breeding places for the insect.

A request has been made to householders to make a personal inspection of their premises cleaning up all of the newspapers and dirt common in back yards. In this way the work of the board will be greatly diminished and a more thorough canvas will be the result as the inspectors will be enabled to cover a larger amount of territory in a shorter space of time. Circulars will be sent out to all stable owners in the form of notices requesting them to remove manure at least once a week and to keep this refuse properly protected while it is being deposited in the barnyards. Those who have made a careful study of the fly question, claim that ninety per cent. of the flies are bred in manure piles and the proposed campaign will be directed chiefly toward this prominent nuisance.

RETURN FROM ABROAD.

George H. Frost, of Watchung avenue, and his son, Charles H. Frost president and manager, respectively, of the Courier-News, arrived in New York at 9 o'clock this morning on the Olympic from London, after a winter spent in Egypt. Both are very enthusiastic concerning their long journey, declaring that they enjoyed every minute of it. While abroad they spent a short time in Italy.

WATER CO. BUILDING A RESERVOIR HERE

Capacity Half Million Gallons —Not to Pump Direct From the Wells.

As a means of further increasing its service and at the same time improving the efficiency of the plant, the Plainfield-Union Water Supply Company is installing a covered reinforced concrete reservoir on the the company's land on North avenue, adjoining the pumping station. This reservoir will be 50 feet wide, 200 feet long and fifteen feet deep, with a capacity of about a half-million gallons of water. It will be an exact duplicate and auxiliary of the present system which has been used for some time.

The reservoir will be filled with water from the wells by means of an air lift and it will then be pumped into the mains and service pipes throughout the city. The company has found that this system works far better and to greater advantage than by pumping the water direct from the wells and then into the mains.

The work is now well underway and will be completed within a short time.

PUPILS GIVE A RECITAL AT PLAINFIELD SEMINARY

The pupils of Miss Jeanie May and Miss Florence Nicholl gave a recital yesterday afternoon at the Seminary. To listen to a pupils' recital is sometimes to perform a duty conscientiously, but those who were present yesterday will recall the hour with genuine pleasure. The younger children, as well as those more advanced, played with charm and real musical feeling. One realized in hearing them that their fine training in music was a powerful influence in their artistic and intellectual development.

The work of Miss Bessie Jewett, Miss Constance Harris, and Joseph Sattels is especially to be commended. The last-named played as an encore a later Prelude of Rachmaninoff.

MISS ETHEL RINK BRIDE OF WILLIAM H. CARKHUFF

A reception followed the ceremony, during which congratulations were offered and a wedding luncheon was served. The couple left this afternoon on a week's trip and upon their return will reside in this city. The bride received a large collection of gifts.

APPLY FOR RELEASE OF CHARLES S. PAINE

Freeholders Petitioned on Ground Prisoner Has Been Punished Enough.

Somerville, April 9.—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders at its meeting here yesterday, received an application for the release from the county jail of Charles S. Paine, who was committed from North Plainfield for sixty days on a charge of drunkenness about a month ago. Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and other residents of North Plainfield considered that Paine had been punished enough for his infraction of the law. The matter was referred to the county counsel and jail committee.

The Board decided that no more roads be taken up for survey until the four already surveyed be passed upon by the State Road Commissioner. The four referred to include Neshanic and Clover Hill, the Greater Cross Roads, the Blackwells Mills and Millstone and the Chimney Rock roads.

The financial report of the county was read and approved and County Collector Allen was authorized to borrow $20,000 in anticipation of taxes. In response to a request from residents of North Plainfield the Board voted to build a new bridge on Rockview terrace, North Plainfield, replacing one of the oldest structures in this section of the county. There was a lengthy discussion regarding bridge repair work and concerning roads needing repair. A representative of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America which has located a plant in Franklin Township, requested the Board to improve the road leading to the plant. The matter was referred.

DAMAGE SUIT FOR $10,000 IS LOST

Isaac Giles Acquitted in One Case and Gets Non-Suit in Another.

VICTORY FOR MR. MOY

Mrs. Hannah E. Case, of Stanton, Fails to Recover for Injuries Alleged to Have Been Caused by the Defendants.

Flemington, April 9.—Isaac Giles, of North Plainfield, was acquitted yesterday of the charge of negligence in the $10,000 damage suit instituted against him by Mrs. Hannah E. Case, of Stanton, and the complainant was non-suited in her action brought against Mrs. Ada Cuming, of North Plainfield, and George E. Hall, whom she alleged were copartners of Mr. Giles. The defendants were represented by former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of Plainfield, and the complainant's counsel was Robert Newton Crane, also of Plainfield.

The case was tried before Judge Nelson Y. Dungan and a jury of twelve men, and it occupied the whole day. The action was the result of an accident between Whitehouse and Flemington on January 11 last, when Mr. Giles and his chauffeur, George Copeland, were on their way to Flemington in the former's automobile.

On the road, coming in the opposite direction in a wagon were Mrs. Case and Amos Carkoff. The horse shied at the machine, and it was claimed by the complainant and Mr. Carkoff that they were thrown out and injured. It was the contention that Mrs. Case jumped from the carriage. The first allegation by the complainant and Carkoff was that they raised their hands requesting that the automobile be stopped, and later that they waved for more room in the road.

Mr. Moy promptly secured a nonsuit of the action against Mrs. Cuming and Mr. Hall alleged copartners, by a preponderance showing that such a partnership does not exist. Mrs. Case then amended her complaint and made Mr. Giles alone the defendant and upon Mr. Moy's ability to show that the proof did not support Mrs. Case's allegation, the jury returned a verdict of no cause for action. There was a large number of witnesses called on both sides and the case was considered one of the most interesting tried in the Hunterdon County Courts in some time.

UNLICENSED PEDDLERS CAUGHT IN POLICE NET

The police of this city have shown unusual activity lately in apprehending pedlers and others doing business in this city without licenses where they are required. Patrolman R. MacIntyre yesterday arrested Thomas Harvey, colored, 30 years old, of 413 College place, and Henry Wienengo, 40 years old, of 421 East Fifth street, and charged them with conducting an express and carting business without a license. They will be arraigned tomorrow before City Judge DeMeza. MacIntyre has made six similar arrests within the last week.

Patrolman Hendershot arrested Joseph Padue, 18 years old, of 105 Prince street, Newark. He was peddling matches without a license. Appearing before City Judge DeMeza this morning he was fined $5. The court gave him a lecture on the laws of this city pertaining to peddling and said that as long as he was a city magistrate, the merchants of this city who pay high rentals and taxes would be protected.

STYLE AND RELIABILITY

Where Man Is Different

Man differs from the lower animals in the wearing of clothes.

Animals feel, think and live, but animals do not dress. Success differs from Failure in the wearing of clothes. Failure works, sleeps and eats, sometimes, but Failure does not dress.

Just "wearing clothes" is not dressing. Simply putting on a coat, vest and pair of trousers is not wearing a suit. And that's the one big lesson that Failure must learn before it can get out of the "bush leagues" into the "majors."

The Superbest Suits Ever Priced at $15

Are now at my shop. It is a gem—a garment created as few garments are, from the standpoint of STYLING and CONSTRUCTION.

In this class are Serges, Roughish Tweeds and Smartish Cassimeres.

The finishing of these suits is exquisite. You'll have to go far to see better tailormanship.

How a Retailer Cut Statements Costs

Richard F. Brune, retail groceries and meats, Sawtelle, California, says:

"All my monthly statements I now finish in six hours by the use of the adding machine. It formerly took my $16 a week bookkeeper five days to do the same work and then the statements were not always correct. You had a hard time selling me but after I had used it one week I was sorry I hadn't bought it five years ago."

A Burroughs Statement machine gets Mr. Brune's statements out on time.

Then it does every other kind of figure work—it's busy every day—worth many times its cost—would be to you.

No cost nor obligation to be shown, in your own office or store, on your own work; say the word, and we will send the machine.

DIRECT ELECTION OF SENATORS

After a twenty years' battle, the campaign for a direct election of United States Senators has been won by the progressive forces in the several States of the Union. The Constitutional change became effective when the thirty-sixth State ratified the proposed amendment to the Federal document of government and the honor came to Connecticut which yesterday approved of the innovation. Massachusetts blazed the way, being the first to give its approval.

The amendment, the seventeenth to the "greatest instrument ever struck off by the hand of man," will not, however, become operative until all of the thirty-six States have certified to the Secretary of State the formal ratification, but it is expected that this will be done within a month at the most.

The most satisfying feature of this progressive reform is that it will prevent corruption in the election of members of the Upper House of Congress, for while men like Lorimer have been able to buy up legislatures it will be impossible to purchase the electorate of a whole State no matter how lavish is the expenditure of a candidate's wealth. The millionaire, under the new order of things, will stand on the same level with the poorest rival, and ability and honor alone will count in the selection of members to this august body. In effect, it means a new era for we can expect a much higher standard in the complexion of the Senate.

As it will appear as a part of the Constitution, the Seventeenth amendment reads:

"The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislatures.

"When vacancies happen in this representation of any State in the Senate the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies, provided that the Legislature of any State may empower the Executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the Legislature may direct.

The honor role of States, those having ratified the amendment, consists of Massachusetts, Minnesota, New York, Arizona, North Carolina, Oregon, Montana, Texas, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Illinois, Maine, Nevada, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Washington, New Mexico, Michigan, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota, Vermont, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Connecticut.

While a great popular demonstration, nation-wide in scope, was taking place, the first parliament of the world's youngest republic was inaugurated yesterday in China. The initial session of the two legislative bodies, the Senate and the House of Representatives, was a most remarkable and impressive one. As bands played the national anthem, the Senators and Representatives, nearly all dressed in European costume, silently took their seats, and at the same time great crowds assembled outside, the air being surcharged with their cheers. From the city's walls 101 guns boomed a salute to the new-born republic.

The awakening of China, by which we mean its transformation from a despotic empire to a democracy of a most advanced type is truly the most progressive movement of the new century, and it must be a source of the utmost satisfaction to the people of the greatest of all republics, the United States of America, that this nation is the first to proclaim that at an early date it will formally recognize the infant republic of the Orient.

Wilson evidently does not believe that a President should be shut up in his mansion as the emperors of China were for he says in explaining his innovation in visiting the Congress to deliver his message that he wants to be considered as a person and not as a figure in government.

When you feel in the mood of doing something for a most worthy charity, just remember that the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis Society is always in need of funds in order to properly carry on its campaign against the great white plague.

It appears that neither the Board of Education nor the Board of Health, in North Plainfield, likes to have the finger of accusation pointed at it.

Woman suffrage was hopelessly beaten at the election in Michigan on Monday, but fortunately there are no Pankhursts out that way.

Is Sulzer a Democrat or a demagogue? Members of the New York Stock Exchange are eligible to vote on the question.

And again, we ask, when is the Councilmanic street committee going to get busy and have the streets oiled.

The contributing editor for Saturday will be a local business man and he will discuss local matters.

The President invaded Congress—"he came, he saw, he conquered."

Harold Eberlein, of Philadelphia, was at the organ, and played the wedding marches. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The rooms were attractively decorated with palms, white roses, carnations and Southern smilax. During the reception a collation was served. Mr. and Mrs. Wharton-Bickley are now enjoying a honeymoon and upon their return will reside in this city temporarily. Later they expect to remove to New York. Mr. Wharton-Bickley is connected with the Hickman-Williams Iron Company, of Philadelphia, with offices in New York. The bride received a large number of gifts from relatives and friends.

MAY BECOME THE NEW PRESIDENT OF CHINA

LI YUEN HUNG.

It is not likely that General Li Yuan hung, provisional Vice President of China, and commandant at Wuchang will lend himself to any plot to overthrow President Yuan, though his name is mentioned as a possible Kuo-Ming-tang candidate for the Presidency. He is not a member of that party. It has been but a few months since General Li was charged by Kuo-Ming-tang leaders with responsibility for the summary shooting of three military officers sent from Wuchang to Pekin, and in consequence it has been the purpose of the Kuo-Ming-tang politicians to drive him from the Vice Presidency. President Yuan has had the cordial support of the Vice President since the formation of the provisional government.

NEW SPELLERS ARE OUT AGAIN

King's English Is Given Some Jolts.

MORE SIMPLIFYING IS DONE

New York Board Makes Fourth Assault on Old Fashioned Methods of Orthography—Many Endings Rudely Stripped—School Is Now "Scool." Bluff Is Now "Bluf."

The simplified spelling board issued recently in New York its fourth assault on English as it has been written for some time and makes suggestions and rules that will give the old fashioned spelling book a severe shock. The attempt is made to break the list gently to the public, but in so doing the board is forced to use this sentence:

"The reader is urged in considering these new spellings not to be too much 'influenst' by the 'od' appearance of the words."

Therein is illustrated one of the most unkindest cuts of the new list; for the words ending in "nced" and "rsed" are to be written by the followers of the new spelling in "nst" and "rst."

In giving out its list the simplified spelling board is considerate enough to follow the ancient order of the alphabet. The combination ch is the first to suffer, and the h is annihilated. Thus "chaos" is set down to be spelled "caos," "character" is "caracter," "chorus" is "corus." "Eco" is not a foreign word, but is the familiar "echo," and the place where we learned the things we are now urged to forget is not a "school," but a "scool."

The K Has Bad Luck.

The ch is retained before e, y and i. Words like "chemist," "architect," "orchestra" and "scheme" are retained as they have been.

Next the ending ck is attacked. The rule is to drop the k after an unstressed vowel. It is noted that the final k has already been dropped by our ancestors in many words that once had it. This applies to all words like "derrick," "haddock," "hammock," "shamrock" and even "knapsack" and "haversack." The simplification of many monosyllables ending in ck is postponed by the board until the derived forms are agreed upon. Thus people will continue to get "sick" and not "sic" and can lie comfortably on their "backs" in the morning and not have to do with a "bac."

A change of wide effect is that of dropping the final e after a single consonant preceded by a short vowel or by any stressed vowel whose sound is not conveniently associated with the silent final e. This makes strangers of such old friends as "have," which becomes "hav," and "live," "forgive," "negative" and even "are," "gone" and "were."

"Heart" Is Broken.

When the two vowels ea come together and are pronounced as long a before r the rule is to drop the e. This rule literally breaks the "heart" and leaves it "hart." "Hearth" become "harth."

Final ew, which appears in many words like "blew," "grew," "chew" and "threw," is changed to u, so the simplified spellers will write, "The wind 'blu.'" When it comes to conjugating verbs ending in ew, like "brew," they are undaunted and will say, "I bru" and then "I brued" and "I have brued." Simplified spellers who have been accustomed to "chew" tobacco will now simply "chu" it and confess that they "chued" it.

Another e is lost in words ending in ey as an unstressed syllable which sounds like y. "Attorney" becomes "attorny," and "donkey" is "donky." This will affect "turkey" trot by making it the "turky" trot and possibly raising it in the eyes of the simplified spellers.

Then there are to be no more ff endings. One f is considered enough. American "bluff" will be American "bluf," and the "gruff" man who gets in a "huff" must simply be "gruf" and have a "huf." The law suffers here decidedly with the "plaintiff" only "plaintif" and the "sheriff" falling to "sherif."

Gh Becomes F.

Where gh is pronounced as f the board rules that it shall be written f, and where gh is silent both letters are dropped. "Laugh" becomes "laf," and the noun is "lafter." The "cough" is "cof," and "enough" is "enuf." Where gh is silent, as in "caught" and "aught," the words become simple "caut" and "aut."

When gn is pronounced like n, g is to be dropped, as in "gnaw" and "gnostic." Where gn is pronounced like ein, as in "reign" and "deign," the g is to be dropped. Thus an unhappy monarch might "fein" to "rein."

Likewise, when kn starts a word, like "knife," the k is dropped. Thus people would "neel" in church, and the housewife would "nead" the dough. The k is kept in know and knowledge.

One l of the final ll is dropped, also making a great change in many common words and making many of them puzzling. A prisoner in a "cel" would cause one to stop and think. And also a house on a "hil" would be annoying. Add to these such everyday words as "bel" for "bell," "dol" for "doll" and "shal" for "shall" and "sel" for "sell." The board says that this is carrying out a process that has been going on for a long time.

—Somebody will take the first direct step toward home ownership, today, influenced entirely by one of the real estate ads in the Press. Is it to be You?

MRS. TURNER WHOSE ALLEGED MURDERER IS IN TOILS

Collapsing before the time for his arraignment on a formal charge of murdering Mrs. Caroline Turner, of Lakewood, N. J., two years ago, Joseph F. Moriarty, alias William J. Leehan, is said to have made a confession in the Toms River (N. J.) jail.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

William Faversham may play in London the role of Iago to Forbes Robertson's Othello.

David Bispham, the noted baritone, is to be the star of a piece entitled "The Jolly Peasant."

W. A. Brady has engaged Della Fox to play one of the roles in his forthcoming revival of "Rosedale."

Next season the two sister, Mabel and Edith Talliaferro, are to star in a new play by Cleveland Moffat.

Rae Selwyn, the sister of Edgar Selwyn, will be a member of Grace George's company while in New York.

"A Gentleman of Leisure," in which John Barrymore is to star, has been renamed "A Thief in the Night."

Thomas Conkey, who plays the prince in "Sweethearts," was also the prince for two seasons in "The Spring Maid."

Next season Richard Carle and Miss Hattie Williams will again appear together under the management of Charles Frohman.

Two companies will be seen in "The Conspiracy" next season, the eastern one to open in Boston, and the western one in Chicago.

Hizzi Hajos, the noted Hungarian prima donna, is to star in a piece called "Her Little Highness," under the direction of Werba & Luescher.

Charlotte Walker, now touring in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," expects to appear in a new play next season, not to be written by her husband, Eugene Walter.

George M. Cohan has appeared for the last time on the New York stage in "Broadway Jones," and after a short tour will retire to his farm near Providence, Rhode Island.

A novel performance is to be given in New York at the benefit for Jerome Eddy, when a scene from "Julius Caesar" will be acted by a cast made up of dramatic critics and newspaper men.

David Belasco has another promising pupil whom he is going to present in a leading role. Her name is Helen Freeman, and she has been an understudy in various of the Belasco companies.

Legrand Howland, a grand opera composer, has written a play called "Deborah," in which the leading part will be played by Carlott Nillson, who made a hit in the star part of "The Three of Us."

Viola Allen has been offered $25,000 to appear for moving pictures in her famous role of Gloria Quayle in "The Christian," provided arrangements can be made with Hall Caine, the author of the play.

LINCOLN STATUE UNVEILED.

Webster City, Ia., Apr. 9.—The life sized bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln, modeled by the sculptor George L. Ganiere of Chicago, and presented to the Webster City High School by Alexander Groves as a memorial to his son Harry, was formally unveiled today at the high school with appropriate ceremonies and in the presence of the donor Mr. Groves, the teachers and students of the school and a number of invited friends of Mr. Groves. The Hon. L. A. McMurray, a close friend of the donor, made the presentation speech. J. W. Lee, representing the school board delivered the address of acceptance and Henry Miller, a high school student spoke for the high school. In the evening Dr. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, will deliver an address on Abraham Lincoln before a public gathering of the citizens.

—A great deal of today's "Good luck" is going to attach itself to those who read and investigate Press want ads.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal," and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

FIELDER HAS NOT FIXED DATE OF EXTRA SESSION

Trenton, April 9.—"I have made no decision as to the date of the special session" was the reply by Acting Governor Fielder yesterday to inquiries about the time the Legislature would be recalled. "I have not yet had time to think about a definite date. The only thing I can say positively is that it will be the first part of May."

"Will it be the 7th?" he was asked.

"Why the 7th?" inquired the Governor.

"Well, that's the date that is reported to have been suggested by President Wilson."

"I have not received any word from the President suggesting that date," answered Mr. Fielder.

JESSIE WILSON TO SPEAK.

Richmond, Va., April 9.—The annual national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association opened in this city today and will continue until next Tuesday. Several hundred delegates, representing nearly every State of the Union, are present. The convention is planned for all members of the Y. W. C. A., students and teachers in all educational institutions, all persons who wish to acquaint themselves with the association work, and those who are interested in missionary work. The principal sessions of the gathering are to be held in historic St. Paul's church, where President Jefferson Davis and Gen. Robert E. Lee were communicants. Prominent among those scheduled to address the convention is Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NEW ONIONS.

WITH new onions available onion lovers have many pleasing dishes to choose from.

Onions are a wholesome food, and it is a pity that it is the fashion to sneer at the vegetable. The confirmed onion eater has generally a good skin, if a somewhat objectionable breath.

Stuffed With Meat.

Onions In Surprise.—Take some large onions which have been peeled and washed and put them into a saucepan containing plenty of cold salted water. When the water boils up draw the pan to the side of the stove and let them cook gently until they are parboiled. Drain the onions and carefully remove the centers. Place half a lamb's kidney in each, pressing it well into the onion, put on a baking pan which has been rubbed with some good beef dripping and surround them with small pieces of beef fat. Cover the onions with greased paper and let them cook slowly in a moderately heated over for four hours, basting them frequently. Serve with thick brown sauce, which should be very savory.

Stuffed Onions.—Take large onions of uniform size, boil until tender, drain, cool, remove the hearts and fill the space with a forcemeat made by chopping together a cupful of bits of ham, a little of the onion heart, salt and pepper to taste and enough cream or milk to which butter has been added to soften the mixture. When the heart spaces are filled put a bit of butter on the top of each, lay the onions in a deep baking dish, pour a little milk or stock about them and bake, covered, for twenty minutes. Uncover, sprinkle crumbs over the top, brown and serve very hot.

Covered With Sauce.

Smothered Onions.—Peel some onions and cut so as to produce rings and put drippings or a little butter into a frying pan. When hot add the cut onions, sprinkle with one teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper, put over a slow fire, cover the pan, but do not let the onions brown before they are cooked through. Turn the rings, being careful not to break them. They should be a light yellow when done. Place them on a layer of boiled rice and cover with cream sauce.

Cream Sauce.—Put one tablespoonful butter into saucepan, melt, add one tablespoonful flour, mix well and add one cupful cold milk and stir until smooth and creamy. Add one teaspoonful salt, a dash of white pepper and boil one minute.

Browned Onions.—Peel and slice three large white onions and soak in milk for ten minutes. Then drain and dry on a towel. Separate the slices into rings, put a dozen or more at a time in a frying basket and plunge into smoking hot fat. Take out as soon as delicately colored, drain for a moment on unglazed paper, turn into heated dish, dust lightly with salt and serve at once.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

This is a conventional design suitable for embroidering a wrist bag twelve and one-half inches wide by eleven and one-half inches deep. Work the design in over and over stitch of solid embroidery and outline the edges with black or contrasting color.

Dame Fashion has decreed that this summer cotton ratine suits shall take the place that for the past few seasons has been occupied by linen in all its many varieties. Naturally the ratine frock will be accompanied by a wrist bag of the same material, and let it be whispered that this rough pebbly surface is going to be rather difficult to embroider. The wise woman who does not want to spend half the season fashioning her bag will forego the solid embroidery and work her bag either in a heavy outline stitch or, better still, use one of the many kinds of braid on the market for outlining patterns.

A large monogram worked in a contrasting color on linen, cut in oval shape, would be stunning if placed in the center of the bag.

This May Manton pattern comes in one size. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 624, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

There has been much interest shown in the letter by Mrs. Maud Nathan, president of the Consumers' League, which won the $100 prize among the thousands submitted in the New York Herald contest. Mrs. Nathan is well known in Plainfield. She says:

"I believe in equal suffrage because it is just and because it is expedient. In a democracy where the people are supposed to govern themselves, the ballot is the direct method of self-expression. A government that denies expression to one-half the people cannot justly be termed a democracy. How can the men represent the women? A man casts one vote, representing his own views; if there are three women in his household, each with dissenting views, how can his one vote represent theirs? It is not the men alone who have built up this great republic. All women pay taxes, either directly or indirectly. Six million women are engaged in the industry and commerce of our nation. Legislation is enacted regulating and controlling their lives, and yet their point of view is not considered. Legislators defer to their constituents, who have the power to re-elect them to office or to defeat them.

The trend of modern activities makes it expedient to enfranchise women. One by one woman's duties have been taken away from her and placed in charge of city or State officials, appointed by the Mayor or Governor, who are elected by the votes of men. Every department of a woman's household is regulated or controlled by officials more or less involved in politics. To procure pure milk for the babies, pure drinking water, meat from non-tuberculous cattle, non-poisonous canned foods, the housekeeper must depend upon the efficiency and incorruptibility of the various commissioners. She also depends upon the fire, police and street cleaning departments to protect her home.

"Her home is no longer isolated; it is part of the community. Whereas formerly her interests centred in her home, they must now embrace the public schools, the public hospitals, the public parks and playgrounds. The care of the young, the feeble, the delinquent, the sick and the aged has always been woman's function, but now that philanthropic activities have gradually changed from private to public auspices, women find themselves excluded from their management. Women formerly received little or no education; today girls as well as boys are graduated from colleges with trained minds and alert to the necessity of solving economic and civic problems.

"The old-fashioned housewifely tasks are no longer pursued in the home; even the clothing is purchased ready-made. What, then, are the tasks which prevent a housekeeper and mother from taking an intelligent and active interest in civic and national questions, many of which touch her life very closely? Bestowing upon women the responsibility of citizenship broadens them, makes them more companionable as wives, enables them the better to teach their sons and daughters, by example as well as precept, the true meaning of patriotism and the duties incumbent upon citizens of a democracy."

Tactful Mr. Wilson.

President Wilson is showing much more tact in dealing with the suffragists than the British Cabinet Ministers. He receives deputation after deputation, and, while maintaining a strictly non-committal attitude, listens to them all with so much courtesy that they go away feeling happy and hopeful that he will end by getting off the fence on the right side. On the other hand, the British Prime Minister, during the famous "Silent Seige," allowed hundreds of women to stand in silence at the gate, in sun and rain, holding suffrage petitions in their hands in token that they wanted an interview, for a length of time aggregating 14,000 hours, and stubbornly refused to see them. They relieved each other in relays—rich women and poor, famous actresses, women distinguished for their good works and public services, laboring women who could ill afford the time, and all in vain. We said at the time that there was no American statesman (or near statesman) who would let some of the most highly esteemed women in the country stand at his door for 14,000 hours, in all weathers, rather than permit a deputation from them to interview him for ten minutes. Again and again peaceful deputations of women seeking an interview with some Cabinet Minister have been battered with clubs, ridden down by mounted police, and finally hauled off to prison because they refused to go away without seeing him. It may be said of the recent extraordinary outbreaks of militancy in England, as Charles Dickens said of the French Revolution, that it was not the one and only harvest in the world's history which sprang up without having first been sown. American newspapers are assuring us (with a frequency and fervor which suggest a hint of panic) that they infinitely prefer the American brand of suffragists. American women, likewise, greatly prefer the American brand of statesmen, in their treatment of women.—A. S. B.

The bill giving women full suffrage in Alaska will go into effect 90 days after it was signed at Juneau by Gov. Walter . Clark, on March 21. Suffrage clubs in America will probably celebrate the day.

LA SALLE COL. ANNIVERSARY.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 9.—Many high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic hierarchy of this country, prominent educators of Roman Catholic institutions of learning, distinguished laymen and alumni of La Salle College attended the pontifical mass at the Cathedral today which marked the opening of the celebration of the golden jubilee of La Salle College In the evening there will be a banquet at the Bellevue-Stratford and tomorrow evening the anniversary exercises will close with a public reception at the Metropolitan Opera House, at which addresses will be delivered by distinguished Catholic educators. The college was founded in 1863, when the late Archbishop Wood, in conjunction with a committee of the Christian Brothers and others obtained from the State a charter incorporating the institution.

PLAINFIELD ELKS RECEIVED PRIZES

Delegation of Ten Attended the Beefsteak Dinner at the Jersey City Lodge.

Elks from all parts of New Jersey and New York were present at the beefsteak supper served at the home of the Jersey City Elks last night when the prizes won during the recent Elks' bowling tournament were awarded to the successful contestants. A delegation from the local lodge including John H. Cose, Vincent W. Nash, Jr., John Campbell, Frank Blatz, Patrick Kiely, Chauncey Stout, Leon DuFour, James Coleman, Samuel Taverner and James Arnold, Jr., made the trip and returned home this morning highly elated as a result of the good time accorded them by their brother Bills.

While a majority of the prizes, most of which were in the form of money awards, went to the Brunswick tribe, hte Plainfielders came in for their share, being called, three times to answer speeches of presentation. The local lodge had the honor of scoring the highest team mark during the season just closed and were awarded first money for this feat. Frank Blatz, who has captained the Queen City quintet on the alleys this season, came in for fifth prize in the individual scoring and John Campbell took sixth. The Brunswick team captured the high team average trophy presented by Edward L. Radel, of the New Brunswick Lodge of Elks, and also the championship for which they will come into possession of the Permutter cup. Walter Burton, captain of the New Brunswick champs, received the second individual prize, Charlie Starr having beaten him out in the last series of games played for first place. Tom Coyne, of Brunswick, took third individual.

Following the "big "feed" the "Hello-Bills" were treated to a social program presented by professional carbaret performers and Emile Hurtzel, of the Elizabeth lodge, who acted as toastmaster, introduced a number of after dinner speakers who pleased with short and witty talks. At the winding up affair last night, 350 Elks from eleven different lodges were present and everyone enjoyed himself thoroughly.

BASEBALL NOTES

Pitcher Pat Ragon is showing some great benders with the Brooklyn Superbas this Spring.

Big league scouts are taking a slant at Pitcher Robinson, the Amherst College classy twirler.

Sam Crawford, of the Detroit Tigers, has been clouting the ball at a terrific clip during the spring practice games.

"Dummy" Taylor, the ex-Giant hurler who pitched for Montreal last season, has signed with the Montgomery Club, of the Southern League.

The greatest exhibition game this spring was the 16-inning contest in which the Venice (Calif.) team defeated the White Sox 2 to 1.

The City of Dubuque, Iowa, will own the baseball grounds on which Clarence Rowland's Three-I Leaguers will play their games this season.

The Mink League has been disbanded and most all of the players in the defunct organization have caught on with teams in the Nebraska State League.

May 17 will be "Frank Chance Day" in Chicago. The date selected is the first Saturday game between the Peerless Leader's New Yorks and the White Sox.

Clark Griffith's Washington Nationals are playing in midseason form and look good enough to give the Red Sox and the Athletics a real battle after April 10.

New York critics predict that Pitcher Jeff Tesreau will suppiant both Christy Mathewson and Rube Marquard as the mainstay of the Giants this season.

It is said that Pitcher Sullop, Catcher Bassler, Outfielder Leeibold and Infielder Bates are the only recruits who will stick with the Cleveland Naps.

Manager Connie Mack has announced that he will get along without scouts in the future and will devote his attention to trying out school boys and sand-lot "phenoms" instead of paying fancy prices for minor league stars.

Five of the six cities in the Central League, Dayton, Springfield, Terre Haute, Fort Wayne and Evansville, suffered great damage through the recent floods in Indiana and Ohio. It is doubtful whether the league will be able to open the 1913 season on April 23, the scheduled time.

FANS FLOCK TO EBBETS FIELD.

New York, April 9.—Thousands of Manhattan baseball fans crossed the big bridge over into Brooklyn this afternoon to witness the game between the Brooklyn and Philadelphia teams of the National League. It was the first big league championship game of the season, a fact sufficient in itself to account for the big turnout of the enthusiasts. But a more potent magnet to attract the crowds was the desire to see the first regular game to be played at the Ebbets stadium, the magnificent home just completed for the Brooklyn club. The stadium is declared to be the finest of all baseball plants. It is constructed of steel, cement and brick, and cost nearly three quarters of a million dollars. The seating capacity is 30,000.

CLASSIFIED LIST OF LOCAL BASEBALL TEAMS AND THEIR MANAGERS FOR 1913

A list of eighteen of the most prominent junior and senior baseball teams that have sprung up in this city during the past two seasons is compiled below together with a list of the managers for the benefit of local team leaders desiring to get into communication with each other for the purpose of arranging games on local diamonds. The list includes all of those nines that have signified a desire to book contests and any other manager wanting his name added to the list which will be published from time to time should send in the name of his combination together with his own home address at once.

Many teams of every calibre are planning to open the season within the next two weeks and many managers are busy at present arranging their schedules for the 1913 season. Many will have their cards completed before long and then it will be too late for rival managers to sign up contests with them. The aggregations are classed according to their playing ability and age and managers should try to communicate, as near as possible, with teams of their own strength. With the opening of the league circuit this afternoon, baseball will fill the air and next Saturday will probably find games being played in amateur circles. There are more baseball nines claiming camping grounds here this season than ever before in the history of local baseball and the 1913 year promises to be one of the busiest ever conducted.

Among the teams and their managers are the following:

Class A.

Plainfield Baseball team (Central New Jersey League entrants); manager, Ernest Dorflinger, 400 Clinton avenue.

Class B.

Commercial Athletic Club (formerly Manufacturers' League Club); manager, Raymond Guinn, 717 Richmond street.

Park Avenue Baptist, (Sunday-school League entrants); manager, Edward Mosher, 306 Clinton avenue.

Young Men's Athletic Association, manager, William H. Conger, 560 West Second street.

Monroe Avenue M. E., (Sunday-school League entrants); manager, Edward Gunzelman, 320 Monroe avenue.

Hope chapel, (Sunday-school League entrants); manager, George T. Leighs, Sr., 714 West Fourth street.

First Baptist, (Sunday-school League entrants); manager, Randolph Chandler, 14 Codington avenue, North Plainfield.

Plainfield High School, (Interscholastic schedule); manager, Joseph Sattels, 221 East Sixth street.

North Plainfield High School (Interscholastic schedule); manager, Newton Spencer, 23 Lincoln place.

West End A. C., manager, Nelson Luthman, 116 Madison avenue.

Netherwood A. C., (Senior team); manager, William Smith, Orchard place.

Putnam A. C., manager, John Brennan, 756 Webster place.

Class C.

Marathon Athletic Club, manager, George Hummel, 121 Duer street, North Plainfield.

Holy Cross Juniors, manager, Ronald Conroy, 19 Fairview avenue.

St. Mary's Cadets, manager, John Kyle, 543 West Sixth street.

Plainfield High School Sophs., manager, Morris Mann, 313 Stebbins place.

PLANNING TO ENTER CONTEST.

A number of Y. M. C. A. athletes and swimmers are planning to enter the diving contest to be held at Proctor's theatre next Friday night, in which a cup will be offered for the successful diver. A large number signified their intention of entering and many were practicing the form plunge in the association pool last night.

BIG LEAGUE SEASON OPENS IN BROOKLYN

Superbas and Phillies Started the 1913 Pennant Race Going This Afternoon.

Big league baseball for the season of 1913 was inaugurated today. Because Charley Ebbets built such a fine field over in Brooklyn the National League has consented to allow the Superbas and the Phillies to start the race a day ahead of the other fellows, the official opening for everybody else in both leagues being set for tomorrow.

The battle for the flags will begin under decidedly auspicious circumstances. The teams, during their training trips, encountered better weather than they had last year, which was a record-breaker in the South for rainy periods. The players, therefore, are in better condition than they were when the barrier fell in 1912.

The features for 1913 promise to be numerous. Frank Chance, the leader of the Cubs for many successful seasons, has become an American League manager, with the job on his hands of reviving the fortunes of the unfortunate Yankees in New York. Johnny McGraw has his Giants right and they promise to go out in front at the flag and make a hard race of it. The dopsters have it that Fred Clarke's Pirates from Pittsburg will give them the hardest fight. The Boston Red Sox, world's champions, are generally regarded as dangerous contenders for the American League flag, but, according to most of the dopsters, the Athletics look like the one best bet.

GAMES TOMORROW

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston at New York.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.
St. Louis at Chicago.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

New York at Washington.
Detroit at St. Louis.
Philadelphia at Boston.
Chicago at Cleveland.

BASKETBALL RULES HAVE BEEN REVISED

Out-of-bounds and Jump-off Rules Changed by Collegiate Association.

The Collegiate Basketball Rules Committee yesterday announced changes in rules as follows:

The out-of-bounds rule was changed to a uniform ruling that penalizes the team that causes the ball to go out of bounds and gives it to the opposing team in every case. This will tend to simplify the game and make it easier for the spectators to understand the decisions, and should be the means of making many Young Men's Christian Associations and preparatory schools adopt the collegiate rules.

The second change in the rules concerns the "jump-off," and at all times when play is started by two men jumping for the ball each player is to keep one hand behind his back, thus jumping with only one hand upheld. This will prevent many of the fouls usually caused by the players pushing or clawing at each other while in the air.

BRIDWELL NOT A FLOOD VICTIM.

President Murphy, of the Chicago Nationals, who shared a great deal of worry with Manager Evers as to the fate of Al Bridwell, the shortstop, who disappeared in the direction of Portsmouth, O., at the time the flood struck that city, was relieved today to receive a letter from the infielder saying that he would report tomorrow. Bridwell has been too busy shoveling mud out of his house to write. Manager Evers said Bridwell would be in the regular lineup on Thursday, when the season opens.

AJAX GET MEDALS.

Seven gold medals arrived at the Y. M. C. A. this morning and will be presented to the seven members of the Ajax basketball team for winning the Hope Chapel-Ajax series. Those who will be awarded the tokens are William Peacock and James McNamee, forwards; Myrton Glover, centre; Albert Bryniarski (captain), and Andrew Hetfield (manager), guards. James Nash and James Buckle are the two substitutes honored.

STATE BASKETBALL TITLE GAME HERE

Will Be Played on the Y. M. C. A. Court Saturday Night, April 19.

Those who have been anxiously waiting for that third Nonpareil-Trenton Y. W. C. A. basketball game, on which rests the feminine court title of New Jersey, will have their yearnings satisfied a week from next Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. when the Trentonians come to this city for the deciding tussel. To date each team has won a game in the three games series and the playoff will be a hotly contested affair if the previous struggles may be taken as a criteron.

The first game was played on the Trenton Y. W. C. A. court, on which the Capitol City delegation is practically invincible and they managed to defeat the sturdy Queen City aggregation by the slim margin of two points, an eleventh hour rally in which Miss "Dot" Hayes, the lithe little forward, took the leading role. When Trenton came to Plainfield the contest was staged on the Saengerbund Hall court, a floor neutral to both contenders, and the local girls came out ahead with a good-sized margin to spare. The third and deciding game gives every promise of being a close and interesting one from every point of view as both fives are particularly anxious for this one, the State championship struggle. The court on this occasion is neutral to both quintets as on the second one, but the Y. M. C. A. affords a much better playing floor than the one at Saengerbund Hall and both teams will probably be able to show to better advantage this time.

In the previous contests, the outcomes were practically decided by the scoring of two individuals around which the rest of the eight players seemed to work. These "scoring machines" came into the limelight on both occasions and while one was held without a field goal for the first time in her playing career, by Miss Clara Smith, the Nonpareil guard, the other tallied an array of the two point variety that easily clinched the game for the local quintet. Miss "Dot" Hayes has been the Trenton mainstay in all of its games as far as shooting goals is concerned and wherever she performs her work is watched with interest. Miss Helen Hummel, captain of the Nonpareils, has served in a like capacity for her contingent and the bringing together of this pair of versatile feminine athletes is an event of interest in itself.

There is some talk of putting on a mammoth gymnastic exhibition in connection with the basketball game and it is probable that this added attraction will become a reality.

The Plainfield team will lineup as follows: Miss Helen Hummel (captain) and Miss Ida Hummel, forwards; Miss Lucy Douglas, centre, Miss Clara Smith and Miss Elsie Debele, guards.

WITH THE BOXERS

Frank Mantell, the Pawtucket middleweight, has signed to box Pat O'Keefe in London, Eng., April 14.

Eddie McGoorty has called off his bout with Jimmy Clabby which was scheduled for Denver, April 10.

New York promoters are trying to sign Luther McCarty and Gunboat Smith for a clash to take place early in May.

The date of the Harlem Tommy Murphy-Ad Wolgast bout in California, has been advanced to April 19 in place of the 26th of the month.

GOLF SEASON OPENS ON SATURDAY, MAY 3

The Plainfield Country Club's Schedule is Now Being Prepared.

Announcement was made today that the formal opening of the Plainfield Country Club's season, will take place on Saturday. The competitive play will begin on Saturday, May 3. The golf committee, of which R. S. Rowland is the chairman, is now preparing the schedule which will be completed within a short time. It will be equally as attractive as the one of last year. The club is preparing for an unusually successful season. George Eke, the superintendent, is busily engaged in getting everything ready for the opening and it is expected that on May 3 the full service of the club will be ready.

The course is in exceptional condition, being fully a month in advance of that of previous years. The fair greens are in mid-summer condition and the whole course is now available for play. The greens committee has been doing good work getting things in shape for play and the result is most satisfactory. Among the special events scheduled for the coming season will be the junior tournament for players in the Metropolitan district and the one-day woman's tournament. There will also be special events in tennis, the committee planning for an attractive schedule.

S. S. LEAGUERS DID NOT HOLD MEETING

Delegates From Park Avenue and Monroe M. E. Were Only Ones Present.

Chairman Fred Lounsbury, of the organization committee appointed by the Sunday-school League, has called a meeting of the organization to be held at his home next Friday night. He has made a request that delegates from all teams planning to enter the league be present so that the important business now pending can be transacted without further delay. The by-laws have been compiled but there yet remains a schedule of games and rules for the playing department of the organization to be compiled.

Samuel Beekman, representative of Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and Nathan Wilson, of Park Avenue, conducted a session all their own at the Y. M. C. A. last night owing to misunderstanding concerning the date set by the chairman for the gathering. Mr. Beekman understood that a meeting had been called for last night and accordingly put in an appearance at the association at 8 o'clock and after waiting until after 9 he decided that there had been some mistake and left for his home. Upon investigation it was found that a meeting had been proposed for last night, but when it was found that a number of the delegates could not be present the affair was called off, Mr. Beekman probably being overlooked in the notifications.

COLOR LEAGUE PICTURE.

Members of the Orange team, of the Y. M. C. A. Color League, who won the all around championship in that organization during the season just closed, will have their pictures taken at Stone's next Sunday afternoon. Captain Newmiller requests a full attendance of the team members at this time.

MOTOR BOAT WHICH WILL COMPETE IN BERMUDA RACE.

MR. W. T. WHEELER'S TEC, A BERMUDA RACE ENTRANT.

Now that the time of the start of the Bermuda race approaches scarcely a week passes but that some enthusiastic Corinthian owner of a stanch little motor boat sends in his entry for the blue ribbon event of the deep and others express their intention of doing so in the near future.

New York will be well represented in the 1913 event for the Bermuda Challenge Trophy and cash prize of $1,000 that goes with it. One of the New York entries on which the Great South Bay yachtsmen pin their hopes is the Tec, owned by Mr. W. T. Wheeler, of the Jamaica Bay Yacht Club.

The Tec is a new power yacht and will be launched at the yards of her builders, the W. F. Ruddock Company, soon. She is 39 feet 10 inches long, with a beam of 10 feet and a draught of 3 feet, and is equipped with a 24-horse power Buffalo motor, which is expected to give her a speed of ten miles an hour.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSN. HEARS 2 CLERGYMEN

Rev. H. H. Hadley and Rev. Elliott White Deliver the Addresses.

The Eastertide meeting of the rectors, superintendents and teachers composing the membership of the Plainfield District Sunday-school Association was held yesterday afternoon in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, where inspiring and instructive addresses were delivered and a supper was served. Following the repast, Rev. H. H. Hadley, of Newark, spoke on "The Church Year and the Pupil." He emphasized the importance of observing the church year and the training of children in practical religion. He asserted that the religious year was being observed more and more each year and even by denominations and members of religious organizations that were at one time strongly opposed to it. In conclusion the speaker gave valuable instruction to the teachers in the matter of teaching the word of God.

The business meeting began at 4:30 o'clock. Business routine was transacted and it was decided to hold the next session in the early part of June. Preceding the serving of supper, the Rev. Elliott White, of Newark, delivered an interesting oracle on "The Church Year and the Teacher."

Rev. A. S. Phelps, of Somerville, president of the association, presided at the session. Other clergymen present were Rev. William S. McCoy, rector of the Holy Cross Episcopal church, who is secretary, and Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery, pastor of the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

FILLS CENTRAL CHURCH PULPIT

Rev. Henry Y. Murkland Appointed to Succeed Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan.

As a direct result of the pleasant impression made by him when he preached last Sunday in the Central Methodist Episcopal church, Newark, Rev. Harry Y. Murkland, of Catskill, N. Y., has been appointed to succeed Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan as pastor. He will assume his new duties immediately and preach next Sunday.

The assignment of Mr. Murkland to the Newark church was made last night by Bishop Luther B. Wilson, who was in attendance at the New York conference, in the Metropolitan Temple, Manhattan. Several telephone messages were received by Bishop Wilson Monday from Newark asking that Mr. Murkland be sent there. The offer was made to Mr. Murkland Monday night by Bishop Wilson and was immediately accepted by the former, who telegraphed to his wife to meet him in New York yesterday.

The new pastor of the Central church is, like his predecessor, a self-educated, self-made man. He never attended college or a theological school, being engaged in business when he decided to take up religious work, and, studying Latin and theology during his leisure time, to fit himself for the ministry. He thus prepared himself for the examinations, which he passed successfully, and which were followed by his ordination.

Mr. Murkland is thirty-nine years old and has two children, a boy of ten and a girl of eight. He was born in Brooklyn, removing with his parents, to Hackensack when a child. Attending the public schools of Hackensack, he entered business life when a young man.

FIGHT ON FOR CONTROL OF THE STATE TAX BOARD

Trenton, April 9.—Assistance from the attorney-general had to be secured yesterday at the annual meeting of the State Board of Equalization of Taxes to ascertain whether George T. Bouton, appointed by Governor Fielder to succeed George M. McCarthy, was entitled legally to sit yesterday, or whether Mr. McCarthy's term continues to May 8 next. The decision may affect the question of electing the president and secretary of the board, and whether there is any legal right to choose a secretary, inasmuch as it was contended that he is under civil service protection.

Henry W. Buxton, of Morristown, is secretary and the position is sought by Frank A. O'Connor, of West Orange. If Mr. McCarthy's term is not ended, the two Republicans on the board, Messrs. Minch and McCarthy, and the one Progressive, Frank B. Jess, will re-elect Mr. Buxton.

If Mr. McCarthy's term has expired, three Democrats, who will be in the majority, will be able to name Mr. O'Connor, but in that case there will remain the possibility of a contest over the question of civil service involved.

Mr. Jess is president of the board. If the annual organization be effected by him and the two Republicans he will probably be re-elected. If the Democrats control the board, Colonel Albert T. Holley will probably be chosen.

TO ELECT SUFFRAGAN BISHOP.

Boston, Mass., April 9.—A suffragan bishop for the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts is to be elected at the annual diocesan convention which opened this morning in the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in this city. At the opening of the convention, immediately after organization, the annual sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of the Groton School. The sermon was followed by the administration of the Holy Communion. The election of the suffragan bishop will take place tomorrow morning. It is expected that only two names will be brought to the attention of the convention, those of the Very Rev. Samuel G. Babcock, archdeacon of the Massachusetts diocese, and the Rev. Before ordering your coal---think on these things

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.

2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?

3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?

4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.

5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.

6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

PRESBYTERIANS' YEARLY SESSIONS

First and Crescent Avenue Churches Hold Their Annual Meetings.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS

Officers Chosen and Statements Submitted at Gathering of Two of City's Congregations — Chapels Are Flourishing.

The annual meetings of the Crescent Avenue and First Presbyterian churches were held last night.

Crescent Avenue Presbyterian.

Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, made a strong plea for the young men without home surroundings, who are coming to the west end of the city to work, at the annual meeting of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night. He told of the hard time of it that many young men are having and said that the development of institutional work at Hope chapel would do more to make the lives of these young men happier than could any other thing. "There are many unmarried young men coming to town, and the boarding houses which some of them are living in make forlorn homes. The other night I overheard two young men talking on a street car, and one of them said, 'this is a bum town, there is nothing for young men to do at night.' It is true that the Y. M. C. A. is doing a great work in Plainfield, but they do not reach many of these young men. Who is better to take over this work of caring for them than the church."

Determination on the part of the officers of the church to get away from a long drawn out and dry meeting made the gathering last night one of the pleasantest of the kind ever held at the church. All reports were submitted in brief by Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, as clerk, officers were chosen for the ensuing year, and the meeting adjourned for a social hour after a thirty-five minute business session.

The meeting of the congregation was held first, at which William A.

WIFE'S RELATIVES SUE FOR HUSBAND'S PROPERTY

The trial in a suit involving the ownership of an estate in East Third street, which was begun yesterday in the District Court before Vice Chancellor John Backus and in which Richard Yetman, colored, of East Third street, appeared as complainant and Jackson Hedgeman, colored, defendant, was adjourned until Sept. 10. The case is one in which a man bought a property and the deed was in his wife's name and at her subsequent death, his wife's relatives claim heirship. Yetman in 1898 married a Sarah Hedgeman. He had two children by a former wife. In 1900 he purchased the property in question from Philip Cottrell, paying $250 down and the balance in monthly payments.

It was shown yesterday in court that this money paid down was Yetman's; that the monthly installments came from Yetman and that the receipts were made out in Mr. Yetman's name. When the property was deeded, however, the couple, as testified to yesterday by witnesses made a verbal agreement to have the property placed in Mrs. Yetman's name, so that in the event of her husband's death she would obtain it, instead of his children by his first wife. It was also agreed, witnesses testified, that in case Mrs. Yetman died before her husband, he was to have the property deeded back into his name. Mrs. Yetman died two years ago, and at her death her relatives in the South journeyed here and immediately started proceedings to have the estate given to them on the grounds that Mrs. Yetman was the rightful owner.

Former Judge William A. Coddington represents the defense and Alfred Cosey, colored, is counsel for the plaintiff.

WILLIAM JONES BROWN.

William Jones Brown, colored, son of Daniel Brown, of 616 West Fourth street, died last night at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, where he has been under treatment for tuberculosis. He was unmarried. The funeral will be held at the late home Saturday afternoon, the hour to be announced later.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 44 degrees; 11 a. m., 51 degrees; 1 p. m., 54 degrees.

JOHNNY SCHNEIDER AS WIFE DESERTER

City Court Reserves Decision on Application to Place Him Under Bond.

John Schneider, aged 27 years, of Martinsville, was arraigned in the city court this morning before Judge W. G. DeMeza on a charge of non-support, preferred by his wife. After hearing the evidence, the court announced that a decision would be given on Saturday. Francis J. Blatz, counsel for Mrs. Schneider, asserted that his client was only seeking to have her husband placed under bond to support her, in case she should be unable to supply herself the necessities of life.

William N. Runyon, representing Mr. Schneider, stated that the only grounds upon which an order could be served on his client by the local court was in the event of her becoming a public charge. He declared that the woman has a daughter and son who are earning $10 or more each per week, in addition to money she is earning herself. He maintained that Mrs. Schneider should seek a divorce and permanent alimony to obtain the desired relief.

The court was informed by Mr. Schneider that he had paid his wife but $2 in the past six months and he could not recall when he had seen her. He has been trying to secure employment.

Mrs. Schneider prior to her second marriage was Mrs. Aby K. Strader.

HOW PORTUGAL AND SPAIN ARE TODAY

L. V. F. Randolph Impressed by Lack of Progressive Spirit in Latin Countries.

L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, who has been spending the past three and a half months in Portugal and Spain, returned home yesterday. He made the trip alone this time, and had an exceptional opportunity to study the political conditions in both countries, especially in Portugal.

In speaking of conditions in Portugal, Mr. Randolph said that they are sorrowful. A small handful of people are trying to maintain a Republic and are not meeting with any degree of success. A large percentage of the natives are illiterate and being accustomed to the ancient customs of the country, they seem to care little or nothing as to what happens.

As for Spain, Mr. Randolph said that conditions are similar to those existing in Portugal, but not so bad. He said that King Alfonso appeared to be ambitious and was anxious to do all that is possible for his people, but with 60 per cent. of the natives illiterate, it is impossible to do very much. He was particularly impressed with the lack of progressiveness displayed by the people in both Spain and Portugal, and yet the latter country he said seemed to be less spoiled as he pleased to term it, retaining so many of its ancient customs.

Mr. Randolph was enthusiastic in his description of the art gallery at Madrid, which is considered one of the finest in the world.

TRUSTEES CHOSEN FOR PARK AVE. BAP. CHURCH

The annual report of the treasurer of the Park Avenue Baptist church, submitted at the church meeting last night, showed the receipts for the fiscal year $6,185.77, and the cash balance $56.09. This report does not include the benevolence departments, which were submitted about a week ago.

These trustees were elected to serve two years: Harry C. Runyon, Ira Van Arsdale, Charles Van Winkle and George Place. The budget passed for the ensuing year amounted to $5,000.

MOTION PICTURES.

A program of unusual interest has been selected for the Y. M. C. A. motion picture entertainments on Saturday afternoon and evening. It will include: "Scenes from the Battlefield of Gettysburg," "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," "Pathe Weekly of Current Events," "Alkali Ike's Auto."

SPHINX CLUB TREASURER.

R. F. R. Huntsman, of East Front street, who for many years has been treasurer of the Sphinx Club, an organization of New York advertising men, was re-elected to that office at the annual meeting on Tuesday night.

Rev. W. A. Oldfield will speak at the German Reformed church tomorrow afternoon and evening.

PONTIFF CAN'T SLEEP; HIS CONDITION GRAVE

One Physician Takes Contrary View Holding Out Hope for Recovery.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Rome, Italy, April 10.—There was no improvement in the condition of the Pope today. It had been hoped that his Holiness would be able to get a little sleep but up to 11 a. m. his insomnia persisted. On account of the weakness in his heart it was not deemed advisable to administer a narcotic. The chief danger now lies in the Pope's inability to get natural sleep.

Dr. Andrea Amici, one of the Pope's personal physicians, declares today that he hopes by next week Pius X will be convalescent. An entirely contrary opinion, however, is expressed by some of those immediately surrounding the Pope who depict the situation as grave. They assert that as the result of an examination made by a specialist the presence of from 10 to 12 degrees of albumen was proved.

Y. M. C. A. NOW EXEMPT FROM ANY TAXATION

Governor Fielder has signed the bill which exempts Young Men's Christian Association buildings from taxation. William D. Murray, president of the Plainfield Association; Leonard Baldwin, of the Orange Association, and W. B. Hopping, of Montclair, appeared before the Governor, and after hearing their arguments in favor of the bill the Executive affixed his signature.

Heretofore when any part of a Y. M. C. A. building has been used for purposes which brought revenue into the association, other than the regular revenue derived from the work, it has been customary to assess a proportionate value on the building for parts used in that manner, and the courts have held that such assessments were justified. A number of men interested in Y. M. C. A. work undertook to have the law amended, and the signature affixed upon the bill by Governor Fielder is the culmination of their efforts.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE THE BOARD OF TRADE

Responding to what he declares is popular opinion among the business men, William Jeffery, president of the Board of Trade at the time it was succeeded by a Chamber of Commerce, announced today that he is prepared to issue a call for the reorganization of the Trade Board. He takes the view that the Commerce Chamber has not proven a success and that there is an urgent demand for what he considers a real live civic body.

Mr. Jeffery stated today that in the course of a few days he would issue a call for a meeting in Firemen's Hall and that he believed that a majority of the business men would attend.

VENERABLE WOMAN DIES AT HOMESTEAD, FANWOOD

Mrs. Margaret C. Stewartson died yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Emma Bonchers, at the Homestead, Fanwood, where she had resided for twenty years. Death was caused by infirmities of age in her ninety-second year. She was born in Philadelphia and was a descendant of one of the city's oldest families. She was an expert horsewoman and at one time drove the stage from Philadelphia to New York. Two sons, two daughters, ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren survive her.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Homestead. Interment will be made in Northwood cemetery, Philadelphia, on Saturday, at the convenience of the family.

D. A. R. IS ACTIVE.

Camp Elizabeth Chapter, D. A. R., of Bound Brook, held its regular monthly meeting at the Wallace House in Somerville, Tuesday night. Thirty-five members and guests were present and a paper on historic dwelling places was read by Mrs. C. W. Thomae, State historian of the D. A. R. The meeting was held one week in advance of the regular date owing to the National Congress of the D. A. R. being held at Washington, April 12 to 19. Four members of the Elizabeth Chapter will attend the Congress as follows: Miss A. C. Todd, regent; Mrs. A. L. Stillwell, vice regent; Mrs. J. T. Gibson, register; and Mrs. F. A. Waldron, corresponding secretary.

Completing a twenty thousand mile journey abroad, George H. Frost, and his son, Charles Hamilton Frost, president and manager, respectively, of the Courier-News Publishing Company, arrived home yesterday on the Olympic. The whole trip was made in summer weather and this added greatly to the enjoyment of the tourists as it facilitated their progress to a great extent. The Plainfielders left on the Adriatic on January 7 last, and among the passengers on the steamer was the late J. Pierpont Morgan and his party. At that time Mr. Morgan was not considered a sick man.

The Morgan party had planned to board their private yacht upon reaching their destination, but something went wrong with the machinery, requiring the services of engineers, and the arrangement for provisions was upset, so that Mr. Frost in speaking of the incident, remarked that Mr. Morgan with all his wealth did not begin to enjoy his trip to the extent that he and his father did for their plans were carried out to perfection.

This was the second cruise of the Adriatic to the Mediterranean, and the Plainfielders stopped at Maderia, then at Gibralter, crossed the bay Algeziras, then to Algiers, Monaca, Nice Monte Carlo, Genoa and thence to Naples, Alexandria and to Cairo, where they spent several weeks. Here they took the Cook's steamer "Arabia," up the Nile, and in describing this steamer, Mr. Frost says that its appointments are far superior to any steamer that is to be found on the Sound or Hudson River.

The old temples and ruins were visited, and at Cairo, there was considerable interest in climbing up the pyramids and in visiting the excavations being made under the direction of Harvard University. They also visited Assuan, a widely-known winter resort, took a boat ride around the Island of Philae and from Assuan took the steamer up the Nile to Wady Halfa, which is the starting point of the railroad to Khartoum, where Osman Digna, one of the most fanatical Mohammedan leaders in service of Khalifa at Ondurman is serving a life sentence in jail.

Mr. Frost says that he was much interested in the system of irrigation along the Upper Nile, where the land is innundated by water raised by the dam. There is one crop a year, dates, oranges and alfalfa being the chief products. Mr. Frost says that the enjoyment of the whole trip was to be found in its novelty. Every day one is greeted by new sights. The natives still follow the customs of the days of Moses, and it is the belief that there will never be any radical changes.

Leaving Cairo Mr. Frost and his father visited Naples and the famous Solfatara volcano, which is considered more active than Vesuvivus. They were close enough to the volcano to see stones, etc., thrown from its crater. Leaving Naples the party went to Rome, where they spent Holy Week and Easter. They visited the different churches and attended services, but in their opinion the services did not compare with those at home. Easter Day, when everyone was supposed to be joyful, an air of gloom seemed to pervade all Rome.

Among the interesting places visited was the American College. They met Cardinal Rampoli and other dignataries of the Roman Catholic church. From Rome the party went to Brussels and then to London, where they took the Olympic for home. Mr. Frost's father was taken ill in London and was threatened with pneumonia. For that reason the homeward trip was hastened somewhat.

MASS MEETING FOR THE FLY SWATTERS

Board of Health Will Show You all by "Movies" What it Intends to do.

The Board of Health will inaugurate its proposed vigorous campaign against the common house-fly Wednesday night, April 16, with a mass meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A., when motion pictures will be shown depicting the fly in its various stages and showing in a graphic way the dangers that are possible by allowing this pest to exist, and describing ways and means of getting rid of the fly. A slogan will be adopted before the campaign starts as an incentive for earnest work.

Dr. Harold D. Corbusier, of the Board of Health, has taken the initiative in the campaign, and it is hoped that the mass meeting will be largely attended. An appeal has been sent to the boy scouts in an effort to enlist the support and aid of that organization in exterminating the fly. The boys will be assigned to certain districts for the purpose of making a house to house inspection. It is expected that about one hundred boys will join in the movement.

LITTLE MISS THOMAS HAS A BIRTHDAY PARTY

Antoinette Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bond Thomas, of West Sixth street, and niece of Mrs. F. C. Ard, of Park avenue, was given a party by the latter at her home yesterday afternoon in celebration of her eighth birthday anniversary. Mrs. Ard invited guests to the number of about thirty-two, and all the children as well as some of the older folks entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. The rooms were attractively decorated, yellow being the chief color.

All kinds of games were played, the one arousing the greatest enthusiasm being the "animal hunt." Rebecca Lipscomb received the first prize, a cup and saucer, for the girls, while William Roome, Jr., received the first prize for the boys, it being a cane.

Another feature was the cutting of the birthday cake in which was placed a ring, thimble, doll and ten cent piece. William S. Tyler, Jr., got the ring, Margaret Mellor the ten cent piece, Irving W. Jones the doll and Gibson Buttfield the thimble. After the games refreshments were served and a flash-light picture taken of the merry group.

The meeting was preceded by a dinner served by Mrs. Henry Johnson. Those present included Drs. B. F. and C. W. Leonard, W. E. Stelle, Frank S. Wells, Frank W. French, O. B. Whitford, George Moore, Guy Hillman, Raymond Stevens, Clive W. Montfort, Frank Clawson, David G. Atwood, of this city; Dr. George Evans, of New York, and Dr. C. M. F. Egel, of Westfield.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN.

A barn at 634 West Third street, belonging to Richard Randolph, was totall destroyed by fire at 9:30 last night. The loss, estimated to reach $300, was fully covered by insurance. The blaze was discovered by a foreigner, but as he did not know how to pull the fire box he summoned John Taylor. When the firemen arrived they turned their attention to keeping the flames from spreading beyond the doomed barn and several streams of hose were directed at the burning building. A horse belonging to Randolph was the only live stock in the barn and was rescued by James Whiting. The origin of the blaze is a mystery.

HUNT CLUB TO HAVE FETE FOR FARMERS

Band Concert, Clambake, Show and Races to Comprise the Program.

The Watchung Hunt Club, at a meeting last night, decided that in view of the fact that it was compelled to give up its annual steeplechase meet this year, instead it would hold a farmers' jollification fete on its twenty acre farm. There will be a farmers' race and possibly two or three local jumping races. The farmers and their families will be entertained at a band concert, clambake and an outdoor show, which will be in the nature of a circus. Efforts are now being made to secure a tight-rope walker and some one to make an ascension in a parachute. The usual $50 purse will be offered in the farmers' race, with cups for winners in other events.

It is planned to hold the fete about the middle of May, perhaps a little earlier than the usual dates for the steeplechase. The fact that there is no available place to hold the steeplechase this year is regretted, but the development of outside land for building purposes has prevented such arrangements for the present. The club hopes to be able to resume the race meet next year.

GOVERNOR VETOES SMALL FREEHOLDER

Fielder Considers it Unconstitutional and Makes a Statement.

Trenton, April 10.—The small board of freeholders muddle will be one of the issues before the special session of the Legislature to be convened by Governor Fielder on Tuesday, May 6. The Governor today vetoed Assembly bill 648, by Mr. Griffin, of Union county, designed to cure the defect in the small board act of 1912, but which was amended in the Senate. It was disapproved because of doubt as to its constitutionality and the fear of Governor Fielder that it did not entirely meet the situation.

Governor Fielder declared today that he would bring the small board matter before the Legislature at the special session.

"I have vetoed the Griffin bill," he said, "after hearing from the Attorney General's Department on it. I will bring the question before the Legislature at the special session and will expect proper legislation on it."

Assistant Attorney General Gaskill yesterday afternoon rendered an opinion to the Governor ruling that there is a doubt with reference to the validity of such a classification as the Griffin bill contains following its amendment in the Senate.

This doubt, Mr. Gaskill said, exists: "In view of the fact that it finds no absolute parallel in an adjudicated case, but there are arguments in favor of such classification, as well as arguments against it, and the validity of the classification of course can never be tested unless the act receives, as a preliminary, your approval."

In his message to the special session of the Legislature, Governor Fielder will outline the small board situation and will request that the necessary act be passed to permit the carrying out of the will of the people in favor of the smaller boards.

The Senate amendment which is believed to vitiate the Griffin bill exempted Camden and Atlantic counties from its provisions.

Governor Fielder said today he had not decided at what hour to ask the special session to meet, but it is believed it will be at noon. He was so busy with consideration of bills and hearings on them yesterday afternoon that he did not have time to prepare the proclamation for the session. He will issue the proclamation when he comes to the State House next Monday.

The main questions to be taken up in his message to the lawmakers will be jury reform and the constitutional convention bill. He will urge proper laws on these questions, as well as the small board of freeholders legislation. It is considered likely that the lawmakers will also introduce bills on other subjects.

NO LICENSE; FINED.

Henry Wierenga, 40 years old, of 421 East Fifth street, and his employe, Thomas Harvey, colored, of 413 College place, were arranged before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of conducting an express and carting business in this city without a license. The former was fined $10 and Harvey was discharged.

BLAZE DESTROYS FINE RESIDENCE

Defective Flue Causes $25,000 Fire at John H. Jewett's Handsome House.

COSTLY THINGS SAVED

Rare Imported Rugs and Rich Oil Paintings Rescued From Flames —Family Were About to go Abroad.

The handsome residence of John H. Jewett, a New York silk goods dealer, at 1000 Central avenue, caught fire shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon and before the flames were extinguished by the local firemen damage to the amount of $25,000 had been done. The cause of the blaze is attributed to a defective flue.

The first sign of flames was noticed on the roof near the chimney. Many neighbors assisted the firemen in their work of checking the flames. Before the rooms in the second floor caught fire passerbys had carried all of the furniture and valuables from the building. Practically everything of great value was saved from the first story.

Eight lines of hose poured streams of water into the structure. Considerable damage was caused to the interior furnishing by the water.

Valuable collections of imported rugs and precious oil paintings were saved by a number of citizens. W. S. Tyler, president of the Board of Education, and other neighbors assumed charge of the rescue work.

As far as can now be ascertained, the majority of articles of value on the first and second floors had been saved. The third story and every thing in the rooms there were reduced to ruin.

The house is of modern architecture, of frame construction and was three full stories in height. It was considered one of Plainfield's handsome dwellings. The house was built about twenty years ago by David H. Moore and is said to have cost $75,000. It will have to be entirely reconstructed inside. The Jewetts have occupied the house for ten years or more.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett were not at home when the fire started. The only occupants of the house being two daughters. They were not injured in any way.

For several weeks the house has been advertised for rent as Mr. and Mrs. Jewett contemplated a pleasure trip to Japan and other countries o the Far East. They had planned to leave their daughters in this country and their sons are at Princeton.

The water pressure was very poor and made the work of the firemen more difficult, and it was freely said by many at the fire that had the pressure been better the loss would have been much less. It was necessary to couple the steamer up as an auxiliary to the regular pumping apparatus at the water works. The fire was apparently under control at 3:30 but still burning.

The first check was made on the Manning farm at New Market, a distance of about six miles.

The hounds were again taken up and cast in on the Randolph farm. Circling on the outskirts of New Market, the chase led over numerous farms and finishing at Stelton, a distance of between six and eight miles. There was considerable fencing without any mishaps. The following finished: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H., Harry A. Bourne, Schuyler Casey, F. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

WATERS ARE HIGHER IN LOWER MISSISSIPPI

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 10.—According to the Weather Bureau the rainfall in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys in the past twenty-four hours will probably give the lower Mississippi River a rise of one foot more than had been expected. The stages today follow: Memphis, 46.5 feet, flood stage, 35 feet; Vicksburg, 46.5 feet, flood stage, 45 feet; New Orleans, 16.6 feet, flood stage, 18 feet.

STYLE AND RELIABILITY

Where Man Is Different

Man differs from the lower animals in the wearing of clothes.

Animals feel, think and live, but animals do not dress.

Success differs from Failure in the wearing of clothes. Failure works, sleeps and eats, sometimes, but Failure does not dress.

Just "wearing clothes" is not dressing. Simply putting on a coat, vest and pair of trousers is not wearing a suit. And that's the one big lesson that Failure must learn before it can get out of the "bush leagues" into the "majors."

Debt Was Staring Us in the Face

My husband left us a little property to take care of us, but keeping the house going and the children at school was really more than I could do. We began to drop behind in our money, and almost before we knew it, debt was staring us in the face.

I was thinking of doing a little dressmaking, when another idea struck me, and I am certainly glad it did. For some time, I'd had a Larkin Catalog in the house, but had no time to look at it; so one night I got it out and went over it carefully—and made up an order for Larkin Products. I found that if I did not take the Premiums which they give, I could get just twice the quantity of supplies for my money as I got at the store, which was really more important to me just then than Premiums.

In my first order I included tea, soaps, spices, foodstuffs, notions and lots of other things that are needed around the house. What we could not use right away, the neighbors took and in that way I made nearly enough money from my first order to almost pay for the next one without my adding a cent. Pretty soon I had a Larkin Club-of-Ten going and I now not only get my household supplies at half cost, but am getting a number of Premiums besides.

I know there are lots of people who would appreciate these savings and Premiums just as much as I do. Why don't you write to Larkin Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask them for their free Catalog D 24?. That will tell you all about it.

WHEREAS, Pursuant to the terms and provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to authorize any two or more municipalities in this State to jointly provide, maintain and operate trunk or outlet sewers and sewage disposal plant or plants or a system of sewerage, and to otherwise act jointly concerning the collection, removal or disposal of sewage and make contracts in relation thereto," approved April 8, 1910, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and of all other acts of the said Legislature relating to the matters included herein, the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, the Borough of North Plainfield, in the County of Somerset and State of New Jersey, the Borough of Dunellen in the County of Middlesex and State of New Jersey, and the Board of Health of the State of New Jersey, have approved certain surveys, maps, plans, reports, estimates and statements concerning the proposal that the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the said Borough of North Plainfield and the said Borough of Dunellen shall agree to unite and jointly provide, construct, maintain and operate a system of conveying and conducting the sewage from the said municipalities from the points within said municipalities hereinafter designated to a point on the Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Green Brook and Bound Brook, in the Township of Piscataway, in the County of Middlesex, and jointly construct, maintain and operate upon the said Darling Farm such plant or plants, works and stations as may be necessary for the treatment, rendering and disposal of said sewage; therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

That the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall unite with the said Borough of North Plainfield, and the said Borough of Dunellen, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, for the following objects and purposes:

1. To jointly provide, maintain and operate a system of conveying or conducting the sewage from said municipalities from the points within said municipalities hereinafter designated to a point on the Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Green Brook and Bound Brook, in the Township of Piscataway, and to jointly construct, maintain and operate upon the said Darling Farm a plant, works and station, with the appliances and appurtenances necessary for the treatment, rendering and disposal of the said sewage. The sewage from the City of Plainfield is to be conducted from a point in the City of Plainfield about nine hundred and fifty (950) feet southerly from the intersection of Green Brook and Rock Avenue. The sewage from the Borough of North Plainfield is to be conducted from a point in the Borough of North Plainfield at or near the intersection of Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road. The sewage from the Borough of Dunellen is to be conducted from a point in the Borough of Dunellen at or near the intersection of Bound Brook Road and Warrenville Road.

The said system of conducting or conveying said sewage shall consist of a forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer, beginning at a point at or near the intersection of Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road, in the said Borough of North Plainfield and extending thence in a westerly direction through the Township of North Plainfield across Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road and private lands to a point at or near Jefferson Avenue at the foot of the Watchung Mountains in the said Township of North Plainfield, thence in a southwesterly direction through private lands along the foot of said mountains to a point at or near the easterly line of the Cramer Farm about eight hundred and forty (840) feet more or less northerly of Green Brook Road in the said Township of North Plainfield, and thence in a southerly direction through private lands to a point at or near the intersection of the westerly line of the Cramer Farm and Green Brook Road in the said Township of North Plainfield; two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the last named point to Green Brook and thence to under and across Green Brook to the said disposal works, plant or station on the said Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Bound Brook and Green Brook in the said Township of Piscataway; two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the beginning point of the aforesaid forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer in the said Borough of North Plainfield along the northeasterly side of Rock Avenue under and across Green Brook to a point in the City of Plainfield about nine hundred and fifty (950) feet southerly from the intersection of said Green Brook and Rock Avenue; and an eight (8) inch force main extending from the said forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer at a point about two thousand (2,000) feet northeast of the Warrenville Road in the said Borough of North Plainfield, thence across private lands and the said Green Brook Road to, under and across Green Brook, thence across private lands and through Schwartz Avenue in the said Borough of Dunellen to a point at or near the intersection of Bound Brook Road and Warrenville Road in the said Borough of Dunellen.

The said forty-two inch trunk sewer shall be of reinforced concrete except where it is necessary to use cast iron and shall be built with such culverts, siphons, manholes and other fittings, appliances and appurtenances as may be found necessary for its proper construction, maintenance and operation.

All of the said twenty (20) inch siphons shall be of cast iron.

The said eight (8) inch force main shall be of cast iron.

The said plant, works or station for the treatment, rendering and disposal of sewage shall consist of a preliminary settling tank in two units, a sludge-drying bed, a sprinkling filter in two units with double dosing tank, a final settling tank in two units with a small sludge pumping station, and a laboratory.

The said preliminary settling tank shall be constructed in two units of the Imhoff type. Each of these units shall be approximately five thousand (5000) square feet in surface area and about twenty-one (21) feet deep, and shall be divided into three double compartments. Each of said units shall be of ample capacity to provide for an average daily flow of two (2) million gallons of sewage in the upper or sedimentation compartment. The sludge compartment of the said tank shall have a combined total capacity for at least one year's storage of sludge, and shall be constructed entirely of reinforced concrete banked around the outside with earth, and shall be provided with a system of cast iron pipes for the removal of sludge.

The said sludge-drying bed shall be adjacent to the preliminary tanks and shall be approximately eighty-four (84) feet by one hundred and sixty (160) feet in size and surrounded with a low concrete wall. The said bed shall consist of about thirteen (13) inches in average depth of graded sand and gravel underlaid by a system of tile drains.

The said sprinkling filter shall have a total area of about one (1) and seventy-five (75) one hundredths acres, with an average depth of filtering material of about six (6) feet. The said filter shall be surrounded with earth embankment paved on the inside with concrete and shall have a concrete and tile floor. Through the centre of each of the two units there shall be a reinforced concrete pipe gallery containing a main distributing pipe and a main collecting channel. The distributing system shall be of cast-iron pipe with sprinkler nozzles of proper spacing and size to provide for evenly distributing sewage over the surface of the stone. Provision shall be made for properly dosing the beds by means of a double dosing tank and siphons.

The said final settling tank shall have two units, each of which shall have a total surface area of approximately twelve hundred (1200) square feet, and shall be about seventeen (17) feet deep and similar in construction to the above mentioned preliminary settling tank. Adjacent to these tanks there shall be a pump house, similar in size and construction to the laboratory building hereinafter mentioned, containing a centrifugal pump driven by an electric motor, with piping connections to permit the pumping of sludge from the final settling tank into the inlet of the preliminary settling tank. There shall also be an effluent sewer consisting of a double inverted siphon of twenty (20) inch cast iron pipe, running from said disposal plant under Green Brook and Bound Brook to the south bank of Bound Brook, and a forty-two (42) inch reinforced concrete sewer running from said last mentioned point into Green Brook at a point about four hundred and fifty (450) feet below Green Brook Road. The said double inverted siphons and said concrete sewer shall be built with such gate chambers, culverts, manholes and other fittings, appliances and appurtenances as may be found necessary to their proper construction, maintenance and operation. In connection with the disposal plant there shall be an adequately equipped laboratory. The laboratory building shall be about twenty-two (22) feet by twenty-five (25) feet outside dimensions and built of brick with concrete foundations and slate roof.

The above system of sewerage shall in all respects be constructed throughout in accordance with the plans and specifications prepared and executed in triplicate by George W. Fuller, Esq., bearing date August 1, 1912, one copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, another copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the said Borough of North Plainfield, and the other copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Borough of Dunellen.

2. To construct, maintain and operate the said system of sewerage herein described for the joint benefit of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the said Borough of North Plainfield, and the said Borough of Dunellen, in such manner as will render the most efficient service to the said municipalities and to each of them; and to that end to keep the said system of sewerage in good repair and effective operation, and to make all necessary alterations, additions and enlargements thereto and therein as the needs of the said municipalities, and each of them, may from time to time require.

3. That the percentage of the capacity of such system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, to the use of which each of the said municipalities shall be entitled shall be as follows: Of the said two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the beginning point of the aforesaid forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer in the said Borough of North Plainfield along the northeasterly side of Rock Avenue under and across Green Brook to a point in the City of Plainfield about nine hundred and fifty (950) feet southerly from the intersection of said Green Brook and Rock Avenue as aforesaid; the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of seventy-five (75) per cent., and the said Borough of North Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of twenty-five (25) per cent. of the capacity thereof. Inasmuch as it is not contemplated that the said Borough of North Plainfield will have use for its said percentage of capacity of the last mentioned two (2) twenty (20) inch inverted siphons, such Borough shall have the right from time to time to rent its said percentage of capacity thereof to any corporations, individuals or municipalities that may require the use of said two (2) twenty (20) inch siphons or any portion thereof, under any contract or contracts which may be entered into by the Joint Meeting provided for in this act with such corporations, individuals or municipalities, before the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall have the right to rent any portion of its said percentage of capacity of the said two (2) twenty (20) inch inverted siphons. The said Borough of Dunellen shall be entitled to the full capacity of the eight (8) inch force main above mentioned. Of the remaining portions of the said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, and of every part thereof, the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of sixty-eight (68) per cent., the said Borough of North Plainfield twenty-five (25) per cent., and the said Borough of Dunellen seven (7) per cent. of the capacity thereof.

In case it shall happen that any of the said municipalities shall require for its own needs a greater percentage of capacity of the said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, or of any part thereof, than is herein provided, it shall, upon obtaining the consent of the said Joint Meeting so to do, have the privilege of renting from either or both of the other municipalities any portion of the surplus capacity of said other municipality or municipalities for such period of time and upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

4. That the percentage of the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance or operation of any and all of the said works and improvements to be paid by each of such municipalities shall be as follows: The said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of any and all connections with the said works and improvements authorized by it. The said Borough of North Plainfield shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of any and all connections with the said works and improvements authorized by it. The said Borough of Dunellen shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of any and all connections with the said works and improvements authorized by it, and also the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the operation of the said eight (8) inch force main.

Except as hereinbefore is expressly provided, of the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of the said works and improvements, and all damages, if any, resulting from the maintenance of said works and improvements, the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall pay and discharge sixty-eight (68) per cent., the said Borough of North Plainfield twenty-five (25) per cent., and the said Borough of Dunellen seven (7) per cent. thereof. Except as hereinbefore is expressly provided, the total cost and expenses incurred in connection with or resulting from the maintenance, repair, cleaning, supervision and operation of any and all of the said works and improvements shall be divided between and paid by the three said municipalities in proportion to the amount of the sewage delivered into said works and improvements from each of the said municipalities respectively, and the cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from any additions or enlargements of the said works and improvements which may hereafter be made shall be divided between and paid by the said municipalities in proportion to the requirements of the said respective municipalities in excess of the capacity to which each of said municipalities is entitled.

5. That the sewage from each municipality shall be measured by an approved type of recording instrument, installed, controlled, maintained and operated by the said Joint Meeting.

6. That each of the said municipalities may from time to time at its own cost and expense appoint one or more inspectors, who shall at all times be given full opportunity to inspect the work of construction of the works and improvements hereby authorized, and of any and all materials used therein, and also the operation of the said works and improvements during and after the completion thereof.

7. That after the completion of the said works and improvements, and upon the written consent of the engineer employed by the said Joint Meeting, one or more of the said municipalities may commence to use the works and improvements hereby authorized in advance of any other of such municipalities, provided, however, that the said municipality or municipalities so using the same shall assume and bear the whole cost and expenses incurred in connection with or resulting from the maintenance and operation of the said works and improvements during the period that it or they so make partial or exclusive use thereof.

8. That all collecting sewers, including house connections, constructed within each municipality, and connected with said joint sewerage system, works or improvements, shall be water tight to avoid as far as is practicable the infiltration of the ground or surface water into said sewers. None of the municipalities shall use, nor permit its property owners, or any of them, to use the collecting sewers constructed within its limits, or any of them, for any purpose other than that of sanitary sewers.

9. That in order to accomplish the purposes of this ordinance, and of the laws of New Jersey in pursuance of which it is made, said municipalities, and each of them, shall do or cause to be done any and all things which they or it may by law be authorized to do, and which will advance or tend toward the accomplishment of the said purposes, or any of them without delay.

10. That in the event of any disagreement between the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the Borough of North Plainfield and the Borough of Dunellen concerning the accomplishment of any of the purposes hereof, the matter or matters in dispute shall be referred to three (3) arbitrators, one of whom shall be chosen by each of the said municipalities through their governing bodies. In case two of such municipalities each choose an arbitrator, and the other of such municipalities should neglect or refuse so to do for the period of twenty days after being requested thereunto by either of the said other municipalities, the two arbitrators so chosen shall then choose and designate in a writing to be filed with the clerk of each of such municipalities a third arbitrator who shall thereupon have the same powers and perform the same duties as if he had been chosen by the municipality(s) neglecting or refusing to choose an arbitrator. In case the arbitrators so chosen shall not reach a unanimous decision as to the matters referred to them, the Chancellor of the State of New Jersey shall be requested to appoint two other arbitrators to meet with the three already appointed; a decision by a majority of the board of arbitrators so appointed shall be binding upon the said municipalities. In case the Chancellor shall fail to appoint such additional arbitrators within ten days from the date of such request, a majority of the arbitrators already chosen as hereinbefore provided shall select the said two additional arbitrators, and a decision by a majority of the board of arbitrators so appointed shall be binding upon the said municipalities and each of them.

11. That the Joint Meeting of the said municipalities provided for by the Act of the Legislature first above recited shall continue to exist during the full life of the works and improvements hereby authorized. The said Joint Meeting shall from time to time make suitable provisions for the proper apportionment of all costs, expenses and other liabilities herein mentioned between the said respective municipalities in accordance with the provisions hereof.

12. That the Mayor and City Clerk of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be and they hereby are authorized and directed to execute on behalf of the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield a contract with the said Borough of North Plainfield and with the said Borough of Dunellen for the uses and purposes above expressed; and that the said contract shall be executed in triplicate.

13. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances heretofore passed and inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

THIEVES.

Thanks to the Legislature and Governor Fielder, it is now a misdemeanor in New Jersey for any person to steal the business of a newspaper by inserting advertising circulars in copies of the paper without the consent of the newspaper's ownership. To this unscrupulous practise, the Daily Press has drawn attention on several occasions, though the abuse is not so great here as in the larger cities. In New York, for instance, there have been successful prosecutions and the newspapers keep a watchful eye on newsdealers and others for this sort of thing.

To place dodgers or circulars within the folds of a newspaper without the knowledge and consent of the proprietors is as plain thievery as it is to steal another's money. Dishonest newsdealers and others who have the opportunity, fully realize that the only purpose of inducing him for a few paltry dollars to resort to this practise is to escape the expense of legitimate advertising in the columns of the paper itself. It is most contemptible to say the least.

Now that a law has been enacted making it a misdemeanor, the Daily Press will be glad to receive any information of such an offense being committed where it is the victim.

PRES'T WILSON AND CONGRESS.

The course of President Wilson in going to the Capitol on Tuesday last and personally reading his message to the joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives has been variously received by the press of the country. Just why there should be any criticism of it we are at a loss to see. But it is in line with the general course of the reactionaries in and out of Congress. Anything new is an innovation. Nothing that brings the Government closer to the people meets with their approval. Nothing that accentuates the shortcomings of the Senate or House by bringing their conduct under closer observation pleases them. The "invisible government" does not like the light. They would prefer that the President stand off at arms length rather than come in personal contact that the people may see what he does and what they do. President Wilson deserves commendation for restoring a custom which Washington followed, and that example is sufficient to give his course the approval of the American people.

A broader idea of the functions and duties of a government is realized in the enactment of a law by the Legislature of New Jersey to assist indigent widows in supporting their children. The statute in question was signed by Governor Fielder yesterday and is known as the "Widow's Pension" act.

The new law provides that widows with children under sixteen years of age shall be paid from the county treasuries a pension of $9 a month for the first child; $5 for the second, and $4 per month for each additional child.

Application for the granting of these pensions are to be made through the State Board of Children's Guardians and are to be passed upon by the common pleas judge in the different counties.

The law is a good one and will meet with the approval of every right thinking citizen. It is to the honor of New Jersey that this State is the first to adopt such a measure.

The Legislature has adjourned, but there will be a special session. We question the wisdom of special sessions. Is it not best to let this Legislature die the death it has deserved rather than bring it together again to further insult the sentiment of the honest people of the State? While its conduct was not wholly bad, especially while Governor Wilson was at the Capitol, yet as soon as he left its true colors began to be made evident and its majority went over to boss control. It is wonderful how men will follow a boss and take his orders, even in matters of conscience which they must know to be wrong.

It should be thoroughly understood that by signing a commission government petition you do not commit yourself as to how you will vote at the election. The only purpose of this petition is to demand an election and by affixing your signature you simply declare that you favor allowing the people to have an opportunity to decide the question. The Walsh act requires that before an election can be called, a certain percentage of the legal voters must petition for it and when the required number is obtained it is mandatory upon the city clerk to proceed to arrange for a special election.

Garrigues and Townsend Rushmore were re-elected trustees, and Joseph W. Sandford submitted his annual report as treasurer. The latter showed total receipts of $15,186.35, of which $13,136.37 came from pew rents; $1,200 from the session to be applied toward the reduction of the mortgage on the parsonage, and the balance from miscellaneous sources. The expenditures were: Salaries $6,210; music, $3,317.87; light, $198.65; repairs and supplies, $1,299.49; Sunday-school, $500; insurance, $691.07; parsonage, $738.64; pulpit supply, $240, and paid on mortgage, $1,200, a total of $14,295.72, leaving a balance on hand of $790.63.

The estimated expenses of the church for the coming year amount to $13,135. John Leal, Emerson E. Parvin and A. J. Gavett were re-elected elders and James E. Kimball was made an additional elder at the church meeting, at which Dr. Zelie presided; H. Otis Newman and John Doul Miller were re-elected as deacons, following which Dr. Hedges read the various reports. It was shown that the total membership of Crescent Avenue church is now 1,130, a gain of six over last year; Bethel chapel, 96, a gain of three; Hope chapel, 334, a gain of 19, and Warren chapel, 248, a gain of 32. The grand total for church and chapels is 1,808, with a gain for the year of 60.

In the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school 322 officers and teachers; Bethel chapel, 237; Hope chapel, 580, and Warren chapel, 445, a gain of 44 over last year.

The total benevolences of the church for the year amounted to $29,395, and the expenditures for operation $13,195, a grand total of $42,598. The benevolences were as follows:

Foreign missions, $7,332; home missions, $6,392; Synodical home missions, $700; support of chapels, $5,000; American Bible Society, $26; publication and Sunday-school work, $212; deacons fund, $1,271; Freedmen, $200; ministerial relief, $2,215; general assembly, $229; temperance, $133; aid for colleges, $200; church erection, $175; education, $270; local charities, $1,832; miscellaneous, $2,005; mortgage on parsonage, $1,200; total, $29,395.

The chapel account as submitted by Treasurer Sandford showed that the receipts were: From the session, $5,000; from Hope chapel, $1,369.01; from Warren chapel, $1,425; from Bethel chapel, $45. The expenditures were: Hope, $3,283.50; Warren, $3,303.52; Bethel, $1,515.54. This made a shortage of $263.55 for the year, to which is added a shortage of $439.15 from the preceding year, a total shortage of $702.70. There is a mortgage of $7,500 on Warren chapel, and deposited in the Plainfield Savings Bank for the Bethel chapel fund are two legacies, one from Mrs. Emma F. Ege, amounting to $542.93, and that of Miss Eleanor Roome, amounting to $740.49.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, for Warren chapel, reported that the work had been most encouraging during the past year, and that a splendid spirit of unity and harmony had been evidenced. He was especially pleased at the substantial growth in membership. Rev. Frederick J. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, said that the work had gone on there in a sastifactory way, the Sunday-school showing a marked increase, with a very encouraging outlook for the future. He told of the Boy Scouts and the formation of sewing classes, and a Junior Christian Endeavor Society. The church services were reported to be well sustained and the spirit of fellowship very helpful.

In addition to his remarks about the young men of the West End, Rev. Mr. Greene said that every night but Wednesday was now being devoted to various organizations to interest the young men and women. On Monday and Thursday nights the women have classes in dressmaking, and the other nights are given over to the men. He also said that there had been a great increase in the spiritual life and interest in the church.

First Presbyterian Church.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meetings of the congregation and church of the First Presbyterian church, last night, showing that financially and numerically the organization is stronger than it was a year ago, which was a source of much gratification to the members present. The congregational meeting was held first, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, the pastor, being the moderator, and E. M. Cave the secretary.

Dr. Herring in his annual address to the members reviewed in an interesting way the work of the past year, making some helpful suggestions. He made a strong plea for perfect unity on the part of every member that all might work for one common aim, the upbuilding of Christ's Kingdom and His church. By way of suggestion Dr. Herring requested the members to arrange for social affairs and entertainments on Thursday, instead of Friday night and in conclusion urged that the membership of the church be made one thousand. The report impressed the members so forcibly, that F. D. Dickerson's motion that a copy be sent to every family in the church, was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Cave then read the reports for the various societies, showing the amount of money raised by each during the year. The Women's Missionary Society raised and expended $123.40, and the Women's Home Missionary Society raised and expended $176.62.

The Sunday-school raised for the general fund $562.90 and $285 for the missionary fund. The sewing department of the Home Missionary Society raised $35.18 and disbursed $19.93. The Senior C. E. Society's receipts for the general fund $26.98 and $56.14 for the missionary fund. The Junior C. E. Society reported receipts of $10.56. The amount raised for the Italian Mission was $1,722.77.

The report of the Pastor's Aid Society was particularly gratifying. The receipts were $1,534.98, of which $1,429.62 was expended in renovating the church, for which the society received the thanks of the members of the church. The balance is $105.36. The deacons reported receipts of $603.23.

The report of Mr. Cave as church clerk showed the present membership to be 427. Nineteen were received on confession during the year and fourteen by letter, while there were two deaths. The total receipts for benevolent purposes was $1,924.41, which includes $570 for the Italian Mission.

Rev. Lewis Bond, as superintendent of the Italian Mission, gave a review of the work during the year. There has been an average attendance of 38 at the Sunday morning services and 30 at the Sunday-school. There are 54 communicants, 18 new members being received during the year. English and Bible classes are taught by Rev. Theodore Borreti, the pastor in charge. Mr. Bond complimented Mr. Borreti for his earnest work and the fact that he preaches the true gospel. He also called attention to the fact that Miles Roberts had given a stereopticon lantern to the mission and Mrs. Robert Lowry gave a piano.

Allen E. Beals gave an interesting report of the work of the Boy Scouts, telling of the growth of the organization in the church, and the substantial financial help received. The membership is about fifty and is constantly increasing.

Concluding the congregational meeting, E. M. Cave and Charles M. Hummer were re-elected elders for three years and Joseph C. Allen and A. V. Searing, Sr., were re-elected deacons for three years.

F. D. Dickerson was chosen chairman of the church meeting, which followed, and W. J. Hamilton, secretary. An especially interesting feature of this meeting was that William H. Shotwell was re-elected church treasurer for the forty-ninth consecutive year. A rising vote of thanks was given to Mr. Shotwell for his long and faithful service.

In making his annual report, Mr. Shotwell stated that there was raised the past year $1,100 more than the previous year, enabling the church to pay all debts. The total receipts were $7,026.96 and the expenditures were $6,957.44, leaving a balance of $62.52. There is also a credit to the balance of the church of $3,182.03. The report of the auditing committee, comprising George B. Wean, E. O. George and F. O. Dunning, showed that the accounts of the treasurer were correct. The auditors were re-elected for another year and E. P. Morris, Thomas E. Currin, Jr., and W. J. Hamilton were re-elected trustees for three years.

It was voted to continue the salary of the pastor the same as last year and the question of music was referred to the session. It was also the sense of those present that the sexton's salary should be increased and that a generous allowance should be made. The matter will be taken up at the meeting of the session to be held within a short time.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

As relief from the doubtful French farces with which the stage has been flooded for a number of seasons, a really meritorious farce from the German will be one of the deserving offerings of the present season. Frank Tannehill, Jr., and Geo. W. Barnum have made an excellent and pleasing translation of Robert Pohl's clever play, which created a furore in Berlin, where it was produced and has already passed its 215th performance, and will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and evening. "The Girl from Tokio," as offered in the translated version, loses nothing of value from the original German and gains much that would make it one of the most popular of the season's attractions. It offers a merry mixture of comical complications, rollicking fun and care chasing and fills the place made vacant in theatrical affairs ever held by the popular record-breaking Hoyt farces, clean, bright and humorous comedy, devoid of vulgarity or questionable situations it presents an admirable diversion for the theatre patron, tired of problem and complicated dramas. "The Girl from Tokio" presents in a perfectly natural and reasonable way a series of side-splitting mixups resulting from the attempts of a husband, through fear of his wife's jealousy to conceal a perfectly harmless transaction with another female with the natural result that he involves himself and several others in a peck of trouble which increases as the play proceeds. The farce is in three acts and the scenes are laid in the home of Bartley Swift, an importer of Japanese goods, at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, who while in Japan, made love to an actress, whom he afterwards jilted, and married the daughter of a tea importer. The actress afterwards marries Swift's father-in-law, who dies as executor of his estate in America. The widow of the tea merchant suddenly decides to leave Tokio for America to settle up her husband's estate and then the trouble commences for Swift and his household.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Through your columns I want to complain of the actions of the people in the top gallery of the Plainfield theatre. The loud laughs, remarks, noises of feet, dropping over the rail of programs are enough to make one stop going to the theatre and spoil many good plays. In such plays as Macbeth and Bella Donna with really good acting the best parts were spoiled by the balcony and it is easy to see that those people cannot appreciate them. The management would do well to see that the police maintain better order in the gallery.

R. A. R. SMITH.

WIRELESS STATION OPENED.

New Orleans, La., April 10.—The largest privately owned wireless station in the world was formally opened here today. The new station is owned by the United Fruit Company and was built so that the company might keep in constant communication with its steamships plying the Carribbean and the Gulf. It is equipped with apparatus sufficiently powerful to reach Panama, Rio Janeiro, Lima and a number of other points in Central and South America which heretofore have not been in direct touch with the United States.

UNIQUE EXPERIENCE.

Tuscola, Ill., April 10.—Former Congressman Joseph G. Cannon attended the dedication of Douglas county's new courthouse here today and delivered a speech, the first that he has made as a private citizen for many years. Mr. Cannon resided in Tuscola in the years immediately preceding the Civil War and it was here that he was elected to his first public office, that of prosecuting attorney. By the irony of fate his political birthplace is now a Progressive stronghold.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NUT SALADS.

NUTS make nourishing and tempting salads. Almonds, walnuts and peanuts are especially good used this way.

Walnuts chopped with blanched almonds make a nice combination.

Care should be taken to select fresh nuts for salads. Hard or partially decayed ones will spoil the dish.

Appetizing Combinations.

Chestnut Salad. — Take a pint of chestnuts, remove the shells, boil and blanch them. Drain and set aside to cool. Hard boil two eggs. At serving time arrange lettuce in a salad bowl, put the chestnuts over and then a nice French dressing, using lemon juice instead of vinegar. Hold a small sieve over the bowl, rub the yolks through it, with which cover the salad lightly.

Nut Salad In Molds.—Take one quart of beef stock, place in a saucepan, season well and after dissolving and straining add two-thirds of a box of gelatin. Chop fine a cupful of English walnuts. Soak them in hot French dressing for half an hour. Wet small molds; half fill them with nuts. Pour over the dissolved gelatin mixture. Stand in a cool place to harden. Turn out on lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise dressing.

For Dainty Appetites.

Celery and Nut Salad. — Take a dozen English walnuts to a large head of celery. Crisp and cut the celery in small pieces. Blanch the nut meats and chop them coarsely. Mix the nuts and celery, marinate for half an hour in a plain French dressing, arrange on crisped and chilled lettuce leaves and cover with mayonnaise dressing.

Walnut Salad.—Blanch some English walnuts and add to them a suitable quantity of the little tender inner leaves of a head of celery. Then toss them with some mayonnaise and arrange the salad in a bowl. Mask it with mayonnaise and garnish with capers and quartered olives, or heap the salad pyramid shape on a flat dish, coat it with mayonnaise and surround it with the quartered olives and capers.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. C. G. Munro, 820 Second place; vice president, Mrs. H. E. Parker, 91 Westervelt avenue; second vice president, Dr. Clara DeH. Krans, 920 Park avenue; third vice president Mrs. H. C. Krebs, 23 Fairview avenue; recording secretary, Mrs. H. Philips, 976 Kensington avenue; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. P. E. Groszmann, Herbart Hall; treasurer, Mrs. George B. Wean, 923 Park avenue; advisory board, William D. Murray, Henry M. Maxson, Dr. H. D. Corbusier, Percy H. Stewart, Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews.

H. C. Krebs, superintendent of Schools of Somerset county, gave an interesting address on "The Needs of Rural Schools in Somerset County."

High School.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the High School met in the auditorium on the evening of Thursday, April 3, to discuss with Lindsey M. Best, the principal, "The Daily Program of the High School Pupil." A most interesting meeting was held.

The association, which has a membership of 83, decided to join the New Jersey Congress of Mothers, realizing the opportunity to help the cause of Child Welfare by so doing and also the added strength which comes to such organizations by the membership in the larger body of workers in the same cause.

Education of Girls.

Mrs. Fred Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers, in a recent editorial, speaks of the volume of letters coming to the Child Welfare Magazine, from mothers expressing their lack of knowledge of child nurture and wishing their education had prepared them to meet more intelligently the duties of motherhood; she quotes from one such letter which is illuminating on the subject of how our girls are not being educated to meet their fundamental life problems:

"My dear Mrs. Schoff:

"I have three babies, the oldest not quite three. I would like, so far as it is possible for me to do so, to have the benefit of the best ideas of the best educators and thinkers of the day, to help me in the training of my children. I have a university education, and was a teacher in a High School but I feel that I am poorly equipped for the task of guiding the development of my children as I would like to do it. I have an idea that our modern school system falls far short, that many very bright children are developed into very mediocre adults and are never able to give to the world the benefits of abilities which in early life they seemed to possess. My problem is to find out how to supplement most effectively at home the training which the schools are able to give.

"Publications are many but I am at a loss to know where to find the material which would be most helpful to me in studying the problem of the training of my children."

Pathetic as is this letter, it is far less so than the attitude of many mothers from the college bred to the unlettered that they are self-sufficient and need to learn nothing from any source concerning this most difficult of duties the making of men and women.

Hopeful the mother who wants to learn hopeless well nigh the mother who has nothing to learn and a sad, sad commentary on the education of girls has it has been conducted in the past.

The president of University of Wisconsin, Prof. M. V. O'Shea, chairman of Education Department National Congress of Mothers, has outlined a plan for investigating the efficiency of the present education of girls, and invites comments and suggestions in regard to it: first, as the value of such an investigation; second, as to the methods of condcting it, and third as to plans for improving the system now in practice. Letters from individuals sent to Prof. O'Shea, Madison, Wisconsin, on this subject will receive the consideration of the Executive Board of the Mothers Congress. Parents or teachers interested to know his plan more in detail are referred to the Child Welfare Magazine for March, 1913.

'DOUGH' SUBSCRIBERS NOT TO FIX TARIFF

New Era Dawns for Manufacturers Find the Old Order of Things Changes.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 10.—The Senate committee has determined not to have any hearings on the tariff bill. Manufacturers in many lines of industry have appealed to Chairman Simmons and other members of the committee for an opportunity to present arguments against the rates proposed in the Underwood bill. The Senate committee members take the position, however, that the hearings conducted by the House Ways and Means Committee in January were sufficiently thorough to cover practically all points the Senate needs.

It is believed now that the tariff bill after it finally reaches the Senate will not remain in the committee more than ten days.

CHINA'S GOV'T RECOGNIZED BY BRAZIL AND PERU

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Peking, April 10.—The Brazilian government, anticipating similar action by the United States, has cabled its recognition of the new republic of China. Peru also has recognized the republic.

Reports cabled abroad yesterday that Li Yuan Hung, vice president, had been assassinated are declared untrue.

It is the first time that the three organizations ever have met together. A leading feature of the program will be an address by William M. Bullitt, solicitor-general of the United States.

HACIENDO DEL OSO ? SI SENOR---SCOOP INVENTED THAT GAME

THEY'RE OFF FOR ANOTHER FIVE MONTHS' GRIND ON THE BIG BASEBALL CIRCUITS

In eight leading cities of the country this afternoon the umpire shouts "Play" and sixteen major league baseball clubs will scratch the surface of a new season by prying off the lid of the championship schedule. The outlook, as usual, is for the biggest season of the game, but in the immortal words of some anonymous orator, "You never can tell." Fans of every degree have troubled for weeks past with that emotional thrill tripping up and down their spines and the greatest remedy for this malady, (real baseball) will be administered in plentiful doses from now on until October 5, while eight of the teams are fighting for the National League pennant and the other eight for the championship of the American League.

Everywhere it is being predicted that this is to be the greatest season that organized baseball has known. For weeks the fans have been waiting for the bell to ring. The early reports from the training camps, the exhibition games played on the road and the interleague series have sharpened the appetites of the enthusiasts and put them on edge in anticipation of the start of the pennant races.

There have been few important changes in the personnel of the teams since the close of last season. Important trades and deals such as have been common in the past were comparatively few in number the past winter, so that all of the clubs start the season with practically all of their veteran players answering the roll-call.

There have been several important changes in the managements. Only one such change has taken place in the American League, but this was a change of unusual importance. Frank Chance, one of the most prominent players of his day and for the past eight years the successful manager of the Chicago Nationals, has taken charge of the New York Americans and expects to have the Highlanders finish near the front of the race this year.

Owner Murphy has engaged Johnny Evers to pilot the Cubs in place of Chance. Joe Tinker, the star shortstop of the Cubs for eleven years, has succeeded Hank O'Day as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Miller Huggins has taken the place of Roger Bresnahan as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bresnahan has gone to the Cubs as catcher. Still another change in the managerial forces of the National League is the return of the veteran George Stallings, who formerly managed teams in Detroit and New York and last season was in charge at Buffalo. Stallings has been signed as manager by the owners of the Boston club and will endeavor to put the Braves into the race.

In the National League the opening games are scheduled as follows: Brooklyn at Philadelphia, Pittsburg at Cincinnati, St. Louis at Chicago and Boston at New York.

In the opening games in the American League Chicago plays at Cleveland, Detroit at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Boston and New York at Washington.

The schedules of the two big leagues have been arranged so that there will be the minimum of conflicting dates. Each organization will play a season of 154 games and the final contest in each will be played October 5.

WESTERN LEAGUE OPENING TODAY

In Keeping With the Starting of the Schedules in Other Parts of the Country.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 10.—The umpire's cry of "play ball" resounds today through the big cities of the middle West as well as in numerous other sections of the country. While major league fans are absorbed in the initial play in their respective circuits, the cohorts of the American Association today had their long anticipated opportunity. None the less marked in point of interest and enthusiasm the followers of Tom Chivington's circuit are on the eve of what promises to be the biggest and brightest and best of all A. A. seasons.

Columbus opens in St. Paul, Indianapolis in Minneapolis, Louisville in Kansas City and Toledo in Milwaukee. It is the first time that the season has ever opened in the West and the arrangement is regarded as a most fortunate one in view of the fact that the cities at the eastern end of the circuit are still feeling the effects of the recent floods more or less. Another innovation in the schedule this year is the plan by which the teams will travel in a circle. In the past teams moving from the East to the West or vice versa, lost a day in making the long jump to the Twin Cities, but this year the clubs are to stop at Milwaukee first, going from here to St. Paul and Minneapolis and then to Kansas City. The mileage will be increased under the new system, but the club owners expect to get this back in gate receipts by avoiding the lay-off of one day.

The teams swing into action today with every indication pointing to a spirited race. In each of the eight cities of the circuit the fans have their eyes towards an eventual pennant-winning team. The Minneapolis team, three times champions, confidently expects to cop its fourth consecutive flag. Several other teams look good to the critics, however, and if the Millers repeat this year they will have to go some.

Nearly all of the teams retain the most of their veteran players and all have a promising batch of youngsters. The change in managements which half the clubs undergo this year is one of the greatest shake ups in the history of the organization. Mike Kelley has gone from St. Paul to Indianapolis and Bill Friel, who piloted the Columbus team last season, replaces Kelley at St. Paul. Bill Hinchman is the new manager at Columbus and Harry Clark has succeeded Hugh Duffy in Milwaukee.

N. P. H. S. ENCOUNTERS THORNE.

Thorne, the twirler who pitched against the North Plainfield High School team at Roselle yesterday afternoon, is the same personage who will appear here as a member of Manager Conger's Young Men's Athletic Association team this summer. Thorne is an excellent moundsman and close friend of Conger's who is planning to have him take part in a number of the local games.

CHANCE DISPOSES OF SOME RECRUITS

Six Players go to the Minors in the Initial Cut Down—Martin in This City.

Manager Frank Chance, of the New York Yankees, swung the axe yesterday afternoon and six players on the reserve list were shipped away from New York. While the New York pilot has not asked for waivers on Jack Martin, of this city, it now seems probable that he will do so in the near future, as the local shortfielder was not among those taken to Washington by Chance yesterday for the opening contest today. He has returned to his home in this city and will await further orders from his chief. Chance confirmed the reports today that Paddy Green, the Holyoke pitcher, had been sold to the Pittsburgh National League Club. Waivers were asked on Green with the idea of sending him to a certain minor league club, but as Barney Dreyfuss filed a claim he was sold to the Pirates and was ordered to report at once.

Chance announced yesterday that he had sold the release of George Davis, the former Williams College pitcher, to the Jersey City Club; also that Shortstop Douglass Harbison had been sold to Chattanooga, Third Baseman John Priest to Rochester, Pitcher Gaiser to Albany and a young infielder named Finley to Troy.

The sale of Pitcher Davis to Jersey City probably means that Chance has attached a string to the young collegian. Davis' chief defect in pitching is lack of control due to limited experience on the professional diamond. He is a powerful fellow physically and possesses natural pitching skill, but Chance has so many seasoned boxmen that he believes he can spare Davis, who will have an excellent opportunity to develop in the International League.

Having disposed of Green and Davis, the New Yorks now have eight pitchers left—Ford, Warhop, Caldwell, McConnell, Keating, Schulz, Fisher and Hoff. Chance may decide to keep them all for the present, but if any is dropped it will be Hoff, because he is considered too light. Harbison, who came here from Atlanta, didn't measure up to the major league standard at all. Priest appeared to lose ambition in Bermuda when he found that Hartzell and Midkiff were preferred for the third base corner. Finley and Gaiser are untried and unknown as far as the New Yorks are concerned.

Bill Stump, the utility infielder, will not be turned loose after all. In spite of criticism, he has plugged along gamely until Chance has begun to take a fancy to him. Chance says that Stump has a wonderful wing and is a natural hitter; that all he needs is encouragement to become a star player and that he will be retained as a substitute infielder, together with Young and Midkiff. In short Chance will carry an entire extra infield in Sterrett, Stump, Young and Midkiff.

SOMERVILLE FANS AGITATE BASEBALL

Situation Has Puzzled Those Interested Since the Season of 1911.

Just what the baseball situation is in the vicinity of Somerville is a proposition that has puzzled baseball fans for some time. They know that there has been no Somerville team since 1911; that the Raritan club played its home games in Somerville last season, and they have watched the mere or less hazy reports that have been sent out about there being a team in Somerville this year to represent some club up there in the Central New Jersey League.

An investigation into the true state of affairs discloses the fact that the baseball season has progressed quite a bit farther around the Somerset county seat than appearance at the surface might indicate, and that the chances of a team from the West End grounds entering the Central New Jersey League are more likely than were at first thought.

Last season, when there was no "Somerville" team on the field, the Raritan nine, having a fast light team, used the Somerville grounds. This season the Raritan club will again be represented by a team, but will play its home games at East Side Park, in Raritan.

Since the Raritan team has vacated the West End grounds, the Somerville people are free to act in lining up a team, engaging the use of the park and entering the league, as they did in 1911, when Somerville finished second. It appears that Somerville, while desirous of entering the league and being ready to begin active preparations for the league season, does not wish to exhibit any great anxiety to use the grounds for fear that such a display would raise the price for which the stands and fence can be bought. Thus it seems that as soon as Somerville buys the Raritan equipment on the grounds the former team will be able to take an active part in the league.

ELEVEN INNINGS TO DECIDE THIS GAME

N. P. H. S. Loses Out After a Hard Struggle—Erratic Fielding a Feature.

In a game featured by many errors the North Plainfield High School baseball team lost out at the end of eleven innings by a score of 7 to 6, at Roselle, yesterday afternoon, playing the Roselle High School team. Townley and Thorn pitched great ball for their respective teams, but support was lacking in many cases at the crucial moment.

While sliding back to first base, in the fifth inning "Duke" Van Mater, the borough team's left fielder, sprained his ankle and tore the ligaments of the foot, forcing him to retire from the game. Warren Townley was the best sticker for the losers, clouting the horsehide for a trio of healthy ones, while George Townley and Abrams each secured a brace of the safe variety.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE SEASON.

Birmingham, Ala., April 10.—The Southern League, composed of teams in Birmingham, Mobile, New Orleans, Nashville, Memphis, Montgomery, Chattanooga and Atlanta, which finished last year in the order named, started today upon its thirteenth season. League officials and club owners share the belief that the season will be the most successful in the history of the organization. The weaker clubs of last year have apparently been strengthened and all signs point to a close and hard fight for the championship. For the initial contests Mobile lines up at New Orleans, Montgomery at Memphis, Atlanta at Chattanooga and Nashville at Birmingham. The season will continue until September 7.

"MAC" SAYS

Play Ball!

Now is the time of the year when grandmothers begin to die off and the office boy has a large family circle, many of whom are expected to drop off any time an unusually interesting game of ball is announced.

Manager Chance and his Yankees left for Washington yesterday afternoon minus the baggage of Jack Martin. The local boy was left behind in the scuffle and umpired the Leals-Plainfield High School game yesterday afternoon.

Local teams are evidently trying to set up early season's records. Sminck, the P. H. S. moundsman, started the ball rolling yesterday afternoon when he treated the private school aggregation to frequent jaunts to first base. And many of the Leals players are not even used to walking to school.

Captain Dunning and his N. P. H. S. colts lost a hard fought battle that went eleven innings at Roselle yesterday afternoon. A total of twenty errors were chalked up during the prolonged contest and the final score stood 7 to 6.

By virtue of its defeat over Leals yesterday afternoon P. H. S. gets the first advantage in the race for the Interscholastic trophy.

Borough players are optimistic, however, and are planning great things for the Plainfielders when they meet May 3 on Hdye Oval.

Several speedy youngsters have been developed at N. P. H. S. this season, one of the most promising being Walter Townley, a younger brother of the twirler. At Roselle yesterday this little third baseman cracked out three hits.

Nothing more has been heard of that girls' baseball team that was going to be organized at N. P. H. S. Wonder if the feminine athletes are waiting to give the boys a chance before they start to monopolize the limelight.

Class athletes at the Plainfield High School are practising daily at Parker Field in preparation for the annual interclass athletic meet conducted by that institution.

A number of Y. M. C. A. runners and jumpers are training for the State meet for which entry blanks have been forwarded to the local physical department.

What has become of the Sunday-school Baseball League? Nothing has been heard from the Bible class leaguers during the past two weeks.

George Stallings, manager of the Boston Nationals, sent a telegram to Frank Chance in Washington last night, wishing him the best of luck. "I am going to root for the New York Americans this year," said Stallings, "because some of my old players are with them. They are the best fellows I ever met in baseball and I feel sure that they will work for Chance as they worked for me."

President James E. Gaffney, of the Boston Nationals, who is recovering from a serious illness, will not be able to see today's game with the Giants. He told Stallings yesterday that a victory over McGraw's men would hasten his recovery.

"Say, Ford!" yelled a Newark fan, as the New Yorks' star pitcher was receiving his bumps in Tuesday's game, "The graveyard is two blocks away from here!" "Then it will be easy for you to go there and lie down!" replied Sir Russell with a savage grin.

President Ebbets, of the Brooklyns, is a firm believer in Hal Chase as a second baseman. Ebbets remembers Billy Greenwood, the Brooklyns' second baseman of thirty years ago, who was a left handed thrower and a star at the bag. Chase has made wonderful strides since returning from Bermuda. He has turned eery known play at the middle bag in a way that would seem to indicate permanency. Chance says that Chase will be a rival of Eddie Collins and may be the latter's superior as time passes.

Dougherty's military police, resplendent in new uniforms, will be on duty at the Polo Grounds today. Fifty men will try to preserve order.

"There is one habit about all ball players that I've noticed," observes Chief Meyers, "and that is that when they're traveling and the train stops they always want to eat."

Al Demarce is not as old as he looks or as aged as he is popularly supposed to be. He is only 26.

When asked yesterday as to the truth of the story that waivers had been asked on Jim Thorpe, Manager McGraw, of the Giants, said: "There is nothing in it. I intend to keep Thorpe and believe I can make a first-class player of him." The story of the waivers came from St. Louis and was attributed to Miller Huggins, manager of the Cardinals.

TIGERS PLAY BALL MINUS TYRUS COBB

Detroit Star Outfielder Still a Holdout—Gets Outlaw Offer of $15,000.

President Frank J. Navin, of the Detroit American League team, declared today that he was prepared to face the coming season without Ty Cobb, star centre-fielder and champion batsman of the league. Cobb, who drew $9,000 a year for the past three seasons, is holding out for $15,000.

Navin declared he will make no further inducements to the Georgia Peach. He has instructed Hughie Jennings, manager of the Tigers, to disregard Cobb in his calculations. Tyrus will be missing today in St. Louis when the Tigers make their first bow.

Cobb is in a fair way to put himself on the "black list." He has taken command of a team known as the "holdouts," which was to have played an exhibition game today in Anniston, Ala. The game was cancelled at the instigation of Cobb. He wired the Anniston promoters.

"Disband for one week pending definite news from Detroit. Hold engagement until you hear from me."

P. H. S. SOPHS IN ACTION.

A team of Plainfield High School sophomores has been organized and will lineup against the Leal School aggregation on Parker Field this afternoon. Both teams are made up of some star players and the game will probably be a good one.

Light Metallic Folding Beds

THE WIT-EDGE DIVAN

The Wit-Edge Divan is a modern development of the portable type of single bed. It consists of a steel tubular frame, to which the woven wire spring is attached by means of spiral steel springs. The legs are connected to the two lower supporting bars running the length of the frame by a thumbscrew locking device. The spring is of an improved pattern, and its sides being turned up about four inches prevent the mattress from becoming disarranged and slipping off. When not in use the legs may be folded under so as to occupy the least possible space, and the divan may then be placed in a closet or underneath one of the other beds. The construction is sanitary, and all parts of the bed may be easily cleaned. Size 3.0, regular price $7.25; Profit Sharing Sale Price $6.00. Size 2.6, regular price, $7.00; Profit Sharing Sale Price $5.50

Before ordering your coal---think on these things

1st. For the past two months we have sold coal at reduced prices—based on our Co-operative plan—which has met with great success.
2nd. If it was impossible for our competitors to meet these prices then—how is it possible to do it now?
3rd. Is it not their object to defeat our Co-operative plan and then go back to the previous high prices?
4th. Given the INCREASED TONNAGE—we have pledged ourselves to continue our low prices—not for one year but to keep the price proportionately lower with our increased tonnage.
5th. If you Dealer has no better reason for offering you coal at reduced prices, other than "Because we are doing it," give us your patronage and help make our Co-operative plan a success.
6th. We are setting a precedent by offering the public a set schedule of prices for one year. The Operators raise the wholesale price 10 cents per ton each month until September, on which basis our schedule is made.

DAVID N. FORCE PASSES AWAY

Local Contractor Succumbs to Apoplexy at his Home in the Borough.

AGED SIXTY-NINE YRS.

Native of Whitehouse and Well Known in This Section—Funeral Services on Monday Afternoon at Late Residence.

David N. Force, aged 69, a contractor and builder, died at 12 o'clock last night, at his home, 43 Mountain avenue, the borough, as a result of a stroke of apoplexy. He had been in failing health for some time and about a week ago his condition was such that he was unable to leave his bed.

Mr. Force was born at Whitehouse, Hunterdon county, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Force, of that place. During his younger days at Whitehouse he followed the trade of wheelwright. He was well-known throughout Hunterdon county. Mr. Force removed to this city twenty-four years ago and during that time he was a successful contractor, having built more than forty dwellings in Plainfield and vicinity.

Mr. Force was a member of the Masonic lodge at Clinton and Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., of this city, in both of which he took a great deal of interest. He was also a faithful member of Grace M. E. church, the borough. He is survived by a wife, two sons, Charles L. Force, of the borough; Dr. Willard B. Force, of New York; two daughters, Mrs. J. L. Hummer, of Auburn, N. Y., and Mrs. W. W. Cook, of Bloomfield; a brother, Anderson Force, of Clover Hill, Hunterdon county, and four sisters, Mrs. Aaron C. Manning and Mrs. Ransom White, of Clinton, Hunterdon county; Mrs. Anthony Layton, of Burnt Mills, Somerset county, and Mrs. John Dalley, of Stockton, Hunterdon county.

Private funeral services will be held at the late home Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to be conducted by Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery. Those wishing to review the remains can do so Monday afternoon between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE THE BOARD OF TRADE

Papers for the reincorporation of the old Board of Trade were filed in County Clerk Calvert's office at Elizabeth yesterday marking the first step toward the reorganization of a one-time flourishing civic body which was composed of Plainfield's leading business men. Five trustees were named including Herman Schwed, J. E. Vanderhoef, A. S. Herr, Edmund L. Rushmore and A. E. Force. The first meeting will be held next Thursday night, probably in Firemen's Hall, on Park avenue, and a general invitation will be issued before that time to all of the old members of the now extinct Board of Trade and to as many new ones as are interested in the project.

William Jeffrey is the originator of the movement and is arranging to call a meeting.

PLAN TO INCORPORATE LOCAL TRANSIT COMPANY

The subscribers to the capital stock of the Plainfield Transit Company, now being organized, for the purpose of operating the auto-bus line between Plainfield and South Plainfield, and between Plainfield, Stirling, Mt. Bethel, Summit and other places, will meet at Sebring's auditorium Monday night at 8:30 o'clock. At that time definite plans will be voted upon and definite schedule of runs arranged for by the company.

The demonstration runs which have been in progress since last Saturday have proved the success of the enterprise and that the people appreciate the convenience, and they will be continued indefinitely including Sundays. The local merchants have been quick to recognize the additional trade at their stores by people living in the mountain districts.

IRVING-JEFFERSON ASSOCIATION ELECTS

Mrs. George O. Stevens Chosen President of West End Parent-Teacher Body.

The election of officers, together with an informal discussion as to the advisability of introducing the public welfare work and lunch counters in the Irving and Jefferson schools, together with a musical program were the features of the annual meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Jefferson-Irving Public Schools, at the Irving School, yesterday afternoon. There was present about eighty parents and teachers. Mrs. George O. Stevens, the president, was in the chair.

There was a unanimous expression of opinion in favor of opening the schools for social and educational purposes, as well as introducing the lunch counters, and plans are now being arranged for a dance for the children and teachers of the eighth grade of the Jefferson School to be held in the near future.

The entertainment of the afternoon included vocal solos by Miss Betts, piano duets by the children and songs by the children of the fifth grade, together with phonographic selections, after which refreshments were served.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. George O. Stevens; first vice president, Miss Genevieve Petrie; second vice president, Miss Anna Booraem; secretary, Mrs. Charles O. Pierson; treasurer, Mrs. W. T. Schmittmann. Mrs. Stevens then named these heads of committees: Membership, Mrs. William Durant; refreshment, Mrs. John E. Dunn; program, Mrs. A. E. Force; friendly visiting, Mrs. Thomas Hylan. These heads of committees together with the officers comprise the executive committe of the association. The next meeting will probably be held at the Jefferson School, as it has always been the custom to alternate between the two schools.

YOUTH IS ACQUITTED OF KILLING SQUIRREL

George Hall, the fourteen-year-old boy, who was arrested yesterday in the borough upon a complaint lodged by Julius Hittle, of Manning avenue, charging the boy with maiming a squirrel and leaving it to die, was cleared of the charge by Recorder Gano in the North Plainfield court this morning. The animal was one of three that has become very tame of late and was a great favorite in the neighborhood in which young Hall lived, at times climbing into the pockets of persons passing and selecting dainty morsels of food from their clothes.

Chief Marshal Weiss arrested the boy yesterday afternoon, leaving the boy in custody of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hall, for appearance in the court this morning. A number of people living in the neighborhood where the incident occurred who had become incensed over the killing, appeared in court this morning but the youngster, when arraigned denied shooting the animal. His claim of innocence was substantiated by the fact that the gun in possession was nothing more than an air rifle shooting "B. B." shots which could not kill an animal of this nature.

FREDERICK WESTPHAL'S FUNERAL NEXT SUNDAY

The funeral service of Frederick Westphal, aged 70 years, who died at his home, 237 Bigelow street, Newark, on Wednesday, will be held at 402 Park avenue, this city, Sunday afternoon, and Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., of which he was a member, will be in charge. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Westphal was a former resident of this city for twenty years, during which time he was one of the best known grocers in this section. His first store was on Liberty street and later he erected the building at Liberty and West Fourth street, where a grocery was conducted under the firm name of Westphal & Son, the latter being the late William Westphal, a former councilman. At one time Mr. Westphal had a branch grocery at Muhlenberg place and West Third street.

Mr. Westphal and his wife removed to Newark, their former home, about twelve years ago. Since then he has lived in retirement. He was a native of Germany. He is survived by his wife and two grandchildren, Fred Westphal, Jr., who lived with his grandparents, and Mrs. Harry Carr of 2 Broad street Newark.

On Sunday, April 20, special excursion will leave Plainfield 1:13 a. m., via New Jersey Central. Returning, train leaves Washington 4 p. m. Don't miss this exceptional opportunity! 4 11-14-16-18

REASON FOR VETO GIVEN BY FIELDER

Governor Explains Why He Killed Some Bills Passed by Legislature.

POINTS OUT ITS FAULTS

He Makes Clear His Objections to Some Well Intended Measures Enacted at the Recent Regular Session.

Trenton, April 11.—Acting Governor Fielder made public today his reasons for vetoing a series of bills passed by the Legislature, the disapprovals having been announced yesterday. His veto statements are as follows:

House 648, the Griffith small board of freeholders measure—An opinion of the Attorney General has been given me on this bill, to the effect that while the bill may be constitutional the question is not yet beyond doubt. I have given copies of this opinion to the press. Because the bill is of the highest importance to many counties of the State and because they have been engaged in litigation over various similiar bills designed to provide small boards of freeholders, I am unwilling that a new bill of doubtful validity should be added to our laws and entail further legal complications. I shall not approve the bill and shall submit the subject to a special session of the Legislature which I am to convene within a month.

House 852, by Mr. Moore, providing that the members of the small board of freeholders and the officers appointed by them shall be paid their salaries for the actual time they served. This is a supplement to an act which has been repealed and, therefore, to my mind an improperly drawn bill. Its objects are not expressed in its title, and I believe

WESTFIELD WILL ENJOY THE ELKS MINSTRELS

A reproduction of the Elks' minstrel show, presented by the local lodge at the Plainfield theatre, March 27 and 28, will be staged at the new Westfield theatre next Monday night, together with a number of added features, including a new collection of topical jokes that will appeal particularly to Westfielders. Rehearsals are being held regularly in preparation for the affair and a final one will take place in the lodge rooms Sunday night, at which all in the cast are requested to be present. The same troupe that presented the show here so successfully will participate in the Westfield performance and the songs that made such a decided hit on that occasion will be sung Monday night.

BORN ONE DAY APART DIE ON THE SAME DAY

By some strange coincidence they were born but one day apart.

The funeral services of the Lombardi child will be held this afternoon and those of Grolum Furino tomorrow morning. Both interments will be made in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

GALBRAITH SUES FOR BIG DAMAGES

Local Plumber Asks $5,000 of Patrick Kane in Action for Slander.

TRIAL ON NEXT WEEK

Plainfielder Alleges His Reputation Was Hurt by Statements Made by Kane at Piscataway Township School Board Meeting.

A suit pending in the Supreme Court of New Jersey in which Den. J. Galbraith, a local plumber, is plaintiff, and Patrick J. Kane is defendant, based upon a charge of slander, will be tried next week in the Middlesex county court at New Brunswick. The alleged statements resulting in the slander charge are said to have been made by Mr. Kane at a meeting of the Piscataway Board of Education. Mr. Galbraith seeks to be renumerated to the extent of $5,000.

Numerous witnesses, including members of the Board, have been subpoenaed to testify what words were used by Mr. Kane at the meeting that the plaintiff claims Mr. Kane made statements reflecting upon his integrity as a contractor. The trouble arose over work Mr. Galbraith did in one of the townships school buildings. The defendant claims he never said anything libelous against Mr. Galbraith, but merely questioned items of expense submitted by the Board, and which included a number of charges from Mr. Galbraith.

Former Judge W. A. Coddington has been retained by Mr. Kane and Senator George Silzer, of New Brunswick, will represent Mr. Galbraith.

J. E. ORCHARD SUES WIFE FOR DIVORCE

Desertion is Alleged in Action Before Vice Chancellor Vivian M. Lewis.

John E. Orchard, of Lenox avenue, through his counsel, Judge E. S. Erwin, of Jersey City, has instituted a suit for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Emma E. Orchard, alleging desertion. Vice Chancellor Lewis, before whom the case was heard several days ago, has adjourned the hearing for two weeks, to allow Miss Orchard, a daughter of the couple, who is a student at Pratt Institute, to be heard before a decision is given.

The complainant alleges that his wife left him in June, 1910, and has been living in Brooklyn since then, where she is conducting a boarding-house. He claims that she has refused to return to his home. Mrs. Orchard asserts that she was forced to leave her husband because of cruel treatment, and she further states that she informed a lawyer that called on her representing Mr. Orchard, that she would live with her husband if he would provide a suitable home and take care of her. W. A. Coddington represents Mrs. Orchard.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. ANN KANE HELD

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Kane, of Arlington avenue, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's R. C. church, where a high mass was celebrated by Father Daniel Hogan, curate. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and many beautiful floral tributes. Mrs. Kane was a devout member of the church and the Holy Rosary Society and Sacred Heart League.

The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery and the pall-bearers were Daniel Guinée, Michael Burke, Daniel Hogan, William Geoller, Daniel Kiely and Thomas McCue.

HE HEARD WILSON DELIVER MESSAGE

E. C. Pearson Describes the Scene When President Addressed the Congress.

AN IMPRESSIVE PICTURE

Plainfielder Spent Three Hours in the House in Order to Be Present For the Ten Minutes When Chief Executive Gave His Views on Tariff

Among those who had the good fortune to be present when President Wilson, breaking a custom established 112 years ago, read his message to Congress at the Capitol on Tuesday was E. C. Pearson, of Second place, and he here tells Plainfield what happened and also gives some impressions, his narrative being one of absorbing interest:

THE READING OF THE TARIFF MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

"When I learned that admission to the House galleries on the precedent-breaking occasion of the delivery by President Wilson in person of his message setting forth the impelling reasons for summoning the 63d Congress in extraordinary session, would be by special card, and that each representative would have but two cards, I was in dispair of being able to get one, for I had no claim upon any member which would justify me in asking him for a half of his allotment. Expressing myself somewhat forceably upon the unfairness of any other rule than that of first come first served at the breakfast table in my hotel, my table companion, a newly-elected member from Michigan on the Republican side, said that inasmuch as I was a Democrat from the President's own State, he would let me have one of his cards, as he had no special use for it. His other card he gave to his wife. The moral is when one wants a special card of ad-

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER GIVES ALARM OF FIRE

An engineer of a passing locomotive dropped a note on the platform of the Netherwood station last night about 6:30 o'clock reading as follows: "Scott factory is on fire," and the agent picking up the note, ran to No. 4 hose company, who in turn notified headquarters. Chief Doane dispatched the chemical engine to the scene of the blaze but found it to be confined merely to the wooden bridge spanning the railroad and the second story of the Scott factory. The fire was extinguished with little damage resulting.

LITTLE MISS KNIGHT HAD A BIRTHDAY PARTY

Helen Knight, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Knight, of 610 East Sixth street, was given a surprise party at her home yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of the eighth anniversary of her birthday. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Knight and the company of young folks had a fine time playing games and being entertained with vocal and instrumental music. The rooms were decorated with carnations. Features of the party included a "Jack Horner" pie and a birthday cake which little Miss Knight cut. Favors were distributed among the guests and the young celebrant received many handsome gifts. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Helen Knight, Harriett Knight, Edith Fancher, Ella Fancher, George Knight, Frances Young, Irma Mowen, Fred Mowen, Vivian Mowen, Earl Mowen, Alva Hansen, Catherine Smalley, LeRoy Smalley, Daisy Hile, Dorothy Giles and Harriett Cole.

FATHER AND SON IN TOILS.

John Bodenheimer and son, Henry Bodenheimer, of Linden avenue, were arraigned before Recorder Gano in the borough court this morning on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct. The son promised to leave the city and was allowed to go on a suspended sentence providing he carried out his agreement at once. The elder Bodenheimer was also banished from North Plainfield and an additional sentence in the nature of a $5 fine was imposed upon him.

FIGHT OVER ESTATE OF WM. A. GAHAGAN

Second Wife Objects to Codicil Which Benefits Daughter by First Wife.

Objections against admitting to probate a codicil to the will of the late William A. Gahagan, a marble dealer, who died two months ago at his home at 516 Belvidere avenue leaving a large estate in this city and in Hudson county, have been filed by his relatives.

Mr. Gahagan is survived by his widow and four children by his first wife. A short time before his death, it is alleged, a daughter by his first wife called upon him while he was seriously ill and after that he executed a codicil, now objected to. The case which involves considerable property and will be vigorously contested, is scheduled to be tried before Judge Connelly, in the Orphans' court, Elizabeth.

Former Judges Carey and Erwin, of Jersey City, represent the children, and former Judge W. A. Coddington, of this city, has been retained as counsel for Mrs. Gahagan.

TO START CAMPAIGN ON SEX INSTRUCTION

Dr. Hall's Lectures to Be Begun Tomorrow Morning—The Program.

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, of Northwestern University Medical School, Chicago, will begin a sex instruction campaign in Plainfield tomorrow morning with a meeting for boys of age 12-15, in Y. M. C. A. Hall. This meeting will be followed by sixteen others during Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at which Dr. Hall will address fathers, mothers, pastors, physicians, teachers, young men, young women, boys, colored men and Italians. At each of the meetings, except that for teachers where Dr. Hall's topic will be "Adolescence," Dr. Hall will discuss the problem of sex in a manner suited to the needs of his different audiences.

No stronger endorsement of the personal and professional fitness of Dr. Hall to speak on the subject of sex hygiene could be cited than the fact that for many years he has conducted an annual sex education campaign under the auspices of the Central Y. M. C. A. in his home city, Chicago. The 1913 Chicago campaign is being held now. It is not uncommon for Dr. Hall to conduct such annual efforts, for many of the colleges and schools in the Middle West arrange for yearly visits from him. FIRE DEPARTMENT HANDICAPPED

Lack of Facilities Apparent When the Jewett Residence Was Ablaze.

NEED MORE HYDRANTS

Some Talk of Water Pressure Being Not Strong Enough—Many Valuables Were Saved—Family Will Leave for Japan in Two Weeks.

While the origin of the fire yesterday which caused $25,000 damage to the handsome residence of John H. Jewett, at 1000 Central avenue, remains a mystery, many citizens who live in the neighborhood are aroused because of what they claim to have been a low water pressure, which handicapped the work of the firemen considerably. Several citizens, including George Megrew, of Central avenue, visited fire headquarters compiling data to be presented to the Common Council in an effort to have the alleged poor fire-fighting facilities in this city remedied.

Because of the location of the blaze on the third floor the fire-fighters were severely hampered. The roof of the structure, while not entirely reduced to ashes, was destroyed beyond repair as were the rooms and a valuable collection of silks and other material stored on the upper story. Every article was removed from the first and second floors before fire or water could reach those parts of the building. Articles of jewelry, furniture, rugs, musical instruments, including five violins and two pianos, were placed on the lawns surrounding the burning house and was later carried to nearby garages and nearby residences. Among those who assisted was many women who are leaders in society.

While neighbors were taking care of the Jewett belongings, the firemen, always hampered by what they say was a lack of the necessary water pressure, fought valiantly. Six of the men were overcome at various times and were carried to the outer air.

As told in yesterday's Daily Press, Mr. and Mrs. Jewett were at their summer home, near Keyport, accompanied by two colored servants, who under Mr. Jewett's direction were preparing the house for rental. They

PLAINFIELD'S MINISTERS ASSN. ELIGIBILITY RULE

Persons who deny the divinity of Christ will not be welcome as members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association, if a resolution offered by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire at yesterday's meeting is adopted at the June meeting, and the prospects are that it will be for it was favorably received at a meeting yesterday.

The resolution, which was offered for the purpose of amending the constitution, provides that the membership shall be limited to members of evangelical churches.

According to the rules of the association, the resolution must lay on the table until the next meeting when it will be moved for adoption. It is expected that there will be a full attendance at the June meeting as doubtless the effort to change the constitution is likely to provoke considerable discussion.

GIVES ILLUSTRATED TALK ON CIRCLING THE GLOBE

"Circling the Globe" was the subject of the talk delivered by Rev. F. J. Hubach before a large audience at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, and the speaker presented a number of stereopticon views and curios that made his speech an interesting one. The affair was held under the auspices of the Epworth League and was the first of a series, the second of which will be given tonight on "Bible Lands." Mr. Hubach took his listeners through the places frequented most generally by tourists and at the conclusion charts were exhibited under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Pierson, photographs in charge of Miss Minnie Gunzelman, and curios under the direction of Miss Bessie Gunzelman.

A social hour and sale followed Mr. Hubach's lecture and a musical program was presented by the following league members: Miriam Hofer, piano solo; Mrs. James Gilbert, vocal solo; a chorus composed of Sunday-school pupils and a quartet.

Never Be Guided By 'Surface Looks'

The common eye is satisfied with the SURFACE on which it looks.

The wise eye knows its the INTERIOR that really counts. I ask you as a protection to yourself, not to buy your Spring Suit on mere "surface looks."

I ask you to go a bit further—to go into the "vitals" of the suit—to go into the matter of its construction.

The "surface look" disappears after the first hard wear, and then it's the garment that's made honestly and sincerely that alone stands up.

Spring Suits $10, $12, $15, $18 to $25

HOW MR. DANIELS MADE FIRST INSPECTION OF GREAT FLEET

Secretary of Navy and Other Cabinet Members Have Thrills.

They Hear Guns Roar For Twenty Minutes and Have Eyes Opened.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, secretary of the navy, had the first look at his ships recently at the southern drill grounds, Old Point Comfort, Va. He slept on board the flagship Wyoming with a high opinion of the magnitude of his new job and a much better idea of just what he is secretary of than he ever thought was possible.

Not only has Mr. Daniels been to sea, but he has been in battle. For twenty minutes he stood up under the terrific yellow blast from the Wyoming's twelve twelve-inch guns and watched the white geysers as the shells ricocheted around the target nearly six miles away. He admitted that the firing, while it closed his ears, opened his eyes to the magnitude and efficiency of the United States navy. It is suspected that Mr. Daniels is a "big navy" man or will be.

Even Postmaster General Burleson, who was one of the chief opponents of a large navy when in congress, is beginning to think things over, and the officers of the fleet are well pleased with the day's work. Mr. Daniels is not the kind of secretary of the navy the men of the service are used to. The Wyoming carries an imposing battery of twelve twelve-inch rifles, but not twice this number fired in a single salvo could make Mr. Daniels wear a high hat. He salutes the flag like an American citizen and shakes hands like a grownup man, but he calls the starboard side of a ship the right and refers to the bow as the front, yet no one thought to criticise him for that. He seems to belong on board just the same.

Guns Roar Welcome.

The secretary came over the side of the Wyoming as she lay in Lynn Haven Roads at half past 8 o'clock in the morning. He wore a long cutaway coat, the same striped trousers he wore at Democratic headquarters last fall and a small gray cap pulled well down on his forehead. He dragged the cap off as he was handed aboard by Captain Frederick L. Chapin of the Wyoming and received by Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, commander in chief of the fleet, and his staff. He put out his hand and said "Hello." Rear Admiral Badger had a nice little speech prepared, but he cut it down to "Hello, Mr. Secretary," and then the guns roared out their nineteenfold greeting. The ceremonies were over.

Behind Mr. Daniels came Secretaries McAdoo, Wilson, Houston and Lane, Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary McAdoo's two young sons and Robert Martin, his secretary; Rear Admiral N. C. Twining and Rear Admiral Bradley C. Fiske. By this time the salute was finished, and Mr. Daniels put his cap back on his head and started in to see just what there is to the navy.

When Secretary Daniels left the Dolphin, on board which he went down to the capes from Washington, the women of the party, who included Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Burleson, Miss Nina McAdoo, Miss Eleanor Wilson, Mrs. W. B. Wilson and Miss Bones, left the Dolphin on board another cutter and were taken aboard the Idaho, which followed the firing ships. The secretary thought it best for the women to be aboard a ship which was not going to fire, but would witness the firing from a safe distance.

The battleships got under way for the drill grounds immediately, the Wyoming leading, followed by the Florida, the North Carolina and the Idaho. Five miles off the capes the Delaware, which had just come down from the Boston navy yard, was sighted and turned into the column, a poor fourth.

Mr. Daniels Surprised.

Secretary Daniels' party took to the bridge to watch the work of navigation. Later they inspected the engine room, the quarters, fire rooms, bunkers and other parts of the ship. Mr. Daniels was plainly surprised at what he saw and said so.

"I'm a two battleship man, Mr. Secretary," said Secretary McAdoo after the party had been at sea for half an hour. "Well, it's a beautiful ship," replied the secretary of the navy. "I still think I was right," said Mr. Burleson. "We've been going ahead too fast. Still, as you say, it's a magnificent ship. Let's see how many have we like this."

"One other," answered Lieutenant Commander Leigh C. Palmer, naval aid to the secretary. "Only one?" said Mr. Daniels. "Well, well!"

The targets, three of them in tow of the Connecticut, the South Carolina and the Minnesota, were sighted on the hazy southern horizon a few minutes after 12 o'clock. The big battleships towing them were barely distinguishable, and the targets themselves looked like pinholes in a blanket.

Marksmanship Improving.

"I understand you hit those things about once out of ten times," said Mr. Daniels. "We used to," replied Commander Carl T. Vogelgesang, "but we do better now." Commander Charles F. Hughes, chief of staff, and Pay Inspector Samuel McGowan began to pass around wads of cotton, and members of the party stuffed their ears. The firing was deferred, however, for after the Wyoming had come about twice to get the proper range a tramp steamship stood in between the battleships, and the Wyoming slowed down for half an hour until the intruder was safely out of the way.

Secretary Daniels and his party climbed up to the searchlight platform, just above the bridge, as the turrets swung to starboard, and the great muzzles rose menacingly. Everybody was in tense expectancy. Mr. Daniels seized one of the rods of the basket mast and held fast. He was just in time, for one of the guns in the forward turret, which was fired to determine the range, let go with a terrific crash. The hot blast of the flame and yellow ether vapor struck the head of the navy full in the face, but he only pulled his cap down over his head and took a grip with both hands.

Gets a "Genuine Thrill."

The Wyoming after firing seventy-two shots lowered the red firing flag and steamed over to examine the target, and the North Dakota and the Florida, six and eight miles astern, repeated the performance on the other targets.

"I tell you," said Mr. Daniels when he descended from the platform, "there are several times in a man's life when he gets a genuine thrill—his first pair of red top boots, his first top, his first girl and a time like this. You see, it's like this: I'm secretary of the navy without knowing any more about it than the average country editor. So I'm going to make it a study. One of the mysteries to me is the wireless."

As he spoke Commander Hughes handed him a wireless message from F. D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy. "This is the second wireless message I ever received. I sent the first in my life this morning to my wife on board the Mayflower. The first I ever received was when she answered it half an hour later. It seems wonderful to me."

Later in the afternoon Lieutenant Byron McCandless, flag lieutenant, went over to the Idaho and brought the women of the party to the Wyoming, which took them back to Hampton Roads, and all the party except Secretary Daniels returned on board the Mayflower to Washington.

Mrs. Daniels and Miss Wilson were especially delighted with the ships. "I think we have a regular navy," Miss Wilson said. The Wyoming's band entertained the party with a concert on the after deck during the trip back.

With Secretary Daniels on board the Wyoming she steamed to sea again and then acted as illumination ship for night torpedo practice.

YOUNG EDISON AN INVENTOR.

He Designs Bomb For Hostile Ships, but It Acts Shabbily.

Theodore Edison, the fourteen-year-old son of Thomas A. Edison, was experimenting with explosives recently in an effort to invent a bomb that would float about on the water and explode with tremendous effect whenever it happened to be touched by a hostile vessel. Friendly vessels would, of course, avoid touching the bomb.

To Theodore's mind the best way to shape up the device would be to inclose it in an air tight bottle and put the bottle in a casing of cork, so that it would be sure not to sink. He had proceeded as far as mixing the explosive and depositing it in the glass bottle when the explosive went off. Theodore had the bottle in his hand, and the pieces of glass penetrated the hand.

The boy is not going to suffer permanently from his wounds, but Mrs. Edison has decreed that his future experiments with explosives shall be under the supervision of his father.

BIG PLANE TO GUARD ENGLAND

Colonel Cody Designs Machine to Repel Invasion.

Colonel S. F. Cody, the American air man, who has become a naturalized English subject, is preparing to build an airship destroyer, comparable with a torpedo boat destroyer, to protect England against possible invasion by foreign airships. He said recently:

"My idea is to have an airship destroyer in the same way as you have a torpedo destroyer at sea. I have ordered a machine of 500 horsepower. It is difficult to predict exactly what an aeroplane of that size will do, but I expect it to be capable of lifting and carrying 2,500 pounds. Its highest speed would be somewhere between seventy-five and ninety miles an hour.

"The machine to which the engine is to be fitted will be a Cody biplane of the same type as the one that gained the war office prize of $25,000. It will be designed so as to be capable of guarding the air over England against invasion by foreign airships.

MR. FOWLER REAPPEARS.

Again, Charles Newell Fowler appears in the political arena, this time being announced by his friends as the man for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Fifth district. The argument advanced, however, in his behalf is rather amusing. It is that "the Progressives could not oppose him on the ground that he is a stand-pat Republican for his record as one of the original congressional insurgents and his subsequent activity on behalf of Roosevelt would deny the impeachment." And, on the other hand, it is set up that "the Republicans cannot point to any instance where he opposed the renomination of President Taft, all of which may explain his attitude during the fall campaign." In other words, Fowler took a negative position. Efforts to induce him to come out and work for either Roosevelt or Taft met with dismal failure. He straddled and now that is being used as an argument in his favor. Isn't it ridiculous.

The truth of the matter is that Fowler does not stand in favor with either the Republicans or Progressives. It has been evident for some years that the G. O. P. organization has been bitterly opposed to him and that it prevented his renomination for Congress. His attitude on the Presidential candidacies incurred for him the hearty displeasure of the Progressives. He was known as a Roosevelt leader, but when it came to a "show down" at the Asbury Park gathering of New Jersey Progressives he beat a retreat.

It seems quite probable that William N. Runyon, who has twice gone down in defeat as the Republican nominee, due in a large measure to the Wilson landslides, will be the choice of his party once more. That very efficient and popular Union county man, William E. Tuttle, who is the present incumbent, will undoubtedly be renominated by the Democrats. As to whom the Progressives will select as their standard bearer is not to be guessed at for none has yet sought the place. But there is one thing quite certain; it is that Charles N. Fowler will not be the man.

THE MORGAN MILLIONS.

By an odd coincidence the day appointed for the funeral of J. P. Morgan happens to be the centennial anniversary of the birth of his father, Junius Spencer Morgan, father of the late financier, was born one hundred years ago next Monday in West Springfield, Mass. He was the real founder of the great financial house of Morgan. When he was a young man his father set him up in business in Hartford at an expense of $50,000. The mercantile venture was such a success that in a few years he was able to dispose of his interest for $300,000. With that sum he removed to Boston and embarked in a fresh enterprise of a similar character. When he was ready to make another turn he sold on this interest for $600,000 and went to London, becoming a partner of George Peabody, the famous American banker and philanthropist.

In 1870 Junius S. Morgan launched into the great new kind of enterprise which has ever since distinguished the Morgan firm. In October of that year the city of London was stirred by the news that J. S. Morgan and Company had taken a French loan of 250,000,000 francs ($50,000,000). It was the first "syndicate" operation in the world of finance, and one of the largest and boldest ever known. Within the two preceding months the Germans had crushed the French army at Sedan, besieged Paris and taken the emperor prisoner. The French were clearly doomed to defeat. The only authority for the loan was a provisional government at Tours. Taking 250,000,000 francs' worth of bonds under such circumstances involved great risks.

In three months the war was over, in a year the securities had advanced fifteen points above what they cost Morgan. And the syndicate was believed to have cleared $5,000,000 by the transaction. The former Boston dry goods merchant took his place in the world, second only to the Rothschilds in the greatest financial operations of that time—financing of great Government loans—and held it throughout the '70s. Junius S. Morgan died at Monaco, April 8, 1890, leaving to his son, J. Pierpont Morgan, a fortune in excess of $10,000,000.

FOR PLAINFIELD'S BENEFIT.

Several local business men have taken it upon themselves to arrange for a Plainfield booth at the Real Estate Show to be held at the Grand Central Palace, New York, May 3-11. For this they are to be commended and their efforts should be given real support by all who have at heart the interests and future welfare of our community. Plainfield offers many attractions to people looking for a place of residence within easy reach of New York and here a splendid opportunity is afforded to make known its advantages.

Of course, money will be needed for this enterprise for not only will it be necessary to rent a booth but there must be a large amount of literature about Plainfield to be distributed. Already steps are being taken to raise the fund by voluntary contributions. Subscriptions should be sent to M. C. VanArsdale, treasurer of the committee.

SIGN THE PETITION.

The committee working for a special election on the commission government plan for Plainfield has arranged to obtain the required signatures to the petition by the use of the mails. Postal cards, on the back of which are printed the form of the petition with a space beneath for three signatures, will be enclosed in letters explaining that by signing the petition a voter does not commit himself as to whether or not he will favor the change when the election is held. It is also pointed out that it is desired to have the petition filed as quickly as possible in order to have the matter decided early next month. As the petition will be filed on Monday, it is suggested that an immediate return be made of the postals properly signed.

Fred W. Hand will be the contributing editor for tomorrow's issue.

LOCAL MAN SUSPECTED AS A RUBBER THIEF

Rubber and old automobile tires valued at $100 were stolen during the night from the establishment of the City Rubber Co., in the east end section of North avenue.

A pedler passing through Roselle at 4:30 this morning with his wagon loaded with rubber, was apprehended by a Roselle policeman who directed him to drive to headquarters. On the way the man made his escape. He is described as being about 45 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches in height; and wore a dark suit and black hat. His wagon bore the license No. 201, issued in 1910. Investigation revealed that this permit had been given to a Michael Delepaeli, of North and Johnson avenue.

When a local patrolman called at that address it was said that Delepaeli had left the house yesterday and had not returned. The rubber is being held by the Roselle police for identification.

Mfg. Plants to Be Removed From the Ohio Valley Regions—Water Recedes.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Pittsburgh, April 11.—At least twelve industrial plants whose properties were heavily damaged by floods will remove from Ohio to sites being selected in the Pittsbugh district, with the aid of the Pittsburgh Industrial Development Commission.

Charleston, West Va., April 11.—Answering the pleas of citizens who have been led to believe that an immense dam is to be constructed in the New River gorges, which it is feared would be a menace to the Kanawha Valley, Governor Hatfield made this announcement: "No dam 125 feet high will be built in the Kanawha or New River or in any other section of West Virginia as long as I am governor."

Washington, April 11.—Reports to the Weather Bureau today indicated that the rains in the Mississippi Valley had stopped. The stage of the river at Memphis was 44.7 feet, a fall of 1.8 feet, due to a break in the levee. The flood stage is 35 feet. At Vicksburg, the river stage was 47.3 feet, a rise of 8 feet, flood stage is 48 feet. Higher water than the floods of 1912 is looked for between Memphis and New Orleans. If the levees hold the river at New Orleans is expected to reach 22 to 25 feet. Last year 23 feet was the record.

FLOWERS IN AN EXPLOSION.

Actual Detonation Occurs When Plant Throws Seeds.

There are certain sorts of flowers that "explode" in order to scatter their seeds about, but these are silent explosions brought about every seeding time by nature. For a flower to actually explode with a detonation that can be heard a long distance is quite another thing and a rarity.

Such a floral explosion occurred in the botanical gardens at Algiers recently. It was the spathe or the covering of the bunch of blossoms on a great palm tree. This spathe was nearly three feet long, and when the explosion occurred it was hurled to a great distance, while the shattered blossoms arose like a cloud of golden smoke and covered the top of the palm.

The cause of this was the sun's heat, which was unusual and had actually roasted the flower to the color of rust. The excessive dryness of the air had caused fermentation inside the spathe.

NEW KIND OF SMILE IN PARIS.

It Is Called "Triangle Smile"—Requires Practice.

What is the fashionable smile this season? is the question that is agitating Parisian coquettes. It has been decided that the woman who wants to be really up to date in her facial expression must "smile in a triangle."

This phrase is used by some obscure "beauty expert," who explains it as follows:

"The upper lip should be raised so as to uncover the two upper incisor teeth, while the corners of the mouth are slightly lowered so as to give the necessary disdainful look. The eyes must not be changed in the slightest degree."

This fashion, which has been started by a few society leaders, is causing a great furor among the Paris mondaines, who are said to practice it at least two hours a day before their mirrors.

PANIC PREDICTIONS PHASE NOT WILSON

Manufacturers' Cries Unheeded and President Tells Congress to do its Duty.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 11.—While speculative circles may proceed upon the theory that the bad news is out so far as the Tariff Bill is concerned, conservative interests continue to watch the situation closely. Manufacturing and industrial interests realize the state of affairs and according to the protests coming to Washington disastrous results are likely for many lines of industry. Remonstrances from every section of the country are pouring in from producers and manufacturers, and many Democratic Congressmen are in a quandary.

President Wilson advises the Representatives to disregard the protests and continue with the reductions. He takes the ground that the Democratic party was given permission by the people in an overwhelming victory at the polls to cut the tariff and he proposes to follow this plan.

The caucus of Democrats of the House considered the metal schedule this afternoon. Leader Underwood was supported on every attempt to break through the bill and had the caucus well in hand. The sugar schedule will be reached late this evening or tomorrow, it is expected.

UNUSUAL SCENE IN CONGRESS WHEN PRESIDENT WILSON DELIVERED HIS SPEECH ON THE TARIFF

Striking a note strongly suggestive of free trade, President Wilson personally read to Congress his message recommending reduction of the tariff. He said his reason for this unusual action was to show that the President "is a person, not a mere department of government hailing Congress from some isolated island of jealous power" and is a "human being trying to co-operate with other human beings in a common service." This picture shows President Wilson delivering his speech. Behind him are seated Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark.

HEARD WILSON'S MESSAGE

mittance in Washington, make friends with a new member on the minority side.

"Notwithstanding that the cards were so limited in number I determined not to take any chances, and half-past nine Tuesday morning found me in the House corridor close to one of the gallery doors. There I stayed until a little after 10 when the door was opened. I entered and took a front seat from which I could command the whole chamber. I was at the south end, so the Speaker's desk was in full view. There I sat watching the galleries, and the Representatives come in until the clock indicated noon. At that hour the galleries, except one small section at my right, were filled to their capacity, and people were sitting on the steps in the passage way. By far the larger part of the spectators was composed of women, and their bright colors made a pleasant picture.

"Speaker Clark called the House to order, and prayer was offered by the blind chaplain. Then, after much pounding of his gavel for order, the Speaker told of the arrangements that had been made. The Senators with the officers of the Senate were to come in from their chamber at the other end of the capitol, and were to occupy 110 seats in front. Later the President was to be escorted by a committee of three Representatives and three Senators from the Speaker's room to the desk of the reading clerk. He then rather humorously asked the Representatives to keep quiet during the reading by the President and to keep their seats if possible, but that if any of them found it absolutely necessary to go out to do so quietly by the door on the Speaker's right. Then, looking to the occupants of the gallery he asked them to remember tha they were the guests of the House of Representatives, and requested them to subdue so far as possible any tendency to conversation a request which was later shown to be unnecessary.

"As the members were in no mood to transact business a motion was made that the House take a recess until 12:30. The Speaker said he would make it 12:25, and though the crie of "no" were much more numerous than those of "aye" he declared the motion carried amidst the laughter of the members those voting "no" having evidently been actuated by the impulse of mischievous school boys.

"Then the hum of conversation on the floor and in the galleries commenced again. By this time the floor was full, and an opportunity was afforded to see the superiority of the new seating arrangements for the members, light cane seated chairs having been substituted for the old cumbersome ones, and the desks having been removed. The Representatives no longer choose their seats by lot, but any member, as he enters, sits down where he finds a vacant chair to his fancy.

"It was not until almost 1 o'clock that the Speaker again pounded for order. Silence at once fell on the chamber. A voice announced, 'The Senate of the United States,' the Representatives arose and through the center door, opposite the Speaker, came the Senators, two by two, headed by Vice President Marshall, looking very slim. He took his seat at the Speaker's right hand, and the Senators, dividing into two streams, to right and left, occupied the first seats which the Representatives had vacated. So much had the personnel of the Senate changed in the two years since I witnessed its assembling at the extra session called by President Taft, that I only recognized three among them Lodge, La Follette, with his hair standing erect, and our own beloved Jim. The Speaker then requested the committee to escort the President to the chamber, or as he said, 'to bring the President in.' I should say that just before this the vacant section to which I have referred at my right filled suddenly Mrs. Wilson, her daughters, and members of the Cabinet, coming quietly in. And then through the open door at the Speaker's right I could see the escort walking to the door on his left, and President Wilson came in, unostentatiously, and mounted to the reading desk, directly in front of, and a little below the Speaker's desk.

"He was received by the Representatives and the Senators standing, and all the occupants of the galleries arose. There was no 'mighty cry,' as the reporter of one of the papers stated. There was a clapping of hands by the members on the floor, which was renewed after the opening words of the President explaining why he had taken this method of bringing his living voice to them. Then, all being once more seated, he read distinctly, with clear enunciation, infelicitous phases, that message which your readers have all read. There was not a sound in the chamber save his voice, which could be easily heard throughout all that immense room. There was not even that rustling which is generally heard in the most orderly crowds—and there must have been over 1,500 people in the chamber. The reading did not take ten minutes, and then bowing to the Congress and the Speaker and thanking them for their courtesy, he walked quietly out, and the great event was at an end.

"Those ten minutes was well worth the three hours and a half of waiting which had preceded it. The applause which greeted the President as he finshed was general and hearty, the galleries venturing now to join in, realizing that for such an unusual occurrence the ordinary strict rule repressing any manipulation from that region was in abeyance. Whether one is a Democrat, a Republican or a Progressive, he must feel proud of a President who can so ably and fearlessly give utterance to his views, and who is not bound by mere precedent in his manner of doing so. The general opinion in Washington seems to be that the innovation is a happy one."

ENTERTAINMENT FOR HOME DEPARTMENT

Semi-annual Social at Trinity Reformed Church was Enjoyable Affair.

Under the auspices of the Home department of Trinity Reformed church, the semi-annual social and entertainment was held in the Sunday-school room of the church last night. There were present about one hundred members and friends of the department to enjoy the excellent program. Mrs. Julius J. Williams, as president, had general direction of the affair.

The program included soprano solos by Phoebe Herrman, piano solos by Miss Jubilee Rowley and Mrs. Whitman, a duet by Mrs. William Whitman and Master Henry Zwiefel. This was followed with a pantomime entitled "The Romance of Mary Jane," which was acted out with shadow pictures. Miss Billett read the story, and the whole affair was much enjoyed. Short addresses were made by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor, and F. E. Smith, superintendent of the Sunday-school, both congratulating the Home department.

The committees in charge of the affair were as follows:

Reception, Mrs. Henry VanName, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, Mrs. Anna Gunnigan, Mrs. John Whitenack. Entertainment, Miss Edna Dampman, Miss Lillian A. Force, Miss C. SOCIAL CENTRE TALK IS HEARD BY PARENTS

Following the routine business meeting held by the Franklin-Whittier-Stillman Parent-Teacher Association in the auditorium of the Stillman School yesterday afternoon, Miss Lillian Gilbert, of Elizabeth, spoke to the sixty mothers and teachers present on the "Social Centre Movement," outlining the work done in Elizabeth during the past school term. Miss Gilbert dwelt at length on the good being done by the Elizabeth Board of Education in opening the schools for the use of the juvenile element of the city, and showed how the educators of that city had met the demands by using the school rooms for instruction five days a week, and on Saturday nights held informal dances. She told how the rough element that frequented these receptions had been dealt with and work was done to interest the many nationalities encountered.

Following her lecture Miss Gilbert answered a number of questions asked her by those interested in the plans proposed here for furthering the interest of the public welfare movement which seeks to open public schools for social and educational purposes.

A SMALL FIRE.

Fire, evidently started by a defective flue, did damage amounting to $100 to the house occupied by Raymond Schenck, at 115 Duer street, early this morning. The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Schenck while she was preparing breakfast. She noticed that the wall paper in the vicinity of the chimney in the room began to assume a dark brown appearance and suddenly burst into flames. She sent in a telephone call to the borough fire headquarters and the blaze was extinguished with a stream from the chemical wagon.

DEPARTMENT HANDICAPPED

also contemplated leasing the Central avenue mansion before leaving this country for Japan, where Mr. Jewett's silk business requires him to make extended visits to the Far East country to look after his interests. They were called on the 'phone at the summer home by Miss Bessie Jewett, who is sixteen years old. When speaking to her mother, who has been ill, she said, "Mother, there has been a small fire at our house, I think you had better hurry home." This was all the information she gave. In the meantime the fire was raging overhead. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett, and the two servants, jumped into the high powered family auto and were at the scene of the blaze within forty minutes after receiving the telephone communication.

Seeing the big crowd collected about the house and the firemen on the roof top pouring the streams of water into the flames, Mrs. Jewett at once realized the extent of the blaze. Her first thought as she ran across the lawn was her children and she excitedly cried, "Are my little ones all safe?" In response the Misses Bessie and Dorothy Jewett and her eight-year-old son Edward "Teddy" Jewett ran to their mother and clasped their arms about her. She kissed each in turn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett and their son spent last night with Mr. and Mrs. James De Graff, of 996 Central avenue and their daughters were the guests of Miss Emelyn B. Hartridge, at the "Oakwood," 1010 Plainfield avenue.

That the city is in need of better fire department facilities is asserted. The water company, according to an agreement, which incidentally expired last May, is required to provide a water pressure equal to 70 lbs. through a 2½ inch hose, in any part of the city bounded by West Ninth street, Richmond street, Greenbrook and Grant avenue. The ruined house, however, is in a part of the city outside of this specified location. The records at fire headquarters however, according to Chief Doane, show that 60 lbs. pressure was maintained by the water company throughout the day.

The lack of hydrants in the vicinity of the burning building and the lack of a high powered adequate engine in the fire department proved decided disadvantages. The nearest hydrant was about 150 feet away on Central avenue, near Randolph road. Two lines of hose were connected here. The other hydrant at Central and Stelle avenues which accomodated the line of hose was approximately 200 feet away and another line was attached to the next nearest hydrant, 700 feet away at Madison and Stelle avenues.

Reclaimed by Fire Chief Doane, friction caused by water running through hose reduces the pressure about 12½ lbs. every hundred feet. There was at the fire but approximately 12 lbs. of pressure could be had to fight the flames. There should have been at times this amount, he alleges, to skillfully and successfully fight such a fire. The incapacity of the engine which was purchased in 1886 was again demonstrated.

The Jewett family expect to leave for Japan in two weeks.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

MEATLESS SANDWICHES.

SANDWICHES for the children's school luncheon should, if possible, be made without meat, but with some nourishing and appetizing filling. Cheese and chopped nuts, combined with olives or fresh vegetables, such as lettuce or fresh tomatoes, make nice sandwiches.

Savory Sandwiches.

Cheese and Pimento Sandwiches.—Take a can of pimentos. Rinse them in water. Add to them a peeled onion and a half pound of cheese and chop until quite fine. Slice some sandwich bread, butter it and spread with the chopped mixture. Place two of the slices of bread together to form a sandwich.

Fancy Cheese Sandwiches.—Take an ounce of butter, four tablespoonfuls of American cheese, grated, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley or two teaspoonfuls of chopped olives, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and white pepper, a little paprika and a half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Put the grated cheese into a bowl, add the butter after melting it, then put in the salt, pepper, olives or parsley and the Worcestershire sauce. Mix well and spread on slices of buttered sandwich bread which have been cut thin.

Flavored With Olives.

Cream Cheese Sandwiches.—Mash the cheese in a bowl until it is a paste and then add a little beaten sweet cream and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce to every cheese. Add salt and pepper to taste. Spread on slices of fresh graham bread which have been cut into rounds and buttered. Add chopped olives, place the slices together and serve.

Sweet Sandwiches.

Walnut Cream Rolls.—Place three tablespoonfuls of finely chopped walnuts into sweet cream enough to cover them. Add two teaspoonfuls of powdered sugar and a dash of nutmeg. Let the nuts stand for several hours, then drain and add two teaspoonfuls of whipped cream. Then beat the mixture until it is smooth and spread on slices of sandwich bread which have been thinly buttered and deprived of the crusts. Roll the slices and tie with white baby ribbon. Dip the ends of the rolls in whipped cream, then into chopped and powdered nuts. Adorn the bow with a sprig of parsley.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Girls are wearing dresses closed down the front this season, as well as their elders, and this one is both pretty and practical. There is a plait over each shoulder which provides becoming fullness. The sleeves are sewed to the armholes, and waist and skirt portions are in one, and the belt holds the fullness at the waist line.

For the twelve year size four and three-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide is sufficient, with seven-eighths of a yard eighteen inches wide for trimming.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of eight, ten, twelve and fourteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7802, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

SUMMER STYLES.

Have Bathing Suit Draped This Year.

MODEL IN BLACK LANSDOWNE.

Even the bathing suit has a draped skirt, and the very smartest models show short skirts over knickers falling below. The pretty suit illustrated is of black lansdowne—a silk and worsted weave that looks well when wet.

For the Dining Table.

The ever present fern dish as a center piece for the dinner table has become almost as much a part of the service as the knives and forks or as cereal for breakfast in the American household, and when one ventures to suggest that a change would be quite cheering to the spirits as well as the eye every one says, "But there's no other plant that can be depended upon." There is, though, and a very hardy one. This is the flowering cyclamen, either white or the deep rose color, which will put forth new shoots and new blossoms continually from November to April, and it is such a graceful, pretty plant, which instead of growing less attractive after a few blossoms have bloomed and fallen, becomes bushier and more interesting each day.

The original cost is small, a dollar or so buying a very good specimen, and if planted in a wide, low flowerpot and set in a pretty basket one has a charming plant, suitable for any one or all of one's informal home meals.

Care of Parcel Post Plants.

When plants are sent from the florist by mail or express it is not advisable to pot them as soon as they are unpacked. Sometimes when they have been several days on the way the soil about their roots will have dried out so much that as soon as the moss or paper in which they are wrapped is taken off it will crumble away, leaving the roots bare. To prevent this untie the wrappings of the plant carefully, but do not remove them. Spread the plants out upon the floor and shower them well. Then cover their roots with a thick cloth and pour on enough water to thoroughly saturate the earth about them. Leave the plants for four or five hours before potting them. If this plan is followed it is possible to get them into their new pots without serious disturbance of their roots. After potting put them in a shady place and water well. Shower them twice a day for a week and give them plenty of fresh air, but do not expose them to hot or drying winds.

Framed Shopping List.

How many times have you lost the shopping list scrap of paper and returned home after a wearying day to find that you had forgotten the most important errands? You wouldn't have these experiences if you would make a frame for the shopping list—just a small affair of cardboard covered with tapestry—that will fit easily into your hand bag and can promptly be found. The frame is backed with a square of thin cardboard and fits under tiny nail heads at the sides of the tapestry covered pieces, and this need only be taken out and the paper list of errands slipped against the glass permanently attached to the frame.

Use For Souvenir Spoons.

One girl who is visiting the national capital is collecting spoons and cards of the various places of interest in and about Washington, and when she returns home she will give a table talk at a little luncheon. Beside each plate she will place two spoons and cards bearing pictures or seals of various cities, and during the luncheon the guests will be asked to tell some interesting fact about that particular city or place of interest, after which she will add what she has learned about each place of interest. This is a good method of directing conversation and making an occasion interesting.

Milady's Mirror

The Day's Beauty Routine.

The wise woman who wishes to keep her physical being above par plans out a beauty program for each day and adheres to it, thereby adding to her stock of good looks and health. Why do not you do the same, milady?

If your interest is aroused and you are willing to adopt a plan of living which will make you robust and comely, then get your pencil and pad and copy down the following paragraphs. Do not postpone this task, else you may forget, which would be too bad.

This is the way the maid or matron should live if she wishes to prosper physically:

When you spring out of bed in the morning—early or late, I care not—sponge the body off with warm water, then turn on the bath spray and let the cold stream play upon your body for a moment—no more, no less.

Following this, wrap up in a woolen bath robe and, standing in front of an opened window, breathe in the fresh morning air. Breathe away down to the tips of your pretty pink toes—so to speak—for the space of three minutes, then slip quickly into your clothes.

You should now go downstairs and drink a glassful of quite hot water, as this will wake up your stomach and send the blood coursing through your veins.

Wait now for half an hour, then eat your breakfast, which should consist of a cereal, toast, cocoa and a soft boiled egg.

After the dishes are washed and your house is set in order slip into the embraces of a warm coat, don a tam-o'-shanter and hie you forth for a half hour's constitutional, walking with the head held up, chest inflated and shoulders held well back.

Home and work.

Your lunch should be composed of simple foods, but nourishing withal.

After your noonday repast is finished lie down for an hour, then work or play until 5 o'clock, when sally out for a long walk.

Home and rest until dinner, which should be substantial.

Amusement.

Before retiring drink two glasses of hot water.

Sleep at least ten hours.

Tonic For Eyebrows.

Women who take excellent care of their hair often neglect their brows to the extent of allowing them to become shaggy and coarse without realizing what influence the brows have on the expression of the face. The eyebrows should be brushed every morning and evening as regularly as the hair, and they must be given a daily massage if they are to be kept smooth and glossy. If the hair were washed twice daily its luster would be destroyed, and a dry, rough appearance would be the result. This is partly what happens to the brows as a result of bathing the face with such frequency. Therefore an application of oil at least once a day is almost necessary to the welfare of the eyebrows. It should be applied with the finger tip, the stroke being done but one way—the direction in which the hair grows. The motion should be sufficiently strong to stimulate circulation. A few drops of oil of cajeput rubbed in serve as an excellent tonic. Just plain vaseline is good to encourage a luster and to add to the growth, but a lotion made by the following formula is excellent for the brows:

Tincture of cantharides	½ dram
Plain vaseline	1 ounce
Oil of lavender	8 drops

This lotion should be applied only at night, as it has a greasy appearance and tends to show on the face. It is especially effective in improving thin and scrawny brows by adding luster and increasing the growth.

When Blond Hair Darkens.

The damsel with blond hair must reconcile herself to the fact that blond tresses need to be washed oftener than brown or black hair, as the slightest suggestion of dust will give light glistening locks a muddy tinge, which is the reverse of beautiful.

A good wash for blond hair is given below. Do not, however, use it oftener than twice a month, as it has a tendency to make the hair dry and brittle.

After giving one's hair its regular shampoo and rinsing it should be washed with a soda solution, then rinsed and dried. This soda water is made by adding an ounce of bicarbonate of soda to a quart of boiling water. Do not attempt to use this wash until the water is stone cold.

Thus is this bugaboo of light haired women vanquished.

A Pretty Neck.

If the neck is firm and no lines show, then keep it so by a good carriage of the head and regular massage with good skin food. A woman looks older than she really is if she permits her neck to become wrinkled and her chin baggy. The graceful neck may be long or short, but it must be molded in a circular form and be firm, smooth and well rounded.

Cold Cream Cure.

When applying cold cream to the skin rub on with a slow rotary motion, using a slight pressure. Take time and lay in a stock of patience when setting out on the journey after beauty.

Lydia Chapter, Order Eastern Star, will meet tonight and initiate several candidates.

FIRST DAY'S RESUME IN TWO BIG LEAGUES

85,000 Spectators Saw the National and American League Games Yesterday.

The opening games in the National and American Leagues yesterday drew 85,000 spectators. Of this number 55,000 saw three American League games and 30,000 attended two contests in the National League. The opening of the season was marred by the postponement of three of the scheduled games. The Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game was postponed until Saturday owing to the Cincinnati grounds being flooded by the recent rains in the Middle West. Rain prevented the playing of the St. Louis-Chicago game.

In the American League wet grounds caused the postponement of the Chicago and Cleveland games. The other games outdrew those of the National League, averaging more than 18,000, while the National League games averaged 15,000. The Giants and Boston drew the largest attendance, 22,000 attending the game, while the smallest crowd saw the Brooklyns defeat the Phillies at Philadelphia. Only 8,000 were on hand at the latter game. The Yankees at Washington and the Athletics and world's champions each attracted 20,000 fans. The attendance follows:

"LEFTY" FLYNN MAY RETURN.

That "Lefty" Flynn, the Yale fullback who eloped last fall with Irene Leary a show girl, and was barred from returning to Yale, may after all come back to college next term and re-enter athletics was the report today circulated by his friends in Yale. It is said Flynn is in Europe and his wife in New York, and the football star's parents are seeking to have the marriage annulled on the ground that Flynn was under age.

N. P. H. S. AT SOMERVILLE.

Somerville will be the town invaded by the North Plainfield High School baseball team tomorrow afternoon, a game being scheduled with the Somerville High School combination. To date N. P. H. S. has won one game, trimming the New Brunswick schoolboys to the tune of 11 to 1, and dropped an eleven inning contest to Roselle Wednesday.

P. H. S. SOPHOMORE BASBALL TEAM WALLOPED LEAL SECOND

In a game featured by heavy hitting and many errors on the part of the losers the Plainfield High School Sophomore baseball team walloped the Leal School second string aggregation, consisting of a number of first team men, yesterday afternoon, to the tune of 21 to 7. The game was an erratic exhibition of the national game from start to finish, both teams having frequent aerial trips that let runs galore across the platter. The battery for the victors consisted of Mann, Wilmerding and La Rue, pitchers, and Cantor, catcher, while Dickerson, Murray and Holland were in the points for the losers.

EVERS VERY CONFIDENT.

Declares He Can Fill Frank Chance's Shoes as Manager.

Johnny Evers is confident. The new leader of the Chicago Nationals is of the opinion that he will make good at the helm of the Cubs. Evers tells on Evers as follows: "All I ask is a fair chance—one good opportunity to show what I can do. I think I can hold down this job. I expect to make mistakes—every manager makes them. I expect to be criticised—every manager is. But I don't intend to pay much attention to criticism.

"I am going on about my business, doing the best I can, and I want the fans to withhold judgment for awhile. Don't count me out before I enter the ring. Physically I never felt better in my life. Mentally I am in good shape. Stories that I am worrying myself to a frazzle are all rot. I may be slipping a little in my playing, but at that I'm not an old man on crutches. I think I can hold my own with the rest of them. As I said before, all I ask is a square deal."

PARK AVENUE VS. MONROE.

Two Sunday-school League aggregations will get together in a preseason contest tomorrow afternoon on the diamond at Front street and Grant avenue. The contesting teams will be the Park Avenue Baptists and Monroe Avenue. Manager Edward Mosher, of the Park Avenue nine, has made a request that all of the Park Avenue candidates be at the field tomorrow as he will probably pick his league team at that time. He has arranged a game for next Saturday with Manager Conger's Y. M. A. A. team

P. H. S. GOES TO PASSAIC.

Captain Good will take a squad composed of twelve Plainfield High School players to Passaic tomorrow afternoon to play the High School of that place. Those who will make the trip are Peacock, Woodhull, Sminck, Coughlin, Good, Grisley, Rosenson, Hetfield, Davenport, Carty, Heron and Buckle. Schenck has quit the team because of pressure of studies and his place behind the bat will be taken by William Peacock, who formerly played in the field. The squad will leave on the 12:58 train tomorrow afternoon.

HOPE IN ACTION TOMORROW.

Captain Allen Snyder, of the Hope Chapel baseball team, has arranged a practise game for his team which will be played on the Hope Common diamond tomorrow afternoon against the strong West End Athletic Club representatives. All candidates for the Chapel team are requested to be on hand at this time.

FANS SIXTEEN BATSMEN.

In a game in which Morristown High School beat Carlton Academy by a score of 11 to 4, yesterday afternoon, Devitillis, the winning twirler, fanned 16 batters. This is a rare feat for a schoolboy pitcher and one seldom equalled.

COBB READY TO SIGN UP IF TIGERS MEET HIS DEMANDS

"When President Navin accepts my offer I will report at once, and am in shape to jump right into the game," declared Tyrus Cobb, the Detroit American "hold-out," last night.

Cobb, who arrived at Detroit yesterday afternoon, declined to divulge the nature of his latest "offer" to the management.

"My demands are not exorbitant," he said, "and President Navin has told me that I am worth all I ask, but the Detroit management is unable to meet the salary demands. If I am worth it I ought to be paid what I ask."

Cobb denied emphatically that any kind of an agreement has been reached between himself and the Detroit management.

JUNIOR TEAM AT BOUND BROOK.

A fast uniformed baseball team known as the St. Mary's nine, will visit Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon to cross bats with the Jolly nine of that place. The game will start at 3 o'clock and the Plainfielders will leave this city on the 2:15 o'clock car. A large gathering of rooters will probably accompany the team to Bound Brook and the locals will present the following lineup: Brennan, second base; Day, first base; McDonough, centre field; McDonnell, right fifield; McCarty, shortstop; Clarkson or Powelson, left field; Deady, third base; Kyle, catcher; Lawton, pitcher.

A CHALLENGE.

The Prospect Athletic Club baseball team, a fast traveling aggregation, of Paterson, would like to hear from all semi-professional teams in Plainfield and vicinity. Address all communications to Fred Halbach, 114 Lawrence street, Paterson, N. J.

FIELDER GIVES REASONS

should be the subject of a new act. It is doubtful whether it would cover the case of the small board of freeholders of Bergen county, which board, in my judgment, should not be excluded from the benefits of any such legislation.

House 215, Mr. Martin, licensing and regulating loan "sharks." I cannot approve this bill because, in my judgment, it does not properly restrict the "loan shark" business. A license to engage in this business must be granted to every applicant therefor, there being no restriction or limitation provided; the interest rates or charges are too high; the penalty for violating its provisions does not include a revocation of the license, and there is no supervisory authority designated. It does not prohibit persons from engaging in the business without a license or provide any punishment for such persons.

House 154, Mr. Zisgen, provides that the pay of all patrolmen in villages and boroughs shall be the same as the pay of similar officials in all cities of the third and fourth class, and in towns and townships, viz.: Not less than $800 per annum for the first year and increasing $50 per year of service to the maximum of not less than $1,200 per annum. Although the act to which this is an amendment contains a referendum, I think it is improper for the Legislature to place these municipalities all in the same class with regard to salaries of policemen. Surely these officials do not perform the same amount of duty in boroughs as in cities of the third class. I also object to the bill because it is in the nature of mandatory salary increase. I understand that in villages and boroughs there is now no minimum or maximum limit fixed for those salaries, so that the governing bodies may now fix them at any sum they may deem.

House 179, James Matthews, exempting from taxation buildings of labor organizations. I have approved House 159, which contains most of the provisions of this bill for exempting certain property from taxation. I cannot approve this bill because it proposes to exempt real estate "held by any trustee or trustees to the use of the laboring people of any municipality," "as a hall for lectures and social gatherings, reading rooms or other like purposes." Under these words, the owner of every hall need only convey the title of his property to a trustee to receive the benefit of the act, and yet rent all or a portion of the building for his financial profit. I know the case which these words were intended to cover and am in sympathy with it, but unfortunately the language used is too broad and goes far beyond the case intended to be reached. I therefore withhold my approval of the bill.

House 246, Mr. Delaney. This bill provides that commissioners of assessment of taxes in second-class cities, appointed by the mayors thereof, shall be taken out of the unclassified service of the civil service and placed in the classified service. I know of no reason why these particular appointees of mayors should be given the protection of the Civil Service while such protection is denied to all others similarly appointed, nor do I know why these officials in second class cities should be singled out for protection as against similar officials in other cities and other municipalities. I cannot approve this bill.

House 278, by Mr. Egan, one of the Prison Labor bills. I disapprove of this bill because it allows the Prison Labor Commission to employ clerks, bookkeepers, stenographers and other clerical assistance without limit.

House 371, by Mr. Roe. Under this bill no poor or indigent soldier or marine can be cared for at any almshouse, but must be cared for at his home, together with his family, at county expense. The board of freeholders is required to provide this relief upon the recommendation of the commander of a Grand Army post or a Spanish War Veteran camp. The soldier is required to have been a resident of the county for one year only. I recognize our duty to our poor and needy soldiers, and the counties have provided almshouses, and there are soldiers homes at Kearny and Vineland, supported by the State where they may have proper care and attention. To enact this bill into a law would be to discriminate against those unfortunate persons who, though having seen war service, have fought the battle of life valiantly but unsuccessfully, and are equally entitled to our sympathy and assistance. Such a law might attract to our counties from other States, those who could come under the provisions of the bill, and as no opportunity is given to the board of freeholders to investigate or to be heard, such unjustified expense might be cast upon the counties. There are those who by law are required to support the unfortunate soldier or sailor and the counties should not be required to provide relief until given an opportunity to compel those legally and morally liable therefor to do their duty.

House 472, by Mr. Calus, cities, boroughs and towns are now permitted to provide fire plugs for fire protection. This bill makes it mandatory upon them to do so, and would render the members of governing bodies liable to criminal prosecution for failure to provide good and efficient protection. It applies only to those municipalities where water is supplied to the residents and does not include those where water is supplied for fire purposes. The enactment of this bill might be to the advantage of some private water company and to the disadvantage of the citizens of the municipality. I think, too, that the bill is objectionable because its object is not fully shown in its title.

House 710, by Mr. Murray. This bill makes a sinking fund unecessary in any case where the municipality determines to dispense with it. The bill is applicable to bonds already issued as well as to those hereafter to be issued. It allows provision to be made in taxation for the payment of bonds by annual proportionate payments, even though the bonds may not be due and payable, but provides for no method for holding and investing the money so raised until payment can be made. If it is intended to cover bond issues, such object is most imperfectly expressed. I cannot approve this bill.

House 725, by Mr. Roe. This bill gives to Spanish War veteran camps the exclusive use of a room located in State Armories and of course carries with it the right of access to such room at all times. Most of our armories are now overcrowded and have insufficient room at all times. If this right of occupation is to be given the Spanish War veterans it should be under rules or regulations to be established by the State Military Board or by the commandant or officer in charge of the armories. The State might better make provision for the Spanish War veterans in some building or room where their use of it might be exclusive without interference.

Seven New Managers Whose Work Will Be Watched

Photos by American Press Association.

The work of the seven new managers in the big leagues will be closely watched this season. The new leaders and the teams they will handle are as follows:

Frank Chance will try to build up the New York Americans. George Stovall will try to do the same with the St. Louis Browns. Harry Birmingham says he is the man who put the cleve in Cleveland. Johnny Evers will try to lead the Chicago Cubs pennantward. Joe Tinker believes he can give the Cincinnati baseball fans their first National league pennant. George Stallings will use every effort to lift the Boston Nationals out of the cellar. Miller Huggins will try to satisfy the St. Louis fans by piloting the Cardinals to a first division berth in the National league.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

"Years of Discretion" reached its century mark at the Belasco theatre, in New York, Tuesday night, March 18, and will round at least a full two hundred performances before the close of its phenomenal metropolitan run. No other comedy of the year, and only one other play, has approached its record. Absolute capacity has been the condition from the very first, a record the more remarkable when it is considered that even during Lent there were never seats enough at Mr. Belasco's playhouse to supply the demand. This brilliant, sparkling comedy, so exquisitely played by its stellar Belasco cast remains the delight and joy of the New York season, while beautiful Effie Shannon is still the talk of the town. At the Republic theatre the one-hundredth performance of "A Good Little Devil" was celebrated Wednesday night, March 26. No production that Mr. Belasco ever has made more effectively shows his wonderful genius. The beauty and charm of this exquisite fairy play for grown-ups is made to appeal to all minds, young and old. Its extraordinary success is emphasized by its splendid cast of comedians including William Norris, May Pickford, Ernest Truex, Ernest Lawford Edward Connelly, Etienne Girardot, Iva Merlin and Arthur Hill.

At Proctor's Fifth Avenue theatre, the march of progress continues uninterrupted, the management seemingly making more strenuous efforts to please the fastidious patrons of this ultra-fashionable playhouse. Dual headliners will be offered in the engagement of Billy V. Van and Company in "Props," and the original Russian Balalaika Orchestra of 15 pieces. The former attraction calls for the services of thirty-three people and a smart dog, the tabloid musical comedy moving with rapidity and finesse through a maze of fun and melody, while the latter drawing card will be under the direction of Vladimir Pogoreloff, the talented young conductor composer. Others on a bill which inaugurates the Spring season at the Fifth Avenue, are Billy McDermott, tramp comedian monologist; Novita and Billy Lynn in a dainty dancing episode; Charles and Ada Latham in the sympathetic bit of juvenille humor, "Nobody's Kid;" Britt Wood, rube comedian with his harmonica; Walter Van Brunt, a most promising tenor; Madden & Fitzpatrick in their most successful offering, "The Wanderer;" Tarice Emersons, European acrobatic marvels and Edison's Kinetophone.

POLITICAL UPHEAVAL CONFRONTS BELGIUM

General Strike to Begin on Monday—Dissatisfaction With the Government.

Brusssels, April 11.—Belgium seems to be on the eve of one of the greatest political upheavals in its history and it is difficult to foresee the final outcome. The general strike, ordered by the National Commission on Universal Suffrage, and endorsed by the Socialist Congress, is to begin next Monday and the Government has taken the most extensive precautions to prevent revolutionary outbreaks and local disturbances. Generally speaking the impending strike may be considered an act intended as an expression of protest by the lower working classes against the refusal of the Government to grant a revision of the Constitution as demanded by the submerged classes.

The strike was to begin some time ago, but was postponed to allow time for another and final appeal to the Government for the granting of certain reforms, including the introduction of universal suffrage, the abolition of the plural system of voting and certain changes in the educational laws of the country. The Government, which is controlled by the Clericals, refused to entertain the propositions and as a last resort the general strike was ordered.

Although upon its surface the present trouble is of a political nature, the underlying causes are really racial, linguistic and religious differences between the Walloons and the Flemings, which constitute the two most important component parts of Belgium's population. The revolution early in the last century which freed Belgium from the Dutch control was effected chiefly by the Walloons, a French-speaking race, and the control of the government remained in their hands down to 1884. For the fifty years preceding the Flemings had been working to prevent the extinction of their language, which is virtually identical with low Dutch. The movement which was at first literary, soon assumed a political aspect. The Flemings, being Catholics, enlisted the support of the Clericals and at the election of 1884 they succeeded in obtaining control of the Government. They have been in power ever since.

The Flemish or Clerical party, fully realizing its numerical weakness, fortified its position and sought to perpetuate its powers by the plural system of voting, which alone has been able to maintain them in control. Under this system fatherhood and certain property and educational qualifications entitle a voter to two or even three votes at all elections. This system has been extremely obnoxious to the enormous mass of poor and uneducated workingmen, but all efforts to bring about a change of the system failed.

It was on June 4, 1912, that the dissatisfaction which had been steadily growing for years among Belgium's unfairly represented lower classes burst into the open, following the elections which retained in power the Clericals. The Government feared a revolutionary outbreak and as a matter of precaution mobilized the army and police force and called in the reserves. Armed forces were rushed to all the centres of excitement and Brussels was practically in a state of siege. There was a great ferment in the big coal mining district known as Le Borinage, of which Mons is the centre. The miners wanted to strike en masse and only with difficulty were they persuaded to abandon that plan.

Since then the fight was continued by the working classes and everything prepared with a decisive coup. The Liberals joined hands with the Socialists and incorporated a demand for universal suffrage and the abolition of the plural system of voting upon their platform. The agitation was carried on with great energy and it is believed that the oppressed majority is well prepared to make its power felt in the present conflict.

The educational fight, which is one of the principal side issues of the present disturbances, is explained as follows: The Belgian schools of today are either Roman Catholic church schools or public schools. The schools are managed and subsidized by the communes alone and in the non-clerical communes there is a tendency to subsidize only the common schools. Broadly speaking, the desire of the Clerical Government is to place the church schools on the same financial footing as the public schools, the necessary funds to be provided by the communes, the province and the State. The opposition, however, demands that the church schools should be maintained by the church, not by the Government.

LUMBER AND WOOL SCHEDULES LIKELY TO DELAY TARIFF BILL

Provision For Extending Free List Meets Opposition In Congress.

President Working Hard to Have Measure Passed Without Changes.

FREE LIST UNDER PROPOSED NEW TARIFF SCHEDULES.

Besides raw wool, made free at once, and sugar, to be free in 1916, the free list of the Democratic tariff is as follows:

Meats	Typesetting machines
Flour	Cash registers
Bread	Steel rails
Boots and shoes	Fence wire
Lumber	Cotton ties
Coal	Nails
Harness	Hoop and band iron
Saddlery	Fish
Iron ore	Sulphur
Milk and cream	Soda
Potatoes	Tanning materials
Salt	Acetic acid
Corn	Sulphuric acid
Cornmeal	Borax
Cotton bagging	Broom handles
Agricultural implements	Clapboards
Leather	Hubs for wheels
Wood pulp	Posts
Bibles	Laths
Printing paper not worth more than 2½ cents a pound	Pickets
Typewriters	Staves
Sewing machines	Shingles

A PROPOSAL that the tariff be partly or wholly lifted from many things extensively used or necessary to life and comfort and that the revenue thus lost be made up by an income tax and by higher duties on luxuries is the essence of the new tariff bill presented to congress by the ways and means committee of the house of representatives.

To Representative Oscar Underwood, chairman of the committee, most of the credit for the bill is given. President Wilson, however, co-operated with the committee in the preparation of the measure and declared immediately after its introduction that he would do everything in his power to have it passed without alteration. He intimated that if congress attempted any radical change in the bill he would appeal to the people to demand the passage of the measure.

The intention to make more than one such attempt was forecast in advance by senators and representatives, who had let it be known before the bill was introduced that they would oppose putting lumber and wool on the free list, which the bill does.

The appearance of the bill was followed at once by manifestations of opposition, particularly in the senate. Even the most enthusiastic Democrats said they feared the antagonism of some of their own senators from states whose principal products would be sharply affected by the proposed change of schedules.

Various Estimates Made.

It is, of course, impossible to determine exactly how great a reduction in the revenue would result from the enactment of the bill. The estimates of political leaders vary from $80,000,000 to $150,000,000.

Supporters of the measure argue that the loss would be offset by the income tax, the estimated revenue from which would be approximately $125,000,000 annually.

Among the things from which the tariff would be lifted by the bill are raw wool, meat, flour, bread, boots and shoes, lumber and many lumber products, harness, saddlery, iron ore, potatoes, corn, cornmeal, agricultural implements, leather, typewriters, typesetting machines, sewing machines, cash registers, steel rails, fence wire, nails, hoop and band iron, Bibles, wood pulp and print paper not valued at more than 2½ cents a pound.

It is also proposed that the duty on sugar be reduced 25 per cent at once and be removed entirely in 1916. While flour is included in the free list, a duty of 10 per cent is imposed against flour from countries which levy a duty on American flour. This will exclude flour from Canada and many other countries.

The principal things that would be taken from the free list and taxed under the new schedules are rough and uncut diamonds and precious stones, furs, coal tar products, 10 per cent; volatile oils, 20 per cent; spices, from 1 cent to 2 cents a pound.

Many Heavy Reductions.

Some of the important things on which reduction of the existing tariff is proposed are machinery in general, woolen cloths, cotton cloths, knit fabrics and manufactured goods; live stock, poultry, silk goods, ribbons, linens, steel and iron wire, rice, soap, certain drugs and chemicals, books, cutlery, furniture, brooms, baking soda, washing soda, refined borax, undecorated china and crockery, manufactures of India rubber, grindstones and bicycles. No change is proposed in the tariff on automobiles.

The income tax provision of the bill establishes a graduated tax on every resident of the United States whose income is more than $4,000 a year. The salaries of the president, federal judges and all state officers and employees are exempted from the income tax.

In all cases the first $4,000 of income is exempted from taxation.

From $4,000 to $20,000 the rate is 1 per cent. Thus on an income of $20,000 the tax would be $160.

From $20,000 to $50,000 a surtax of 1 per cent is added, and from $50,000 to $100,000 a surtax of 2 per cent.

On incomes in excess of $100,000 a surtax of 3 per cent is added. Thus on an income of $1,000,000 a year the tax would be $38,260.

The income tax is collectible at the source of income. Owners of stock will thus receive dividends less the government tax.

The tax is to be collected by the internal revenue bureau, and every person with an income of $3,500 a year will be required under oath to disclose the sources of his income and the items which he deducts to obtain the net result. Heavy penalties are provided for failure to make returns, for false affidavits and for attempts to evade payment of the tax.

Dumping Clause Included.

Included in the provisions for reducing the tariff is a dumping clause intended to protect American markets against undue foreign activity. The clause provides that foreign products shall not enter this country to be sold at lower prices than they bring in their own markets. The difference between the prices is to be made up in tariffs.

After the bill had gone to congress Chairman Underwood said he hoped it would be put through the house of representatives within thirty days.

Opposition in the senate is expected to be led by senators from states which produce much wool and sugar. There is talk in Washington of President Wilson invading the states of senators who try to obstruct the bill's passage to tell the people directly his reasons for urging the adoption of the measure.

The ways and means committee presented the bill to congress as a measure which would save the consumers of the country approximately $1,000,000,000 a year without destroying any legitimate industry, but, on the contrary, stimulate trade and business generally by restoring competition.

Provision For Reciprocity.

An attempt to widen the foreign market for American goods and to encourage reciprocity treaties with all foreign nations is embodied in the new tariff bill in a clause empowering the president to grant favors to any nation that gives mutual concessions to the United States.

The reciprocity clause takes the place of the penalty clause of the present tariff law by which it was sought to secure special concessions to the United States. The new tariff bill proposes that the normal tariff rates shall be the maximum and that special rates shall be granted to countries that will enter into reciprocity treaties with the United States. In the present law the normal rates are the minimum.

Such reciprocity agreements under the new law would have to be approved by congress before becoming effective.

Another concession that would be made by the new bill is designed to encourage American shipping. A concession of 5 per cent would be made in all tariff rates on goods brought to this country in American built ships owned wholly by American citizens.

Restrictions upon Philippine imports practically are removed by the new bill, and important changes in the method of enforcing customs law are provided, following out the recommendations made after recent investigations of the customs service.

Underwood Praises Bill.

The decision to make a gradual reduction in the sugar tariff was reached by the president and the house committee after Louisiana cane growers declined to accept a compromise that would have established a one cent per pound tariff for three years, with free sugar in 1916.

To encourage trade with foreign countries the bill would reverse the maximum and minimum provision of the present tariff law. The new tariff rates would be the maximum tariff, and the president would be given authority to negotiate reciprocity treaties and make concessions to countries that grant favors to American exports.

In his statement Chairman Underwood said the measure would, in the opinion of its makers, revise the tariff "to a basis of legitimate competition, such as will afford a wholesome influence on our commerce, being relief to the people in the matter of the high cost of living, and at the same time work no detriment to properly conducted manufacturing industries.

"In its tariff revision work the committee has kept in mind," he said, "the distinction between the necessities and the luxuries of life, reducing the tariff burdens on the necessities to the lowest points commensurate with revenue requirements and making the luxuries of life bear their proper portion of the tariff responsibilities. Many items of manufacture controlled by monopolies have been placed on the free list."

Income Tax Provisions.

Elaborate provisions are made for the assessment and collection of the income tax as proposed in the tariff bill.

Incomes of taxable persons shall include gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal service of whatever form paid or from professions, vocations, businesses, trade, commerce or sales or dealings in property; also from interest, rent, dividends, securities, including income from property, income from but not the value of property acquired by bequest, devise or descent, and also proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon death of persons insured.

The bill allows as deductions in computing net income all necessary expenses actually incurred in carrying on any business, not including personal living or family expenses, interest accrued and payable within the year by a taxable person on indebtedness; all national, state, county, school and municipal taxes, not including local benefit taxes; losses incurred in trade or from fires, storms or shipwreck not compensated by insurance or otherwise; debts actually ascertained as worthless and charged off; also reasonable allowance for wear and tear on property, but no deduction will be allowed for expense of restoration or improvements made to increase property value.

It excepts also in computing net income amounts received as dividends upon the stock of any corporation, joint stock company, association or insurance company which is taxable upon its net income under the corporation tax provision of the bill.

System of Collection.

It establishes a system of collection of the tax at its source, requiring all persons, firms, copartnerships, companies, corporations, joint stock companies, associations or insurance companies and all trustees, executors, administrators, receivers, etc., and officers and employees of the United States having the control or disposal of salaries, wages, interest and other profits and income of another person to withhold and pay to the collector of internal revenue the amount of income tax due from such person.

All such persons or firms are made personally liable for such tax.

ARCHIMEDES' MIRRORS FOUND

At Least Two Objects In Syracuse Harbor Are So Identified.

A most important discovery has been made in the harbor of Syracuse, Italy, of two bronze concave disks more than three feet in diameter joined with a rotary apparatus. One of the disks is pierced with a central circular hole.

They are believed to be the celebrated burning mirrors invented by Archimedes for destroying an enemy's ships by focusing the sun's rays on them.

PLAINTIFF ILL, CASE HURRIED.

New Brunswick, April 11.—Fearing the plaintiff, James W. Pateman, of Perth Amboy, might die before the September term of court, Judge Frank Lloyd will come here on May 10 to try his suit against Lauritz W. Smith and his partner, who are builders at Perth Amboy. Pateman fell over a lumber pile last November, breaking two ribs, one of them puncturing a lung. He is seventy-two years old, and it is feared he cannot live much longer. When application was made Wednesday to have the case go off for the term Pateman's attorney objected because of the man's condition. It was decided to have the evidence of an essential witness in the State of Washington, Albert Clawson, taken by deposition so the case can proceed without further delay.

PERTH AMBOY CO. LOSES SUIT.

New Brunswick, April 11.—Despite a ruling by Judge Frank Lloyd, in the Circuit Court, during the trial of the suit of David Spitzer & Son against Harry Greenes & Co., of Perth Amboy, that loose-leaf ledgers are not legal evidence, the jury, upon sufficient proof of a different nature being presented, found a verdict for the plaintiff for $473.34. The plaintiff sued for $617.77, for goods sold the defendants, who kept a saloon.

Harry L. Spitzer, for the plaintiffs, said he had kept the books and that leaves had been removed from the ledger since the book had been opened. Judge Lloyd thought it advisable to prove the claim by other evidence than a book from which leaves had been taken.

JAIL CONDITIONS SATISFACTORY

Union's Board of Freeholders Investigate Report of the Charity Workers.

AS TO SOME CHANGES

Warden Asserts That Neither Miss Tiffany Nor Any One Representing State Association Had Visited the County Jail in Two Weeks.

Elizabeth, April 11.—The jail committee of the Board of Freeholders discussed the report made regarding the condition of that institution by the Union County Committee of the New Jersey Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association, and the reason for all persons detained for examination as to their sanity in this city being sent to the county jail instead of being kept at police headquarters.

After making a thorough investigation of the jail the Buildings and Public Grounds and Jail Committees of the board, to which was referred for investigation the report of the association, decided to recommend that the report be filed.

The freeholders found no such conditions as described in the report and are of the opinion that the author of it is mistaken. This conclusion was not reached until after the tour of inspection when it was learned from Warden Dodd that the jail had not been visited by a representative of the association, as he had said.

Jail Physician Livengood also supported the warden and Jail Committee by stating that on none of his frequent visits has he ever observed anything detrimental to the physical condition of the prisoners other than the confinement in which they are kept as a penalty for their infractions of the law.

The wooden flooring in the corridors, which was cited in the report as being unsanitary was not found so. It has been the intention of the Building Committee for some time to authorize the improvement of the flooring by having new wood or cement flooring laid. The work would have been under way or probably completed by this time had it not been for the litigation relating to the legality of the board. The item was covered in the budget adopted at the January 1 meeting, it was stated.

Advertisements for bids on the work are now being prepared. They call for a fireproof door of cement or some other substance of that kind.

The committee in the past has unfavorably considered the advisability of providing individual toilet accommodations for each cell and after yesterday's inspection saw no reason for a change from the present system. The facilities for bathing were found in good working order, clean and convenient and the prisoners questioned had no complaint regarding the frequency with which they are allowed the use of the tubs.

Warden Dodd informed the committee that the Miss Tiffany whose signature was on the report had not been at the jail nor anyone else representing themselves as members of the State association. During the last two weeks there has been an unusually large number of demented persons confined in the county jail from this city for examination. Some of them have been allowed to remain in the institution several days after being pronounced insane. Elizabeth is the only place in the county making this use of the county jail, the reason being, it was pointed out, that police headquarters here is not equipped with a padded cell or other modern conveniences for caring for irresponsible persons.

According to the strict interpretation of the law, each municipality is responsible for all residents who need restraint on account of their mental condition. Plainfield police headquarters has a padded cell. Rahway, Summit, Westfield, and in fact all other cities and towns in the county take temporary care of their lunatics at their own police headquarters instead of committing them to the county jail.

The only instances under the law when they are not obliged to do so is when the place of residence is unknown, and then the unfortunate can be made a charge of the county, until his or her place of residence is determined and the necessary examination made for admission to the State asylum.

In addition to the inconvenience these cases always cause, it places a responsibility on the jail physician which is not considered an actual part of his duties. Where each municipality takes care of its own insane, the city physician is called upon. The city physician of Elizabeth is relieved of this duty through the persons being committed to the care of the county.

The question of meals is one which can hardly enter into the proposition. As a rule, people thus afflicted eat but little. The medicines they require, however, are frequently a considerable item. It was pointed out, If the committee recommends that the present practice be discontinued and the recommendation is adopted, it will mean that Elizabeth police headquarters [illegible] to be equipped with proper means for giving temporary confinement to these cases.

NATIONAL DRAINAGE CONGRESS OPENED

Great Gathering at St. Louis to Discuss One of Nation's Big Problems.

St. Louis, Mo., April 11.—With hundreds of delegates present from all parts of the country, representing State and municipal governments, commercial and improvement bodies, and development and conservation organizations, the third annual meeting of the National Drainage Congress opened here yesterday. The sessions will continue until Saturday, and during that time much important action is expected to be taken looking toward the protection, by levee construction and other means, of the life and health of the people from floods, storms and tides, and the reclamation of the 75,000,000 acres of swamp and overflowed lands in the United States, and their utilization for agricultural purposes.

Not since the beginning of the movement looking toward Government aid in a vast scheme of draining the swamp lands of the country has so much interest been taken in the meetings of the drainage congress and during the three days' session drainage and its kindred subjects, irrigation, forestry and waterways improvement, will not only be discussed but practical illustrations of what drainage is doing for various sections of the country will be given Special attention will be given by the congress to the consideration of plans designed to prevent a resurrence of the terrible floods that have devastated the middle west and other parts of the country this spring.

Among the speakers will be members of Congress, governors of States, government experts in drainage and reclamation work and representatives of many commercial organizations and colonization movements.

Delegates continue to pour into the city, every train arriving today bringing in scores interested in the work of the congress. The attendance at the initial session was large and representative. Former Governor David R. Francis, president of the congress, occupied the chair. Bishop Tuttle opened the session with prayer and Governor Major and Mayor Kreismann delivered addresses of welcome.

Discontinued---So These Nightgowns Are Only $2

Although this style, with its short bell sleeves entirely of Valeniennes lace, and Swiss embroidered motif yoke surrounded with lace, was one of the manufacturer's most popular models, he is compelled to discontinue it, because he cannot get any more of the motifs. He had just 300 of the Gowns, so he gave them to us with the understanding that we could get no more—and also at a concession.

Usually they would be $3. Second Floor

In Answer to the Last Word of Fashion—
Women's Brocaded Charmeuse Wraps At $15 and $19.50

We need not say extraordinary in our headline, for the very expensive prices of brocaded charmeuse by the yard makes it quite obvious. In this connection we wish to make the emphatic statement that these are finely woven brocades and are not the imitation printed sorts that are being constantly substituted by some people.

Two draped styles—the $15 model is a hip length, while the $19.50 Wrap is a copy of the five-eighths length Mandarin Wrap by Premet. All are lined with peau de cygne—in some instances of the same color—while the others are in contrasting shades. Black, taupe and Rouen blue.

Moire Silk Wraps at $15

Fashioned after two of the latest imported draped models. Lined with peau de cygne. These models in checked worsteds and Bedford Cord, also $15.

Serge, Bedford Cord and Wool Poplin Coats, $15 and $18.50

The pointed back model—having a panel inset to give the long lines—is in either navy or black serge and Bedford cord at $15. This model in black, satin-lined with peau de cygne in rich colors, is $19.50. At $18.50, a close-fittingbordered model which is slightly draped in serge—lined with peau de cygne.

A similar style in wool poplin with Oriental silk collar, $18.50. Navy, taupe, Copenhagen blue, black.

New Steamer Coats at $18.50

Especially notable is the model illustrated—this has a large pocket concealed under the front panel. Gray and brown, with plain back. Third Floor

Radiates 20 Per Cent More Heat

Get in mind the fact that outside measurement of a square firepot is greater than that of a round one the same distance across, and you make plain the great advantage in Square Pot Furnaces.

They radiate more heat because they have more radiating surface.

This increased radiation makes possible efficient heating on a minimum of fuel and establishes Square Pot Furnaces as economical heaters for homes, schools, churches and halls.

We have dealers everywhere. See the one nearest you for a complete demonstration.

INTERNAL STRIFE BESETS PORTUGAL

Different Factions Rive the Nation.

MANY ATROCITIES ENACTED

Carbonarios Prey on Royalists—Prisoners Kept in Loathsome Cells, Youths Sentenced Unjustly to Years of Penal Servitude—Government Powerless Against Its Enemies.

"Not since the declaration of the republic have affairs in Portugal been in such a desperate condition as they are at present," politically, financially and socially, says a correspondent in Lisbon. There is virtually no political leader in power who has the future good of the country at heart. All seem bent on advancing their positions or filling their pockets in the shortest possible time, believing that the present state of affairs cannot continue and that they must make hay while the sun shines for them. These are the general principles on which those in power are united. They differ as to the quickest and most effective way of carrying these principles out.

"The most dangerous thorn in the side of the nation are the Carbonarios, whose leader is Senhor Luz Almeida, a man who stops at nothing to show his animosity against the royalist families, although there is no danger to be expected from them. It is to the influence of the Carbonarios that the prisoners taken at various times since the revolution of two and a half years ago are slowly brought to trial and are in the meantime kept in filthy cells in the criminal prisons.

"Such was the case of a daughter of the Count of Cascaes, a member of the ancient family of Gama, the tale of whose sufferings has recently been published in the European and American press. Her only crime was that in distributing the funds and food she received by popular subscription she ignored criminals and gave only to political prisoners. This in the opinion of the Carbonarios constituted a "manifestation of political solidarity."

Government Helpless.

"How helpless the government is before the Carbonarios is shown by the fate of the general amnesty bill introduced a few weeks ago, which had to be withdrawn because the "agents provocateurs" of this party through their press and even by public posters declared with circumstantial evidence that a royalist rebellion was at hand. Some arrests were made, but the prisoners turned out to be some peasants who had started an agitation to have their churches kept open in defiance of the government's order. Senhor Luz Almeida openly acknowledged the ruse to which his agents had resorted and said that he intended it as a warning, prompted by "the wave of false generosity which had invaded the spirit of sincere republicans."

"A few months ago, when the antagonism against the royalists seemed to have died out, an attempt was made to hasten their trials, with the result that the juries, through lack of evidence, began to acquit about three out of five. Thereupon a panic seized the Carbonarios. They organized mobs at Oporto and Lisbon, who attacked the juries in the streets, the lawyers for the defense and the prisoners as they left the court. Since then military tribunals have tried the cases, and there have been very few acquittals indeed.

Terrible Penalty.

"There were five young royalists who had been acquitted by a civil court rearrested on charges identical to those formerly brought against them. All were found guilty by a military tribunal and sentenced to six years' confinement in the penitenciaria, or criminal prison, to be followed by deportation for ten years to a penal settlement in Africa. In other words, these innocent youths were dressed in monastic garb, had their heads shaved, were placed in solitary cells and obliged to wear a thick hood over head and face, with slits for eyes and mouth.

"This Carbonarios society, which since the revolution has become a menacing political party, but without any political propaganda whatever, as the instigator and creator of the revolution has had no excuse for existence since the declaration of the republic, but the offices it naturally took under the provisional government its members have been loath to surrender. It has therefore felt the necessity to justify its position by organizing throughout the country a system of spying and disquiet. Where there were no conspiracies, conspiracies were invented, the possession of a title or wealth—especially the latter—or the fact of having rendered service to the state or church under the monarchy being sufficient to cause arrest, followed by atrocities only equaled by the reign of terror.
